COAT OF ARMS.

THE COAT OF ARMS of this Chandler Family was prepared by Miss Fanny Chandler, from an original obtained from the Herald's College, London, by the Rev. Thomas Bradbury Chandler, D. D., of Elizabeth Town, N. J., when he was there in 1775.

The crest borne on the closed helmet above the Coat of Arms, is that of the Pelican in her nest wounding her breast to feed her young with her own blood—an emblem of parental affection expressive of the family motto, "Ad mortem fidelis."

The mantle—cut and jagged—hanging from the Helmet, indicates the faithful service of the wearer; the Gauntlet, his prowess.

Heraldic colors on the shield are designated by the direction of the lines.

"HE BEARETH CHECKIE, ARGENT AND AZURE, ON A BEND OF THE FIRST, SA., THREE LYONS PASSANT, GULES.
BY THE NAME OF CHANDLER."

P R E F A C E .

THIS genealogical collection of the descendants of WILLIAM and ANNIS CHANDLER is offered to the present and coming generations of that family by the compiler, as his contribution to their interests and happiness, in pious remembrance of those who have passed on in their earthly pilgrimage. This race of people have been generally good citizens, and have acted well their parts in life, as the writer has learned by his intercourse with members of eight of its eleven generations in America.

The remuneration for his labors has already been received in the pleasure of collecting these statistics; in the kind reception he has, in every instance, received where personal application for information was made, and in the ready response to his many letters of inquiry for the same object.

The errors of the work are many, and some of them almost unavoidable; but, if any one shall care to have them corrected, it can be done hereafter in a second edition—for which purpose a copy, with blank leaves interspersed through it, will be placed in the rooms of the "New-England Historic, Genealogical Society," in Somerset Street, Boston; and all letters of correction sent there will receive due attention. And as there are supposed to be several branches of the family tree not traced out and embraced in this collection, it is hoped that some member of such branches will communicate to these rooms, for a second edition of the work, a full history of such unembraced families, traced back to their proper starting-points in it.

Of the second generation, Hannah (Abbot), Thomas and William Chandler, who came with their parents, settled before 1650 in Andover, Mass. Some of their descendants, in the fourth and fifth generations, removed to places unknown to the writer of this; but John Chaudler, the other brother, settled in Woodstock, Conn., in 1686. Of his descendants it is believed that every branch has been traced to its very twigs. Sarah remained, it is supposed, in Roxbury, Mass., where she was born.

In the History of Roxbury it is said: "It has been remarked that no people can boast of more honorable descent than those of Massachusetts, and the Roxbury people were the best that came."

Besides this family of Chandlers there were several others of the same name early in New England:—Edmund Chandler, in Duxbury; John Chandler, in Boston; Roger Chandler, who had been a while in Leyden, Holland, and settled in Concord, Mass.; and William Chandler, with a large family, in Newbury, Mass. These were all in this country before 1640; and some notes of these families, collected by the writer of this, have been deposited in the rooms of the New-England Historic, Genealogical Society in Boston.

The comparative length of the biographical memoirs in the following pages has been determined rather by the means of information than by the merits of the subjects of the sketches.

The arrangement of this genealogy is in consecutive generations and the numbering is by priority of birth in each of the eleven generations. Every Chandler has a cardinal number, which (if much is said about the individual) is carried forward in its order and is placed at the head of his or her family, whose pedigree, in the male line, is there shown in parentheses on the right.

SECOND EDITION.

THE first edition of THE CHANDLER FAMILY was all consumed by the great fire in Boston, on the 9th and 10th of November, 1872, while in the hands of the binder, except forty-one copies. Of these forty-one copies sixteen had been subscribed for and the money sent before the work was printed; sixteen copies were given to the relatives of the author, and seven copies were placed in public libraries that his labors might not be lost.

Since the destruction of the first edition, many requests for copies of it have been made, but of course they could not be complied with, and calls for a reprint of the book have been urgently made by those connected with the family, and especially by one who, in his 83d year, is still hard at work upon a revision of his justly celebrated History of the United States. He appealed more than once to the author to reprint THE CHANDLER FAMILY. He wrote, 18 Jan. 1882: "If a copy remains," &c., &c. "If that can not be, I repeat my zealous entreaty that notwithstanding the pressure of years, you will do what no one will rise up to do so well—make a second edition of the volume which is a monument of your family affection, your industry and your ability."

On the reception of this last appeal, the author began, Feb. 1882, to make preparations to reprint this second edition of THE CHANDLER FAMILY. He wrote to the various families for any changes in their condition since the destruction of the work; and, in order that they might understand better what was wanted, it seemed necessary that the author should communicate to them what he already knew of their history, so he copied from the first edition what he had printed relating to their several families, and in so doing he must have copied a large part of the first edition in his letters to them. Of about six hundred and fifty such letters perhaps four hundred answers have been received and the new matter in them has been incorporated in this edition.

The printers began their work in July, 1882, and their last call for "copy" was in March, 1883, after about nine months. This put an end to the collection of new material.

The work of the printers on this genealogy is of superior excellence, done under the skillful hand and watchful eye of Mr. Benjamin J. Dodge.

The arrangement of this second edition follows that of the first, and the increase in the several families will be found under the numbers of their parents, which increase amounts to about one thousand of the name of Chandler.

The writer remembers his grandfather, Peter Chandler, of Pomfret, Conn., who was born 23 June, 1733, and died 25th of October, 1816, and was of the fourth generation of this family of Chandlers in this country, and of the second born here. There are several of the eleventh generation but the writer has seen none of the twelfth, although it is presumed there may be some of that generation through the female line, as the following table shows. The sister marries earlier in life than the brother. The first edition was much criticised by genealogists for branching off into other families so much.

This table is made up of all, in their several generations, the time of whose births and marriages were certainly known.

Generations.	No. Males.	Age at which they married.	No. Females.	Age at which they married.

The indices refer to the numbers—not to the page.

The Arabic figures 1, 2, 3, at the left of the name in the Cardinal column indicate seniority of birth in their several generations.

This second edition bears numbers corresponding with those in the first edition; and the increase of the several families since the first edition was printed, is indexed under the number borne by their parents.

The names of John, Mary, &c., are so common that the best way to find any such Chandlers is to look in the index for the surname of the wife or mother in the family or in the Cardinal order.

For young children look under their parents' number.

All persons mentioned bear the name of Chandler unless otherwise designated.

This second edition of THE CHANDLER FAMILY embraces the changes and the increase of the families during the last twelve years, as far as they have been obtained.

The grandchildren of Chandler females are omitted unless there are intermarriages of families.

THE DESCENDANTS OF
WILLIAM AND ANNIS CHANDLER, OF ROXBURY, MASS.

1. WILLIAM CHANDLER and Annis his wife settled, 1637, in Roxbury, Mass. They brought with them four children. Their youngest, Sarah, is the only one whose birth is recorded in this country. In the history of Roxbury it is stated that, "It has been remarked that no people can boast of more honorable descent than are those of Massachusetts;" and that, "The Roxbury people were the best that came" from England.

What Annis's surname was before marriage does not clearly appear. Dea. George Alcock, of Roxbury, in his will of 1640, said: "To our brother Edward Porter 20 bushels of Indian Corne, and to our brother Chandler the Monye he oweth me" "for half the fence betwixt him and me." "My brother Mr. — Hooker" to be "overseer." Mrs. Alcock was sister of Rev. Thos. Hooker. She died in Roxbury. Edward Porter married a sister of Dea. George Alcock. Gov. Dudley, in a letter to Lady Lincoln, says, "Mrs. Alcock, sister to Mr. — Hooker." Hence it may well be supposed that "Annis" was a sister of Dea. George Alcock.

Annis Chandler was admitted to the church in Roxbury "at the same time her husband William Chandler was."

After the death of Mr. Chandler, she, under the name of "Ann," m. 2 July, 1643, John Dane, of Barkhamstead and Bishop's Stortford, Herts, England, and of Ipswich and Roxbury, N. E.

"Att a Gen<sup>all</sup> Co<sup>rte</sup> at Boston 17th of the 8 mo. 1649," "Upon the petition of John Dayne, that the house and land which was W<sup>m</sup> Chandler's" be "Settled upon y<sup>e</sup> said Dayne, he having paid more debts of Chan<sup>rs</sup> than y<sup>e</sup> house and land was worth, & also brought up y<sup>e</sup> children of Chandler w<sup>ch</sup> have been chargeable to him."

he married and Children brought up) on him, the said John Dayne, his request is granted by this Corte."

John Dane died in Roxbury, and the church records say he "was buried 14 Sept. 1658." By a former wife he had children whom he thus mentioned in his will of the "7 day Seventh month 1658." I give "to my son Francis Dane [minister at Andover, Mass., who married in his old age for his third wife, Hannah, daughter of this William and Annis Chandler, and widow of 'Georg Abet,' of Andover] my wood lot of two and a half acres." "to my Daughter Elizabeth How [wife of James How, commoner of Ipswich] a black cow which is at Andover in the hands of George Abbot." "to my Son John Dane ['the taylor of Wood Roe, in hatfield,' Eng. and the chirurgeon of Ipswich, Mass., and whose dau. Mary Dane m. William Chandler of Andover, the third child of this 'Annis'] one feather bed, one Bowlster and Pillow, one Yellow Rugg and Pewter Platter." "I give to louving wiff Apic whom I mak sooll Exseekitrix all my movable goods that is not expressed."

Mrs. Annice (as the apostle Eliot called her) Dane married in Roxbury, 9 Aug. 1660, John Parmenter, of Sudbury. His wife Bridget had died the 6th of April previous. John Parmenter had taken the "freeman's" oath 13 May, 1640. In 1641 he was Selectman in Sudbury. He was authorized, 1640, "to end small causes under 20 shillings." "John Parmenter aged 83, sometime Deacon at Sudbury died 1671 m 3 d 1."

In 1671 John Parmenter made his will, and mentioned his wife Annisee, to whom he gave "the use of my warming pan so long as she remain my widdow." The executors of this will were Capt. Isaac Johnson, and his cousin Chancy, shoemaker.

Thomas Grocer wrote on the back of his will, "I therefore by these presents give unto John Swinerton now at Roxbury Full power to make a will for me in true form according to the law of N. E. and the true intent of my will expressed on the other side of this paper 29 Jan. 1664."

Mrs. Annis Parmenter died 15 March, 1683. Church records say "1683 m 1 d 17 died Old Mother Parmpinter a blessed saint."

William Chandler was a small landed proprietor in Roxbury, Mass., as "A note of ye Estates and persons of ye inhabitants of Roxbury," made between 1638 and 1640, shows "22 acres—William Chandler—7 persons [in his family]—£06:00:00."

In the arrangement for care of the stock, he was "to pay Goodwife Burt for her boy ye full tyme that hee ded keepe the goats, 12<sup>d</sup> a ppeace for goats and kids," for his "1 goat and one kid," while his neighbors had from three to thirty, only two of whom had so few as he.

He was rated as "houskeeper." He took the freeman's oath 1640. His name is among those of the proprietors of Andover, with that of his son Thomas and son-in-law George Abbot.

It is a tradition that the tannery of Samuel Guild, on the corner of Bartlett Street and Shawmut Avenue, Roxbury, Mass., was originally that of William Chandler, 1640.

The Roxbury Records, as reprinted in the "Norfolk County Journal," say: "William Chandler came to N. E. about the year 1637. He brought 4 small children: Thomas, Hannah, John, William; his 5th child Sarah was born here; he lived a very religious and godly life among us, and fell into a Consumption to which he had, a long time, been inclined; he lay near a yeare sick, in all which time his faith, patience & Godliness & Contentation So Shined that Christ was much glorified in him—he was a man of Weake parts but Excellent faith and holiness; he was a Very thankfull man, and much magnified God's goodness. He was poor, but God prepared the hearts of his people to him that he never wanted that which was (at least in his Esteem) Very plentiful and Comfortable to him—he died about the — in the yeare 1641, and left a Sweet memory and Savor behind him."

The Eliot Church Records say, "William Chandler, a Christian, Godly brother, died of a Consumption month 11, day 26, 1641, and was buried 19 (11) 1641, in Roxbury."

Roxbury was "filled with laborious people," said Edward Johnson in his "Wonder-Working Providence of Sions Saviour in New-England."

The children of WILLIAM CHANDLER were:

2. 1. HANNAH, b. about 1629; m. first, "12 Dec. 1646," say the Eliot Church Records of Roxbury, in the hand writing of John Eliot the apostle, "George Abbot;" second, 1690, Rev. Francis Dane, of Andover.
3. 2. THOMAS, b. 1630; m. Hannah Brewer.
4. 3. WILLIAM; m. first, Aug. 18 (or 5, another record says), 1658, Mary Dane, of Ipswich; second, 8 Oct. 1679, Bridget Henchman, widow of James Richardson, by "Sam'l Adams, commissioner."

5. iv. JOHN; m. "Feb. 16, 1658," Elizabeth Douglas.
6. v. SARAH, b. Roxbury; m. first, 4 Nov. 1659, William Cleaves; second, Wilson; third, 11 Oct. 1688, Eph. Stephens; fourth, Allen.

Second and Third Generations.

HANNAH<sup>2</sup> CHANDLER (William<sup>1</sup>) and George<sup>1</sup> Abbot, Andover, Mass. They were among the first settlers in Andover. Their log-house stood on the east side of the road, less than a quarter of a mile south of the meeting-house in Andover. A picture of the "old red house," their second house, near the same spot, is, 1864, at John Abbot's, second house on the east side of the road from old meeting-house south—the original homestead. Two of her brothers, Thomas and William Chandler, were also of the first settlers in what is now Andover. They, as well as she, had large families, and their descendants, in remote branches, intermarried with their kindred the Abbots; and, in the following account of the Chandler family, much information, already prepared, has been taken from the genealogical register of the Abbot family. It says: "George Abbot emigrated, so tradition reports, from Yorkshire, England, about 1640 [1637], and came over in the same vessel with Hannah Chandler, who, several years after [1646] became his wife. Andover was incorporated May 5, 1646, and was named for the town of Andover, Hants County, England. They, in 1647, 'with the first settlers, a band of Puritans, erected their humble cabins in Andover, made of logs covered with thatch, or bark from trees. Here they began labors to which they never had been accustomed. Here all was new and strange, a severe climate, a howling, gloomy wilderness.' But 'these sons of the forest had sound hearts, firm and fixed resolutions, and persevering efforts.' The descendants of George Abbot and his wife are very numerous and most respectable, and possess a 'marked character of their own' for industry, sobriety, economy, and for the peaceful, conscientious discharge of every duty as citizens.' George Abbot went to Andover 1643, and received his wife into his humble cabin 1647, which was a garrison many years, even after his death, 24 Dec. 1681, old style, at the age of 66.

They brought up a large family, as was quite the custom at that early day, and trained their children in the way they should go, from which they did not depart. Their descendants—the Abbots—erected, 1843, a Quincy granite monument six feet high and three feet square, in the burying-ground near where they lived, and near the meeting-house where they were buried, to the memory of George Abbot and Hannah Chandler his wife." "The names of Stevens, Poor and Chandler occur oftenest in Andover, Eng."

Andover, 1680, Mr. Dane, Dudley Bradstreet, George Abbot and others "were appointed a committee to seat the meeting-house [in what is now North Andover, then the only meeting-house in Andover]; and it was voted and agreed upon that, if any person, whether male or female, shall sit in any other place in the meeting-house than what they are appointed by the aforesaid committee [he or she] shall forfeit for every such offence, for the use of the Town, Twenty pence, to be forthwith gathered by the Constable by order of s<sup>d</sup> Com<sup>tee</sup>; and if the Constable faileth so to do as aforesaid, to pay said sum himself."

She married, second, 1690, the Rev. Francis Dane, the second minister of the church in Andover, now North Andover, for his third wife, when he was about 74 years old. He was son of John Dane of Barkhamstead and Bishop's Stortford, Herts, England, and of Ipswich and Roxbury, Mass.; at which last place he, John Dane, lived after marrying Annis Chandler, the widow of William Chandler and the mother of Hannah, this third wife of the Rev. Mr. Francis Dane. Mr. Dane was born, 1615, in England, but educated in this country, where he came in 1636, and was, it was said, half of a year on the passage from London to Boston.

He was settled in 1648 over the first church in Andover. His salary was paid one half in wheat and one half in Indian corn until 1683, when, in town meeting in Andover, it was "Voted and passed that five pounds of Mr. Dane's Salary shall be paid in silver during his abode in the ministry." He kept a private school for a time. He left a poetic lamentation while in search of his second wife. See Miss Bailey's History of Andover. He died 17 Feb. 1697, aged 81, "an officer in the church 48 years," leaving two sons, Nathaniel and Lient. Francis.

Savage says, in his Genealogical Dictionary, of the Rev. Mr. Dane: "He was in danger of the cruel infatuation of witchcraft in 1692, of which not a few of the sheep of his fold—innocent of this nonsense as himself—suffered." Said another: "Andover had its full share of this frenzy in 1692, and it is said that Mr. Dane was implicated, which served in some measure to check the delusion, and it was not deemed credible that a man of his known piety and uprightness could be in league with the devil. He expressed his sympathy and used his best exertions for the relief of those of his parishioners who were imprisoned, by writing to the court, and also by signing a certificate in their favor."

That Mr. Dane was implicated is shown by the examination and confession, Sept. 8, 1692, of Mary Osgood, wife of Capt. Osgood, of Andover, taken before John Hawthorn, and others, his Majesty's justices."

She confesses, "that about Eleven years ago, while she was in a Melancholy State, she used to walk abroad in her orchard, and upon a certain time she saw the appearance of a 'cat at the end of the house, which she thought was a real cat. However, at that time, it diverted her from praying to God; and, instead of that she prayed to the devil; about which time she made a covenant with the devil, who, as a black man, came and presented her a book upon which she laid her finger, and that left a red spot, and upon her Signing the devil told her 'he was her God,' and that she 'should serve and worship him' and she believes she consented to it."

She says further, "that about two years ago, she was carried through the air and back, to 'five mile pond,' to be baptized by the devil, in company with Dea. Frye's wife, Ebenezer Barker's wife and Goody Tyler, and that they were carried upon a pole."

She confesses "she has afflicted these persons, and that she did it by pinching her bed clothes, and giving her consent the devil should do it in her shape; and that the devil could not do it without her consent." She confesses "afflicting persons in the court by the glance of her eye."

"In answer to the question, 'Who taught you this way of Witchcraft?' she answered, 'The Devil;' and that he promised her abundance of Satisfaction and quietness in her future state, but never did anything; and that she has since lived more miserable and more discontented than ever before."

"She confesses further, that she herself in company with Goody Parker, Goody Tyler and Goody Dean, had a meeting at Moses Tyler's house last Monday night, to afflict, and that she and Goody Dean carried the shape of Mr. Dean [Dane] their minister, between them to make persons believe that Mr. Dean afflicted. Says the Court, 'What hindered you from accomplishing what you intended?' Answer: 'The Lord would not suffer it to be so, that the devil should afflict in an innocent person's shape.'"

The Rev. Mr. Dane, in his will of 25 April, 1693, and which was probated 8 March, 1697, gave his "Dear wife Hannah 20£," and "what Chests or goods my said wife brought to my house." He said, "I leave them to her to dispose of to whom she will—only what tobacco, meat or candles were there brought excepted, and then spent." Thirteen children.

The descendants of HANNAH and GEORGE ABBOT were :

- i. JOHN<sup>2</sup> ABBOT, b. 2 March, 1648; d. 19 March, 1721; lived with his parents in the garrison house; was much in Town business; selectman. Upon the organization of the Parish Church in S. Andover, 1711, he was chosen deacon, and he used that "office well;" m. 1673, Sarah Barker, dau. of Richard. She d. 10 Feb. 1729, a. 82. Nine children.
One, Sarah Abbot, b. 7 Dec. 1680; m. 1707, Zebediah Chandler, son of Capt. John<sup>2</sup> and Hannah<sup>2</sup> (Abbot) Chandler, 2d cousins. [See 39.]
- ii. JOSEPH<sup>2</sup> ABBOT, b. 11 March, 1649; d. 24 June, 1650; the first death of a white person in Andover on record.

- viii. BENJAMIN<sup>2</sup> ABBOT, b. 20 Dec. 1661; d. 30 March, 1703. He made and lived on a farm near Shawshine river, where James Abbot afterwards lived, in Andover, enterprising and respected; m. 1685, Sarah Farnum, dau. of Ralph.

In the trial of Martha Carrier, Aug. 2, 1692, for afflicting Elizabeth Hubbard, by witchcraft, Benjamin Abbot gave in his testimony, "that last March was a twelve month, this Carrier was very angry with him upon laying out some land near her husband's." Her expressions in this anger were, that she "would stick as close to Abbot as the bark sticks to a tree;" and that "he should repent of it before seven years come to an end, so as doctor Prescott should never cure him." These words were heard by others besides Abbot himself, who also heard her say, she "would hold his nose as close to the grindstone as ever it was held since his name was Abbot." Presently after this he was taken with a swelling in his foot, and then with a pain in his side, and exceedingly tormented. It bred a sore which was lanced by Dr. Prescott, and several gallons of corruption ran out of it. For six weeks it continued very bad; and then another sore bred in his groin, which was also lanced by Dr. Prescott. Another sore bred in his groin, which was likewise cut, and put him to very great misery. He was brought to death's door, and so remained until Carrier was taken and carried away by the constable; from which very day he began to mend, and so grew better every day, and is well ever since.

Sarah Abbot also, his wife, testified, "that her husband was not only all this while afflicted in his body, but also that strange, extraordinary and unaccountable calamities befel his cattle; their death being such as they could guess no natural reason for. Elizabeth Johnson confessed before Dudley Bradstreet, that she and Goodey Carrier afflicted Benjamin Abbot." [From "Wonders of the Invisible World," by Rev. Cotton Mather.] Two children.

Capt. THOMAS<sup>2</sup> CHANDLER (William<sup>1</sup>) and Hannah Brewer, Andover, Mass. She died in Andover, 25 Oct. 1717, a. 87. He came with his parents in 1637 to this country, when he was about seven years old. He was one of the proprietors and early pioneers in the settlement of Andover. His name is "23d of householders in order as they came to Town."

He was employed with George Abbot, Sen., and others, to lay out lands granted individuals by General Court.

"It is ordered, that Thomas Chandler be leften'nt in ye ffoot Company in Andover, John Stephens, Ensign, under the command of Dudley Bradstreet, Capt."

He was a representative to the General Court in 1678 and 9, from Andover.

He was probably buried in the graveyard at N. Andover, as "he died 15 day, 1703," and Rev. S. Phillips of the then South Parish (now Andover) said, "Mr. Robert Russell died in Decemb. A. D. 1710 and his Body was ye first that was laid in our Burying-place."

Said Sarah Loring Bailey, historian of Andover, "T. C. was a blacksmith, ultimately a rich man, carrying on a considerable iron works."

Will of Thomas Chandler, of Andover.

I Thomas Chandler Sen<sup>r</sup> of the Town of Andover, being aged and weak in Body but, through the Goodness of God, composed in Mind, not knowing how soon God may take me out of this world; Doe make this my last Will and Testament.

Imp<sup>t</sup> I give my Soul into the hands of my blessed Lord Jesus Christ, who hath purchased the same with his pretious blood; And my Body I leave to my Executors and friends, &c.

Item. First my Will is that all my Just Debts and funeral charges be paid by my Executors out of my Stock (Except Two Cows which I have given to my Wife) and out of the income of my Share of the Iron Works. And, what falls Short of paying my Debts, my will is that Each of my Sons shall bear his proportion of payment according to What I have given them. And that my share of the Iron Works should be in the hands of my Executors untill my Debts are paid.

Item. Second. I give unto my Dear and Loving Wife Hannah Chandler that Room we now live in to be kept warm and comfortable for her by my son Henry and what firewood she needeth to be cut and brought into her Room. And Two Cows to be kept and maintained for her During her Life and Ten Bush<sup>ls</sup> Indian Corn and Ten Bush<sup>ls</sup> wheat, Three bush<sup>ls</sup> of Rye and Two Bush<sup>ls</sup> of Malt to be paid her yearly by my Sons in such proportions as shall be hereafter mentioned; and what apples she shall see Cause to Lay up; and a Barrel of Cyder yearly, And forty Shillings in Money a year out of the Income of my Share of the Iron Works; and the Two Cows above s<sup>d</sup> to be at her Disposal at her Decease.

Item Third. I give to my Son John Chandler the Lands he now liveth'on. And the Land I had of William Johnson and what I had laid out by it, And that piece of meadow he useth to mow in the further clay pitt meadow, and one fourth part of my Share of the Iron Works; And my Will is that my Son John shall pay yearly to his Mother fourteen Shillings in the above mentioned grain and Ten Shillings in money a year. All which to be paid During her Life.

Item Fourth. I give to my Son William's Sons a piece of meadow in the hither clay-pitt-meadow Lying on the South side of the Brook and a bitt of Swamp adjoining to that Land w<sup>ch</sup>. I gave my said Son a Deed of Gift of, to be Equally Divided among my Son William's Three Sons: and, if any of them Die before they come of age, Then the said Land to fall to the Survivour.

Item Fifth. I give to my Son Thomas the Land he now liveth on with all my land adjoining to it, with the meadow Lying round on the East Side of his Lott—running round as the Brook runneth. And one acre next the Dinner Tree and a fourth part of ye Iron Works. He paying to his Mother yearly Seven Shillings in the above mentioned Grain and Ten Shillings in money a year. All which to be paid During her Life.

Item Sixth. I give to my Son Henry one half of my homestead and pasture land and all my housing and orchard. He to have the East End of the Lott and pasture. And half of my Share of my hither clay-pitt-meadow That I have not given to William's Sons, And half of the Land and Meadow adjoining to John Russel's meadow, and a fourth p<sup>rt</sup> of my Share of the Iron Works. He paying his Mother yearly Eight and twenty Shillings and Sixpence in the above mentioned Grain and Two Bushels of Malt and a Barrel of Syder and what apples she needs and her fire wood cutt and brought into her Room And Tenn Shillings a year in money. All which to be paid yearly During her natural Life.

Item Seventh. I give to my Son Joseph a fourth p<sup>rt</sup> of my Share of the Iron Works. I have formerly given him the value of what I intended to bequeath to him in Lands. And when my Son Joseph comes to have his Share of the Iron Works, my will is he shall pay his Mother Ten Shillings a year During her Life.

Item Eight. I give to my Two Daughters Hannah Bigsbee and Sarah Phelps, besides what I have given them already, my household goods to be Equally divided between them, after their Mother's Decease.

Item Ninth. I Doe hereby constitute and appoint my Sons John and Henry to be Executors of this my Last Will, hereby making void all former writings of this nature.

As Witness my hand and Seal This Thirteenth Day of September in the year of Our Lord one Thousand Seven Hundred.

WILLIAM<sup>2</sup> CHANDLER, Jr. (William<sup>1</sup>) and Mary Dane, Andover, Mass. She was born in Ipswich, Mass., 1638; died 10 May, 1679, at Andover, Mass.

She was daughter of Dr. John Dane, "the chiriergen," who was probably born at Barkhamstead, England, about 1612, and died 29 Sept. 1684, at Ipswich, by his first wife Eleanor [Clark]. This Dr. Dano was the author of "A Declaration of Remarkable Providences in the Course of my Life," reprinted in the N. E. His. and Gen. Register for 1854; and he was son of John Dane, of Barkhamstead and Bishop's Stortford, Herts, England, and of Ipswich and Roxbury, Mass.; and who married for his second wife, Annis Chandler, the widow of William Chandler, Sen., and mother of William Chandler, Jr., above named. Another son of John Dane, Sen., the Rev. Francis Dane, of Andover, married in his old age Hannah Chandler, the widow of George Abbot, of Andover, and daughter of William Chandler, Sen., of Roxbury. Dr. John Dane tells us in his "Declaration," that he was a "taylor" by trade; "and dwelt in a place called Wood Roe in hatfield." Soon "there was a great coming to nu ingland." "When I was much bent to cum I went to Stafford to my father to tell him." "My first cumin was to Roxbury." "My father and mother hasten after me as sone as thay could."

Mary Dane's brother John Dane, Jr., of Ipswich, was a juror in the witchcraft cases, and was great-grandfather of Hon. Nathan Dane, of Beverly, Mass. Mary Dane, having borne to Mr. Chandler eleven children, died 10 May, 1679, and he married Bridget Henchman within five months thereafter. They "entered into a Covenant of Marriage this [8] day of October, 1679, as certified by me, Samuel Adams, commissioner." [Town Records of Chelmsford.]

Bridget Henchman was daughter of Maj. Thomas Henchman, who moved from Concord to Chelmsford.

She as "Bridget Hurtsman" had previously married, on the 28 Nov. 1660, Lieut. James Richardson.

Mrs. Bridget Chandler died 6 March, 1731; but her pastor, Rev. Samuel Phillips, says she attained the age of 100 years.

William Chandler was admitted freeman 1669.

"I William Chandler, of Andover, brickmaker, and Bridget, my Wife," Sold land for 9£ to Joseph Ballard of Andover, husbandman. "all that parcell of Meadow which I had of the Town of Andover being laid out to me for part of Two acres and a half," "of my first Division of Meadow upon the Shawshin River in a Crook of s<sup>d</sup> river being bounded with s<sup>d</sup> river on all parts Except ye Southerly or South East side which is bounded with a pine plane. 5 July, 1683."

William Chandler kept an Inn on the Ipswich road to Billerica. The sign was a "horse shoe." He was "licensed 17 day of June, 1792," by their Majesties Justices at a Gen. Sessions at Salem.

Mr. William Chandler died 1698, in Andover, aged about 61 or 65.

July 21. For the more orderly settling the nfores<sup>d</sup> vilage or grant there was a meeting in Roxbury of a certaine number, Inhabitants of first that every man should take up what number of acres he pleaseth in his hom lott not exceeding thirty; and after Rights and denitions of Lands shall arise according to the proportion of his hom lot; and all after charges to arise Proportionally upon the hom lots for the first Six years. Lastly that within one month they will go personally to there new plantation afores<sup>d</sup> and there make further agreem<sup>t</sup> denitions and Settlements. The Planters, Aug<sup>t</sup> the Twenty fifth being mett att New-Roxbury alias Wapaquasett hal [all] agree that the place where the hom lots shall begin Shal be upon the plaine hil.

The Planters Finding some deficulty in their proposals of Settlement did mutually agree and chuse Seaven men—naimly Joseph Griggs Edw<sup>d</sup> Morris Hen<sup>r</sup> Bowing Sen<sup>r</sup> John Chandler Sen<sup>r</sup> Sam<sup>l</sup> Craft Sam<sup>l</sup> Scarborough and Jonathan Smeathers to State [stake] highwise needful for the present settlem<sup>t</sup>, to state a lott for the Minister and consider of Land conuenient for the Planters to Settle on, for a conuenient place for a meeting House to Stand; and to give liberty, if any number of persons agree and desire to draw lots for their hom lots on any particular piece of Land By y<sup>m</sup>selues othèrwise for the Whol to Settle as the lots shal fall by a lott. The Planters also declare what number (each perticular man desired) of acres in his hom lot, which are as is hereafter expresed in the number and order of there lots, and as enery man was willing and thought him selfe able to cary on publike charges.

The Comitte afore s<sup>d</sup> after uewing the Land Judged it Conuenientest for the Inhabitants to settle on these places folowing the plain hil, the Eastward vale, and the Westward hil, and have stated highways as foloweth, a high way of Eight Rod wide, &c.

The goers or planters being mett together Saturday the twenty eight of August. In order to drawing lots where hom lots should be; and there appearing companies to Sit down on each perticular place before stated apart by them Sélues, then liberty was giuen to those that desired to Sit downe on the plaine hil to draw by them Selves others desiring to Sit down on the Estward vale had liberty to draw for that by them Selves, others desiring to Settle on the West hil had liberty to draw by them Selves. John Chandler Sen<sup>r</sup> having liberty to chuse the place of his hom lott, tooke the Same on the brook on both sides the high way att the North End the Estward Vale in Respect of the accomodation of water. The Land being not so good the same addition was allowed him as was allowed those nine lots on the plane by the Comitte of Seaven men, the Planters then present agreeing:

The Bounds of the lands of the Hom lot N<sup>o</sup> 10. belonging and Granted unto John Chandler Sen<sup>r</sup> wth is a thirty acre hom lot wth thirty acre Rights and hath like allowance with the forementioned lots, viz thre acres for two; to make up in Quantity what it wanted in Quality.

The Whom lott, which lyeth in the Eastward Vale at the North End on a Certaine brook called Saw mill Brooke bounded East and South on Highwise West and North on Coimon measuring in leangth from East to Westt one hundred perch and In breadth from North to South, Sixty eight perch and thirteen feet and Contains forty-three acres. Nine acres more on the other side of the Highway at the Est of the above mentioned land which is bounded west by the highway; North by the Common, Est partly by the brook and partly by a Steep brough, South by Lands of Nath<sup>l</sup> Sawyer. both these pieces make fifty two acres w<sup>ch</sup> amounts to the Whom lott.

"I John Chandler Sen<sup>r</sup> of Roxbury," husbandman, and Elizabeth his wife, sold a "certain parcel" of land in Roxbury "containing" ten acres "on which the said John Chandler his mansion house Standeth, and is, by virtue of a lease for a term of Seven years, in the occupation of Richard Bonsey," "bounded by land of Mr. Joshua Lamb or the heirs of Mr. George Alcock on the West in part," &c. "to Mr. Nehemiah Walter" "for £205." Aug. 20, 1689. At that date Roxbury included New Roxbury (Woodstock, Conn.), probably.

The Committee above said did, in the Town's behalf, give and grant to W<sup>m</sup> Bartholomew above Said, on Condition of his building a Corn Mill on the falls below Muddy Brook ponds [These were afterwards the "Hosmer" and the "Harris" Mills], and finding the Town with grinding good meal clear of gritt, "the place at the afore-said falls" containing . acres.

The inhabitants met "at the House of Dea. Chandler March 6, 1698-9 for to Chuse town officers."

Att a gen<sup>l</sup> town meeting, "at the House of Benj<sup>n</sup> Sabin, then was chosen John Chandler Sen<sup>r</sup>" and others "for Selectmen for the year ensuing whose instructions are the whole power of the Town Excepting granting land and admitting Inhabitants."

In 1693-4, he was "first Selectman," and was chosen again to that office in 1693-4, but he was released, by the Town, from serving. He was 26. Nov. 1694, moderator of the town meeting. John Chandler was one of the deacons of the church in Woodstock under the pastoral care of Rev. Josiah Dwight.

He was chosen, 28 Sept. 1691, one of a Committee to build a Meeting House, which was erected on "Plaine Hill," nearly in front of the old Bowen mansion, which stood where Col. Matthew Bowen, one of the descendants of that family, lived in 1865, and his son, Capt. Andrew Bowen, lived in 1871.

Dea. John Chandler was one of the six who bought of Capt. James Fitch, of Norwich, Conn., "The Mashamoquet Purchase" of 1500 acres for the consideration of thirty pounds.

"Att a meeting of the Inhabitants of Mashamoquet (Pomfret) March ye 1, 1687, then was chosen Samuel Scarborough to act in the Room of Joseph Peak Deceased, wth John Chandler "about the patten." The youngest son of John Chandler afterwards settled at Mashamoquet.

John Chandler removed from old Roxbury to New Roxbury, 1686, and made his house on the Eastward Vale just north of Saw Mill brook, on the corner, bounded west and north by the Common. This place passed down to his great-grandchildren, and by them to Christopher Arnold about 1790.

In the burying-ground at Woodstock, near the entrance, stands a rude flat stone about fifteen inches high and twenty wide, on which is inscribed in Roman capitals under an hour glass :

HERE LIES BURIED THE BODY OF DEACON JOHN
CHANDLER AGED ABOUT
68 YEARS DIED APRIL 15th
1703

The mortal remains of one son, Judge John Chandler, and of eight others of his descendants, repose by his side.

Will of John Chandler, of Woodstock, Conn.

In the name of God, Amen. The first day of June 1702, I John Chandler of Woodstock, in the County of Suffolk within the Province of Massachusetts Bay in New-England, Husbandman, Being (through mercy) in good measure of health and of sound disposing mind and memory. Yet knowing the uncertainty of this present life; and that peace and love may be kept and maintained in my family after I am gone the way of all flesh;—

Do therefore Settle and dispose of my temporal Goods and Estates, By this my last Will and Testament in the manner as herein after expressed.

Imp<sup>r</sup>. I will that my just debts and necessary charges for my Interment be well and truly paid and discharged with what conveniency may be.

Item. I give and bequeath to Elizabeth, my loving wife during her widowhood, my house for her to dwell in; the use of one milks cow; a bed and furniture, necessary utensils for the same, and Eight pounds per Annum; and What more of my Estate her necessity may require, to be paid by my Children according to the proportion they receive of my Estate, and, in Case she marry again, I give and bequeath to her Twelve pounds.

Item. I give and bequeath unto my Son-in-Law, Robert Mason, five Shillings.

Item. I give and bequeath unto my Grand Son Robert Mason, my Land on the East side of the Township of Woodstock (which I value at Ten pounds) if he arrive to the age of twenty one years, otherwise to return to my children and be proportionally divided with my other Estate.

Item. I give and bequeath to my Grand Daughter Hannah Draper, the Sum of Ten pounds.

Item. I give and bequeath unto my Son Joseph Chandler the sum of Ten pounds.

Item. All the rest and residue of my Estate, Real and Personal (The East End of the house and my Shop being my Son John's and so not included) I give Equally among my four children, Viz. John, Joseph, Melitable and Sarah and their heirs. John (only) to have a double portion of the land and to have my house and homestead at the value at which it was appraised when he entered upon it. Viz. Two hundred thirty six pounds and six Shillings: and Joseph to have my lot in Mashamoquet, lying upon the Line—to be Sett off with him at Twenty pounds of his proportion of my Estate; and, if he See Cause, all my Mashamoquet Lands as they shall be appraised, and I will that distribution be made of my Estate as soon as may be after my Death, Save what my wife shall Improve as herein before provided, which shall be distributed upon a new apprisement after her decease, Provided also that my Son John Shall not be obliged to pay any thing out of the before mentioned Two hundred thirty six pounds Six Shillings, until the End of Two years after his Mother's decease, nor of the Value of my other Lands in Woodstock as they shall be appraised in Case he desires to have them.

And I do make my Son John my Sole Excecutor of this my last Will and Testament, hereby revoking all wills whatsoever by me heretofore made.

In Witness whereof I have hereto set my hand and Seal the day and the year first above written.

JOHN CHANDLER. [Seal.]

They were the first couple married by Rev. Francis Dane, of Andover, and that was<sup>2</sup> April, 1687; for until 1686, the expiration of the first charter, marriages were solemnized only by magistrates and persons appointed for that purpose. Previously, if clergymen had been present at a wedding, they were asked to pray, perhaps, but could not legally perform the marriage ceremony.

The church records of Westford, Mass., say, "Admitted 10 Nov. 1728, Eleanor Chandler, Widow." She was the fortieth person admitted to that church.

"Here lies the Body of Dea. PHILEMON CHANDLER
he departed this life
May 7th 1752 in ye 81st year of his age."

Dea. Philemon Chandler m. second, Patience, widow of Mr. Griggs, of Woodstock, Conn. She d. 4 Oct. 1754, in Pomfret. Their banns were entered 6 April, 1739, and they were married 2 May, 1739. What her maiden name was, is not certain. A Mr. Joseph Griggs, m. 16 Nov. 1728, Patience Parker, both of Woodstock.

Mrs. Susanna<sup>3</sup> Perrin Chandler wrote in a letter to her dau. Eunice<sup>4</sup> Burlinghame, E. G., R. I. Nov. 29, 1754, "Solomon Griggs buried his Mother Chandler and three children."

Mr. Benj. Griggs died 19 Aug. 17(3)4 in Woodstock. Patience Griggs, dau. of Benj. and Patience Griggs, b. 21 Nov. 17(2)4, "posthumous." [Woodstock Rec.]

On the 18th of May, 13th year of His Majesty's Reign [1714], Philemon Chandler, of Pomfret, Conn., bought of Thomas Ruggles, of Guilford, and Elizabeth Ruggles, of Roxbury, children of Capt. Thomas Ruggles, of Roxbury, land in Pomfret, Conn., about one mile square, on which Dea. Philemon lived, and on which Mr. Samuel White, who m. his granddaughter, lived; and in 1867, Mr. Frederick Averill, who m. Elizabeth S. Chandler, dau. of Stephen Chandler, by his wife Abby Holmes, a descendant, resided there.

This farm originally comprised about six hundred acres, of some of the best lands in the town. It was situated about one mile northeast of Putnam's "Wolf Den," and it included "Chandler Hill," on which are still visible the remains of an Indian fort, just west-by-north of his house.

May 3, 1713, Philemon Chandler was chosen clerk of "the Proprietors of the Mashamoquet Purchase," containing about fifteen thousand acres, deeded by Capt. James Fitch, of Norwich, Conn., for the consideration of thirty pounds, lawful money, to Samuel Ruggles, Sen., John Chandler, Benjamin Sabin, Samuel Crafts, John Grosvenor, Samuel Ruggles, Jun., and six other persons whom they might choose to be joint proprietors with them. The persons so chosen were John Pierpont, John White, John Ruggles, John Gore, Samuel Gore and Thomas Morey. The deed was executed May 5, 1686. It was signed by James Fitch, and by Owanecho, Sachem of the Mohican tribe of Indians, and by his son Josiah. Owanecho's sign manual to this deed resembles the outlines of a goose.

Philemon Chandler was chosen lieutenant of the train band May 11, 1714, and was dismissed May, 1721.

At a meeting of the inhabitants and proprietors of the Mashamoquet Purchase, 27 May, 1713, Philemon Chandler was chosen clerk, and at the same meeting it was ordered that the said Mashamoquet shall be called "Pomfret," and that the brand for horses shall be this figure, "P."

May 3, 1713, he was one of the twenty-three inhabitants and proprietors of the Mashamoquet Purchase who signed the agreement to sustain preaching in this place. Heretofore they had been accustomed to go to Woodstock to worship, to which place even women sometimes walked, carrying their infants five or six miles on a Sunday.

He was one of the first deacons of the church in Pomfret, over which Rev. Ebenezer Williams, of Roxbury, came as their spiritual guide, Dec. 23, 1713, and there found the inhabitants made up mostly of his native townsmen. The first meeting-house stood on White's Plain, just north of where the road turns east on top of Meeting-House Hill. It was raised in 1714. It stood about a quarter of a mile south of the present one.

At the first Town Meeting, assembled Dec. ye 7, 1719, Dea. Phil. Chandler 1st Selectman. And it was voted that "a bell Coney" be built at "one end of the meeting house," for "a bell which Mr. Jonathan Belcher offers to bestow."

"March ye 4, 1714. A committee to treat with Mr. Williams about his ordination," &c. Dea. Sabin, Lieut. Chandler and others, were of this committee.

"Voted that Lieut. Chandler shall have liberty to build a pew for himself and family in our meeting house on ye south side between ye great door and ye next east window."

Pomfret, Dec. 5, 1715, Lieut. Philemon Chandler was chosen one of the selectmen.

"At a Court of Probate holden at Plainfield Feb. 11, 1739-40 — Present Timothy Pierce, Esq. Judge, this Court appoints Mr. Deacon Philemon Chandler of Pomfret in the County of Windham," "Guardian to and for Josiah Chandler, a minor Son of Philemon Chandler of s<sup>d</sup> Pomfret deceased."

At the trial of Martha (Allen) Carryer, wife of Thomas Carryer, b. in England; he d. in Colchester, Conn., 16 March, 1735, aged 108 or 9 yrs., of Andover, for witchcraft, Aug. 2, 1692, which resulted in her being condemned, and hanged Aug. 19, on the gallows that was erected, not only for those who were thought to be possessed by the evil spirit, but for those also who might ridicule the idea of this popular delusion, as stated by Dr. Cotton Mather, Phoebe Chandler, then not twelve years old, was called as a witness. She testified:

That about a fortnight before the apprehension of Martha Carryer, on a Lord's day, while the psalm was singing in the Church, this Carrier then took her by the shoulder, and shaking her, asked her where she lived. She made her no answer, although Carrier, who lived next door to her father's house, could not in reason but know who she was. Quickly after this, as she was several times crossing the fields, she heard a Voice that she took to be Martha Carrier's, and it seemed as if it were over head. The voice told her she should within two or three days be poisoned: accordingly, within such a little time, one half of her right hand became greatly Swollen and very painful, as also a part of her face; Whereof she can give no account how it came. It continued very bad for several days and several times since she has had great pain in her breast, and been so seized on her legs, that she has hardly been able to go.

She added, That lately going to the house of God, Richard, the Son of Martha Carrier, looked Very Earnestly upon her, and immediately her hand, which had formerly been poisoned, as above said, began to pain her greatly, and she had a strange burning in her Stomach; but was then struck deaf, so that she could not hear any of the prayer, or singing, till the two or three last words of the psalm.

After finishing his account of her trial, Cotton Mather makes this Memorandum. This rampant hag, Martha Carrier, was the person of whom the Confessions of the Witches, and of her own children among the rest, agreed that the Devil had promised her she should be Queen of Hell.

While John Proctor, a respectable farmer and his wife, were in prison in Salem, July, 1692, waiting their trial, the Sheriff, George Corwin, came to his house, and seized all his goods, and even emptied a pot of broth and took away the pot, and left nothing in the house for the Support of the children. No part of said goods were known to be returned. Proctor earnestly requested Mr. Noyes to pray with him and for him; but it was wholly denied, because he would not own himself to be a Witch.

On the 23d July, John Proctor wrote to Mr. Mather and others:

Here are five persons who have lately confessed themselves to be Witches, and do accuse some of us of being along with them at a Sacrament, Since we were committed into close prison; which we know to be lies. Two of the five are [Carrier's sons] young men, who would not confess anything till they tied them neck and heels, till the blood was ready to come out of their noses; and it is credibly believed and reported this was the occasion of making them Confess what they never did, by reason they said one had been a Witch a month, and another five Weeks, and that their mother had made them so, Who has been Confined here this nine Weeks.

Though the confessing witches were many (and those accused were urged by their nearest relations, seeing no other way of escape for them, "to confess their own guilt"), not one of them that "confessed and abode by their confession, was put to death."

Bridget Chandler, the mother of Phebe, "corroborates" the daughter's story in the trial of Martha Carrier.

The Examination of Thomas Carrier, taken this 10 Aug. 1692, before me Dudley Bradstreet one of their Majestic's Justices of the Peace for Essex.

Thomas Carrier being accused of witchcraft, confessed that he was guilty of witchcraft and that he had been a Witch a Week and that his Mother [Martha Carrier] taught him witchcraft. That a yellow bird had appeared to him and Spoke to him; at which he, being affrighted, his Mother appeared to him and brought him a book and bid him Set his hand to it, telling him it would do him good if he did so, and that she would tear him to pieces if he did not.

That his mother baptized him in Shaw-Shine River; pulled off his clothes and put him into the river, and that his mother then told him he was her's forever. That his mother bid him afflict Maxy Walcutt, Ann Putnam and Sarah Phelps. And that he went the 9th inst. at night to John Chandler's [Cousin to Phebe Chandler, who married Jonathan Tyler, above]; that there were ten in Company with him, who rid upon two poles; and that there were three men in the Company, and two of the Women belonged to Ipswich, whose names were Mary and Sarah; and that he saw Betty Johnson in the Company.

And confessed that he did, the 9th instant, at night, afflict Sarah Phelps and Ann Putnam by pinching them.

DUDLEY BRADSTREET, Justice Peace.

"John Chandler Sen<sup>r</sup> of Roxbury, 29 March 1686, gave security that his Son in Law Robert Mason, with his family, should not be Chargeable to the Town." "1678 month 2 day 14, Elizabeth Chandler took hold on ye Covenant y<sup>t</sup> day." [Eliot Chh. Rec., Roxbury.]

She d. in Roxbury, 17 Nov. 1688, in her 27th year.

The children of ELIZABETH and ROBERT MASON were:

- i. ROBERT<sup>4</sup> MASON, b. 12 Jan. 1683-4; bapt. 20 January, 1683-4, in Roxbury; d. 5 Sept. 1739, at Ashford, Conn.; m. first, Mary ——. "She died 1 Feb. 1711" [Woodstock, Conn., Rec.]; m. second, 15 Nov. 1711, Hannah Holmes, both of Woodstock.

Robert<sup>3</sup> Mason made a settlement in the town of Woodstock, Conn., where his grandfather Dea. John<sup>2</sup> Chandler willed him land as follows: "My land on the East Side of the Township of Woodstock, which I value at Ten Pounds." The records of Woodstock state as follows: "Robert Mason was chosen Hnyward Dec. 9, 1709." "The Town Tax made in two lists whereof Robert Mason is to collect £10: 19s. 7d. and John Marcy £11: 0 9," "Robt. Mason, being directed to pay into Maj. John Chandler for Serving as Representative, before this date, £4: 18s. and to Robert Mason for Warning Town Meetings £0: 8s. 0d.

"Rich<sup>d</sup> Coombs of Woodstock" "for and in Consideration of £10" "by Robt. Mason of Woodstock in the Co. of Suffolk, Taylor, well and truly paid" "do Sell a certain Lott of land situate" "in the

In Woodstock he served as a Soldier, to guard the Fort built to protect the settlers from the Indians.

"Robt. Mason and wife dismissed and recommended, from the Chh. of Christ in Woodstock, Joyned and were received by us of this Chh. Aug. 6, 1721." [Ashford Chh. Records.]

He purchased land in its wild state in Ashford for one copper an acre, then called one-fourth of an English penny. This land was situated on the Hartford and Boston turnpike, commencing about one-fourth of a mile from Ashford Centre, and extended on the south side of the road to within the fourth of a mile of Bigelow river.

On a gravestone at Ashford Centre, is inscribed, "Here lies the body of Mrs. HANNAH WHITNEY, first wife of Robert Mason, who died Sept. 21, 1756, in the 66 year of her Age." Nine children.

His son John Mason, b. at Woodstock, 25 March, 1714; d. March, 1757; m. Dorothy<sup>d</sup> Chandler, dau. of Capt. Joseph and Susanna (Perrin) Chandler.

ii. ELIZABETH<sup>d</sup> MASON, b. in Roxbury; d. 1686.

iii. JOHN<sup>d</sup> MASON, b. 4 July, 1687; d. in a few days.

Hon. JOHN<sup>3</sup> CHANDLER (John,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and Mary<sup>3</sup> Raymond, Woodstock, Conn.

She was born in New London, Conn., 12 March, 1671-2. She was the fifth child of Dea. Joshua<sup>2</sup> Raymond, who m. 10 Dec. 1652, Elizabeth, dau. of Nehemiah Smith, by his wife Ann Bourn (dau. of Thomas Bourn), who settled at Norwich, 1660, from New Haven, Conn.

His widow Elizabeth was made administratrix of his estate in Block Island, 1676.

Dea. Joshua<sup>2</sup> lived on the Prentiss house-lot, and left it, at his death, and a valuable farm in Mohegan, on the road to Norwich, to his children.

"Mrs. Mary Chandler, wife to Capt John Chandler, Esq., died April y<sup>e</sup> 8th 1711," aged 39 years and 26 days, thirteen days after she had given birth to Hannah, and was buried by the side of her husband in the graveyard, on "Plain Hill," Woodstock.

It was of her brother Joshua<sup>3</sup> Raymond's wife, Mercy Sands—a woman of great thrift and energy—that the following story (a mixture of truth and fable) is told:

“Capt. Robert (in the ballad, but William in history) Kidd, the noted pirate, made the little harbor on Block Island where Joshua Raymond and his wife Mercy Sands lived, his anchorage ground, alternating with Gardiner's Bay—and she feasted him, supplied him with provisions, and boarded a strange lady, whom he called his wife, a considerable time. When he was ready to depart, he bade her hold out her apron, which she did, and he threw in handfuls of gold, jewels, and other precious commodities, until it was full, as the wages of her hospitality.

“Hence the source of pleasantry and gossip among the acquaintances of the family; and hence they were popularly said to have been enriched by the apron.” [Caulkins's Hist. New London.]

John<sup>2</sup> Alcock, son of Dea. George<sup>1</sup>, born in England, 1627, was a physician in Boston, but had been in Hartford, Conn., with his uncle, Rev. Thomas Hooker, teaching. He married Sarah Palsgrave of Charlestown. Their eight children were baptized in Roxbury, although the youngest was born in Boston. Among his children was Mary, who married Joshua Lamb, mentioned in Judge John Chandler's will; and Palsgrave Alcock, b. 20 July, 1662, and died 29 Nov. 1710, and was buried in Roxbury; and had married Esther Britman, by whom he probably had no issue, as he gave her for life all his property. But she sought consolation again on the 14th of November, 1711, by having the Rev. Nehemiah Walter solemnize the holy rite of matrimony between herself and Judge John Chandler, Esq., of Woodstock, Conn., who had been a bereaved widower ever since the 8th of April preceding.

“Augth the Twenty fifth being mett at New Roxbury alias Wapaqua-set had [all] agree that the place where the hom lots Shal begin Shal be upon the plaine hil.

The goers or planters being mett together the twenty Eight of August In order to drawing lots where hom lots should be,” “upon the Request of John Chandler Jun<sup>r</sup> who desired to take up a twenty acre Whom lott with twenty acre Rights, it was granted to him by the Company and it maketh the fortieth Lott in number. it lyeth on the west side the highway adjoyning to the tenth Lott on the North Side of it. The Bounds of the Lands of the Hom Lot No. 40 Granted unto John Chandler Jun<sup>r</sup> and is a twenty acre Hom lot with twenty acre Rights and hath an allowance of Quantity for Quality.”

“Imp<sup>r</sup> the Hom lot w<sup>ch</sup> lyeth adjoyning unto the Hom lott N<sup>o</sup> 10, on the north side and is bounded South by said Lott, West on the Common north on Common and East by a highway Extending from the highway westward — perch to a chestnut tree from thence Southward — perch to a crook in the brook, and so over the brook taking in a corner being about halfe an acre.”

1688 March the Eighteenth, We whose names are underwritten being Inhabitants of New Roxb<sup>r</sup> chosen and impowered by the Inhabitants to locke ouer John Chandler Jun<sup>r</sup> his Lott and to giue allowance as need Requird for the badness of the Land; We have, on Consideration, allowed him thre acrs for two provided he take it so as to secure the steepnes by the crook in the brook, and he may take halfe an acre on the other Side the brooke if the s<sup>d</sup> Quantity be between the highways the chestnutt tree and a crook in the Brooke.

then was Voted that those chosen this day Shall stand In their Respective [places] until March come twelue month.

Then was chosen John Chandler Jun<sup>r</sup> for Town Clerk of the writs for the year Ensooing.”

The town of Woodstock had its first organization 27 Nov. 1690, and was then named Woodstock, and chose for Town Clerk John Chandler, Junior, and for first Selectman John Chandler, Senior, and chose John Chandler, Junior, to instruct the children to read, write and cipher.

And every planter was required to procure a ladder for his house by 1st of Feb. 1691, or suffer a penalty of five shillings, for safety against fire. That was six years before a fire insurance company, “The Hand-in-Hand,” existed, 1696, in London, Eng.

1692-3 March 8th. Att a Publique town Meeting of the inhabitants of Woodstock, Whereas, John Chandler is againe chosen Town Clarke for the town of Woodstock; it was Voated and granted he should haue for his paines twelue pence for Euey town Meeting for writing the Voates and Six pence for Euey Record of all grants, he giueing a Coppy into the bargain.

In 1693-4, he was one of the Town Committoe; and in 1694, selectman.

It was granted by a clear voat that John Chandler Jun<sup>r</sup> should have five acres of land over the way against Jno Morris' and 15 acres more about Muddy Brook, provided it intrench nott on any land already layed outt, which shall be deducted out of his next diuision; he accepting of the Same, on his acc<sup>t</sup> and as sufficient Satisfaction for his Writing in the Town Books Hither unto; and Recording all Ear marks; and the Committee appoynted for Laying out Land to See it damnifie no propriety or High way.

He resided several years in New London, Conn., where he married, and where the births of their four eldest children are recorded.

In 1698, he was licensed to keep a house of entertainment in New London.

He removed back to Woodstock, and lived in South Woodstock.

“Capt. John Chandler was appointed Town’s Surveyor, Apr. 3, 1703.”

“April. 1721—Jack English (an Indian Lad) Servant to Maj. John Chandler died.” [Town Rec. of Woodstock.]

For the encouragement of those who should go to settle in New Roxbury, the south half of the township was granted to those who went, and a gratuity of £100, which was the occasion of the following letter :

“Gentlemen: The time being much about expired wherein all things between us are to be accomplished, according to the Articles betwene our Committees, these are therefore to desire that the remaining part of the hundred pounds and Surveying part of Money, together with a deed of our land, according to agreement, be delivered to Capt. Josiah Chapin, whom the Town doth appoint & depute to receive it, & to give a full discharge in our behalf thereof. Thus expecting your willingness and readiness to comply with our righteous and reasonable demands and requests, we rest your very loving friends & neighbors.

JOHN CHANDLER, Jr. In the name and by order of the Town.

Woodstock, 12 Sept. 1694.

This is a true Copy of what was sent to the Selectmen of Roxbury from the Town of Woodstock, as Attest,           Jn. Gore, Clerk.”

He was a representative to the General Court at Boston as early as 1711, and for several years.

“To his wisdom and prudence the order and regularity of Woodstock (under God) has been vastly owing.” [Boston News Letter, Aug. 18, 1743.]

Jan. 14, 1724-5, the town was indebted to Col. John Chandler for sixty-nine days services as a Representative, £15 : 8 : 0.

“In 1722 the peace of the country was disturbed by the renewal of hostilities by the Eastern Indians, and resulted in the war or fight that derives its distinctive appellation from Lovell, its hero and martyr. The native tribes of Massachusetts had ceased to be formidable ; but the incursion of the allies of the French from Canada spread alarm along the exposed frontier, and rendered military forces necessary for the security of the settlements. Worcester in 1722 furnished five men for the country’s service in the Company of Scouts under Maj. John Chandler. Two were posted at Leicester, and two others under Sergeant Benj. Flagg, kept garrison in Worcester or ranged the woods."

A letter addressed, June 24, 1724, to Col. Chandler, giving a vivid description of the distressed condition of the people of Worcester, is as follows :

"Honored Sir: * * Through God's goodness the Indians have made no attack upon us as yet, but we are under Surprising fears of it. We rec<sup>d</sup> the Caution from your honor, with the late intelligence of the Indians coming over the Lake; also we hear of the late mischief done in Hatfield, and just now, we have a post from Ratland with account of continual discoveries of the Enemy, and last night our Town was alarmed by discovering an Indian. So this day Sunday, we have but a thin meeting. Our Town is not only very much Exposed, being so near the Enemy, but we are no way Capable of defending ourselves. We have an Expectation upon your honor to be a father to us. We now have five of our Soldiers at Ratland. We are informed that we are allowed ten Soldiers."

Col. Chandler, then at Watertown, writes, June, 1724: "I am sorry that the poor people of Worcester, Leicester and Brimfield find themselves mistaken in having men allowed them to scout and guard said towns. I pray your honors consideration," &c. "for the Encouragement of whom I shall always be ready to obey such orders as your honors shall be pleased to give."

In July, 1724, orders were issued to Col. Chandler to impress twenty men for the frontier service.

The presence of these soldiers may have saved Worcester from desolation, as Col. Chandler wrote on the 7th of August, 1724: "An Indian was discovered from a garrison house and fired on by the guard. A soldier and a boy being out near the meadow, spied an Indian nearer to the garrison than they were. The boy ran away. The soldier presented his gun and was ready to fire when two more rose up by his side; Whereupon he did not venture to fire, but fled; and both came safe to the garrison. During the night their noises were heard, crying as Wolves. The people made an alarm, and the Indians beat upon a deserted house drumming violently upon its sides, and so went off."

After the erection of Worcester County by an act of the Legislature of Massachusetts, 2 April, 1731, from the counties of Suffolk and Middlesex, the first Probate Court in Worcester County was held by Col. Chandler, as Judge, in the meeting-house, on the 13th July, 1731; and the first Court of C. Pleas and General Sessions on the 10th of August following, by Hon. John Chandler, of Woodstock, commissioned 30 June, 1731, by virtue of act May 31, 1699, Chief Justice. His son John

Chandler, Jr. was clerk of both tribunals and one of the Justices of the General Sessions. These offices he held until his death, as well as that of colonel of the militia. "To which stations of civil, judicial and military honors," says Lincoln in his History of Worcester, "he rose by force of his strong mental powers with but slight advantages of education. While in Woodstock, he represented the town in the General Court of Massachusetts Bay, and was appointed to His Majesty's Council. He was the father not only of Judge Thomas Chandler, of Chester, Vt., but also of Judge John Chandler, who resided in Worcester, and who was the progenitor of that most respectable and influential family of Chandlers that flourished there prior and up to the Revolution."

By appointment Hon. John Chandler waited upon and read an address, Aug. 31, 1735, to Gov. Belcher and his Council, on their way to Albany to hold a conference with the Six Nations.

"He was nearly forty years a Commissioner of the Peace; seven years of His Majesty's Council. He left a widow and five sons." [Boston Eve. Post, 21 Aug. 1743.]

Pomfret, Conn., 1st Society Records. "Voted," 27 Aug. 1714, "That Captain John Chandler shall have ye like [Mr. Belcher] liberty to build a Pew in Our Meeting House at ye North West Corner."

"Woodstock, Conn. Dec. 24, 1740. According to adjournment met this day at ye House of ye Honourable John Chandler Esq. ye Society for Propag<sup>d</sup> Xtian & Useful Knowledge." This Society included Woodstock, Pomfret, and Brooklyn, Conn. The remains of its library are (1862) at the house of Rev. D. Hunt, in Pomfret, Conn. Its records say, "For Mr. Chandler's Doctrines of Grace" paid, "Feb. 19, 1748-9, £2:15:0."

Judge John Chandler died in Woodstock, Conn., 10 Aug. 1743, in his 79th year, and was buried, as desired in his will, in Woodstock, and a flat stone covers his remains, without any inscription.

Woodstock Revolt. The death of Col. John Chandler, 10 Aug. 1743, the father of Judge Thomas Chandler and the father of Col. William Chandler, said Miss Ellen D. Larned, historian of Windham Co., Conn., "Severed the strongest tie that bound Woodstock to Massachusetts."

March 31, 1737, Woodstock began to agitate the question of Revolt, and, at a Town meeting that day, it was voted: "Choose Col. William Chandler to lay the affair before the general assembly of Connecticut."

Afterwards it was voted "To go on with its efforts." Col. William Chandler was appointed "to prefer said affair to the Provence."

Afterwards Thomas Chandler and Henry Bowen were appointed "to go on with the Connecticut movement; and, in the most moving and effectual manner, lay their case before that colony and, if not succeeding there, send to ye Great court of England."

Priority of right of location of Pews in the meeting house erected in Woodstock, Nov. 1, 1722, No. 1 was assigned to John Chandler, Esq., for his high social standing in the Town—No. 3 to John Chandler, Junior.

Extracts from the Will of Hon. John Chandler.

In the Name of God, Amen. I John Chandler of Woodstock, In the County of Worcester, Esq. being now in a Good Degree of Health and of Sound Memory and Judgement, Do make this my Last Will and Testament In manner following.

First. I Willingly and Cheerfully Resign my Soul to God who gave it whenever he shall, in his Over Ruling Providence think fit to put and End to my Life in this World, hoping to obtain forgiveness from him of all my Sins through the mediation of his Son, Jesus Christ, who hath Redeemed his True followers from Death unto Life into whose Kingdom I hope to be Rec<sup>d</sup> as a true Penitent, notwithstanding my unworthiness thro. God's Infinite Mercy at the Resurrection of the Small and Great.

Item. as to my Body, I will that it be Buried In the Burying place In Woodstock near to my Dece<sup>d</sup> wife Mary, and two of my Children and my Dece<sup>d</sup> Father in Case I Die in or near Woodstock, but, if I die Elsewhere, in the nearest Burying Yard and in the most private manner and with the Least Expense that may be. And as touching such worldly Estate wherewith it hath pleased God to Bless me with in this Life (my just Debts and funeral Expenses, of all Sorts being Truly paid and Discharged) I give Demise and Dispose of the same as followeth.

Inprimis. I give and Bequeath unto Esther my Dearly Beloved wife (if she Survives me) During her being my widow, the West End of my Dwelling House above and Below to Dwell in with Egress and Regress and suitable yard room and Garden Room and necessary use of the well and Bakehouse with the Sole use and Improvement of my Ten acres of Land on the East Side of the highway adjoining to the Land of Nathaniel Sanger. Also the West End of my New Barn (so called) with suitable Yard Room and free passage to the Sane and one side of orchard adjoining, also two beds and furniture at her Election and all the Other Goods She brought with her at our marriage, that are yet in being or the Value thereof being Esteemed one hundred pounds. Also Twenty pounds in Bills of public Credit or Equivalent to be provided and paid by my Exec<sup>r</sup>, for her Support, the first year after my Decease, and Ten pounds pr. annum every year after, Besides Ten Cords of wood (cut short) per annum from the time of my Decease, Also Two Cows and my Bay mare, but if it please God that She shall marry again, I give and Bequeath unto her and her heirs forever the movable Goods she brought with her or £100 in Bills of Public Credit of the Old Tenor in Lieu thereof at her Election, and also the Sum of Three Hundred and fifty pounds in Bills of Credit of Old Tenor as aforesaid or the Value thereof to be paid in the space of Twelve months after such marriage. The above named to be in Lieu of her Dower or thirds of and in my Estate, always provided that my Estate suffer no loss on account of an obligation of mine made to Joshua Lamb, Esq. Relating to the Estate of Mr. Palsgrave Alcock, late of Roxbury Dec<sup>d</sup> and provided also that my said wife shall make no other challenge or Demand to my Estate or any part thereof by any way or means whatsoever.

Item. That the Surplussage herein Before Granted or herein after Disposed of, or the true Value thereof be divided among my children, that is to say John, Joshua, William, Samuel, Thomas, Elizabeth and Melitable or Such as may represent them—first Deducting from Either of them (Samuel and Melitable only excepted) so much as they have Respectively Rec<sup>d</sup> in equal Shares and not otherwise. Which upon the most Serious Reflections Relating to the Circumstances of my family and what I have done for such of them, I Judge to be Just and Equitable—Further my Will is that my Son Samuel shall have, hold and Enjoy my Homestead—Lying on both sides of the Way, with the Edifices, Buildings and fences, to be to him and his heirs and assigns forever. he to allow Three Thousand pounds for the Same and no more In Consideration of his great Prudence, Industry and Dutiful Behaviour and application in my Business ever Since his arrival to the age of Twenty one years and that he shall not be obliged to allow anything for the use of the same, Saving the annual provision herein before made for the Support of my wife, during her being my Widow, he providing for her annual support as per these presents is provided, and also that he pay unto ye four children of my Dec<sup>d</sup> Daughter Mary M<sup>c</sup>Coy, the sum of four pounds, which I hereby give and Bequeath unto them to be Equally Divided among them at their arrival at the age of Twenty one years Respectively And, if any of them shall die Before the time of payment, then ye Said four pounds to be Equally Divided Between the Survivors or Survivor, which S<sup>d</sup> Sum of 4£ with what I formerly Gave to my S<sup>d</sup> Daughter Mary, and have Since Done for Some of her children, amounts, in my opinion, to ye full Share or Child's portion of my Estate.

Item. My Will is that my Son John Shall have my Lands Lying at a place Called Housatnock Containing 1000 acres at what it shall be appraised, he to allow for it accordingly in the Distribution of my Estate to be to him, his heirs, assigns for ever. And, whereas I have Settled my Son Joshua upon a Tract of Land Containing 268 acres, as by Deed duly Executed in the Law, Bearing Date the fifth Day of December 1726 may appear, which Because he hath wrought for me Some years after he came to man's Estate was then Reckoned to him at the Sum of 180£ and for which S<sup>d</sup> Sum I have his Bond.

Also my Will is that my Exec<sup>tr</sup> or Exec<sup>adm</sup> advance and pay unto my Daughter Melitable, so much of her portion as he or they conveniently can or may, as Soon after my Decease as her occasion may require or call for; but it is not my Interest that a full Distribution of my Estate be made until the Space of Two Years be Expired from and after the Decease of my wife. In Case She dies my Widow or, If she shall marry again, then not until three years after her marriage.

Finally. I make and Ordain my well-beloved Sons, Samuel Chandler and Thomas Chandler to be Executors of this my Last Will and Testament, and I cheerfully confide in their prudence and faithfulness to Execute my true Intent in this my Last Will and Testament, and I hereby Revoke and make null and void all Wills, Testaments and Bequests, whatsoever by me heretofore made, and I do hereby Declare these presents to be and contain my only Last Will and Testament.

In Witness whereof I have hereunto Set my hand and seal in Woodstock, this Twenty fifth Day of July in the fourteenth year of his Majestyes Reign. Anno Domini 1740.

MEHITABLE<sup>3</sup> CHANDLER (John,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and John Coit, New London, Conn. He was b. 1 Dec. 1670; d. 22 Oct. 1744, a. 74, at New London. He was son of Dea. Joseph<sup>2</sup> Coit, ship carpenter, of New London, who m. 13 July, 1667, Martha, dau. of William Harris and Edith, of Weathersfield; and grandson of John<sup>1</sup> Coit, of Glamorganshire, Wales, the first ship-wright of New London, whose wife Mary died 2 Jan. 1676, at the advanced age of eighty. This John<sup>1</sup> Coit had a ship yard on Close Cove, where he worked in company with his son Joseph<sup>2</sup> Coit and his sons-in-law, Hugh Mould and John Stevens. He came from Gloucester, Mass., and had a grant of land in New London 1650, but died in Gloucester, 29 Aug. 1659.

It is in tradition that John<sup>1</sup> Coit ran away from Wales and from his master, taking his master's daughter Mary Jennes and his master's bible with him, and brought them to Cape Ann.

There is a traditional remembrance in New London of Mehitable Chandler Coit, as a person of unusual energy and power—physically and mentally; and possibly her numerous descendants owe to her some of their most valuable qualities. She kept a journal of one of her journeys from her New London home to her paternal home in Woodstock, in which journey the house of her brother-in-law—Rev. Joseph Coit, the first minister at Plainfield—was a half-way house. This journal may have been lost, says Rev. Robt. Coit Learned, in a letter.

In her will, dated 20 Oct. 1752, and approved 10 April, 1759, she gave her daughter Martha Green and her granddaughter Elizabeth Gardiner "all my wearing apparel." To each of whom and "to my Son John," "Joseph" and "my grand Son Thomas Coit, Son of my Son Thomas Coit," each "one fifth of my Estate."

John Coit and Mehitable his wife, sold to John Chandler for £50, land in that part of Ashford, called New Scituate, "the South East Corner thereof"—her patrimony—on the 7th of October, 1745. [Reg. of Deeds at Worcester, Mass.]

She d. in New London, 3 Nov. 1759, in her 87th year.

The children of MEHITABLE and JOHN COIT were:

- i. JOHN<sup>4</sup> COIT, Jr., b. in New London, Conn., 25 May, 1696; m. first, 2 July, 1718, Grace Christophers, who was b. 14 Nov.

1698, d. 9 Nov. 1745, dau. of Hon. Richard, b. in Eng. 13 July, 1662, son of Christopher Christophers by his second wife Grace, dau. of Ezekiel Turner by his wife Mary, dau. of Jonathan Brewster; Ezekiel Turner was son of John, of Scituate, and grandson of Humphrey Turner. By Grace he had five children. Married, second, 20 June, 1748, Hannah, dau. of Henry Gardiner, of North Kingston, and widow of Thomas Potter, of Newport, ship builder in his father's yard, Bank street, in 1735. Town Clerk, 1758. Eight children.

- ii. Capt. JOSEPH<sup>4</sup> COIT, b. at New London, 15 Nov. 1698; d. 27 April, 1787, at Norwich, Conn., in the 89th year of his age. He was a merchant at New London until his children had settled at Norwich, and then he removed there. "Coit & Hubbard, Merchants." He m. first, Mary Hunting, of East Hampton, L. I. She died 29 March, 1723, in the 20th year of her age, leaving one child. She was the dau. of Rev. Nathaniel Hunting by his wife Mary Green. He m. second, 10 Jan. 1740, Lydia Lothrop, b. 10 Jan. 1694, dau. of Thomas and Lydia Lothrop. Sailing master, removed to Norwich where he lies with his wife in the Old Cemetery. He died 27 April, 1787, a. 88. Ten children.

By second wife Lydia he had Lydia Coit, b. 17 June, 1741; m. 28 Aug. 1764, William<sup>3</sup> Hubbard, of Boston, son of Daniel<sup>1</sup> Hubbard, by his wife Martha Coit. They were cousins.

- iii. SAMUEL<sup>4</sup> COIT, b. in New London, 18 Feb. 1700; d. young.
 iv. THOMAS<sup>4</sup> COIT, b. 1 June, 1702; d. 10 March, 1724, a. 22; m. 5 Nov. 1723, Mary Prentiss, dau. of Thomas and Mary Prentiss.
 v. ELIZABETH<sup>4</sup> COIT, b. at New London, 22 March, 1704; m. 8 Nov. 1720, Capt. Samuel<sup>4</sup> Gardiner. Settled at East Hampton, Long Island, N. Y. He was the second son of John<sup>3</sup> Gardiner, the third proprietor of Gardiner's Island, by his first wife, Mary King. He received of his father £1570. Two children.
 vi. MARTHA<sup>4</sup> COIT, b. at New London, 1 April, 1706; m. first, at New London, 18 Aug. 1731, Daniel<sup>4</sup> Hubbard, Esq., who was b. at New Haven, Conn., 3 April, 1706, d. 24 March, 1741, a. 35 at New London; Y. C. 1727; two years tutor there; lawyer at New London, 1731, and sheriff for New London Co., Conn., 1735. He had five children.

In his will of 19 Sept. 1740, he gave his wife "Martha" one third of his estate, and "also my Negro Girl," "to be at her disposal forever." He left his children as follows: Russell, £400; Daniel, £300; William, £300; Lucretia, £200, and Elizabeth, £200.

Sheriff Daniel<sup>4</sup> Hubbard was the posthumous son of Rev. John<sup>3</sup> Hubbard, of Jamaica, L. I., who was b. 9 Jan. 1677, and m. 12 June 1701, Mabel Russell, and d. Oct. 1705, at Jamaica, L. I., leaving two sons, Col. John and Daniel Hubbard. The Rev. John<sup>3</sup> Hubbard, minister at Jamaica, b. 9 Jan. 1677, was the eldest son of John<sup>2</sup> Hubbard, of Ipswich, Mass., and afterwards of Boston, by his wife Annie dau. of Gov. John Leverett, by his second wife Sarah Sedgwick, and that John<sup>2</sup> Hubbard was son of Rev. William<sup>1</sup> Hubbard, of Ipswich.

—the historian—who was b. in England about 1620, and graduated at Harvard College in 1642, by his wife Margaret, only dau. of Rev. Nathaniel Rogers of Ipswich.

Mabel Russell, the wife of Rev. John Hubbard, of Jamaica, L. I., and mother of Daniel Hubbard the first, of New London, was the only dau. of Rev. Daniel Russell, son of Hon. Richard and Matilda Russell, of Charlestown, Mass., by his wife Mehitable Wyllis, second dau. of Samuel Wyllis, of Hartford, Conn., and Ruth Haynes, his wife. This Samuel Wyllis was son of Gov. George Wyllis, of Hartford, Conn., and was the Secretary of the Colony of Connecticut, who concealed the charter of that Colony in the hollow of the famous "Charter Oak" at Hartford; and his wife Ruth Haynes was the eldest dau. of Gov. John Haynes, of Hartford, Conn., by his second wife Mabel Harlakenden, who was descended from the Emperor Charlemagne, from Alfred the Great, and from William the Conqueror, and from many of the kings and nobles of England. For more full particulars of this family, the reader is referred to the admirable genealogy of the "Hyde Family," by Chancellor Walworth.

Mrs. Martha Coit Hubbard m. second, 6 Sept. 1744, Thomas Greene [see 304], son of Nathaniel Greene by his wife, Ann Gould, and had four children by him. She took her five Hubbard children to Boston with her. Nine children.

By first husband, Sheriff Daniel Hubbard, Martha Coit had,

- i. CAPT. RUSSELL HUBBARD, b. at New London, Conn., 28 June; 1732; d. 1785, at his residence near the Green, Norwich, Conn. Ensign JOHN<sup>4</sup> CHANDLER (John,<sup>3</sup> Thomas,<sup>2</sup> William,<sup>1</sup>) and Hannah<sup>4</sup> Frye, Andover, Mass. She was b. 12 April, 1683; d. "wife of Ensign John Chandler," 1 Aug. 1727, in child-bed, a. 44 years 3 mos. 19 days.

She was dau. of Samuel<sup>3</sup> Frye, b. 1650, by his wife Mary, dau. of John Aslett or Aslebee, gr.-dau. of Robert<sup>2</sup> Frye, who m. Ann, who d. in Andover, 22 Oct. 1680; and gr.-gr.-dau. of John Frye, of Basing, Hants, Eng.

He was a farmer in West Parish, on "the Chandler Homestead," where his gr.-grandson Capt. Joshua Chandler resided in 1871. "They were both admitted to full communion with the Church in" Andover, 13 July, 1712.

"In 1713, the 12th year of the Reign of our Sovereign Lady, Anne, Queen of England, Scotland, France and Ireland, Samuel Blunt sold to Corp<sup>n</sup> John Chandler and his brother Zebadiah, 3 parcellls of land in Andover, one of which was in the Russ Meadow." Serg. John Chandler was surveyor in 1716-20; selectman in 1720. Ensign John Chandler was selectman and overseer of the poor in 1725, 6 and 8. He "was chosen a Trustee of the town, to take out of the Provence Treasury their aforesaid part of £60,000." &c. Sept. 19, 1732, Capt. John Chandler was moderator of a town meeting in Andover.

"Ens. John Chandler was made choise of as a messenger to the ordination of Rev. Timo. Walker, at Penny Cook, which is to be on the 18th." [Church Rec., So. Parish, And., Nov. 8, 1730.]

In those days, when athletic sports were fashionable and excellence in them a test of manly character, Ens. John Chandler acquired the appellation of "The wrestler," and became celebrated for his feats in that line; and finding no champion who could throw him, and being informed that the Rev. Mr. Wise, of Ipswich, excelled in this art and had not been thrown, he made a journey to Ipswich on purpose to try his strength and skill. Mr. Wise, on being requested to wrestle, declined, having relinquished the practice as unsuitable to his ministerial character. Being earnestly solicited, however, by Mr. Chandler, they went into the door-yard, which was fenced by a wall set in the bank, and took hold and began to play, when Mr. Wise suddenly, with a trip and a twitch, threw him over the wall upon his back. Mr. C. rose and requested another trial, but Mr. Wise refused. So the Ensign returned home sadly disappointed.

The gr.-grandson of Ens. John Chandler used to relate that on one occasion, when his uncestor Ens. John Chandler, of Andover, went to Newburyport, he was impressed by three of the King's officers, saying to him as they laid their hands on his shoulders, "The King needs your services." He told them he wished to be excused, as his family required his care, &c. To which the reply was, "We can't help that. The King needs your services, you will go with us." Apparently yielding, he walked quietly along until they reached a spot where a house had been burned down and where there was a deep cellar, with ashes and half consumed timbers still burning, then turning round quickly he seized them, one by one, and threw them all into the cellar, where he left them and went his way.

By acknowledgment 31 March, 1730, before Henry Rolfe, Justice of the Peace, John Chandler, Sen. of Andover, Gentleman, sold for £450, "to my Son John Chandler, Jun<sup>r</sup> of s<sup>d</sup> Andover, my Homestead Lot" of 15 acres on the "North Side of the road against John Wilson's dwelling house, bounded on the North End with Abiel Chandler's land, on South East End by road."

In the Will of Ens. John Chandler, dated 20 April, 1741, and proved 1 June, 1741, there may be found the following extracts. His son Nathan was named as sole Executor.

He d. 3 May, 1741, in Andover, in his 62d year.

"To my Eldest Son John one half of the Samuel Jones Lott Lying and being in ye Township of Rumford as may appear to be bounded on the Proprietors Book."

"To my well beloved Son Nathan," "all the Lands that I have in Andover with all my buildings on the same, That is to Say all my tillage Land, pasture, meadow ground with all the fences belonging thereto, with all the Stock of Creatures, excepting what I shall hereafter Dispose of mentioned in this my Will (By Creatures I mean horse kind, Cattle, Sheep and Swine) and all my Husbandry tools and Tackling. Also I give to my s<sup>d</sup> Son Nathan all my Cyder Barrills, powdering tubs and Corn tubs and Sacks for Corn and all my Blacksmith tools."

The inventory of his Estate comprised, "15 Acres both sides of the road," the Homestead: "15 Acres" on the road from the So. Meeting House to the No. Meeting House: 20 Acres by the road to Blanchard Pond Brook: 46 Acres on westerly side of the Pond Brook: 46 Acres on westerly side of the Pond Brook; 20 Acres in Merrimac Woods; 5 Acres in Rough meadow and in Clay Pitts meadow; one Right and a half in Rumford, at £390; Blacksmith's Tools £17.

He was selectman in Woodstock, 1728.

At a Court of Probate held in Woodstock in and for the County of Worcester, 19 July, 1731, the Will, of which the following is an abstract, was presented for approbation. In this Will of 3 Nov. 1729, and which was proved 30 Aug. 1731, he says: "I Daniel Abbot of Woodstock, in ye Co. of Suffolk in his Majesty's Prov. Mass. Bay, give to Hannah, my beloved wife, all my household goods" during her being my widow and the profits of one third part "of all my other estate." "But, in case my wife shall marry again, then I give and bequeath unto her during the term of her natural life only one half of what is above Expressed." "I give unto my Son, Daniel Abbot the sum of £30 to be paid him by my Executors when he shall arrive unto the age of twenty one years. Also I give him a gun." "I give my son Joseph Abbot £15, at the age of twenty one. Also I give him a gun. I give all my wearing apparel to my Sons" equally. "I give unto my Daughters all my household goods," "one half of them when and as soon as my wife shall marry again, the remainder" at her decease. All the rest "of my Estate I bequeath unto my nine Children" Daniel, Joseph, Nathan, John, Hannah, Dorcas, Elizabeth, Phebe and Sarah. To each of my Sons £100 and to each of my Daughters £60, at their arriving at the age of twenty one years respectively, or at their marriage.

"And my will is that my children be all put out into good families to be brought up in the fear of God and to some proper calling suitable to their capacity," "and for as much as it is probable that my wife may be with child," "the charge of bringing it up to six years, shall be bourn out of my Estate and it shall have an Equal portion with his brothers and sisters."

"Finally I make and ordain my well beloved friend Maj. John<sup>3</sup> Chandler, Sole Executor of this my last will, and I hereby confide cheerfully in ye prudence and faithfulness of him ye s<sup>d</sup> John Chandler to Execute my true intent in this my last will.

DANIEL ABBOT."

At a meeting of the proprietors and other inhabitants of the south half of Woodstock, 15 April, 1746, it was "Voted y<sup>t</sup> Capt. Joseph Wright, Mr. W<sup>m</sup> Lyon, Lev<sup>t</sup> Edward Morris and Henry Bowen be the Committee" "for Disposing of Sundry pieces of Land Given by the Proprietors of the South half of Woodstock to the Inhabitants for public uses," "for y<sup>e</sup> Benefit of a School in y<sup>e</sup> South half of Woodstock. That is to Say, the Principle to be Kept Good for Ever and the Interest to be annually laid out for that Sarvis and no other." This action was probably the origin of the Academy there.

Lieutenant Joseph Wright and Mrs. Elizabeth Chamberlain, of Woodstock, were married, 5 Dec. 1737, by Hon. John Chandler. Mrs. Elizabeth Wright, wife to Capt. Joseph Wright, died in Woodstock, 28 Dec. 1746. He had by his second wife four children. Capt. Joseph Wright, of Woodstock, was published to Mrs. Hannah Ashley, of Hartford, "ye 10 day of October 1747."

Delivered for collection to constable Joseph Wright, tax for the town of Woodstock, £24 : 4 : 4.

The Boston News Letter of 24 March, 1737, has the following: "On Wednesday the 16th instant, at Night, a very Sorrowful Providence happened at Woodstock. A very fine house belonging to John Chandler, Jun. Esq. of Worcester, but then in Occupation of Lieut Joseph Wright, catch'd on Fire and was Consumed with all the Furniture and Provisions, together with three Persons — Mr. Wright's wife, his Son and a Negro Servant. We hear that Mrs. Wright had got out and Escaped the flames, but perceiving her dear Child left behind, She, out of tender affection and Concern for him, ventured in again to Save his Life, but in the attempt lost her own."

The town records of Woodstock have this notice of the above calamity: "Mrs. Sarah Wright, the wife of Lieut. Joseph Wright, aged about 44 years and Abial Wright Son of Said Joseph Wright by Sarah his wife, having just completed the 11th year of his age, and John Page a Servant to Said Wright aged about 30 years, were all burnt to death the following night after the 15th day of March 1736-7 in the Dissolution of his House by Fire."

On account of having received and paid out "Land Bank Bills," which had become legally obnoxious, the militia officers in Woodstock voluntarily gave up, 1740, their commissions. The officers of the first company were: Sannel Chandler, Capt. ; Joseph Wright, Lieut. ; John Frizzel, Ens.

John Chandler, Jr. of Woodstock, for £90 paid by Joseph Wright, of Woodstock, husbandman, sold "a Certain peice or Lot of land Scituate in Woodstock aforesaid near adjoining to Wabaquassett Hill, containing by Estimation nine acres and three quarters more or less, bounded Southerly and Easterly on Highway, West on land of John Johnson and North on land now belonging to the s<sup>d</sup> Joseph Wright," and signed "18 May, in the Eleventh year of the Reign of our Sovereign Lord George of Great Britain and 1725.

John Chandler [scal.]

I am Content

After 1749 when Woodstock went off from Massachusetts constable Durkee ordered a number of citizens assembled in Joseph Wright's public house to assist him in releasing the prisoner Seth Hodges from the hands of the Massachusetts Sheriff Flagg of Worcester.

The children of SARAH and JOSEPH WRIGHT were :

- i. JOSEPH<sup>2</sup> WRIGHT, b. at Andover, Mass., 1713 ; admitted freeman in Woodstock, Conn., 1749 ; m. 22 May, 1735, Abigail Chaffee. Five children.

Strength and Heart fail.

And on another stone by its side is inscribed :

Mrs. Eleanor Walker died Nov. 6th 1769 in her 75th year.

He was one of the proprietors under the N. H. Charters of Charlestown, No. 4. He was there as early as 1750.

He was probably son of Joseph Walker, of Billerica, for Mr. Joseph Walker, in his old age, came to Charlestown and resided with Seth and Eleanor Walker.

"My Father, as I [Rev. A. Chandler] have heard him say, had an aunt who was married to — Walker, and lived at Charlestown No. 4."

Rev. A. Chandler, of Greenfield, said: "Eleanor Walker, wife of Seth Walker," as tradition has it, "was a small, but a very strong woman. She could set barrels of Cyder into the cart as fast as a man could roll them up to her." And he said, "Col. Seth Walker, of Charlestown, was a Cousin of my father, Mr. Moses Chandler, of Deerfield."

"I Elener Chandler of Andover spinster, for forty five pounds Current Money of New England paid me by Joseph Phelps of Andover, do sell land and meadow," containing about 8 acres, "housing and orchard in Andover, tenth December in the 13th year of the Reign of our Sovereign Lady Anne, Queen of Great Britain, 1713.

In presence of Christopher Osgood,
 Stephen Barnard.

and Susanna Barnard, Concord, N. H.

Isaac Chandler of Salisbury, and Susanna Barnard of Amesbury, were married January 7, 1719-20. She lived with her son Joseph, in Hopkinton, and died there. The births of their five eldest children were recorded in Amesbury, and the birth of Joseph, 2d, in Concord, N. H.

After the massacre, 11 Aug. 1746, of the Bradleys and others, about two miles west on the Hopkinton road, by the Indians, "new arrangements were made concerning the garrisons;" and from "District of Rumford, March y<sup>e</sup> 21st, 1746-7," "Lt. Isaac Chandler and his Son Isaac are ordered to remove and do their duty at the Garrison round the house of the aforesaid Rev. Timothy Walker."

In a deposition given relative to the Bow controversy, 1757, Isaac Chandler and Jacob Pillsbury, of Rumford, state :

That there was no way for the people, in their power, to defend themselves against their [Indian] Enemies, but by assembling together, by common agreement, as many families as conveniently could, and first Erecting a fort or garrison sufficient to contain them, and then building within the same a house for each family, to screen them from the inclemency of the weather. And all this they did at their own expense. Moreover, by being obliged to keep Watch and Ward, and to work together in large companies for the greater safety during the Summer; and their being called from their business—either by some assault or the discovery of the Indians—and other avocations occasioned by the war, the deponents really believe that the said inhabitants lost nearly one half of their time during the most busy and valuable part of the year; for all which they never, as the deponents heard of, had any allowance or consideration.

And notwithstanding all these discouragements, they have stood their ground against the Enemy; supported themselves with all the necessaries of life; and also yearly spared considerable quantities of provisions to the neighboring villages in the said province—which must have suffered very much if they had not their assistance.

And they have always been ready, upon notice of distress or danger among their neighbors, during the War, to go to their relief, many times in considerable companies, to places at a distance, all at their own expense; besides the losses they have sustained, not only of human lives, but also of their stocks of cattle, many scores of which were destroyed at other times.

ISAAC CHANDLER.

JACOB PILLSBURY.

[Rev. N. Bouton's Hist. of Concord, N. H.]

“Know all men by these presents y<sup>t</sup> we Philemon Chandler and Elizabeth his wife, both of Andover, have received of br<sup>r</sup> John Rogers of Billerica, £50 in full of all our portion in ye Estate of our Father Thomas Rogers of said Billerica.” July 1, 1717.

Philemon Chandler, of Andover, blacksmith, bought, 1718, of William Chandler, husbandman, of said Andover, land “before y<sup>e</sup> Parsonage,” in South Parish, Andover, adjoining land of Thomas Chandler.

Dec. 31, 1734, Philemon Chandler, of Andover, blacksmith, bought for £90, of Josiah Johnson, of Billerica, all his right in land in Suncook, in the County of Middlesex, which was granted to him by the General Court for gratuity for his services done in the Indian war, under the command of Captain John Lovewell.

Mr. Philemon Chandler lived on the road leading south from the Seminary, as it turns to the right, where David Hidden resided in 1865. His ancestors had probably lived on that spot before him. He owned about thirty acres around the house, a large tract of meadow and woodland by Chandler’s Bridge, south of Preston’s Plains; a pasture where the stone (Latin) Academy stands, &c.

The next owner of this Chandler place was his son William,<sup>5</sup> and after him his son William,<sup>6</sup> who married Elizabeth Chandler, and the next Isaac Chandler (a brother of this last William) who married Abigail Holt, parents of Mary Chandler, who married David Hidden. He died 22 July, 1760, in his 71st year, in Andover.

In his will of July 3d, 1759, he said: “I Philemon Chandler of Andover,” “give my wife Elizabeth,” “my Bible for her sole use,” “my Son William Chandler all my blacksmith tools,” “land and buildings in Andover, when my wife shall have done with them at her decease or when she shall marry.”

The inventory of the estate of Philemon Chandler, taken Sept. 23, 1760, amounted to £319:6:8.

The children of PHILEMON and ELIZABETH (Rogers) CHANDLER were :

"He came up from Newtown" (Cambridge), Mass., to Pomfret, and thence to Hampton or Windham Village, where he bought of William Durkee, about one hundred acres of land, about one mile N. W. of the meeting house.

They joined the church at Hampton, 28 June, 1733, and he was chosen Deacon thereof in 1744.

The children of HANNAH and Dea. EBENEZER GRIFFIN were :

- i. HANNAH<sup>2</sup> GRIFFIN, b. at Hampton, 11 Sept. 1732; m. at the age of 18 yrs. 7 mos. on 11 April, 1751, Capt. James Stedman, who was b. 6 March, 1726, at Muddy River, Brookline, Mass., 1725; d. 7 Sept. 1788. Three children.

They were m. by Rev. Samuel Mosley, of Hampton. He was son of Thomas<sup>2</sup> Stedman, Jr., b. 1698, of Brookline, by his wife Anna Seaver, whom he m. 9 April, 1721. Anna<sup>4</sup> Seaver, dau. of John and Sarah, b. 13 Dec. 1701; d. 20 April, 1787, a. 88. Dea. Thomas<sup>2</sup> Stedman, Jr., was killed 9 April, 1773, a. 75, by falling from a load of logs and the wheel passing over him. Thomas Stedman, Jr. (Deacon) and Anna his wife, bought a lot of land of Nath. Kingsbury, of 150 acres, 3 Dec. 1731, about one and a quarter miles east of north of the meeting-house in Hampton, and his two story dwelling house was occupied, 1858, by Lewis Fuller. Dea. Thomas Stedman lived on this farm till 20 Jan. 1761, when he gave a deed of it.

then containing 170 acres, to his son James Stedman, and he went to live on another farm which his son Daniel lived on, adjoining. Four of their eleven children were born before they removed to Hampton.

Capt. James Stedman built and lived on the homestead. He was a good farmer, carpenter and joiner, and he made a large number of stout wooden wheel clocks that kept true time. He was town treasurer and collector, a man of influence and was much respected.

He was appointed by the Legislature of Connecticut, 26 June, 1776, "Captain, in place of Ripley resigned," of the military company raised at Hampton. He was in the battles of "White Plains," "Harlem Plains," marched with Washington, in his retreat through New Jersey, crossed the Delaware with him, and suffered with him in his dreary camp at Valley Forge.

The Colonel of Capt. James Stedman's regiment was Andrew Ward, of Guilford. "On the 8th July 1776 this regiment was ordered to New York instead of Boston." And it was in Bucks Co., Penn., on 24 Dec. 1776. Of the march through New Jersey, the orderly Sergeant of Capt. James Stedman's company, Nehemiah Holt, of Hampton, often said: "All night long Washington rode at the right of the column, a little in advance, but so near me that I could most of the time put my hand upon the rump of the powerful gray charger upon which he rode, made restive by the cold sleet pouring down upon us, but whose maddened spirit was curbed in and controlled with apparent ease, by his more powerful rider, his rein hand resting upon the pommel of the saddle. Washington," said he, "spoke scarcely a word during that dreadful march." Capt. James Stedman died 1788.

A portrait of Capt. Stedman, taken after death by Rev. Joseph Steward, — m. Sarah, dau. of Rev. Samuel Mosley — of Hampton, and afterwards proprietor of "The Museum" at Hartford, Conn., in crayon, with one by the same artist of his widow, is in the keeping of Mrs. Waldo Lincoln, of Worcester, Mass., their gr.-grand daughter. He is represented with light complexion, gray eyes, red cheeks and of medium size, dressed in a white wig, red coat, a single breasted closely buttoned dark vest, and white cravat with shirt collar turned over. She is represented at the age of 56 — a large woman of dark, clear skin, dark hazel eyes, dark hair, chin large, mouth compressed — dressed in a single bordered cap, with black crape band round her head, full white dress shawl, and pearl beads round her neck.

Said Miss E. D. Larned in her History of Windham Co.: "Capt. Jas. Stedman owned much land and carried on extensive farming operations, and was greatly respected as a man of substance and business capacity. At the Lexington alarm, the soldiers hastily assembled. The company attended prayers in the Meeting House and it was sunset before they set out for Pomfret, led by Capt. James Stedman, 22 Apr. 1775. There they found companies from Canada Parish and Ashford awaiting them."

iel<sup>2</sup> and Sarah Seaver, gr.-grand dan. Robert<sup>1</sup> Seaver; b. ab. 1608; m. 10 Dec. 1659, Elizabeth Allard or Ballard.

Their daughter Mary Stedman, b. at Hampton, 16 Jan. 1772; bapt. 17 Jan. 1773; d. 5 Jan. 1832, in Pomfret, Conn.; m. 20 Nov. 1792, Maj. John Wilkes Chandler, of Pomfret. [See 381.]

- ii. EBENEZER<sup>2</sup> GRIFFIN, b. at Hampton, 20 July, 1734; bapt. 28 July, 1734; farmer at Hampton, Conn.; m. 1 Feb. 1757, Elizabeth Martin, "when she was 18 years 7 mos. and one day old." She was b. 1 Aug. 1738, dau. of Ebenezer Martin by his wife Jerusha. Ten children.

Their dau. Hannah Griffin, b. 1 Aug. 1763; bapt. 1 Aug. 1763; d. 22 Feb. 1814, at Greenfield, Mass.; m. 1785, Lieut. Calvin Munn, of Greenfield, where he settled in 1792. He was b. at Monson, Mass., 1761; d. 3 May, 1850, at Springfield, Vt., but buried at Greenfield, where he had lived and kept tavern where the Mansion House stands. He entered the army in 1777, and served his country till the close of the Revolution. He was in Col. Shepherd's and Col. Vose's regiments; was one year under the command of Lafayette in Virginia; under Sullivan at the evacuation of Long Island. He was at the siege of Yorktown, the taking of Cornwallis, and he witnessed the execution of André. At one time he was drill-sergeant, and had in his squad Miss Deborah Sampson, under the name of Robert Shurtliff, who served a long time in the Revolution. After the war she m. REV. JAMES<sup>1</sup> CHANDLER (Thomas,<sup>3</sup> William<sup>2</sup>, William<sup>1</sup>) and Mary Hale, Rowley, Mass. She was dau. of Rev. Moses Hale, of Byfield, b. 1713, by his wife Mary Moody, and grand-daughter of Joseph Hale, son of John and Sarah (Symonds) Hale. "Ap. 17, 1737. Before the Sacrament Mary Chandler wife of the Pastor of the church was admitted to the communion of it being recommended thereto from the church in Byfield."

On a slate-stone near her residence while living, is inscribed:

"Mrs. Mary Chandler Relict of Rev. James Chandler, Died Sept. 2, 1806, Æ. 92.

When I lie deep buried in the dust
My flesh shall be thy Care,
These withering limbs with thee I trust,
To raise them strong and fair."

They resided about half a mile east of where the present church stands, and near where the first church stood.

They had no children. He was graduated at Harvard, 1728, in a class numbering 42, and his rank in "Dignity of Family" and scholarship was 23d.

Jan. 4, 1732. The Parish in Rowley invited him to settle over it as its Pastor. Every man in the meeting voted for it, and he was ordained over it 18 Oct. 1732. "July 17, 1733, the Parish voted they would be at the expense of raising Rev. Mr. Chandler's house and barn, and agreed to give Mr. Stephen Nelson £12. to make provision for the same." That house was burnt April 4, 1825. It stood upon the spot where Stephen M. Nelson's house now (1860) stands.

June 15, 1757. Rev. James Chandler's name stood at the head of the Alarm List of 20 in Rowley, under the command of Capt. Richard Thurston, at a time when the whole community were alarmed by the fear of the French invasion. This list included the old, the lame and one blind man, all indeed who were not able-bodied soldiers.

"He was active and influential in civil and religious affairs; guardian of children and administrator of Estates. He was sound in doctrine, excemplary in life and conversation, dignified in deportment and greatly esteemed, generally by his own people, highly respected abroad, and very successful in his ministry."

He was quite a fruit-grower in his day. He introduced and cultivated the best kinds of apples, and also many kinds of medicinal plants.

In his Will, bearing date 22 May, 1787, he says: "I James Chandler, Clerk, of Rowley, being very aged," &c. "my wife Mary," "my Sister Elizabeth Dane." "To the children of my late Brother William Chandler dec<sup>d</sup> I give his Eldest Son Thomas Chandler" £7. "William" £5 "and my English Dictionary," and to Stevens £7. "To his youngest daughter Mary Snow" £7, and to "Mary Spofford and Hannah Tenny daughters of his late daughter Rose Tenny, dec<sup>d</sup>, each of them £5." "To Joseph Chandler only child of my late Brother Joseph Chandler dec<sup>d</sup> £7."

"To the children of my late Brother John Chandler dec<sup>d</sup> I give his daughter Mary, wife of Mr. William White," £4. And to his daughter Elizabeth, wife of Mr. Thomas Plummer, £6.

"To each of the female children of my late sister Mary Ballard fifteen shillings."

"The children of my late sister Phebe Dana dec are plentifully provided for by Providence so as not to need gifts of mine. However to the widow of her late Son Caleb Dana dec<sup>d</sup> I give" £3.

"To Bridget Burroughs only child of my sister Bridget Wood I give £2," and "To her Son John Chandler Burroughs," £4.

"To the children of my late sister Hannah Burroughs dec<sup>d</sup> I give" "to her Son Capt. George Burroughs 40 shillings" "and a note," &c. "To Rebecca Burroughs Widow, Relict of my late nephew Thomas Burroughs, £5." "To her daughter Mary Burroughs that now lives with me £10, and the bed she lodges on and bedding," and "to each of the other children of s<sup>d</sup> Thomas Burroughs dec<sup>d</sup>" £3.

"To Sophia Spofford only daughter and only living child of the late Dr. Isaac Spofford and of my late dear niece [in Law] Mary [Ayer] his wife, I give my gold Sleeve Buttons."

"I give to Samuel Merrill the lad that lives with me," £3.

"To my Negro woman Phillis her manumission or freedom and five £, a chest and such other things in my house as are known as her things and also the Bed that she and her mother lodge in, and all the bedding belonging to it; and I hereby testify that I gave her her freedom when she was 18 years old and covenanted with her that, if she would live and serve in my family, I would give her one pound and six shillings and eight pence per year for her services and find her her clothes. She has live with and served me ever since, and I have paid her nothing of the money that I promised as her wages, and therefore I owe it to her and order my Executors to pay it to her. I suppose my keeping her child more than answers for interest, but I release what more it might be reckoned at."

Ciccero Green, of Newburyport, and Phillis Chandler, of Rowley, Negroes, were married by Rev. James Chandler, 1 March, 1783.

"My apparel I dispose of thus. My Gown and Linen I give to my wife. The remainder of my apparel I give to Thomas Chandler and Stevens Chandler, Sons of my late Brother William, and to Joseph Chandler Son of my late Brother Joseph, to be equally divided between them."

"The Pew in the meeting House in the West Parish in Rowley, I give to my Nephew and kinsman John Tenny Jun<sup>r</sup>, son of my late sister Rose Tenny dec<sup>d</sup>."

"To this church and Parish" £10, "to begin a Library. My Real Estate I give to the Parish for a Parsonage [on condition that the Parish take care of my widow]." John Tenny, Jr. to be sole Executor. Will approved 5 May, 1789. His Estate was inventoried at £482: 2s.

By the State Valuation, 1798, Mary Chandler, of Rowley, had half a house and 80 perches of land valued at 242 Dols. and 40 acres at 720 Dols.

Of the writings of Rev. James Chandler there have been printed:

1. "Two Sermons preached at Rowley, West Parish, Mass., Feb. 10, 1754. 12mo. Boston, 1754. On Temptation and Prayer."

2. "A Sermon preached at the Ordination of Rev. Thomas Lancaster to the Pastoral Care of the First Church at Scarborough, Me., Nov. 8, 1775. 8vo. Portsmouth, N. H., 1776."

3. "A Sermon preached at Newburyport, Mass., June 25, 1767." This Sermon was preached at a Fast Sanctified by the Congregational Church and Society there, under bereavement of their Pastor Rev. John Lowell, who died May 15, 1767. Its publication drew out a letter of 27 pages in Reply, from Rev. John Tucker, pastor of the First Church in Newburyport, dated Aug. 25, 1767.

4. This was followed by "An Answer" of some 36 pages by the author of the Sermon, dated Rowley, Oct. 16, 1767.

5. After this Mr. Chandler published "A Serious Address," of 38 pages, "to that part of the Congregational Church in Newburyport, which, for the present, attend the public worship of God in the Court House; occasioned by two letters published by the Rev. John Tucker, to make void in part a Sermon preached to said Church on their Solemn Fast, June 25, 1767." It contains also, an account of the division of said Church and Parish into two Christian Societies.

He preached the Convention Sermon 1774, which was not published.

The funeral charges of Rev. James Chandler were paid by the parish, and, on a black slate slab, 6 ft. by 3, resting on a solid granite base, 2½ feet square by 5½ long, in the graveyard opposite his dwelling house, is inscribed the following :

This Monument is Erected in Memory of
REV. JAMES CHANDLER first Pastor of the Second Church of Christ in Rowley
who departed this life
April ye 19th 1789 in the 83rd year of his age and 58th of his Pastoral Care of s<sup>d</sup> Church.

Beneath the honor of this tomb
We've placed our Pastor's dear remanus
To rest in Silence here
Till the last trumpet shall be blown
By the Eternal's high command
To bid the world draw near.
Then will he wake with sweet surprise
And join the Saints above the skies
To sing and triumph there.

He was b. in 1697, in that part of Cambridge now Brighton; and on a slate-stone tablet supported by brick, in the most prominent place in the old cemetery, in the rear of the first church in Brighton, is inscribed: "Here lie intombed the remains of Caleb Dana, Esq. who departed this life April ye 28th A. D. 1769, Æt 72." His grandfather, Richard<sup>1</sup> Dana, was born in France about 1612. In 1629 he fled to England with his father to avoid persecution, being Protestants. He came to America about 1640, and married, 1647, Ann Bullard, of Cambridge. In 1658 they were members of the church there. He owned most of what is now the village of Brighton. Of his twelve children, Daniel<sup>2</sup> Dana was b. 20 March, 1663; baptized in the Old South Church, Boston, 3 April, 1664; d. 10 Oct. 1749; m. Naomi Crosswell, and was father of Caleb<sup>3</sup> Dana, b. 1697, who lived in that part of Cambridge south of Charles River, now Brighton. The Massachusetts Gazette, of May 4, 1769, says: "Friday last died at Cambridge, Caleb Dana, Esq. Æ 73: a gr. child of his died a few days before; and also his son whom we mentioned last week, died at Wallingford, all within a fortnight."

Caleb Dana was a tanner. He left an estate, as appraised, of real, £5468 : 13 : 4; and of personal, £371 : 5 : 8.

James Bryant,
Daniel Dana,
Stephen Dana, } Appraisers.

Cæsar, a negro servant of Caleb Dana, and Rose, a negro servant of Capt. Caleb Kendrick, of Newton, were married.

The children of PHEBE and CALEB DANA were :

- i. CALEB<sup>4</sup> DANA, b. in Cambridge, 20 March, 1726-7; d. 6 August, 1727.
- ii. PHEBE<sup>4</sup> DANA, b. in Cambridge, 12 July, 1729; m. 12 Sept. 1747, Henry Coolidge, son of Stephen Coolidge, who m. Sarah, dau. of Capt. Josiah Parker. After the death of Stephen Coolidge she m. second, Nicholas Fessenden, a noted school-master. Two children.
- iii. PRISCILLA<sup>4</sup> DANA, b. in Cambridge, 24 Aug. 1731.
- iv. CALEB<sup>4</sup> DANA, 2d; d. 17 April, 1769, at Wallingford, Conn., a. 52, on a visit to his brother, Rev. James, after only twenty-four hours illness. He m. at Brighton, Mass., 24 May, 1756, Sarah Ballard.

The inventory of the estate of Caleb Dana, Jr., late of Brighton, deceased, exhibited by the administratrix, Sarah Dana, Aug. 2, 1769, embraced, "Beef, £79 : 1 : 4; Beef Carts, Block and Cleaver, £8 :

10:8; Slays and Beef Wherries, £2:1:2; Chaise, £20; Slaughter House," &c. The administratrix craved an allowance, Dec. 10, 1770, paid George Dana for tanning leather from May 1, 1769, to April 12, 1770, and an allowance for the use of the widow and five children.

"To Capt. Stephen Dana. You are authorized and impowered to apprise all that part of the Estate of Caleb Dana, Esq., late of Cambridge, deceased, testate, which was set off to Sarah, widow of his son Caleb Dana, for her dower or thirds; To Charles Dana, Grand Son, one-fifth part, of s<sup>d</sup> Dower." Dec. 1, 1779.

The return set off to Charles Dana, the grandson, the mansion-house on the road to Springfield, in Cambridge. Five children.

- v. JAMES<sup>d</sup> DANA, b. at Cambridge, 1735; d. 11 Aug. 1812, a. 77, at New Haven, Conn. He was a graduate of Harvard College, where he remained a resident graduate several years, pursuing his theological studies. In 1758 he went to Wallingford, Conn. A council to settle him, and a consociation to prevent his ordination, met in Wallingford the same day, the 11th Oct. 1758. The council denied the jurisdiction of the consociation, and settled him; but his pastoral relations were dissolved by that body. It was a controversy between the Old Light and the New Light parties. Mr. Dana was understood to belong to the liberal school.

He took a decided stand with the patriots of the revolution, and his Arminianism came to be regarded as a very pardonable offence. In 1768 he was honored with the degree of Doctor of Divinity from the University of Edinburgh. In 1789 he was called to the pastoral charge of the first church in New Haven. His health failed in 1804; and Mr. Stewart, who was afterwards professor, supplied his pulpit; and the society, July 30, 1805, signified by a vote their willingness "that Dr. Dana should retire from his pastoral labors." He manifested his feelings at being snubbed so curtly, by always afterwards attending public service at the College Chapel, where he used to sit in the pulpit with Dr. Timothy Dwight. In his old age he is recollected as personally a mere shadow of a man—tall, slender and ghostly; and his prayers at the communion service in the Chapel were remarkably solemn, reverential and impressive. In his manners he was extremely bland, courteous and gentlemanly. He was a trustee of Yale College. An engraving of Dr. Dana adorns "The Historical Discourses," by Rev. Dr. Bacon.

He m. first, 8 May, 1759, Catherine Whittlesey, of Wallingford. She d. 28 Aug. 1795, a. 67, dau. of Rev. Samuel Whittlesey, of Milford, Conn. He m. second, 10 July, 1796, Abigail Porter, widow of Col. Thomas Belding, Jr. She d. 17 March, 1798, a. 61, dau. of Dr. Ezekiel Porter. He m. third, 14 Sept. 1798, Mary Miles, widow of Mr. Rice. She d. 21 Dec. 1831, a. 91. A red sandstone monument, in form like an Egyptian pyramid, just at the right hand of the entrance of Cemetery at New Haven, Conn., marks the resting place of the mortal remains of his three wives and himself. Two children.

His son, Samuel Whittlesey Dana, b. 13 Feb. 1760; d. 1831. Y. C. 1775; LL. D. Senator in U. S. Congress from 1810 to 1821; voted

The only child of JOSEPH CHANDLER was:

278. i. JOSEPH<sup>5</sup> CHANDLER, JR., b. in Andover, 8 June, 1743; m. Elizabeth Cook.

Rev. JOHN<sup>4</sup> CHANDLER (*Thomas,<sup>3</sup> *William,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and Mary White, Billerica, Mass. She was b. in Haverhill, Mass., 30 April, 1726. She was a descendant of William<sup>1</sup> White, who landed from Norfolk Co., Eng., at Ipswich, Mass., and became one of the early settlers of Haverhill. His son, John<sup>2</sup> White, b. 1640, mar. Hannah French, and were parents of John<sup>3</sup> White, Jr., Esq., of Haverhill, who m. Lydia, dau. of Hon. John Gilman, of Exeter. Their son, Dea. William<sup>4</sup> White, Esq., of Haverhill, m. Sarah Phillips, dau. of Samuel Phillips, goldsmith, of Salem, by his wife Mary Emerson, and gr.-dau. of Rev. Samuel Phillips, of Rowley, Mass., son of George, of Watertown.

Mrs. Mary Chandler was the 7th child of Dea. William White by his wife Sarah Phillips. She died 19 days after the birth of her son William, and her remains lie by those of her husband and their sons John and William, both of whom died in early youth. On a slate-stone slab 2 ft. by 3 in the graveyard, about a mile south of the meeting-house, is inscribed: "In memory of Mrs. Mary Chandler wife of Rev. John Chandler and Daughter of William White Esq. Deceased. She departed this Life June 28, 1757, having just Entered the 32 year of her age."

"She in her Life ye Paths of Virtue trod,
Her dust lies here, her sôul now lives with God."

On 18 Jan. 1759, he m. Elizabeth White, who was b. 21 July, 1731, dau. of Samuel White, miller, of Haverhill, son of John and Lydia (Gilman) White, by his wife Ruth Phillips, dau. of Samuel Phillips, goldsmith, of Salem, by his wife Mary Emerson, and gr.-dau. of Rev. Samuel Phillips, of Rowley, by his wife Sarah Appleton.

His wives were double first cousins. His last wife had the prefix of Mrs. in the Town Records, when "dignity of family" rather than civil status was designated thereby. After his death, 10 Nov. 1762, she m. second, 14 June, 1766, Dr. Robert Luscombe, of Taunton, Mass. The Boston Chronicle of "Oct. 17 to 24th," 1768, says: "Died on the 11th inst. at Taunton, much lamented, Mrs. Elizabeth Luscombe, the wife of Robert Luscombe, Esq. She was relict of Rev. Mr. John Chandler, of Billerica, deceased, and daughter of Mr. Samuel White, of Haverhill."

In April, 1747, the town of Billerica made choice of Rev. John Chandler, of Andover, as an assistant with Rev. Mr. Ruggles. They voted him £600 old tenor settlement with £200 salary of the same currency during the life of Mr. Ruggles, and the addition of £100 after his decease, with 20 cords of wood. On the 21st of Oct. following a Council of eight churches was convened for his ordination. On this occasion Rev. James Chandler of Rowley [his brother] preached from John iii. 11. The Rev. Samuel Phillips, of Andover, gave the charge.

The accounts of Elizabeth Chandler, admin. on the Estate of her late husband, Rev. John Chandler, rendered 21 Jan. 1763, and 7 March, 1766, make the Estate amount to £354:13:3¼; out of which, the widow was allowed by the Judge of Probate, "for care and bringing up the youngest child and for provisions for the family one year £15. and for mourning apparel £6." HON. JOHN<sup>4</sup> CHANDLER (John,<sup>3</sup> John,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and Hannah Gardiner, Worcester, Mass. Their banns were published in Woodstock, Conn., 19 Sept. 1716, and they were married on the “Isle of Wight,” 23 Oct. 1716, by John Mulford, Esq. His parents lived in New London, Conn., some six or more years after he was born, for he (John<sup>3</sup> Chandler) was “licensed to keep a house of Entertainment, 1689, in New London. After which they removed to Woodstock, Conn., where he remained," says Miss Calkins, in her admirable History of New London, "until the 23d of Oct. 1716, when agreeably to the custom of his ancestors the third John<sup>4</sup> came down to the salt water for a wife, and resided a short period in New London, and the fourth John<sup>5</sup> Chandler, in lineal succession, was born there."

Hannah Gardiner was b. 11 Dec. 1699; d. 5 Jan. 1738-9, in Worcester, Mass., in childbed, having been delivered of a son stillborn about 5 o'clock that morning; and her remains were entombed on the Common there. She was the eldest daughter of John<sup>3</sup> Gardiner, of the Isle of Wight, or Gardiner's Island, by his first wife, Mary King.

The ancestor of this Gardiner family in America was Lion<sup>1</sup> Gardiner, a native of England, and an officer in the British army, who came to this country in the "Batchelor," a ship of only 25 tons, from London, in 1635, aged 36, with his wife Mary Wilmsen, aged 34, whom he married that year in Worden, Holland. He had been sent to the Netherlands, having employment as an engineer, under the Prince of Orange, at a salary of £100 per annum. They embarked from Amsterdam, 10 July, 1635, and from London in August, and arrived in Boston, 28 Nov. 1635. He had been sent over as engineer to erect a fortification at Saybrook, Conn., under the direction of Davenport, Endicott, Winthrop, and others—whither he immediately proceeded, and where he erected huts and a wooden fort. An advance party of twenty men, despatched by John Winthrop, Jr., sailed from Boston, Nov. 3, 1635, and was just in season to occupy the site at the mouth of the Connecticut River, and prevent the Dutch from getting possession of it; for a sloop from the Netherlands arrived only a few days afterwards, with men and stores, to effect a settlement there. The first fort was burned in 1647, and then Lieut. Lion Gardiner built a stone fort on another knoll. The monument of Lady Fenwick stands in the old wooden fort. Lieut. Lion G. had command there four years. He then purchased of the Indian sachem Wyandauck—the friend of the white man—the island just at the east end of Long Island, containing about 3000 acres, called by the Indians Monchonaek—signifying a place where many had died—and called by Gardiner, the "Isle of Wight," and by others, Gardiner's Island—paying for it a black dog, a gun and some Dutch blankets. The bay of this island was one of the resorts of Capt. Kidd (Robert in ballad, but William in history), who had intercourse with the owner of the island, and put his money in his care. Lieut. Lion Gardiner moved to East Hampton, L. I., 1653, and a monument to him there says he died 1663. He left his only son David the island, "to be known by the name of the Lordship and Manor of Gardiner's Island." Gardiner's Island is entailed in the family.

Kidd went to Boston, July 1, 1699, but was sent to England and executed there, May 9, 1701. The commissioners who were appointed to collect and secure the deposits of Kidd called on Mr. Gardiner for the box that was deposited on the island, who, after he was assured that Kidd was in safe custody and not likely again to be in a condition to injure him, produced the box and delivered it to the commissioners. Among the papers of the late John L. Gardiner, Esq., is an account of the treasure deposited on the island.

Hon. John Chandler m. second, Sarah Clark. She was the widow of Hon. Nathaniel<sup>1</sup> Paine, of Bristol, R. I., and dau. of Timothy Clark, of Boston. [See 308.]

After paying her debts, Sarah Clark the widow of John Chandler ordered, in her will dated 31 July, 1778: “The residue of my Estate I will and Order to be divided into five Equal parts and to be disposed of as follows:” viz., “One fifth part thereof I give to my son Edward Paine to him and his heirs forever.” “One fifth” “to my Dau. Sarah Drowne wife of Thomas.” “One fifth” “to my son Timothy Paine.” “Another fifth” “I give and bequeath unto my Grand Daughter Sarah Curtis, wife of Ephraim Curtis.” “The other fifth” “to John Chandler, Jr. of Petersham, Clark Chandler, and Dolly Ward wife of Samuel Ward of Lancaster, children of my Daughter Dorothy Chandler Dec'd to be divided between them share and share alike, to them and their Heirs forever.”

Sarah Chandler, widow, had set off to her Dec. 6, 1779, £25,505 of the estate of her late husband, Hon. John Chandler, all in Worcester.

Sarah Chandler died 1778, August 13, of smallpox, seized of household goods appraised at £611:11:9; among which were ten gold rings, weight 1 oz. 3 dwt. 8 gr., at 17£ 10 shillings per ounce

In this Chandler family there had been a slave, called in 1803 and 1804, "Old Aunt Silvia." At that time she was 107 years old, and perhaps 114. This is probably the greatest age ever attained by any person in Worcester. On the division of Mrs. Chandler's estate, she, Silvia, went to reside with Mrs. Sarah Paine, a daughter. In her last days she attended young children of widows who came to the Probate Court of her master, who kept open house for them, and would rock them, and sing, "Pretty baby! pretty baby! Look just like its farder? who is its farder?"

John Chandler was early employed as a surveyor of land. He surveyed the town of Pomfret, Conn., and made a plot thereof which is yet preserved in the office of the town clerk.

"At a regular meeting of the Proprietors, April 10, 1718, Voted that John Chandler, Junr., be a surveyor to lay out Maj. Fitch's 1080, save his proportion of Mr. William Hundman."

For running the line between Massachusetts and Connecticut, the Commissioners employed Nath'l Burnham and John Chandler, Jr., as surveyors. They made a plot of their survey, dated "Suffield the 2nd June 1714."

In 1728 John Chandler, Jr., "Surveyor," measured the land hill at Tantousq—four miles square—granted to John Winthrop, Jr. in 1644—now Sturbridge, Mass., called Tantousq, or black lead mines.

"Salem, Dec. 19, 1729. A General Court being this day held here for Nominating and Appointing Civil Officers, His Excellency was pleased to Nominate the following Persons," &c.:

"John Chandler, Jr. Esq." and others "to be Coroners for the said County of Suffolk," "the which several nominations the Council did likewise advise and consent."

He moved to Worcester when the County of Worcester was formed. He was moderator of town meeting there in 1733, and often afterwards.

He represented the town of Woodstock in the Legislature of Massachusetts Bay, and afterwards the town of Worcester, from 1732 to 1735, '38, '39, '52, '53. He was selectman in Worcester, 1733 to '35, from 1737 to '40, and from 1742 to '53; and town treasurer from 1741 to 1752. When the courts were established in the new County of Worcester in 1731, he was appointed clerk of all the courts there, which office he held until 1754. But when he received the office of Sheriff, in 1751, and which office he held until 1754, Timothy Paine was appointed joint clerk with Mr. Chandler. He held the office of Register of Probate until 1754; Register of Deeds to 1762. On the 19th of April, 1754, John Chandler, Esq., who had from the beginning been clerk of the courts, was appointed a Judge of said court; and in May, 1757, upon the death of Judge Wilder, a new arrangement took place with Hon. John Chandler as Chief Justice, and Edward Hartwell, Thomas Steele and Timothy Ruggles as associate Justices.

He was of the committee raised 24th June, 1748, by the General Court, "to let to Farm the Excise in the Co. of Worcester."

He was one of the delegates, "Empowered and Commissioned by William Shirley, Capt. Gen. and Governor in Chief over His Majesty's Province in Massachusetts Bay, in New England, to meet in Albany, N. Y., in June, 1754, for the purpose of holding an interview with the Indians of the Five Nations, and making them presents, Conciliating and treating with them: and of concerting measures for a Union of all the British American Colonies. This was the germ of that Congress of the Colonies that resulted in the union of the States twenty-two years afterwards."

Lincoln, in his model History of Worcester, says of him; "On the decease of his father, he succeeded to the higher offices of Judge, Colonel and Councillor. His talents were rather brilliant and showy than solid and profound. With manners highly popular, he possessed a cheerful and joyous disposition, indulging in jest and hilarity, and exercised liberal hospitality. While Judge of Probate, he kept open table on court days for the widows and orphans who were brought to his tribunal by concerns of business."

The Old South Church of Worcester, Mass., owns a communion service, a portion of which has been in continuous use by the Society for nearly 140 years. It bears the inscription, "Ye gift of Colonel John Chandler of ye Church of Christ in Worcester 1737."

Church Records, Worcester, 1749, Sept. 3. "Voted that thanks be given by the Pastor publicly to Hon. John Chandler, Esq., for his present of a handsome folio Bible for the public reading of the Scriptures," which laudable custom was very unanimously come into by the church at one of their meetings sometime before.

In 1745, John Chandler had permission to build a pew, "where the men's stairs" are. This was in the old house. After the new house was built, the Town Records say: "Dec. 12, 1763, Voted that Pew No. 18," valued at 9£, a wall pew under the pulpit stairs, "be granted to ye Homestead Farm of ye late Hon<sup>ble</sup> John Chandler, Esq. in consideration of his donation towards building said House." In 1743, the general rule for seating the meeting-house was "age, pay and station or usefulness in ye Town."

"Whereas the Hon. John Chandler proposes to give Forty Pounds Lawful money towards building s<sup>d</sup> [meetin] House, Voted that the same be applied for the relief of such persons in Town as are unable to pay their proportion of building, in such way as" the Committee " shall see fit."

He joined the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company in Boston, 1734, and was chosen its commander in 1737.

The Boston News-Letter of Aug. 12, 1762, says—" Worcester, Aug. 10, 1762, Saturday the 7th inst. departed this life the Hon. John Chandler, Esq. of Worcester, in the 69th year of his age; Eldest son of Hon. John Chandler late of Woodstock, deceased. He left a sorrowful widow, two sons, five daughters and forty-two grandchildren."

" As his death is a loss to the Public, so in private life it may be truly said, he was a kind Husband, a tender parent, and a beneficent friend to the poor; and his charity was as extensive as its objects were numerous—always seeming most highly delighted when employed in acts of charity and kindness. He was always a lover and a promoter of learning, a diligent and reverend attender upon the public worship of God, and upon all offices of religion in general. As he lived beloved so he died much lauded. His remains were interred yesterday, attended with a numerous train."

" In his youthful days he was employed in Treasury's office in this Province, and in the Secretary's office in Connecticut; and being blessed with a sprightly genius, soon was introduced into public life; and a great number of years represented the Town of Woodstock at the General Court of this Province; upon the county of Worcester being erected, he, at the request and desire of the people of said County, removed from Woodstock to Worcester, where he was immediately chosen representative of said Town and for a number of years continued such, until he was chosen one of His Majesty's Council of which he was one until his death, notwithstanding his repeated desire to resign. He was the oldest member of the Gen. Court and was always had in high esteem by both houses for his capacity, aptness, dispatch and faithfulness for his assistance in public affairs. He was clerk of the Inferior Courts and Court of Sessions in said County until he was appointed one of the Pleas, and Register of Probate until he was appointed Judge; all of which offices he executed with general approbation."

He resided near the spot where Hon. Edward Earle resided in 1877, on the east side of Summer street. He had 500 acres of land between Lincoln and Summer streets, extending back on Chandler Hill.

The manuscript sermon preached at his funeral, Aug. 15, P. M., 1762, by Rev. Thaddeus Maccarty, was in the possession of one of the descendants of the deceased, Rev. G. S. Paine.

His remains were entombed on the Common in Worcester, where the mortal remains of many of his name and kindred have been gathered in the same tomb. This cemetery has been abandoned as a place of burial, and the monuments covered up over each grave, and there remains no sign of it ever having been a resting place of the dead, but the handsome monument to Col. Timothy Bigelow.

The tomb of the Chandlers is among the trees, about six rods E. N. East of the Bigelow monument, under the brow of the hill—down which, over this very tomb, as the hill here is the steepest, the school-boys coast on their sleds in winter, and sport in the shade of the hanging trees in summer, unconscious of “the forefathers beneath.” Truly the bodies of the dead rest in their graves and are forgotten.

"Nov. 11, 1743. Church Meeting. It was voted that sister [Elizabeth] Chandler shall be restored to communion with this church upon her making a confession public," in the following words, viz. "Whereas I have for Sundry times absented from public Worship and also from the Lord's Supper," &c.

"Oct. 8, 1744. A paper syned by Elizabeth Chandler was read and some discourse had upon it, and then the following vote was passed. That what is contained in s<sup>d</sup> paper is Impertinent, trifling and in no measure Satisfactory; and also voted that — be a Committee to join the Pastor In gaining ye opinion of some neighboring ministers in the case of Sister Chandler and this with speed and make report to ye Church.

Attest, ABEL STILES, Pastor."

"Jan. 9, 1745. At a meeting of the Brethren of this church, the opinion and advise of the neighboring ministers was read; And it was voted that the Pastor be desired to inform Sister Chandler that after a reasonable time for consideration they expect she will Let them understand what her determination shall be."

"July 6, 1746. Elizabeth Chandler confessed for absenting from public worship and special communions of this church."

"At a meeting of the Pastor and Brethren of this church.

"The church came into the following result, Viz. Whereas Ebenezer Chapman and his wife and Elizabeth Chandler (wife of Joshua) members of this church have heretofore renounced Communion with the church and also with the Established Churches in this Land; and have lately joynd with that Sect or Denomination Called anabaptists (nt least so far as to renounce their Infant Baptism, and to be rebaptized by plunging) It is our opinion that their special relation to us is now at an end, and that we are no longer obliged to Inspect or watch over them as members of this church." 1749.

In West Woodstock old graveyard is a monument with the following inscription:

"In memory of Widow Elizabeth Chandler, Relict of Mr. Joshua Chandler, who died Feb'y y<sup>o</sup> 8th 1783 in y<sup>o</sup> 81st year of her age. Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord."

Mr. Joshua Chandler was a farmer in the West Parish, about half a mile east of the meeting-house. This farm came to him in the will of his father "for and in Consideration of the love and good will and affection which I (John Chandler) have and bear unto my well beloved son Joshua," "yeoman, and for his advancement and settlement in the world, I have given him" "all that my out-Division of land in West Woodstock," "known by the name of Division No. 23, lying in the third Range." Aug. 22, 1727.

He was highway surveyor in 1731; was admitted to full communion with the church in Woodstock, 4 Aug. 1728.

The first clock in West Woodstock was his, and is, in 1882, in good time-keeping order, at the house of the widow of his great grand-son, Moses Chandler, at Putnam, Conn. It is a brass-face eight-day clock. On the face is written, "Timothy Cheny, Hartford A." It indicates the seconds, minutes, hours and days of the month. It has a mahogany case, with iron strap hinges to the door, and has kept time for nine generations.

The following extracts are from the will of Joshua Chandler, dated 13 Sept. 1767.

"Item. I give to Elizabeth my Wife, all my Household goods and one half of my husbandry tools." "And also my Negro Boy named Prince, and also the sum of thirty pounds."

"To my son Joshua Chandler of New Haven three hundred and thirty pounds with interest, which I lent him." I also give and devise to John and William, sons of my said son Joshua Chandler and unto their heirs," land, &c. "And if either of them should die I give one half to Thomas son of my said son Joshua Chandler and unto his heirs and assigns forever; and if both of them should die before me, then I give the same to the natural children or Heirs of my said son Joshua Chandler, and unto their heirs and assigns forever, to be equally divided amongst them upon condition that my s<sup>d</sup> wife Elizabeth Chandler shall have the improvement of said tract of Land."

"My son Moses Chandler shall pay to my son in Law Nehemiah Barker the Sum of fifty pounds." "I give to the Heirs of my Daughter Elizabeth Barker, lawfully begotten or to be begotten, and unto their heirs and assigns forever, two pieces of land in Ashford."

The will was signed by Joshua Chandler, and was witnessed by Samuel, Dorothy, and Charles Church Chandler.

“ We Joshua Chandler of New Haven and Moses Chandler of Woodstock, for to gratify the last Will and Testament of our Honored Father, late of Woodstock, give or convey to our beloved brother in Law Nehemiah Barker, Clerk and our Sister Elizabeth Barker of Southold, Long Island,” lands in Ashford, &c.

In the old graveyard in the West Parish, Woodstock, on a mica slate-stone slab, about two and a half feet by four, under death's head and wings, is inscribed :

William Chandler and Jennima Bradbury, Killingly, Conn., in what is now Thompson, on the west line of the town on Chandler Hill, about a mile east of Muddy Brook meeting-house, and near where Micha Whitney lived in 1871. She was b. in Salisbury, 25 Jan. 1703-4; d. 24 June, 1779; was appointed guardian to Mary and Matilda Chandler, minor daughters of William Chandler, late of Killingly.

The Worcester Spy of 8 July, 1779, says: "Died, at Woodstock, Conn., June 25, after thirteen weeks of painful and distressing illness, widow Jemima Chandler, in the 76th year of her age. She sustained a fair and unsullied character, respected by her relations and acquaintances, endowed with superior natural and acquired abilities and power of mind, and excelling the greater part of her sex; of unaffected piety, exemplary in all her paths, kind, courteous and benevolent to all around her, and, while her kindnesses were bestowed, how many can say they have received from her lips instruction in the doctrines of religion, in history, in natural philosophy and in geography, in which the deceased excelled. Many excellent and charming things may be said of her. But mindless of our friendship, in a lonesome vault, cold she lies, deaf and unthinking clay. She lives above the clouds, nor hears the voice of war — safe from the smiling and the frowning world."

Her portrait in oil by her son Winthrop was in the keeping of her grandson, Dea. William Child, of East Woodstock.

A slate-stone slab in the Muddy Brook yard marks her grave.

Her father, Thomas Bradbury, in his will of 8 March, 1719, and proved 14 May, 1719, gave to his wife Mary one third of all lands and meadows, and one half of house during her life, and "to his daughter Jemima all lands and meadows which I had of my grandfather [Thos.] Bradbury, except the portion of her mother."

Real estate inventoried at £590; personal at £201:12 = £791:12.

William and Jemima Chandler, of "Amsterdam Farm," near Woodstock, Conn., conveyed, 21 March, 1726, to Peter Emerson, of Reading, for £650, "good bills of public credit," "a certain messuage or Tenement of Housing and land containing a dwelling house and barn, and by estimation nineteen acres of land."

Jemima<sup>4</sup> Bradbury was daughter of Thomas<sup>3</sup> Bradbury, of Salisbury, Mass., who was b. 24 Dec. 1674, died 10 March, 1718-19 (a likeness of whom was in the family of John Joseph Chetwood, Esq., of Elizabeth, New Jersey), by his second wife Mary Hilton, of Exeter, who d. 15 June, 1723, a. 45, and whom he married, 24 Oct. 1702. The first wife of Thomas<sup>3</sup> Bradbury was Jemima Truo, to whom he was m. 30 Nov. 1700, and who died five days afterwards, 5 December, 1700; and hence it seems probable that the Christian name of his first wife, the euphonous patronymic of Jemima, was introduced into this line of the Chandler family. She was granddaughter of William<sup>2</sup> Bradbury, b. "15:7:1649," died 4 Dec. 1678, who

m. 12 March, 1672, Rebecca Wheelwright, who died 20 Dec. 1678, dau. of Rev. John Wheelwright by his wife Mary, dau. of Edward Hutchinson, and widow of Samuel Maverick; and gr. gr-daughter of Thomas<sup>1</sup> Bradbury, b. at Wickem, Bonant, Eng., who d. 16 March, 1695, "Clerk of the Writs" and town clerk of Salisbury, Mass., by his wife Mary Perkins, whom he m. 1636, and who died 20 Dec. 1700, and who was accused, but who luckily was acquitted, of witchcraft, when that silly delusion was rife in 1692. Mary Perkins was dau. of John and Judith Perkins, of Ipswich, Mass.

Ann Dudley, the wife of Col. Edward Hilton, was b. 16 Oct. 1641 — the youngest child of Rev. Samuel<sup>3</sup> Dudley, of Exeter, N. H., who was b. 1606, in England, came to America in 1630, d. at Exeter, 30 March, 1683, a. 77, and had m. Mary<sup>3</sup> Winthrop about 1632; granddaughter of Gov. Thomas<sup>2</sup> Dudley, b. at Northampton, England, 1576, and came in 1630 to the "Desert of America," and settled at Roxbury, Mass.

Gov. Thomas Dudley was the only son of Roger<sup>1</sup> Dudley.

Mary<sup>3</sup> Winthrop, the first wife of Rev. Samuel Dudley, died 12 April, 1643, at Salisbury; was daughter of Gov. John<sup>2</sup> Winthrop, of Boston, by his first wife Mary Foorth, whom he married, said his father, Adam<sup>1</sup> Winthrop, of Stanbridge, England, in his Diary, "Cum consensu parentum, Ætatis sue 17 (Annis) 3 mensibus et 4 diebus complectis."

Capt. Chandler was a farmer, and owned about a thousand acres extending over Chandler Hill, including the farms of Charles and William B. Chandler. His house stood on the road that runs east from the school-house, near the Paine, or Capt. Samuel<sup>5</sup> Chandler place. [See 322.] He was a surveyor of land, an occupation common among the enterprising in a new country.

"July, 1724, the company of Capt. William<sup>4</sup> Chandler, of Woodstock, was stationed at Leicester and Rutland." There were at that time stationed at Leicester twenty-nine, and at Rutland thirty-eight, men.

WILLIAM SHIRLEY, Esq. Captain General and Governor in Chief in and over his Majesty's Province of the Massachusetts Bay in New England, &c.

To William Chandler, Gentleman, Greeting :

By Virtue of the Power and Authority in and by His Majesty's Royal Commission to me granted ; and, in Obedience to his Royal Pleasure signified to me by the Duke of New Castle, in his Grace's Letter dated the 9th of April last, Whereby I am Commanded forthwith to raise what Troops I can within this Province, to be Employed in an Expedition for the Reduction of Canada, whereof Lieutenant General St. Clair is Commander in Chief, and am directed to appoint what officers I shall think proper for the Command of said Troops ;

I do, by these presents, reposing especial Trust and Confidence in your Loyalty, Courage and good Conduct, Constitute and appoint you the Said William Chandler to be Ensign of the Company, under the Command of Joseph Dwight, Esq. in the Regiment whereof the Said Joseph Dwight, Esq. is Colonel, being part of the Forces raised within this Province for the said Expedition to Canada.

You are therefore to lead, order and Exercise the said company in Arms, both inferior officers and Soldiers, keeping them in good order and discipline ; hereby commanding them to obey you as their Ensign and with them to do and Execute all acts of Hostility against His Majesty's Enemies—the French and others ; And you are to observe and follow such orders and directions, as you shall from time to time receive from myself, or from the Commander in Chief of the said Expedition, or other your superior officer in the Field, according to the Rules and Discipline of War, pursuant to the Trust reposed in you.

GIVEN under my Hand and Seal at Arms, at Boston, the 12th day of June, In the Twentieth year of the Reign of our Sovereign Lord King George the Second, Anno Domini 1746.

By His Excellency's Command,
J. WILLARD, Sec'y.

W. SHURLEY.

William Chandler was admitted to full communion with the church in Woodstock, 4 Aug. 1728.

He was a large man, weighing about 200 lbs.

His estate, as per inventory returned the first Tuesday in October, 1754, embraces

Fire arms at	£12 : 4s.
Sundry Pictures in frames	96 :

His remains were interred in the cemetery by the Common, in Woodstock, Conn., in a row with those of his grandfather Deu. John, his father Judge John, and four of his children. His monument is a slaty sandstone slab, about 3½ feet by 8, and there is inscribed thereon, under a crowned head and wings :—

Here Lies ye Body of WILLIAM CHANDLER, Esq. who Departed this Life June 20th AD 1754, in ye 57th year of his Age— he descended from William Chandler & Annis his wife that were of ye first Settlers in Roxbury, and from him by his youngest Sun John— Chandler who moved to this Town in ye infancy theirol and from him by his Eldest Son John Chandler who was ye Father of ye Deceased.

He Left Behind him 7
Sons & 3 Daughters.

On the foot-stone at his grave is a dial face with the hour hand pointing to four o'clock, indicating that his day closed before the bright sun of his intellect had gone down into the imbecility of age.

“Memento mori—Fugit Horae.”

The children of Capt. WILLIAM and JEMIMA (Bradbury) CHANDLER were :

James Frissell Cooper and Elizabeth his wife, of Woodstock, "sell land in Woodstock" "bounded East and west on highway, South on Common, North on land whereon we now dwell," "to John Chandler."

Woodstock Church Records, Sept. 1, 1765: "Voted that James Frizell a member of this church should be recommended to ye charity and fellowship of ye people of God in So. Brimfield." Was this James Frissell the father or son?

The children of ELIZABETH and JAMES FRISSELL were :

- i. JAMES<sup>2</sup> FRISSELL, b. in Woodstock, Conn., 12 April, 1731; bapt. 18 April, 1731.
- ii. ELIZABETH<sup>2</sup> FRISSELL, b. in Woodstock, "8<sup>br</sup> 30, 1733;" m. Samuel<sup>3</sup> Paine.

"Mad. Dorothy Chandler departed this Life March ye 21st 1793 in the 79th year of her age."

In his will his father devised that "my son Samuel shall have, hold and Enjoy my homestead, lying on both sides of the way, with the Edifices, buildings and fences, to be to him and his heirs and assigns forever." With his brother Thomas, Samuel was executor of the will.

The officers of the three military companies in Woodstock resigned their commissions on account of having taken and passed "Land Bank Bills," issued by a Company established in Boston, and which had become obnoxious, and was abolished by Governor Belcher and his Council in 1745. They voluntarily addressed their Colonel thus: "To John Chandler, Esq., Colonel of a Regiment of Militia in the County of Worcester," &c. The officers of the 1st Company were, Samuel Chandler, Captain; Joseph Wright, Lieut., and John Frizzel, Ensign. One of the papers in Boston thus notices their action: "N. B. Capt. Chandler above mentioned is one of the sons of Hon. Col. John Chandler, of Woodstock, that steady defender of the liberties of his country, which yields great comfort to that old patriot who (like Mattathias the last of the Maccabees) has transmitted with his blood his spirit and love to the true interest of his people, to one and perhaps all his sons."

Town Records, 1757. "The Land Bank money five pounds two shillings, which Capt. Sam<sup>l</sup> Chandler had to Exchange, Drawed 25s. Lawful money, and is now in the hands of Mr. John Morse; and he, in the Proprietors meeting, acknowledged himself accountable to y<sup>e</sup> Proprietors for y<sup>e</sup> Same and would pay it when Demanded."

"Capt. Sam<sup>l</sup> Chandler's Ear mark for Creatures—Swallow tail in off Ear and a crop in the near Ear—formerly his father's mark—Entered 31 Aug. 1772, now Marian Chandler's."

The "Land Bank" was a Company formed in or about 1742, but not incorporated, which issued bills of credit to a large amount, on land security. The bills were redeemable in twenty years, not in gold and silver coin, but in manufactures of the Province. It was a very unsafe scheme, and came to an end in a few years. [Vinton's Jennison Family.]

Capt. Samuel Chandler was one of the Justices of the Court of Sessions for Worcester County, and attended the Court. He was a Justice of the Peace, and in that capacity often performed the marriage ceremony for his neighbors. He was moderator of the meeting of the Proprietors of Woodstock, 10 March, 1746.

"Beck, Negro wench of Samuel Chandler, died 26 Dec. 1756." [Town Records.]

He died 8 April, 1781, in the 78th year of his age.

The children of Capt. SAMUEL and DOROTHY (Church) CHANDLER were:

327. I. ESTHER, b. at Woodstock, 23 Sept. 1742; d. 22 March, 1743.
 328. II. SAMUEL, b. at Woodstock, 22 April, 1744.

MEHITABLE BUCKMINSTER,
JAMES FRIZZEL,
ELIZABETH FRIZZEL."

Windham ss. Woodstock,
May 9, 1756. Coram, THOMAS CHANDLER, Jns. Peace.

In his will, Feb. 2, 1759, he says: "I Thomas Buckminster, of Brookfield," "Gent." "Give to my Dear wife Mehitable all such parts of my Estate, both real and personal which the laws of this Province would have given her had I died intestate. I give her more, viz. my Negro Girl Rose and one feather bed which she Chooses; also her choise in the Division of the moveables.

"I give to my four daughters, viz. 1. Mary (who was married by Samuel Chandler, 2 Nov. 1748, to Tilley Rice, and who d. 21 June, 1795, a. 66 years); 2. Elizabeth (who m. 2 Nov. 1757, Josiah Dwight); 3. Susanna (who m. 20 May, 1762, Phinehas Upham); and 4. Hannah, four-fifths of my Estate.

"I give and bequeath to my granddaughter Sarah Buckminster, dau. of my son Samuel," "deceased one fifth part of my Estate aforesaid, Equal with my daughters aforesd." "I give unto Deborah Buckminster, my son Samuel's wid: £13:6:8."

"I constitute" "Josiah Dwight, Esq. and Tilley Rice yeoman, both of Springfield — my sons-in-law — to be Executors of this my last will."

The inventory of the above personal estate, taken 5 Sept. 1765, amounted to just £1000. And in it was included one coat of arms, 3s.; one negro woman, £35; one mulatto boy, £12; 9 tea-spoons, 24s.; tea trays, 12s.; silver tankard at £8:8.

JUDGE THOMAS<sup>4</sup> CHANDLER (John,<sup>3</sup> John,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and Elizabeth Elliot, Chester, Vt. Their "bans were entered Oct. 21, 1732," on the town records of Woodstock, and they were married at Windsor, Conn., 23 Nov. 1732. She was b. 14 May, 1712; died 22 Dec. 1794. She was the second child of Judge John<sup>3</sup> Elliot, of Windsor, Conn., by his second wife, Mary, dau. of John Wolcott, of Windsor.

Judge John<sup>3</sup> Elliot, b. 28 April, 1667, H. U. 1685, was son of Rev. John,<sup>2</sup> of Newton, Mass., by his second wife, Miss Elizabeth Gookin, dau. of Maj. General Daniel Gookin, of Cambridge; and was the son of Rev. John<sup>1</sup> Elliot, of Roxbury, Mass., the apostle to the Indians, by his wife Anne Mountford.

“Woodstock, Oct. 11th, 1736. Gen<sup>m</sup> Selectmen of this Town.— These are to inform you that I have taken a man into my house, a boarder named James Glass, lately from Providence, and is a Barber by Trade, and one that may be advantageous to this place.

This offered per your Humble Servt.

THOS. CHANDLER.”

He was lieutenant-colonel at Cape Breton in 1745; represented the town of Woodstock at Gen. Court, at New Haven, in 1751; clerk and treasurer in 1753; and while in Woodstock he was Justice of the Peace, and officiated in that capacity at marriages; and was one of His Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the county of Windham.

At a Town meeting first following the organization of the Town of Woodstock, 28 July, 1749, O. S., Thomas Chandler and Henry Bowen were chosen representatives to the General Assembly of Connecticut.

The legislature of Connecticut, May, 1759, it was “Resolved That Thomas Chandler be appointed a commissary of the 1st Reg<sup>t</sup>.”

He removed to Walpole, N. H., 1761, and was chosen, 17 March, 1762, selectman. But he left that town soon, for it was, in town meeting in Walpole, 1764, “Voted that Ens W<sup>m</sup> Smead be Com<sup>tee</sup> man instead of Coll. Thos. Chandler chosen at last meeting, to receive the stuff for the Meeting house,” &c.

In 1763, he, with his sons John and Thomas, Jr., moved to what was chartered by New Hampshire in 1754 as Flamstead, and in 1761 as New Flamstead, under the New Hampshire grants; and as they were the first families that settled, the proprietors voted him, as well as each of his sons, five hundred acres of land, to be chosen by them. His five hundred acres included what Sawyer's factory now stands on, beginning at the small brook.

In 1763 he was moderator of a meeting of the Proprietors of New Flamstead, held in Worcester, Mass., and moderator of a meeting in New Flamstead, held 12 March, 1755, which was the last meeting under the New Hampshire charter.

In 1765 he complained that they had to go to Portsmouth to Court; and on the petition to “the Lieut. Gov. Colden of New York to be set off from the unlimited County of Albany,” for a new county, 9 Oct. 1765, his name heads the petition, in behalf of themselves and their associates, “inhabitants of the northern part of the Province of New York." The prayer of this petition was not then granted; but 20 Jan. 1766, twenty-one additional Justices of the Peace for Albany County were appointed, of which the first named was Thomas Chandler, who also appointed one of the three, "Dedimus Protestatem," to administer oaths of office.

"Feb. 27, 1766, Simon Stevens was appointed to be Captain of a Co. of Foot in the Reg. of Militia whereof Thomas Chandler Esqr. is Colonel, to consist of the inhabitants of Springfield." At that time Col. Chandler "estimated that there were 600 men within the limits of his regiment in the North Eastern Province of N. Y."

He personally obtained the charter of the township, and had it called "Chester," N. Y., from Gov. Tryon, of New York; and Letters Patent to Thomas Chandler and others, from George III. were issued July 18, 1766, with the broad seal, which is yet preserved in the Town Records office, at Chester, Vt. He was appointed Surrogate, 16 July, 1766, and 31 March, 1768. He was, from the organization of the town, 1767, moderator, supervisor, &c.; and when the county was reorganized by the Crown in 1768, he was, on the 7th of April of that year, chosen to all the positions he held under the old régime, including that of Chief Justice of the Courts of the County.

In the controversy that had grown up in Eastern Vermont from rival claimants, who acted under the grants from the Governor of New Hampshire and authority from New York, Col. Chandler early sided with the loyal Governor of New York, and held offices under him; and when these questions had become complicated with the political issues between the Whigs of that region and the Loyalists of Cumberland County in 1775, he still adhered to the loyal party of New York and his King, from whom he had received patronage and office. According to the report drawn up by the Whig Committee, the disputes, then common in all parts of the country, were aggravated and increased by an attempt of some persons in authority in the royal interest to suppress circular letters from the Committee of Correspondence in the city of New York, in 1774. In the course of the discussion which followed, a knowledge of this circumstance becoming known to the Whigs, an attempt was made by them to prevent the usual session of the County Courts; when the Sheriff of the County, Mr. W. Patterson, appeared at the Court-House at the head of a party of armed adherents of the Crown, directed the King's proclamation to be read, and ordered the Whigs to "disperse in fifteen minutes: or by God—he would blow a lane through them!" Col. Chandler, Chief Justice, had been consulted on the day previous as to the expediency of the court's sitting in the existing state of public feeling, and he had promised that no force should be used against the Whigs who might assemble at the Court-House to carry out their intentions of stopping legal proceedings; and the presence of Patterson, the Sheriff, thus attended, was, of course, wholly unsuspected. The Whigs were unarmed. Col. Chandler was appealed to, who acknowledged what he had said, and averred that arms had been brought to the ground without his consent or knowledge; and, still continuing his pacific disposition, endeavored to disarm Patterson's party, and prevent extremities. But his exertions and moderate councils were without avail. Angry words, oaths, imprecations and threats ensued; and, finally bloodshed. That Patterson was much in fault, hardly admits of doubt.

One writer says, "Col. Thomas Chandler appears to have conducted with prudence," in this Westminster massacre, "and to have used his exertions to prevent the melancholy consequences which resulted from the unwise proceedings of other adherents of the Crown." But he was, for his adherence to the Crown, imprisoned for two or three days, in 1775, but did not have a trial. Hon. Daniel P. Thompson has strongly painted his sycophancy in his novel of the "Rangers, or Tory's Daughter." He had received favors from the Crown, and yet desired the people's good. Hence his vacillating course.

He built "at his own expense a jail" at Chester; but it was "so slender" that the good will of the Sheriff only held the prisoners; and he also built a Court-House there, which he rented to the county for ten years. But he got very little good of the Whig or New Hampshire party.

"When I first moved to Chester," says Thomas Chandler, "I was the first man with a family that had, in this part of the country, moved from the river. There was no road, neither were there any inhabitants for thirty miles west of the said Connecticut or Fresh River."

He gave the land where the Baptist meeting-house stands, and the graveyard around it, in Chester, so long as the land should be used for these respective purposes, but to revert to his heirs when it ceased to be so used.

In his old age he became impoverished, but from causes not now well known. Thompson declares he became so "by a long course of secret fraud in selling wild land to which he had no title." This placed him at the mercy of his creditors, who threw him into prison, from which the Legislature passed an act, 16th of June, 1785, to release him on giving up his estate. But he died four days after, in the prison at Westminster, Vt., and his remains were buried privately and without the ceremony of a public funeral. Whatever his faults may have been, he deserves to be remembered as one of the earliest and most influential settlers of eastern Vermont.

Of the strong and unnatural customs that sometimes prevail in communities that have no definite ideas of law, a most singular one occurred in the case of Thomas Chandler, Sen. According to the ideas of the period in that vicinity, if the friends of a person dying in prison carried his remains beyond the boundaries of the jail-yard, they were regarded as accomplices in an "escape," and were supposed to be liable to satisfy the judgment by virtue of which he was confined. Another foolish notion led people to imagine that any one who should bury the body of an imprisoned debtor would thereby become executor in his own wrong, and as an intermeddler with the estate of the debtor, and liable to discharge the debtor's obligations. Judge Chandler died in prison in Westminster, on the 20th June, 1785, although the Legislature on the 16th of the same month had passed an act for his liberation on certain conditions. How to give Christian burial to the remains of the Judge and yet avoid the responsibility of answering for his defaults, was a serious question. For a custom once prevailed of holding even the dead body of a debtor liable to arrest, as was the case in the town of Dummerston, where the dead body was arrested on its way to the grave, and detained until some of the friends "backed the writ," and thus became surety for the debtor's appearance at court. The case of poor Sheridan, arrested in the agonies of death, is not quite so horrible. The corpse of Judge Chandler remained in the cell in jail for several days, until it had become so offensive as to endanger the health of the prisoners, when Nathan Fisk, the jailor, suggested what was quickly put in practice. On measuring the jail liberties, he found that by stretching the chain he could include within them a portion of a neighboring cemetery. A grave was then commenced just outside the graveyard fence, and just within the jail-yard limits. As the excavation advanced, it was directed under the fence obliquely until a sufficient depth and obliquity had been obtained. These preparations having been completed, the jailor, in company with a few individuals, entered in the silence of midnight the cell where the putrescent mass was lying, placed it in a rough box-like coffin, drew it to the spot selected for interment, and consigned to its last resting-place all that remained of the once noted Thomas Chandler. Thus was he buried within the jail limits, and yet, by a very pardonable evasion of law, beneath the consecrated soil of "old Westminster church-yard."

This name was probably Sommoner, from his office of summoning parties into court. The Sumner coat of arms : "The shield is covered with Ermines, 2 Chevronels or. And the Crest is, A Lion's head erased. Ermines, langued Gules and ducally gorged or." Motto—"In medio tutissimus ibis."

Joseph Chandler lived in Pomfret, on a part of the "114 acres on the Mashanaquett Line," about one hundred rods south of his father's house. His farm he enlarged to one hundred acres. He was a saddler by occupation. His original one-story house he enlarged at each end by an addition of one story on the east, and of two stories on the west, with its diamond panes of glass, leaded in the windows, all painted red. This house and the more modern one, the third house built on the original hearth-spot of his father, have recently been rebuilt in imagination by his gr. grandson, William H. Chandler, Esq., of Thompson, Conn., and most happily delineated on canvas by Mr. James Jones Sawyer, of Woodstock, Conn.

Mr. Joseph Chandler was chosen collector, 1754. His leathern wallet, still in existence, bears in prominent raised letters, "Joseph Chandler, Pomfret, 1737."

He. d. 4 July, 1780, a. 70, and was buried in the cemetery by Wappaquians Brook.

June 10, 1756, Josiah Chandler and Joseph Chandler were voted in members of "The United Society English Library for the Propagation of Christian and Useful Knowledge," established Sept. 5, 1739, at Pomfret, and composed of members residing in Woodstock, Pomfret, Mortlake, Killingly, and the west part of Thompson parish.

It was voted that the Library be sold on the 6th of Jan. 1795, at vendue. But the library-case and part of the books remained, 1866, at the house of Judge D. Hunt, in Pomfret. At its commencement Judge John Chandler, of Woodstock, subscribed towards it £20; and William Chandler, of Thompson Parish, £15.

The children of JOSEPH and ELIZABETH (Sumner) CHANDLER were:

She was b. 8 Aug. 1715; d. 2 Nov. 1800, a. 86; dau. of David and Hannah Allen, of Abington. He lived west of the street in Pomfret about one mile, on land taken up by his father in the allotment of land by the Proprietors. The original lot was 110 acres. In 1749 he took the oath of "Fidelity" in Pomfret. David Chandler and Mary his wife made confession before the Church, Jan. 1771. [Chh. Records.]

He sold, 16 Aug. 1761, to Isaac Dana, of Pomfret, "my share in the Township of Pomfret, (Vt)?" "Signed in Presence of David Williams, David Chandler, Junr."

He was chosen lister, 1757, and tithingman, 1770.

He was blind before he died, his death taking place 2 Dec. 1796, in his 85th year.

- ix. JOHN<sup>2</sup> SABIN, b. 5 March, 1757; d. 22 April, 1777, in the "21st year of his age."

John<sup>4</sup> Mason, Ashford, Conn. He was b. in Woodstock, 25 March, 1714. A slab lying on the ground (as most of the other gravestones do in that yard), behind the meeting-house in Ashford, says of him: "Here lyes ye body of Mr. John Mason, Husband to Mrs. Dorothy Mason, who died March ye 11, 1757, in ye 43 year of his age."

Mr. John<sup>4</sup> Mason lived on part of his father's land in Ashford. His house stood where Dr. Joseph Palmer afterwards lived.

After his death Mrs. Dorothy Mason married, second, 16 Nov. 1762, Jonathan Curtis, of Ashford, and had by him one son. She d. 20 May, 1773, in Hanover, N. H., in the 56th year of her age, and Mr. Curtis married second, 12 Jan. 1775, Mary Deshou.

- iii. BRIANT<sup>3</sup> BROWN, Jr. b. in Ashford, 7 Feb. 1745; d. in Windsor, Vt.; justice of the peace; m. Molly Dunbar. Five children.
- iv. DEBORAH<sup>3</sup> BROWN, b. in Killingly, 9 Feb. 1747; d. 24 July, 1831, a. 84 yrs. 5 m. 4 days; buried by the Chaubunagungamaug Pond, in the Robinson graveyard. She was a smart driving business woman, spun and wove and bleached for her neighbors; m. July, 1767, Eliakim<sup>4</sup> Robinson, who was b. 24 Oct. 1745; d. 15 Sept. 1832, a. 86 yrs. 10 m. 11 days; son of Silas<sup>3</sup> Robinson, b. at Needham, Mass., 9 Nov. 1721; m. 3 March, 1743, Susanna Moore, of Oxford, who was 15 years old when married; grandson of George<sup>2</sup> Robinson, Jr., of Needham, who administered on the Estate of his father, George<sup>1</sup> Robinson, in 1726. This George<sup>2</sup> Robinson, Jr., bought in 1719, of William Dudley, land on the west shore of the Chaubunagungamaug Pond, in what is now Webster, Mass., and settled on it in 1722. Mr. Eliakim Robinson learned the tailor's trade and went from house to house tailoring and lived about one mile south-east of where the railroad station was built at Webster. He began the making of buckskin mittens. Nine children.
- v. JOSEPH<sup>3</sup> BROWN, b. in Killingly, 3 March, 1749; farmer on homestead, in what is now Putnam, Conn., about two miles east of the depot of the railroad; m. 3 March, 1774, Elizabeth Gary, of Pomfret, sister of Nathan Gary. Four children.
- vi. PETER<sup>3</sup> BROWN, b. at Killingly, 24 March, 1751.
- vii. SOLOMON<sup>3</sup> BROWN; d. young.
- viii. CHLOE<sup>3</sup> BROWN; d. young.
- ix. PETER<sup>3</sup> BROWN, b. 4 May, 1757.
- x. CHLOE<sup>3</sup> BROWN, 2d, b. at Killingly "ye 20 May, 1759;" m. Solomon Wakefield, who was b. 22 April, 1754; d. at Royalston, Mass., and body was entombed in Dudley, near Webster, Mass. Son of William Wakefield.

In 1798 a Baptist church was formed in what is now Webster, and Mr. Solomon Wakefield was ordained to the work of the gospel ministry — not, however, as pastor, yet with the understanding that he would labor with the church in word and doctrine. He was a member of the Baptist church in Thompson, Conn., and from the fact that he received ordination in the Robinson neighborhood, two miles east of the old meeting-house, it would seem that he was licensed to preach by that church.

Elder Solomon Wakefield was one of five brothers, who all settled between the present railroad station and the East Village, in Webster. He owned the land where the South Village now is located, and he lived there. He is spoken of by the few who remember his ministry, as a godly man and an acceptable preacher in his day. He was zealous and earnest in his manner of speaking. He believed and taught that ministers should receive no compensation for their services, not even so much as a present. He held and preached Arminian views of doctrine. The more strictly Calvinistic portion of his church took exception to this, and would, not unfrequently, when opportunity was given at the close of the sermon, as was then the custom, express in warm terms their dissent from the doctrine preached from the pulpit. Eight children.

He was b. 1750; d. 11 Aug. 1775; was a wheelwright by trade. He and David Bucklin "went up to Pomfret to do a job of work." What the job was, tradition does not say, but the records say that he married Eunice Chandler there, and that "Caleb," the "eldest son," "was born in Pomphret." They lived in East Greenwich, on Main Street. The name was and is pronounced "Burlnum," by "the old folks." He was, many years before his death, much afflicted with fits.

She was said to have been "a very bright little woman." She was a member of the old "Six-Principle Baptist" church in East Greenwich, and her beautiful chirography shows she was much in the habit of writing upon, and that her mind was deeply imbued with, religious feelings. Her remains repose in the Baptist church-yard. She was a maker of wigs, having served her apprenticeship after she was married. She d. 18 Nov. 1769, in her 43d year.

The births of their three children are recorded in East Greenwich, R. I., as follows :

- i. "CALEB<sup>2</sup> BURLINGGAME, the Eldest Son of Josiah Burlinggame, Junr. was Born of ye body of Eunice his wife and was Born in Pomphret, In the Colony of Connetticut June ye 21st 1750 in ye fore part of ye Day. Recorded in East Greenwich for ye County of Kent, June ye 19th 1752.
Pr G. Pierce, Town Clerk."
He was not married; was a seaman, and was drowned 7 June, 1773, in Port Tobacco, Maryland, and buried there, in the 24th year of his age.
- ii. "CHANDLER<sup>2</sup> BURLINGGAME, the Second Son of Josiah Burlinggame Junr. and Born of body of Eunice his wife, was Born In East Greenwich, In ye County of Kent &c. On Monday the 30th Day of March, 1752 In the fore part of s<sup>d</sup> Day." He m. 26 March, 1777, Sarah Hinshaw, dau. of Samuel, of East Greenwich. Their two children, Josiah and Henry, died quite young. He was a sailor, and his last voyage was from Providence to Turks Island, where the vessel capsized and he was drowned.
- iii. "SUSANNAH<sup>2</sup> BURLINGGAME, the Eldest Daughter of Josiah Burlinggame, Junr. and Born of ye body of Eunice his wife in East Greenwich July ye 19th 1754, and on the Sixth Day of the Week about five of ye Clock in the morning." He d. 29 Jan. 1847, in his 73d year, in East Greenwich; m. 6 Nov. 1776, Ezra Simmons, son of Bial, of Swanzey, R. I., b. 30 March, 1750, d. in East Greenwich, 2 Oct. 1838. He was a hatter, on south end of Main Street, East Greenwich, R. I., under the firm of "Ezra Simmons & Sons," Caleb, John and Chandler. She had eleven children, only one of whom was married, and that was John; and now, 1861, only one descendant of Eunice Chandler is left, and she, Lydia Simmons, was b. 28 Oct. 1792, and resides on Main Street, East Greenwich.

and Violet Burnham, E.
Hartford, Conn. She was from Ashford; d. 10 Jan.
1808, and was buried at

Daniel Chandler

Buckland Corners, in Mansfield, Conn., by the remains of her husband, one daughter, and those of Jonathan Burnham, who d. 17 Feb. 1787, aged 91.

He was in the revolutionary war, and was on his march to Westchester, N. Y., at New Haven, Conn., on the 13th Sept. 1776, a private in Capt. Caleb Clark's company, the first Co. in the 11th Reg't, which was made up mostly from Pomfret, Conn. He had the title of captain, and it is said commanded a company in the war.

He settled at East Hartford, Conn., and had a farm there about six miles east of the Connecticut River. Merchant. Had a stone quarry on his farm, which is about half a mile north of Buckland Corners, and he lived near the graveyard there.

The parents of Mrs. Violet Chandler lived with her. The East Hartford Town Records have the following, probably in reference to her father. Town meeting, Dec. 8, 1785: "Voted, if Daniel Chandler's account against the Town for taking care of Jonathan Burnham be allowed; Voted in the negative."

Capt. Daniel Chandler died 7 Jan. 1790, in East Hartford. On the Probate Records for Hartford Co. is: "We Abijah Chandler, James Bellows and Tryphena his wife of Lebanon," N. H., "Sell to said Daniel Chandler [of Hartford] his heirs and assigns all our right, title, claim and demands in and unto all the interest and estate of our Honored Father Daniel Chandler, late of s<sup>d</sup> Hartford, dec<sup>d</sup>, either real or personal laying in s<sup>d</sup> East Hartford or else where of which he died seized of and intestate, or which may belong to us by any will or Instrument made in his life under which we may have any right title or claim as his heirs or legatees to said deceased's," &c. Feb. 16, 1792.

She was born at Taunton, Mass.; d. 14 Sept. 1796, a. 64, at Pomfret, of dropsy; — Woodstock Records, Mrs. Mary Hodges died in Woodstock, April 20, 1756; — dau. of Capt.

William<sup>3</sup> Hodges, of Taunton, by his second wife Mary Clapp; gr.-daughter of John<sup>2</sup> Hodges, of Taunton, by his wife Elizabeth Macy, whom he m. 15 May, 1672; she was dau. of Lieut. George Macy of King Phillip's war; and gr. gr.-dau. of Capt. William<sup>1</sup> Hodges, the first at Taunton, by his wife Mary Andrews, dau. of Henry Andrews and his wife Mary Gilbert Williams, who was dau. of Samuel Williams and Jane Gilbert his wife; and this Samuel Williams was son of Richard Williams and Frances Dighton his wife, of Taunton.

She was said to have been a lady of great personal beauty; not tall, her figure straight and slender, and when a young woman, a half a yard string was tied in a bow knot around her waist, as tradition in the family tells. She had a fair complexion, red cheeks, very dark hazel or coal black eyes. Of her fourteen children, all but her youngest, Nathan, had dark hazel eyes.

She was received into the church in Pomfret from the church in Woodstock, 1760.

Mr. Peter Chandler married second, Abigail Wales, widow of Thomas Gray, Esq., of Windham, Conn.

Her children by Mr. Gray were four:

- i. ELIZABETH GRAY; m. 14 April, 1799, Dr. Thomas Hubbard, of Pomfret, Conn., and Professor of Surgery in Yale College.
- ii. LUCY GRAY; m. first, Dr. Samuel Lee, of Windham, Conn., maker of Lee's Pills; m. second, Dr. Thomas Hubbard, the widower of her sister Elizabeth.
- iii. LYDIA GRAY; m. 24 Sept. 1797, Charles Clapp Chandler, of Pomfret, Conn., her step-son. [See 384.]
- iv. PRUDENCE GRAY; m. Payson Grosvenor, of Pomfret.

Mrs. Abigail Wales (Gray) Chandler was b. 20 Jan. 1748; d. 31 Dec. 1820. She was to her second husband, Peter Chandler, an affectionate wife, to his children a kind mother-in-law, and a noble woman.

Peter Chandler, the youngest of twelve children, resided with his father on the homestead, which was thus referred to by his grandfather, Dea. John Chandler, of Woodstock, in his will: "Joseph to have my lot in Mashamoquet lying upon the Line to be set off" to him at twenty pounds, amounting to one hundred and fourteen acres. This farm he sold about 1793 to his son, John Wilkes Chandler.

Peter Chandler kept tavern at one time in the "Street" in Pomfret, and again he kept a store of goods. But the last years of his life he lived on the Dennison farm, where his son Nathan and his grandson Nathan Horace Chandler lived after him, and which became the inheritance of the latter on his arriving at the age of twenty-six years, from his grandfather Peter.

Peter Chandler took the oath of "fidelity," Dec. 1754; was Society's collector, 1762; lister in 1767. In 1779 was selectman and he was chosen grand juror, but paid his fine; was one of the Society's committee in 1781; was moderator of town meeting in 1781; and was then chosen one of "the committee to go to Windham to ascertain the challenges this town has to soldiers."

Mr. Chandler had great industry and capacity for business; was able to draft his own papers and legal instruments in writing. He was successful in accumulating property.

His religious sentiments were liberal for his day, and his brethren in the church tried to restrain his wanderings. In his last days he read the holy scriptures much, and found consolation in their promises. He died 25 Oct. 1816, in his 84th year.

His mortal remains, and those of his two wives, four sons, one daughter, and some of his grandchildren and gr.-gr.-children, were interred "with their faces upward and eastward, and their feet to the eastward, as if watching for that brighter day, glorious that is coming," side by side in the "Little God's Acre," set off by him for that purpose, about forty rods south of the Chandler hearth-stone, which was first warned by his pious parents on the 29th of June, 1708, about one quarter of a mile south of Woodstock line on the Worcester and Norwich turnpike. Here too stands a double-headed cenotaph of Capt. Joseph Chandler and his wife Susanna Perrin, while their bodies repose three miles south in the graveyard by the Wap-paquians brook; and here also lie the remains of "Old Dinah," who had been a slave, and who had served and died in the family of Peter Chandler, on the north line of this Chandler lot at the east corner. She was remembered in her old age as a dignified person of the darkest skin, tall and stout, with a red handkerchief bound around her head.

When the Chandler homestead was sold out of the name, this spot was reserved in the family of Maj. John Wilkes Chandler, and free access to it secured.

The children of PETER and MARY (Hodges) CHANDLER were :

She was daughter of Nathaniel<sup>2</sup> Abbot by his wife Dorcas Hibberd. [See 2.] He was one of the original proprietors of Concord. They lived in Andover until after their eldest child was born. He was one of the original petitioners, in 1721, to the General Court of Massachusetts Bay, for the grant of land at Penny Cook, and he attended the sittings of the committee to make inquiries and "inform the General Court of the circumstances of the petitioners and others, in order to admitting such of them as shall be thought most suitable for bringing forward the settlement of Penny Cook, at the house of Ebenezer Eastman, innholder, in Haverhill, Mass., Feb. 2, 1725." And he was, Feb. 3, 1725, admitted by the committee "a Settler;" the fee for which was twenty shillings. At a meeting held in Andover, Feb. 7 and 8, 1726, he drew Lot No. 68, second Range, on "the Great Plain," the interval east of Horse Shoe Pond. At a meeting of the proprietors held in Ipswich, 9 Sept. 1726, Ensign John Chandler was chosen one of the committee "to go out and clear a sufficient cart-way to Penny Cook, the highest and best way they can from Haverhill." But at Bradford, Aug. 27, 1729, it was voted that "Ensign John Chandler and Mr. Eben<sup>r</sup> Eastman are desired and empowered to alter the way to Penny Cook in some places," &c. When the committee to lay out Penny Cook arrived there, they encamped on Sugar Ball Plain, and the next day, Saturday, May 14, 1726, Ens. John Chandler was appointed and sworn chairman to survey the plain on the east side of the river.

He was moderator of a meeting of the proprietors at Andover 8 Jan. 1728, and "upon adjournment on the 12 March, 1728, at the house of Mr. John Griffin in Bradford, the moderator Ens. John Chandler opened the meeting;" and he was moderator, 14 Oct. 1730, of a meeting of the admitted settlers or grantees of Penny Cook, at the meeting-house in said township. In a report of the state and condition of the settlement, Oct. 1731, it was recorded: "John Chandler. A house built and inhabited. The order fully complied with." He was selectman at the organization of the town; and was of the committee to settle Rev. Timothy Walker in the work of the ministry. He was treasurer from 1732 to 1738; and, as treasurer, "he was ordered, 19 May, 1735, by the town, to make the several collectors that were in arrears, forthwith pay in what was due." He signed the petition with others, among whom were Abiel and Daniel Chandler, 1774, to "His Excellency and our Capt. General and ye General Assembly at Portsmouth, for aid to protect Rumford." "In 1745, Capt. John Chandler was leader of a scout of 10 men to repel their enemies the French and Indians." He "entered service Jan. 21, dismissed March 18. Time 2 mos. Wages £3:10:00."

In 1746-7, Capt. John Chandler had charge of both garrisons the "Stickney and the Abbot Houses." In 1754 Capt. C. had command of a company of men in His Majesty's service from the 8th to the 17th of September, and his charge therefor was £1:2:10.

"Voted that Lieut. John Chandler have liberty to build a saw mill on Rattle Snake Brook [the outlet of Long Pond], and have liberty to flow the Great Pond for 15 years from 24 Feb. 1734." In 1739, Jos. Eastman and Lieut. John Chandler were appointed "to inform of all breaches of an act for the better preservation and increase of Deer within the Province, and to take care that the violators thereof be duly prosecuted and punished."

He was put forward in the "Bow" controversy, and the "prudence, decision and readiness for conciliation on just principles which distinguished the proprietors in all subsequent proceedings, appear from their records." This controversy between the towns of Concord and Bow terminated in 1772. The common lands which had been reserved, were divided and laid off to the respective proprietors and grantees by a committee chosen by the proprietors, Oct. 8, 1771, consisting of Capt. John Chandler, Philip Eastman and Mr. Abiel Chandler. "Mr. Chandler deserv'd and enjoyed largely the confidence and respect of his townsmen; and received from them, during his long life, civil and military honors." In 1748 Capt. C. was elected to represent Rumford in the General Assembly.

In his will, after making bequests to his family, he said: "I give to my son Joshua Chandler" "40 acres of land lying at a place called Curry Hill." "Also I give my s<sup>d</sup> son Joshua One Hundred Dollars. * * * Likewise I give my son John Chandler (whom I appoint sole executor of this my will, &c.) the whole of my personal estate to him, his heirs and assigns forever. Also all my lands and buildings in Concord aforesaid and Else Where upon the following conditions, viz. that he pay all my just debts, also that he shall make suitable provision for my support and maintenance in sickness and health during my natural life and bestow a decent funeral to my Remains at my decease, and also that he pay all the legacies herein before mentioned.

2 Feb. 1775.

Presented and proved 17 Nov. 1775.

His part of Rev. Mr. Timothy Walker's salary in 1755 was £12, 15s. old tenor, which, according to a "correct table," published 1750 in Boston, "to bring old tenor into lawful money at the rate of dollars at six shillings per piece," amounted to only £1 9s., four dollars and a half. And only three men in the parish were rated higher than Capt. John Chandler.

Capt. Chandler lived in a house on the road which runs west by Richard Bradley's, from the north end of Main Street, on the spot where the house of Hamilton Perkins, Esq., stands. Here his son Daniel lived. An apple tree stands growing where the old cellar was. Capt. John Chandler died 26 July, 1774, a. 72.

He was born in Andover, Mass.; d. in Concord, N. H., 15 March, 1792, a. 78.

They joined the church in S. Andover by profession of faith, 16 Sept. 1744, and were discharged to the church in Rumford, N. H., 30 June, 1745. Henry Lovejoy, of Haverhill, was one of the original grantees of Rumford, Me., one quarter of one right in 1774.

Oct. 19, 1732. The proprietors of Penny Cook voted "that any person that is agreeable, &c. that will build a grist mill on Turkey River [now Millville] for the use of the proprietors, shall have one hundred acres of land convenient to the mill and the benefit of the whole stream of said Turkey River from the place where the mill shall be built to the great pond on Turkey River," &c., forever, "and liberty of flowing the swamp for 20 years," "and also forty pounds," &c. These conditions were taken up by Henry Lovejoy and Baruck Farnum. And 26 March, 1733, it was "Voted, that Mr. John Chandler" and others "be a Committee to lay out the 140 acres of land which is voted as encouragement to build mills in Penny Cook." In due time the mills (grist and saw) were built at what is now called Millville, at the lower falls—afterwards owned by Dr. George C. Shattuck, of Boston.

In 1746 the house of Henry Lovejoy (where Levi Hutchins afterwards lived, in the West Parish Village) was made a garrison. But, as the "massacre" by the Indians of five of the citizens took place between this out-post and the main settlement of Rumford, Lovejoy's garrison was abandoned by order of a committee, "March ye 21, 1646-7;" and Henry Lovejoy, Abiel Chandler and others were ordered "to do duty at the garrison stated round the house of Rev. Timothy Walker."

But Jan. 2, 1747-8, seventy-one persons in Rumford, Contoocook and Canterbury, petitioned his Excellency, Benning Wentworth, that whereas "the said Henry Lovejoy appears desirous of residing there again, provided he might be favored with such a number of soldiers as just to keep his garrison with a tolerable degree of safety; and that, as an additional encouragement to us, to appear as petitioners on his behalf, and to your Excellency," &c. "to grant our said petition, he will become engaged, with all convenient speed, to erect a forge for making Barr Iron, which may also stand under command of said garrison," "We therefore pray" "that your Excellency would grant unto the said Lovejoy such a protection as may encourage him to reënter and possess his present abandoned garrison." Signed by John Chandler, Ebenezer Eastman, Ezra Carter, Isaac Chandler, John Chandler, Jr., &c., of Rumford.

Immediately on the passage of a resolve, March 14, 1776, by Congress for "disarming all persons who refuse to associate to defend by arms the United Colonies against Hostile Attempts of the British Fleets and Armies." 156 of the men of Concord subscribed a pledge of their lives and fortunes to oppose the British; among whom were Henry Lovejoy, Chandler Lovejoy, Nathan Chandler and Daniel Chandler.

Henry Lovejoy was selectman in Concord, 1749. His town rate in 1778 was £3 : 00 : 5; but his parish rate for the support of Rev. Timothy Walker was, in 1755-6, £10 : 16 : 8 old tenor.

The children of PHEBE and Capt. HENRY LOVEJOY were :

She was b. in Andover, 1717; d. 1803, a. 86 years; dau. of Nathaniel and Dorcas (Hilbert) Abbot.

Abiel Chandler was chosen fence viewer, 20 March, 1740; was chosen highway surveyor and hogreeve, March 31, 1743, in Rumford. In 1746 his family was to seek protection from the Indians in Henry Lovejoy's garrison in the West Parish, Concord. But in "March ye 21, 1746-7," Abiel Chandler was ordered to do duty round the house (garrison) of Rev. Timothy Walker.

A warrant to John Chandler, Timothy Bradley, &c., to divide the estate of Abiel Chandler, deceased, made return as follows, May 2, 1768: "We have set off to Abiel the Eldest son of the dec<sup>d</sup> the House Lot No. 7 in the Second Range containing one and a half acres." "And to Peter the Second Son of the dec<sup>d</sup> we have set off 67 acres of land in Concord which was laid out to the Rights of John Chandler for his 80 acre grant," and "To Sarah the other half part of said 20 acres," &c. "And according to our judgement we have set off to the Eldest Son one half of s<sup>d</sup> Estate, both Quantity and Quality, and one fourth to each of the other children."

The children of ABIEL and REBECCA (Abbot) CHANDLER were:

This Benjamin has not been traced to any branch of the Chandler family by the usual links of church or town records ; but he is introduced here because his putative grandparents moved into Westford with a younger son Benjamin, who died early ; and because his supposed father, William Chandler, would be apt, out of filial affection for a younger brother, to wish to perpetuate the remembrance of such a brother ; and because no other family of Chandler has been traced to Westford ; also because Mrs. Almira Jones Chandler [see 996], said " Benjamin Chandler and Hannah Dutton his wife, came up to Petersham from Westford."

Mrs. Hannah Chandler died "June ye 3d 1777," aged 32 years, 11 mos. of smallpox, and was buried by the side of her husband in Petersham. They were married by Rev. Willard Hall, of Westford, who undoubtedly was a favorite, as his surname will be found prefixed to the patronymic of many of the descendants of this Benjamin and Hannah.

She was dismissed from the church at Westford to the church at Nitchawangue. After her death Mr. Chandler m. second, Martha Rice, dau. of Jotham Rice by his wife Mary Earl, dau. of Ralph Earl, of Barre, Mass., and widow of Mr. Walker, by whom she had had two sons, Jotham and William Walker.

Mr. Benjamin Chandler had a farm about one mile south-east of Petersham Centre. He d. 14 June, 1798, a. 80.

The children of BENJAMIN and HANNAH (Dutton) CHANDLER were :

403. I. HANNAH, b. "Oct. ye 20, 1744" [Petersham T. Rec.] ; m. 30 Dec. 1767, Samuel Morse.

He lived at the fulling mill, by the water privilege, near the line of Chelmsford. He was a clothier ; and in the "11th year of His present Majesty's Reign," 1771, there was assessed to him "One fulling mill, one house, one barn and four polls." He died seized of one half of the fifteen acres called the "Old Place," in common with Isaac Chandler, valued at £40. The widow having declined the administration, the son William Chandler was appointed to administer, 18 Sept. 1788 ; and he was ordered by the Judge of Probate, Oliver Prescott, after paying the charges against the estate, among which were "Funeral charges of Grand Mother Chandler and Doctoring, £1 : 12 : 8," "Funeral charges of my Father, £1 : 12," and "an allowance to the Widow for her necessary support, £20," to distribute the remainder to Dorcas Chandler, the widow, one third of the estate; to William Chandler, Dorcas Chandler, Jr., Silas Chandler, and to Ebenezer Chandler.

She died 8 Feb. 1810, a. 82. He was selectman in Ipswich, N. H., 1763.

In Rev. Charles Walker's History of New Ipswich, N. H., it is said: "In 1750 the Masonian Proprietors granted a considerable portion of the Town to 34 individuals, of whom John Chandler was one, on condition that the occupants should be at the expense of dividing the land; that in two years each resident should have three acres cleared and an house, with a room at least 16 feet square, and a family in it,—that all white pine trees fit for the royal navy, should be reserved for His Majesty's use."

In 1760 Rev. Stephen Farrar was settled in New Ipswich, and John Chandler was one of those who signed "the covenant" of his church, and was of the committee to build the church in 1762.

Eugene Batchelder said in his "Border Adventures" of New Ipswich, N. H.:

"The Appletons and Chandlers also came
To link New Ipswich with their growing fame;
The Chandlers on Skowhegan built a mill,
And Kilder 'll point you to its ruins still."

John Chandler came to New Ipswich from Westford, Mass., and had a grant of land to build mills at the Falls of the Souhegan.

"In the spring of 1767 Mr. John Chandler came with his family to Winthrop. He had considerable property. Amos Stevens, then a young man 18 years old, came with him as a hired man. They came from New Ipswich, N. H. His was the fourth family which settled in Pond Town. As yet they had no road to the Kennebec River, and as there was no saw-mill in the place, they dwelt in log houses. Mr. Chandler built a sawmill on the stream where the cotton manufactory now stands, and in the course of this year erected a grist-mill. But to get the millstones from the river was a great achievement. It is said to have required 'the whole strength of the place both in men and oxen during nearly a week.' For his encouragement to settle and build these mills, he had the grant of what is contained in the following document:

"We the Subscribers, the Committee of the Kennebec Purchase from the late Colony of New Plymouth, Do hereby agree that Mr. John Chandler shall have a grant of two lots of land, of two hundred acres each, near the mill stream in Pond Town, and also one other lot in some other place in said Township, upon Condition that he give bonds to build a Saw Mill in One Year, and a Grist Mill in three years, and make one settlement on the said 400 acres, and another settlement on the 200 acre lott, both on the Conditions aforesaid.

Boston, June 11, 1767.

JAMES BOWDOIN,
JAMES PITTS,
BENJAMIN HALLOWELL,
SILV. GARDINER,
JOHN HANCOCK."

At the first town meeting held 20 May, 1771, at 8 o'clock in the morning at the house of Esquire Bishop, innholder, on a warrant therefor dated the sixth of May, 1771, at Fort Weston, issued by James Howard, Justice of Peace, to Mr. John Chandler, to notify the legal voters of Pond Town to assemble under the new name of Winthrop; John Chandler was chosen first selectman, which office he held in 1775, '6. He was town treasurer from 1773 to 1784, inclusive; constable in 1772, '3. In 1791 he was put on the "fish committee," having in charge a business involving a long, vexed and difficult matter. A dam had been built in 1760 across the Cabbossee Contee stream, at what is now Gardiner, and it prevented the fish from coming up into their ponds and brooks as they did formerly in great abundance. The desire of the town was to induce Dr. Sylvester Gardiner "to open a suitable sluice through or round his mill dam, for the fish to go up for the benefit of the town." From 1771 to 1806 the town tried in vain to accomplish that desirable object.

On 27 May, 1771, he was appointed first on a committee "to hire preaching for eight sabbaths the ensuing summer." And in 1775 he was one of a committee "to effect the finishing of the meeting-house."

At the entrance of the graveyard in Winthrop, a slate-stone slab about three by four feet has inscribed on it:

Sacred
to the Memory of
Mr. JOHN CHANDLER who died
Dec. 10, 1812,
aged 86 years.

Behold beneath the turf here lies
A tender Husband, kind and dear,
Esteemed by men, a friend to all.
Farewell! the voice of God doth call.

The children of JOHN and LYDIA (Taylor) CHANDLER were:

He was b. 24 Feb. 1724; d. "10 Jan. 1809, aged 86 years, a patriot of the Revolution," say the Town Records. His monument in the graveyard says he "died 9 Jan. 1810, a. 85." The Farmer's Museum, Walpole, N. H., of Feb. 20, 1809, says: "Died in Andover, Mass., Capt. Benjamin Ames, aged 83. He was an officer in the American Revolution, and commanded a company in the memorable battle of Bunker Hill."

On the 19th April, 1775, Capt. Benj. Ames, who had command of one of the two military companies raised that year in Andover, marched with his company of minute-men, under Col. James Frye, to Cambridge. They were out at that time seven days. David Chandler was lieutenant of his company; William Chandler, a sergeant, received for the seven days, twelve shillings; Peter Chandler, of the rank and file, received for the seven days, ten shillings, and Nathan and Joseph Chandler the same.

In the battle of Bunker Hill, Capt. B. Ames's company of fifty-eight men — more than fifty of whom were from the South Parish in Andover — lost three of its men, and seven more were wounded.

Capt. Ames was a farmer, and resided about one mile west of what is now the West Parish meeting-house.

He m. second, Dorcas Lovejoy. She joined the church in South Andover, 13 June, 1773, and was discharged to the church in the West Parish, 26 Nov. 1826. She d. 25 Jan. 1843, a. 96. By her he had Timothy, Richard and Elizabeth.

In his will, dated 19 May, 1800, Capt. Benj. Ames mentions his "wife Dorcas;" children — 1, Benjamin; 2, Timothy; 3, Hannah Boynton, wife of Thomas; 4, heirs of daughter Hepzibah, "formerly wife of Mr. Bixby Abbot; 5, Dorcas, wife of Isaac Phelps; 6, Abigail, wife of David Johnson; and 7, son Simeon Ames," to whom he gave "all my lands and buildings and all my husbandry utensils of every denomination, and all my live stock of brute creatures, money and obligations for money, my desk and cloak, my fire arms, sword and military equipments, and one half of my wearing apparel — One half of my wearing apparel I give to my son Timothy." "Son Simeon Ames to be Executor."

Mrs. Hepzibah Ames joined the church in S. Andover, 23 March, 1746, and died a member thereof, 19 Jan. 1768, a. 42.

MAJ. ISAAC<sup>5</sup> CHANDLER (Isaac,<sup>4</sup> Joseph,<sup>3</sup> Thomas,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and Meriel Cotton, Hopkinton, N. H.

On a slate-stone slab near the entrance to the graveyard in Hopkinton village, by that of her husband, is inscribed:

In Memory of MERIEL CHANDLER
Consort of Maj. Isaac
Chandler, who died
January 3<sup>d</sup> 1805
Æ 59 years.

Meriel bid a long farewell
To all below where she did Dwell. She trod the dark, the Gloomy road, To dwell forever
With her God.

She was a short fleshy woman, and many of her children died of palsy in advanced life. Her Cotton descent is given as follows, in Vinton's Giles Memorial.

2. Rev. John<sup>2</sup> Cotton, b. in Derby, England, Dec. 4, 1585, son of Roland<sup>1</sup> Cotton, a lawyer of eminence; educated at Trinity College, Cambridge; rector of St. Botolph Church, in Boston, Lincolnshire, which was, perhaps, the most stately parish church edifice in England, a cathedral in size and beauty. This superb building, which would contain 5000 persons, he exchanged for the mud walls and thatched roof of a rude meeting-house on these western shores. He came to Boston, in New England, in the "Griffin," a ship of 300 tons, arriving there Sept. 4, 1633, with his wife Sarah Story, and their children. "He was a famous light in his generation; a glory to both Englands."

3. Rev. John<sup>3</sup> Cotton, his son, b. in Boston, N. E., March 15, 1639-40. H. U. 1657; m. 7 Nov. 1660, Joanna Rosseter; ord. pastor Plymouth, June 20, 1669; d. at Charlestown, N. C., whither he went, 1697.

4. Rev. Roland<sup>4</sup> Cotton, his son, b. at Plymouth, Dec. 27, 1667; H. U. 1685; m. Sept. 1692, Elizabeth, widow of Rev. John Denison, of Ipswich, and only dau. of Col. Nathaniel Saltonstall, of Haverhill, Mass., and sister of Gurdon Saltonstall, Governor of Connecticut from 1708 to 1724.

5. Rev. Josiah<sup>5</sup> Cotton, his son, b. at Sandwich, June, 1703; H. U. 1722; ord. at Providence, R. I., Oct. 23, 1728, pastor of a Congregational church gathered that day; installed pastor of the third church in Woburn, 15 July, 1747; dismissed June 30, 1756; installed at Sandown, N. H., 28 Nov. 1758, and died 27 May, 1780, a. 77; m. Susanna, dau. of Thomas Salter, of Boston.

6. Maria (or Meriel,<sup>6</sup> or Muriel) Cotton, their daughter, m. Maj. Isaac Chandler. She derived her Christian name probably from the wife of Richard<sup>1</sup> Saltonstall, who married Muriel, dau. of Brampton Gordon, Esq., by his wife Muriel Sedley, of Assington, County of Suffolk, Eng. Their son, Nathaniel<sup>2</sup> Saltonstall, m. Alice, dau. of John and Alice Ward, and their dau. Elizabeth<sup>3</sup> Saltonstall m. second, Rev. Roland Cotton, of Sandwich.

His father gave him, Maj. Isaac Chandler, and his brother Joseph, all the land on the south side of the road, in what is the village of Hopkinton. He settled there when only six families were in the town. His large square house stood, in 1866, on the hill on the south side of the road, just west of the village. "Isaac Chandler, Junr. discharged 5 Oct. 1748. Served 18 weeks 2 days. Wages 12£ 11s 5d, advance pay 2." His grandson, Isaac Henry Chandler, Esq., of Hopkinton, has, in good keeping, his gun, bearing the imprint of "Isaac Chandler, April 26, 1755." It is a highly finished, long barrel, smooth bore of that day. It is the arm carried by him in the old French war. He was sergeant in Capt. Jonathan Poor's company from Sept. 9 to Nov. 17, 1755, on the Crown Point Expedition, and received for travel of 210 miles on that expedition, £1, and for wages for 70 days, £4 : 5 : 3.

He was town clerk in Hopkinton; represented that town in the legislature; was selectman twenty-one years. At a town meeting in Hopkinton, 13 April, 1784, it was "Voted Maj. Isaac Chandler be moderator, to Regulate said meeting." And at the same meeting it was "Voted Mr. Peter How and Maj. Isaac Chandler be a Committee to assist the Clerk in Coppling the Lots together." He was chosen "Clerk of the Market," 1799, and tithingman.

The children of ISAAC and MERIEL (Cotton) CHANDLER were :

579. I. ABIGAIL, b. in Hopkinton, 21 Aug. 1770; m. 6 Oct. 1799, Ebenezer Ray.
580. II. SUSANNA, b. 7 July, 1772; m. Robert Holmes.
581. III. PHEBE; m. 9 Nov. 1800, Benjamin Eaton.

REV. SAMUEL<sup>5</sup> CHANDLER (Josiah,<sup>4</sup> William,<sup>3</sup> William,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and Anna Pecker, Gloucester, Mass.

She was b. 3 January, 1715, dau. of Capt. Pecker, of Haverhill.

He was graduated at H. C. 1735, in a class of thirty-eight, and his rank in "dignity of family" was only the 28th. He was received into the church at South Andover, 28 March, 1736, and dismissed therefrom to the second church at York, Me., 1 Nov. 1741, over which he was ordained as its pastor, 20 Jan. 1742, as successor to the Rev. Joseph Moody, "the Veiled Preacher," who preached in, and in the last years of his life ever wore, a black silk handkerchief over his head while in the presence of others; son of the Rev. Samuel Moody, of York, Me. At Mr. Chandler's ordination, his old pastor and teacher, Rev. Samuel Phillips, of South Andover, preached the sermon. After laboring in that parish—the Scotland Parish—as preacher and some of the time as school-teacher, until 1751, he was dismissed, and installed, 13 Nov. 1751, colleague to the Rev. John White, "that zealous, faithful and excellent divine," who died 16 Jan. 1763, in his 83d year, and the 58th of his ministry over the first church in Gloucester, Mass. Mr. Chandler remained in Gloucester, the faithful and devoted pastor; until his death, 16 April, 1775, in his 62d year, and 24th of his ministry there. The mortal remains of both pastor and colleague rest near together in the graveyard at Gloucester.

In his will of 2 March, 1775, he said: "I Samuel Chandler of Gloucester" give "to my wife her Right of Dowry in my estate as though I had left it intestate. To my children John, Samuel and Sarah, wife of William Haynes, I give all my real estate, viz. my Dwelling House in s<sup>d</sup> Gloucester, land, &c." "Of my household furniture I give one Feather bed and bedding to Elizabeth, Daughter of my Daughter Anna Dec<sup>d</sup> to be delivered to her at full age, or upon her marriage. The remainder of said furniture I give equally to my Daughter Sarah and to the s<sup>d</sup> Elizabeth. I also give to s<sup>d</sup> Elizabeth £15 lawful money, 5 to be paid by John, 5 by Samuel and 5 by my daughter Sarah. I appoint Samuel Whittemore and my son Samuel Chandler to be executors of this my will." Will was approved 23 April, 1775. The inventory, as presented 4 May, 1775, by Samuel Whittemore, amounted to £220 : 7 : 2.

Rev. Mr. Chandler kept a diary of passing events in interleaved almanacs as they affected him; twenty years of which have been found and read by the writer of this. They include the consecutive years from 1745 to 1764. A part of this diary was deposited by the writer in the Plummer Institute at Salem, Mass., and the rest were in the keeping of Miss Sally Mann, at Dedham, Mass., in 1866. In his almanac of 1752 he altered the consecutive days to read 1, 2, 3, 14, 15, &c., from the O. S. to the N. Style, giving only September 19 days.

Extracts from Mr. Chandler's Diary, kept in interleaved Almanacs, bound up by himself for that purpose.

1745 Nov. 20. I preached Lam. 3.40 middling Congregation. in the Evening went to Deacon McIntires. In the night towards the latter part of it, my wife seemed to be much affected—panting, heaving and short breathing. I asked her “what was the matter?” several times, but she made no reply. I thought she might be a sleep and had not opportunity to inquire further till the next Evening, when she told me she was awake but could not speak. She had dreamed of her following her father to his funerall, and he looked angry upon her which brought to mind her undutifulness which was very grievous to her under the views she then had, and led her to consider step by step her sinfulness and misery, till the Excellency of Christ was presented to her which over came her with love. She says she has endeavored to shew what she was—the worst of herself that she might not be thought a Hypocrite. She has distressing fear of the Devil. She has a great sense of her—to be saved—much dead<sup>d</sup> and backw<sup>d</sup>s to duty Lamented her former life and abuse of friends—I gave her my best advise and counsel.

1745 Dec. 10. Father Pecker came to see us, brought me the news of my Brother [Benjamin] Death in the Expedition. We sat up till almost 12 o'clock, then I went into the study sat up while half an hour past I writing Letters to my parents and brethren.

1745 Dec. 23. I set out on a journey at 11 o'clock to visit my parents under their bereavement. I got to Ports<sup>m</sup> and dined there. Set out at 3 oth clock, got to brother Benj<sup>a</sup> at Amesbury at 9 oth clock—lodged there—had a comfortable journey and a pleasant evening till 1 or 2 clock, rose—the morning refreshed with sleep I came to Haverhill, dined at brother Websters. Stop<sup>d</sup> at Several places, got to grand-mothers at 7 clock tarried till 8, got to fathers at 9, sat up till 12. Mother is disconsolate—Sister complains of declension and deadness; Father says he has been much distressed for land, for his children, too much—one is taken away and needs none. Bewails that he took so much care—Father says he believes “every Christian thinks himself to have the worst heart in the world.”

1746 Jan. 3. I visited Mr. Griffith—he gave me a cake of chocholat. I came home after Dinner—found my Family well and entertained at first with a welcome.

6. I visited Daniel Jenks' wife sick of a Fever—her senses something Broken and Shattered. She complains of a dry soul, a dry Heart and that she is a poor creature—Then I went to Gideon

Withams — She spoke of her little son now sick of a fever that he s<sup>d</sup> he was willing to leave Father and m<sup>t</sup> to go to Christ — that he loved Christ — he reproved others for speaking bad words. Then I went to Mr. Shaws and to Mr. Lord<sup>s</sup> read a few pages.

9. I studied all day. Wrote the Genealogy of my family.

10. Studied in the forenoon — very cold weather — afternoon went to the family meeting at Mr. Lords — visited the Sick — wrote a will and got home 9 clock half an hour past.

11. Studied till 9 clock Saturday night in my preparations w<sup>h</sup> I have not done for many months before nor do I allow myself in it w<sup>d</sup> always finish my preparations before night on the Saturday.

Feb. 4. I preached at Sam<sup>l</sup> Prebles, Newtown. His wife under much Darkness — Much dejected. She asked prayers when I came away. I came home. My Brother Abijah at our house and Stephen Lovejoy.

Feb. 10. Brother Abij<sup>a</sup> sat out for Andover. I visited the Sick — went up to Mr. Kilgore's to Jn<sup>o</sup> Wittims. He says he Likes the Quakers best of any — thinks y<sup>t</sup> way is the Best. His wife says — seems more terrible to her than Death w<sup>h</sup> she thinks of it she is just ready to sink.

March 17. I diverted mys. a gunning — killed a wild goose.

April 12. I studied made 2 Sermons — finished at 5 clock.

May 12. Rose a little after 4 clock. Sat out on a journey to Andover. At 6 got to the Ferry at Portsm<sup>o</sup> 7 clock and 20 min. tarried and prayed in the Family at Mr. Vibbards and Breakfasted with them. They have lost a vessel to the value of about £2700. Set out from them at nine clock, oated my horse at widow Lovets at 11. dined at Barnards Amesbury Mills at 1 clock. Got to Haverhill 3 clock, Stop<sup>d</sup> at Dr. Thompsons, and at Father Peckers, and at Brother's at Bradford till 6, then went up to uncle Marble's. They are mourning for their Son who died at Louisburg — tarri<sup>d</sup> there half an hour and Got to Fathers at 9 clock, found them all in Health. I have rode 50 miles to day, sat up till 12. My bones pretty Sore by rid<sup>d</sup> a hard go<sup>r</sup> horse.

13. Rose at Six — Visited uncle Philemons, and uncle Thomas and Mr. Phillips, went to bed at 12 — rose at 5 thick dark weather.

14. Sat out from Fathers in the morning — dined at Grand Mother Ingalls. She complains of unbelief — want of clear evidences — Sometimes doubts and fears. Father was very full when I parted with Him, c<sup>d</sup> hardly speak. I came down to Broth. Josiah's. He runs out very much ag. the Rulers.

25. I preached with much enlargement — have been much assisted. The people gave Good Attention — Some moving — Severall cried out. 2 Pet. 3, 11–14. No. 232.

June 2. Was chatechizing at the meeting House — ab<sup>t</sup> 60 children. I was near two hours ask. them twice round. Then opened the 3, 4, 5 Answers — and appl<sup>d</sup> as I went along — I was much enlarged, Spoke y<sup>t</sup> fredom and it y<sup>t</sup> good attention.

7. Mr. Moody [Rev.] went away before we got up. I diverted myself a fishing again. Catch<sup>d</sup> about a dozen of w<sup>t</sup> they call "Whitings," a fish I [that] are not very usuall. They were plenty about 20 years ago, as also about 50 years ago.

14. I went down the River by water and dined at Coll. Donnell's, and received of his Bounty to the value of £4 at least.

Aug. 17. I preached twice psalms. 53.11. No. 167. Sacrament—Afternoon from Jan<sup>o</sup> 16.13. No. 220. I was pretty Dull yet not Straighten'd.

July 7 [1746.] About 5 clock in the morning my wife sent out for the women. Brought to bed with a Daughter about Eleven clock morn. Bless'd be God for giving so comfortable a Separation betwixt her and the fruit of the womb, and in Child-Bearing performing his word on w<sup>c</sup> he had caused us to hope and that the memorial of so Singular a Favour of Gods good<sup>e</sup> and faithfull<sup>s</sup> may be Engraven on our O<sup>s</sup>—[hearts:] was enlarged and effect<sup>d</sup> in some measure in singing praying and praying after her deliverance. So were some of the women.

22. In the morning about 8 clock one Q<sup>u</sup> past our infant Babe departed this life, died as I Suppose by an inw<sup>d</sup> fever, tho it had a sore mouth not come to the height. She<sup>d</sup> not cry for 2 days before it died, it died an easy<sup>o</sup> [death] was a pleasant corps—has been pining away ever since it was born, it [was] a very fat child w<sup>n</sup> born though not very Large O that I may be taught to profit by this new try all.

23. Was the funeral of our child pretty large for an Infant. My wife bears up wonderfully. Oh! I [that] y [God] w<sup>d</sup> wean her from I [the] ers and fill her y<sup>d</sup> [with] hs [him self] and enable us to [take] due notis of this affliction nor to dispise I [the] chastning of I [the] v [Lord] nor I. [to] feint under his Rebuke.

1752 March 2. In the morning Capt. Searjeant called at the door and informed me that he had put a venture on Board for me 2 quintal of Fish. The freight I was welcome to. He should charge the fish to me if it was agreeable, and so I must take my chance. I told him, "S<sup>r</sup> I am very much obliged to you." He s<sup>d</sup> he had told the Capt. to bring it in Sherry Brandy—In the afternoon I rode out with my wife in Mrs. Gibs chaise, to see old Mrs. Stevens and to Dr. Withams, Mrs. Gibs and to Nath<sup>l</sup> Searjeant.

Mr. Babson, in his History of Gloucester, says the failing health of Rev. John White, of the first church, made it necessary in 1750 to provide him help in the work of the ministry. The committee, after four candidates had declined through disagreements between the parish and church, finally waited upon Mr. Samuel Chandler, at York, Me., and invited him to preach a few Sabbaths. He arrived in town on Saturday, Feb. 23, 1751, and preached the next day. His forenoon sermon was from Isaiah iv. 1. Mr. Chandler received an invitation to settle, though some made objection, and spoke to him in a discouraging manner, but finally, on the 30th September, a committee of the church waited upon him to propose certain questions, to which satisfactory answers were given; and the 13th of Nov. following was fixed upon for installation. The second, third, and fourth churches in Gloucester, and the second in Rowley [Rev. James Chandler's], and second in Andover, were invited to assist by delegates in the services on that occasion.

The sermon was preached by the Rev. Samuel Phillips, of Andover (the pastor under whose ministry Mr. Chandler was brought up), from Luke xiv. 21. The colleague himself said of the festivities on that occasion, that "Deacon William Parsons Entertained the Council at his own charge; Mr. William Stevens the Schollars and Gentlemen at his own charge; and Mr. John Stevens entertained the Council in the morning with Plumb Cake." A few little volumes of a journal kept by Mr. Chandler have been preserved, from which the account given of the entertainment at his installation is extracted.

Rev. Mr. Samuel Chandler owned and occupied, at the time of his death, the gambrel-roofed house still standing on the south side of Middle Street, between Short and Centre Streets, in Gloucester.

In 1755, Mr. Chandler, with the unanimous consent of the church, went as chaplain in Col. Plaisted's regiment in the expedition against Crown Point. He was engaged in the services from Sept. 8 to Dec. 28. The next spring Col. Plaisted came to Gloucester on purpose to procure his services for the campaign of that year; but the parish would not consent to his going. Mr. Chandler passed through all the anxieties of the troubled period which led to the Revolution, but he did not live to hear of the first bloodshed in the war which followed. His ministry and life were drawing to a close in the fall of 1774. His health failed, and the parish made an appropriation to provide him assistance in his duties—such as occasional supplies of his pulpit.

The declining days of Mr. Chandler were rendered painful and wearisome by long sickness and suffering; but no bodily infirmity or distress could move him to sorrow or repine, while his soul was filled with the deepest anxiety and alarm on account of a danger of fearful magnitude that threatened the eternal welfare of his beloved flock. A new teacher had come to his people, and with plausible arguments and captivating eloquence, was "wresting and torturing the Word of God," and in opposition to the venerable authority of ancient interpretation and universal belief, was proclaiming the final salvation of all the human race as a doctrine of the Holy Scriptures. The sick pastor could not send forth from his pulpit a voice of warning against the dangerous heresy; but called to his brethren in the ministry, among whom was Dr. Stillman, of Boston, to come and sound the alarm; and then, as a last effort of his concern for the people of his charge, sent to his people to be read, a few weeks before his death, a short address, in which he admonished them, as one drawing near to the eternal world, to take heed lest they should be led away with error, and to beware of the false prophet who, if it were possible, would deceive the very elect. Mr. Chandler died on the 16th of March, 1775, aged 62 years.

We have a brief sketch of his character from a young brother in the ministry, Rev. Obadiah Parsons, of the third church, who had from childhood attended upon his religious instructions :

“ He was a gentleman of a clear apprehension, solid judgment, firm, and of a thoughtful, inquisitive temper of mind. These sanctified and improved, fitted him for the high and honorable office he sustained, and which he discharged with fidelity. As a preacher he delivered the truth as it is in Jesus ; showing in his doctrines uncorruptness, gravity and sound speech, that could not be condemned ; exhibiting a bright example of the same in the course and tenor of his life. He was blessed with a great degree of wisdom and prudence, the happy effect of which hath been evident in a variety of instances. The welfare of his people and the church of God lay near his heart. He was a warm friend to his country. In every relation he maintained the character of a sincere disciple of his Lord and Master the Lord Jesus Christ. Many and various were his trials through life, under which his patience was conspicuous. Under the hand of God in the consumption which closed the scene of his life, he discovered great submission and resignation to His Holy will, who was his staff through the valley of the shadow of death, and now is (as I trust) his portion forever.”

Tradition confirms all that is here said of Mr. Chandler. His domestic life was one of singular infelicity ; and the reports concerning it, not yet passed into oblivion, render it probable that all the gentleness, patience and resignation that marked his character were schooled to a severe exercise in his conjugal and parental relations. His wife, to whom he was married in 1738, was Anna Pecker, of Haverhill, who had either a disordered intellect or a perverse heart. She annoyed and troubled her husband in unusual ways ; and, in the judgment of charity, it may be allowed that reason, rather than conscience, was deficient. Mr. Chandler had a son John, who was a sea-faring man, and is said to have caused his father much anxiety and trouble ; but of his history and end no particulars are preserved. He also had a daughter Anna, whose conduct was a source of less happiness than sorrow ; but her frailties were buried with her in an early grave. She died Feb. 19, 1765, of consumption, aged 22. Another daughter, Sarah, married William Haynes in 1769. He was a sojourner in town then ; but it is not supposed that he remained there many months. He was a sea-captain, and was never heard from after he sailed on his last voyage. Mrs. Haynes died in Providence, R. I., while on a visit, Feb. 28, 1813, aged 66.

Mrs. Chandler, after her husband's death, opened a small shop in the house where she had long resided, in Middle Street, and after keeping it a short time, moved out of town. The three children mentioned above came to Gloucester with their father. He had a son Samuel born here, June 20, 1753, who graduated at Harvard College in 1775, and then went one voyage or more privateering from Newburyport; after which he taught a mathematical school in that town till within a few weeks of his death, which occurred in May, 1787. His wife, whom he married in Newburyport, survived him and married for her second husband John Mycall. She also outlived him, and died at an advanced age.

The children of Rev. SAMUEL and ANNA (Pecker) CHANDLER were :

He d. 8 April, 1799, in his 78th year in Roxbury. The name is derived from the Town and Manor of Lowther (that is lower than the hills that surround it). That part of Westmoreland from which the Lowthers came is called Bottom of Westmoreland. It has been written Louthier, Loder, Loader, Loudier, Lowthrey.

He was a shoemaker; recorded in the "larger Westminster Catechism," "My Mother died, Dec. 14, 1771." "My Wife Mary Lowder died, Dec. 10th, 1792, in the 69th year of her age." My wife Elizabeth Lowder died, Feb. y<sup>c</sup> 11th, 1793, in the 44th year of her age." "My Hon<sup>d</sup> Mother Elizath Williams Deceast 1771."

Mrs. Mary Lowder was many years deranged, and wandered about from house to house, asking for "Old Cheese and Vinegar." She was harmless in her wanderings. It was said that while absent among her relatives in Andover, her husband took another wife, but that when the first wife returned to her Roxbury home, the second wife was kind to her, took her in, and cared for her while she chose to stay. Her father tried to make some permanent provision for her in his will.

The children of MARY and JOHN LOWDER were :

- i. JOHN LOWTHER, born in Dorchester, 1 Jan. 1746; died a. 67, in Roxbury; m. 4 May, 1769, Elizabeth<sup>6</sup> Chandler, dau. of William<sup>5</sup> Chandler by his wife Mary Ballard. [See 620.]

He was brought up at the house of his uncle, Rev. James<sup>4</sup> Chandler, at Rowley, Mass. He had, when young, a great desire to go to sea, and become master of a ship. He went to the West Indies after he was 14 years old, and at last sailed as third mate ; but his uncle persuaded him to leave sea life. He then went to live with and learn the trade of a tanner, of Capt. Joseph Burroughs, at Newburyport, whose son (George Burroughs) married his aunt Hannah Chandler.

He taught school, having received a better education than most young men of his day. He commenced tanning on the East road in Atkinson, and afterwards bought the Moses Poor place, by the stream in the north-west part of the town. He erected a sawmill just east of his house. When the Revolutionary war broke out, he volunteered as a substitute for a neighbor, and went to Cambridge, Mass. On his return home, he was soon drafted into the army, and served in Capt. Jesse Page's company. He was at Saratoga, Stillwater, and at the taking of Gen. Burgoyne. He drew a pension of ninety-six dollars a year until his 91st year. He died 8 Jan. 1834, a. 90 years, 7 mos. in Atkinson.

The children of JOSEPH and ELIZABETH (Cook) CHANDLER were :

He was b. in Haverhill, Mass., 1 Aug. 1754; was the son of John<sup>2</sup> White, who m. first, Miriam (Hoyt) Hazen, and m. second, Eliza Haynes; and grandson of Dea. William<sup>1</sup> White, of Haverhill, by his wife Sarah Phillips; and the sixth in descent from William White, the emigrant.

He was a merchant in Boston, and afterwards resided at Rutland, Mass.

Mrs. Mary White departed this life Feb. 21, 1794, greatly lamented, leaving a disconsolate husband and five children to mourn their loss.

The children of MARY and WILLIAM WHITE were :

- i. WILLIAM<sup>4</sup> CHARLES WHITE, b. 17 April, 1777. Lincoln's History of Worcester describes him as "A player, poet, advocate and author, possessing versatility of talents which gave him some distinction in each of his various occupations.

"His father, William White, of Boston, extensively engaged in commerce and trade, destined his eldest son to mercantile pursuits. His education for business was commenced as clerk of Mr. Joseph Cooledge, and diligently followed for a few years. At length a vocation more congenial to the taste of the young man seduced him from the employments of the counting-house, and the journal and ledger gave place to books of light literature. In 1796, at the age of nineteen, he had written 'Orlando,' a tragedy, subsequently printed with the head of the author. The father, a formal and correct person, devoted to practical matters, seems to have contemplated the intellectual acquisitions of his son with little satisfaction.

'A son his father's spirit doomed to cross,
By penning stanzas while he should engross.'

His mortification was extreme on finding the attachments of young White for the drama growing into a passion too strong to be controlled by reason; and when excited by opposition, becoming so intense as to affect his sanity of mind and health of body.

"In the winter of 1796, the elder White writes: 'William had, for some time, discovered his propensity for theatric exhibitions; and by all opportunities I discountenanced in him this inordinate passion; when I came away from Boston he opened himself in a very dutiful and respectful manner, by observing that his illness arose from his insatiable thirst for the stage, but that his resolution had gained the ascendancy of his desires; and he entreated me not to have the least uneasiness respecting him in that particular, for he had determined not to give way to that inclination.' However sincere was the promise, it was soon broken. Unable to resist his dramatic love, he made his first appearance at the Federal Street Theatre, Dec. 14, 1796, in the character of Norval, in the tragedy of Douglas, and was received with great applause by an audience of indulgent friends. In a letter of apology written the next day to his father, he says: 'I am sorry I was compelled, by violence of inclination, to deviate from my promise to you; but life was one series of vexation, disappointment and wretchedness. Pray let this consideration have some weight with you. But, for Heaven's sake, for your own sake, and for my sake, do not tear me from a profession which, if I am deprived of, will be attended with fatal consequences.' Never did parent mourn more inconsolably for the worst follies or darkest crimes of his offspring, than did the father of the actor over this example of perversity in his family. He thus addresses the tragedian: 'Dear William! for so I will still call you: my beloved son! Stain not the memory of your amiable and tender mother by your folly; break not the heart of your father; but rouse yourself from this seeming state of insanity; your youth will excuse you for once. But for God's sake, and everything you hold dear, I pray you to refrain and be not again seen upon a common stage.' The temporary success of the aspirant for theatric fame alleviated the sufferings of the distressed parent, and he reluctantly yielded to the advice of friends and consented that Charles might occasionally tread the boards, but only in the elevated walks of tragedy. 'Let me enjoin it upon you,' he writes, 'never to appear no, not for once, in any comic act, where the nimble tricks of a monkey are better fitted to excite laughter, and where dancing, singing and kissing may be thought amusement for a dollar. No, William, I had, much as I love you, rather follow you to the grave, than to see you, and myself, and my family, so disgraced.'

“Mr. White appeared as Orlando, in his own tragedy, Dec. 20; Tancred, in Thompson's Tancred and Sigismunda, Jan. 2, 1797; Romeo, Feb. 6, and Octavian, in the Mountaineers, April 7, on the Boston stage. The ebb of popular favor effected what parental admonition had entirely failed to accomplish. The applause which followed his first efforts grew fainter; the fit of romantic enthusiasm exhausted itself; and the earliest exertion of reflection resulted in the determination to adopt the profession of the law. In July, 1797, he entered the office of Levi Lincoln, Sr., in Worcester, as student. In July, 1800, he removed to Providence, where he completed his professional novitiate under the instruction of Judge Howell. When admitted to practice in Rhode Island in September following, a partnership was proposed by that gentleman on terms which were declined. Mr. White opened an office in Providence, but did not obtain employment or fees.

“The want of business led directly to the want of money. The pressure of pecuniary embarrassment drove him again to the stage in New York. 'On the 19th of January, 1801,' says Dunlap, in his History of the American Theatre, 'Mr. White, a young man from Worcester, Mass., was brought out with some promise of success in young Norval. Curiosity was excited, and a house of $614 obtained. He had performed in Boston, when quite a boy, with that applause so freely, and often so injudiciously, bestowed on such efforts; had since studied law, and was at this time a tall handsome youth; but not destined by nature to shine. He attempted Romeo, and gave hopes of improvement, but much improvement was wanting to constitute him an artist.' 'He played Alonzo; Aimwell; Theodore; Elvius and Altamont. In the play of the Abbe de l'Epée, he failed altogether in the part of St. Ahne, was hissed, and withdrawn by his own consent, as it was announced to the public, on 'finding the character too difficult.' A visit to Richmond, Va., where he played a few nights, was crowned with such success that he contemplated devoting his life to the theatre. The reverse of fortune in some of his efforts again cured the dramatic mania. In the summer of 1801 he returned to the bar, and established himself in Rutland, in Worcester Co., Mass., where some of his relatives then resided, and where his father, who had been unfortunate in business, soon after removed. He was married to Tamer Smith, daughter of a respectable farmer of that town. In 1809 he contracted to compile 'A Compendium of the Laws of Massachusetts,' which was printed soon after—a work useful at the day of its publication. On the resignation of Judge Bungs in 1811, he was appointed County Attorney, which office he retained till his death. He established himself in Grafton in 1812; the next year he resided in Worcester. In 1814 he removed to Sutton, where he married Aug. 13, 1815, Susan Johannot, daughter of Dr. Stephen Mourée. He returned to Worcester in 1816, and died May 2, 1818, of dropsy.

"Through his whole career the suppressed love of the drama was working on his mind. The Clergyman's Daughter, a play founded on McKenzie's 'Man of the World,' was first presented on the Boston stage, Jan. 1, 1810, and obtained remarkable success. In December of that year he produced the Poor Lodger, a comedy adopting the incidents of Miss Burney's novel of Evelina. Mr. White was a frequent correspondent of the 'National Ægis,' while that paper was under the direction of the late Francis Blake, and afterwards became its editor. In 1813 he published a pamphlet in vindication against the charge of apostasy from democratic principles. His odes and poetical productions obtained some celebrity. His 4th of July address at Worcester in 1804, was printed.

"Mr. White possessed that high grade of talent which is called genius. In his addresses at the bar there were passages of splendid eloquence; but they were unequal; although parts were strong, they were not connected with logical method and clearness. His taste was refined and correct. Greater constancy and perseverance might have raised him to a high rank in any of the departments of forensic exertion, literary effort or dramatic exhibition."

He died 2 May, 1818, of dropsy, aged 41. His second wife died about 1864. Three children.

He was b. at Scituate, 11 Nov. 1705; d. 31 May, 1774, in his 69th year, at Scituate. He was son of Lieut. John<sup>4</sup> Clap, b. 1677, m. 1702, Hannah Gill, his cousin; grandson of Samuel<sup>3</sup> Clap, who was b. at Scituate, about 1642, m. 1666, Hannah Gill; and great gr. son of Dea. Thomas<sup>2</sup> Clap (son of Richard<sup>1</sup>), who was b. at Dorchester, Eng., 1597, and came to America 1633, and after stopping a while at Weymouth, settled in 1640 at Scituate, Mass., and was regarded "as an active, useful and venerable man." His farm was on the north-west corner of Stockbridge Mill Pond, near which lies the scene of "the Old Oaken Bucket," a famous temperance ode, by Samuel Woodworth, a native of Scituate.

Thomas<sup>5</sup> Clap was graduated at Harvard College, 1725, was settled as the fifth pastor, over the first church at Taunton, Mass., 1729. He left Taunton, 1738, and returned to Scituate, said one, "on account of some trouble in collecting his salary," and others said "they would never have another rich man for their minister." He was not again in the ministry, but was much in public life. He was colonel of the militia, represented that town many years in the Legislature, and he was judge of the courts for the County of Plymouth, and his fatal illness (palsy) came upon him while presiding on the bench at Plymouth. He died in his 69th year, on the 31st of May, 1774, after a long and wearisome seven years' illness. He was a man of medium height, rather fleshy, but of fine personal appearance. He was social in his temper, and extremely fond of company, and very hospitable. Before being afflicted with palsy he was remarkably pleasant and mild in his intercourse with others, but afterwards he was irritable and hard to please, which is the usual effect of this malady. His remains were buried in the "common" graveyard, but the stone has been removed to the family yard near his residence, which has been occupied by his grandson Leonard Clap, who m. Eliza Stetson.

Rev. Thomas Clap m. 9 Sept. 17—, Mary Leonard, who was born "where her father lived in baronial style," at Norton, Mass., 17 Jan. 1714, and died 27 June, 1741, of measles, at Scituate, but was buried with her "fathers." She was dau. of Major George Leonard, by his wife Rachael Clapp, dau. of Stephen and Temperance Clapp, of Norton, and wid. of Mr. Lane. This family of Leonard trace their lineage through "John of Gaunt" to Edward III., and claim the title of "Lord Dacre." But in this country the members of the family made the observation true that "where you can find iron works there you will find a Leonard."

The children by his first wife were four.

Rev. Thomas Clap was one of the slaveholders of that day; and had quite a number of slaves which he promised to liberate on his marriage to his second wife, she having objected to the marriage until he would promise them their liberty. But, for some reason, they were not liberated until after his death. She d. 20 July, 1790, in her 72d year. Her monument, with those of several of the children, stands in the family cemetery, and on it is inscribed:

"When will separations cease,
Friendship's sons unite in peace,
Grief no more oppress the heart,
Friends no more be doomed to part?"

Her five children were born in Scituate; none of them, and only one of her husband's, were ever married.

The children of ESTHER and Col. THOMAS CLAP were:

- i. HANNAH<sup>6</sup> CLAP, b. 24 Oct. 1746; d. 9 Jan. 1840, a. 94 years.
- ii. CALVIN<sup>6</sup> CLAP, b. 28 Oct. 1747; d. 4 Dec. 1752, a. 5 years 26 days.
- iii. AUGUSTUS<sup>6</sup> CLAP, b. 28 March, 1752; d. 2 Feb. 1827, a. 75 years; Postmaster in Scituate, from 1805 to 1827.
- iv. CHANDLER<sup>6</sup> CLAP, b. 28 Dec. 1754; d. 25 Dec. 1831, a. 77 years; Justice of the Peace, Postmaster in 1827 and 1828.
- v. RUFUS<sup>6</sup> CLAP, b. 24 Jan. 1759; d. 8 June, 1834, a. 75 years.

HON. JOHN<sup>5</sup> CHANDLER (John,<sup>4</sup> John,<sup>3</sup> John,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and Dorothy<sup>5</sup> Paine, Worcester, Mass. She was b. 20 July, 1723; was dau. of Col. Nathaniel<sup>4</sup> Paine, of Bristol, R. I., and his wife Sarah, dau. of Timothy Clark, of Boston. [See 308.] She d. 5 Oct. 1745, in Worcester, 19 days after the birth of her daughter Dorothy.

His second wife was Mary<sup>4</sup> Church, dau. of Col. Charles Church, of Bristol, R. I., sheriff, who d. 31 Dec. 1746, a. 64. Says the "Worcester Spy" of 18 Sept. 1783: "On the 11th instant, much lamented, Mrs. Mary Chandler, consort of the Hon. John<sup>5</sup> Chandler, Esq., now in England. We may justly say that in her shone conspicuously those graces which adorn the virtuous and every way admirable wife and tender mother." She left thirteen children.

Her sister Dorothy<sup>4</sup> Church m. Samuel<sup>4</sup> Chandler, Esq., her husband's uncle. [See 119.] They were daughters of Col. Charles<sup>3</sup> Church, sheriff of Bristol County, R. I., gr. daughters of the famous Indian warrior, Col. Benjamin<sup>2</sup> Church, b. in Duxbury, 1639; died in Little Compton; by his wife Alice Southworth, daughter of Constant Southworth, and gr. gr. daughters of Richard Church. On the gravestone of Col. Church there is inscribed:

Honorable
Col B Church Esq died January 17 1717-18
in his 78 year

I. R. Peete Dabney said, in the "Christian Examiner," July, 1847, p. 120: "The Hon. John<sup>5</sup> Chandler, of Worcester, whose sons and daughters were as numerous as those of his Royal Master, and with whose family every other leading family of the region was proud to entwine itself by marriage alliance, sleeps far from the town and shire of whose honors he had almost the monopoly."

Hon. John Chandler resided on the East side of Main Street, and his house stood where "Clark's Block" stands in 1882. "Mower's" tavern occupied the same spot; and, afterwards, "The United States Hotel" stood there. This house was moved to Mechanic Street opposite Spring Street.

He was town treasurer from 1753 to 1760, town clerk from 1764 to 1768, and county treasurer from 1762 to 1775. Was sheriff of Worcester County from 1751 to 1762; and judge of probate from 1762 to 1774.

"At the time Fort Henry was besieged," said John Adams in his Diary, "Col. Chandler had occasion to send expresses often, and while keeping school in Worcester, I offered my services, and was sent by him to the Governor of R. I.;" and on his return from Newport, he adds, "I spent the night with Col. Greene at Bristol, whose wife is a Church, sister to Mrs. John Chandler," 1757.

He marched August, 1757, on the alarm for the relief of Fort William Henry, as Colonel of the regiment.

The "Boston News-Letter" of 16 Oct. 1760, observes: "We hear from Worcester that on the evening of the 9th inst. the house of Mr. Sheriff Chandler and others of that town were beautifully illuminated, on account of the success of his Majesty's Arms in America." This success was the taking, 8 Sept. 1760, of Montreal by Amherst.

He succeeded to the military, municipal, and some of the judicial offices of his father and grandfather, and inherited the characteristic traits of his ancestors. He was cheerful in temperament, engaging in manners, hospitable as a citizen, friendly and kind as a neighbor, and industrious and enterprising as a merchant. He was a refugee, and sacrificed large possessions — £36,190:1:0, as appraised in this country by commissioners here, to a chivalrous sense of loyalty. In the schedule presented to the British Commissioners, appointed to adjust the compensation to the Americans who adhered to the royal cause, the amount of real and personal property which was confiscated, is estimated at £11,067, and the losses of income of office from destruction of business and other causes, at nearly £6,000 more. So just and moderate was this compensation ascertained to be, at a time when extravagant claims were presented by others, that his claims were allowed in full, and he was denominated, in England, "The honest Refugee."

Samuel Curwin, writing from London, 14 Feb. 1783, says: "This day I went to the treasury to inquire about my allowance and found it stood fast. A few are raised, some struck off, more lessened. Chandler's raised £50. The sum of £80,000 paid to refugees last year, is now shrunk by late reform to £38,000."

"His pew in the Old South Church was on the minister's right hand, a wall pew, by the stairs, opposite Lieut. Jacob Hemenway's pew, which was a wall pew on the minister's left hand next to the pulpit. This pew was chosen by the Lieutenant because it had a door opening under the pulpit where he kept a barrel of cyder for nooning use."

Hon. John Chandler died in London, 26 Sept. 1800, and was buried in Islington. An iron fence encloses the spot about ten feet long by six wide. A single slab is his monument.

The Sam'l Jennison papers, in the Antiquarian Library, Worcester, Mass., say: "Key of Tomb in Puddington churchyard. There were 15 feet 7 inches clear space over the coffin of my uncle, John Chandler, who was buried 1800; and (near) 13 feet 10 inches over that of Rufus Chandler, who was buried in October, 1823."

"Mr. Chandler's Family Tomb. Here lies the body of John Chandler, Esq., formerly of Worcester, Massachusetts Bay, North America, who died the 26th Sept. A.D. 1800, in the 80th year of his age."

In the same enclosure were afterwards buried the mortal remains of his son, Rufus Chandler. An oil painting of him hangs in the hall of the American Antiquarian Society in Worcester, and a copy of that is in the possession of his granddaughter, Mrs. John Davis, of Worcester. This painting was photographed by Clafin and engraved by H. Wright Smith, and adorns these pages.

"Nov. 24, 1771, Dido, negro servant to John Chandler, Esq., married to Cato, negro servant to Adam Walker." [Wor. Town Records.]

Hon. John Chandler was one of the six inhabitants of Worcester that were included in the act of banishment, forbidding the return of the former citizens of the State, who had joined the enemy; requiring them, if they once revisited their native country, forthwith to depart, and denouncing the penalty of death if they should be found the second time within this jurisdiction. Of this six were his sons Rufus and William, his brother-in-law, James Putnam, and his nephew, Dr. Wm. Paine. His son William and Dr. Wm. Paine had permission and did return to Worcester. Dr. Paine regained the confidence and long enjoyed the respect and esteem of the community.

MAIN STREET, WORCESTER.

These two latter children were drowned while skating with their cousin Franklin Williams, son of John Williams, of Boston, on the pond of the "Red Mill," which gave way for the machine shop of George Crompton, in the south part of the then Village of Worcester. There was "An Elegiac Address" published in "Thomas's Spy," in Worcester, 22 Dec. 1775, in prose and verse, of nearly two columns, upon "the afflictive instance of Divine Providence in the sudden death of Franklin Williams, youngest son of John Williams, Esq., late of Boston, and Francis and Benjamin Chandler, sons of Colonel Chandler, late of Worcester, all about 13 years of age, who were suddenly drowned as they were skating on a small river on the 16th instant." The verses begin thus:

"Two charming youths in all their bloom,
The beauteous product of one womb,
A third by all it is confessed,
Equally charming with first and best,
To try the flattering ice designed,
Nor thought their destiny to find"

724. XV. LUCRETIA, b. 9 June, 1765; m. 24 Oct. 1786, Rev. Aaron Baneroft.
725. XVI. THOMAS, b. 11 Jan. 1768; m. 25 Sept. 1802, Eliza Davis, widow of Wm. Dennie.

She was of Providence, R. I.; d. at Worcester, 1 Dec. 1765, leaving four children.

He married 2 August, 1767, Ann<sup>4</sup> Leonard, of Norton, Mass. James<sup>1</sup> Leonard was father of Thomas,<sup>2</sup> the father of "the prudent, worthy and worshipful Major George<sup>3</sup> Leonard," who died 1716, and he was father of the above Ann<sup>4</sup> and of Mary the first wife of the Rev. Thomas Clap, of Taunton, Mass., who was afterwards Colonel and Judge of Probate in Scituate, Mass. Col. Clap m. for his second wife Esther Chandler, of Worcester, sister of Sheriff Gardiner. [See 305.]

Town Records of Worcester. "John Waldo, Esq., of Boston, and Mrs. Ann Chandler Published 15 July, 1784." But when "she told her intended that she should have her property secured to her son Gardiner Leonard Chandler, this did not suit the Gentleman, and they were not married, although the lady's wedding dress even was ready." She died 5 Sept. 1793, aged 60, and left one child.

Gardiner Chandler lived on Main Street, opposite the Common, in the house in which the late Hon. Ira M. Barton resided, and which was removed to make room for the spacious block erected in 1871, by Ransom C. Taylor. This house was described by Timothy Dwight, D.D., in his Travels, as "one of the handsomest which I have seen in the interior of the country." It was in the large L of this house that the Tories gathered in conclave at the breaking out of the Revolution. He was selectman in 1754, '55 and '56; treasurer of Worcester County from 1754 to 1762; was appointed, 1762, to succeed his brother John who was promoted to the bench, as sheriff of Worcester County, which office he held until 1775, a period of thirteen years; during which the loyal men of the party to which he belonged, who had ruled and held office until their claims were almost hereditary, were driven from their places by the Whig party that rose up from the common people by the oppressive measures of the obstinate King George III. to maintain his royal prerogative.

Aug. 10, 1757, as major and commander, he marched with Capt. John Curtis's company with 54 men strong, under orders, "into the extreme parts of the Province on the western frontier, there to receive such further orders as shall be necessary for the aid and assistance of His Majesty's Troops," to check the advance of the French after the surrender of Fort William Henry. They marched to Sheffield, 105 miles distant, where they were met by orders from Gen. Webb and intelligence that the enemy remained contented with his acquisitions; and, as their services were not needed, they were disbanded.

"Mr. Treasurer Gray:

Pay unto Lieut. Col. Gardiner Chandler
Eleven pounds twelve Shillings to be paid by him unto the respective persons borne on this roll unto whom the same is due.

W. BRATTLE,"

"The foregoing is a Billoting Roll of men now at Castle William made up to ye time they went on ye Castle, being men raised for ye Western Dep<sup>t</sup> since the march of those forces.

by GARD CHANDLER,
Lieut. Col. of Col. Ruggles Regiment."

He was chosen by the General Assembly "Collector of Excise," 1762, Feb. 5, for Worcester County.

Sheriff Chandler had presented an address from the Justices of the Court of Common Pleas at its session in June, 1774, congratulating, as was the custom, Gen. Gage on his appointment as first magistrate of the province, lamenting the disturbed condition of the times, bearing testimony against all riots, combinations, and all unwarrantable resolves; denouncing the circulation of inflammatory papers by order of certain persons calling themselves a committee of correspondence for the town of Worcester, which they represent as stimulating the people to break off all connections with Great Britain, and having a tendency to alienate the affections of the people from the mother country, and to create discord and confusion; concluding with the assurance of their exertions to discountenance such proceedings, to support the execution of the laws, and render the administration successful and prosperous.

A convention of all the committees of correspondence was being held in Worcester, on the 21st of Sept. 1774. This assembly assumed legislative powers, and in the interregnum of royal prerogative and constitutional authority, its orders were obeyed as laws. And this convention voted, "to take notice of Mr. Sheriff Chandler for carrying an address to Gov. Gage," and appointed a committee to wait on him and require his attendance. The court had appointed Hon. Timothy Ruggles, John Chandler, Esq., James Putnam, Abel Willard and Gardiner Chandler, Esqrs., to wait upon His Excellency Gov. Gage, and present the above address. It was delivered, however, by the sheriff, Gardiner Chandler.

That gentleman presented himself before this remarkable body, whose jurisdiction seemed supreme, and with some hesitation subscribed the following declaration:

"Whereas, the Convention of Committees have expressed their uneasiness to the Sheriff of this County, now present before them, for presenting with others an address to Gov. Gage, he frankly declares it was precipitately done by him; and that he is sorry for it, and disclaims an intention to do anything against the minds of the inhabitants of this County; and had he known it would have given offence, he would not have presented that address.

GARDINER CHANDLER."

The "Massachusetts Spy," of Sept. 15, 1774, says: "We have received from Worcester the recantation of John Chandler, Esq. and forty-two others of the protesters against the proceedings of that town, which gave such just cause of offence to the public; as also the acknowledgment of six Justices of that County, for having aspersed the people in an address to Gov. Gage. Want of room prevents their being inserted in this paper."

These recantations were extorted by a force too powerful to admit of refusal. Resistance would have been martyrdom.

John Adams, late President of the United States, says in his Diary: "The Chandlers exercised great influence in the County of Worcester until they took the side of government in the Revolution and lost their position." "The family of the Chandlers were well bred and agreeable people, and I visited them as often as my school and my studies in the Lawyers' office would admit, especially Col. Gardiner Chandler, with whom I was most intimate." On his way to Stafford Springs for his health, John Adams said in Worcester, "I met, June 1st, 1771, Col. G. Chandler. He said he 'heard I was in quest of health; if I found more than I wanted, he begged a little.'" "No poor creature ever suffered more than he for want of it. Thus he is the same man. Sixteen years I have witnessed his continual complaints of weakness and want of health." He was greatly afflicted with asthma.

"June 2. Mem. Gardiner Chandler said yesterday, that, 'Many regulations were wanting, but the Town of Boston more than anything; and that, after Election, every body used to be enquiring Who were chosen Counsellors; very anxious and inquisitive to know; but now nobody asked anything about it, nobody cared any thing about it.' 'Putnam [brother-in-law of Gardiner Chandler] said yesterday, he did not like the Town of Boston, he did not like their manners,' &c. I record these curious speeches because they are characteristic of the persons and of the age." "Gardiner Chandler is very bitter against Boston. 'I hate them from my soul,' says he. 'Great patriots! Were for non-importation while their old rags lasted; and as soon as they were sold at enormous prices, they were for importing. No more to be heard about manufactures, and now there is a greater flood of goods than were ever known; and, as to tea, those who were most strenuous against it are the only persons who have any to sell!'"

He died 28 June, 1782, in his 59th year, in Worcester.

A grandson of his wrote: "I have heard my father say that my grandfather, Gardiner Chandler, held a military command in the old French war, as it was called; which is all I can say about that matter, except that in addition to whatever glory he may have acquired in his campaign, he acquired the asthma which lasted him for twenty years, during which time he was not able to lie in his bed."

There had lived in this family a slave who attained great age. The "Spy" of May, 1805, says: "Died in this place, Sylvia, a female African, supposed to be at least 105 years old." But Mrs. John Davis said she well remembered old Sylvia, who made it her pleasure to attend young children of widows who came to the Probate Court. She would sit swaying to and fro with them in her arms, and sing, "Pretty baby, pretty baby! Looks jist like its farder, dear! Who is his farder, dear?" Her master, John Chandler, was the Judge of Probate and kept open house for the widows who came to court. And she remembers what was said of her age, for she made, at the age of fourteen, a shroud for the old woman when she was just one hundred years older than herself, as was then supposed.

He was born in Bristol, R. I., 30 July, 1730; d. 17 July, 1793.

Nathaniel Paine m. 25 June, 1713, Sarah, dau. of Timothy Clark, of Boston. They were parents of Timothy Paine, b. in Bristol, 30 July, 1730. [See 306.]

Timothy Paine removed to Worcester when eight years old. His name stands fifth in the class of 1748, of Harvard College. Soon after leaving college he was engaged in the public service.

"Timothy Paine and Sarah Chandler his wife not only feared God but honored the King. They belonged to families, often associated together in the remembrance of the past generation as having adhered, through the wavering fortunes and final success of the Revolution, devotedly and consistently, to the British Crown. The Chandlers were, in every respect, the most eminent family in Worcester County, and furnished many men of distinction in its ante-revolutionary history. They were closely allied by blood, marriage or friendship with the aristocracy of the county and province, in which they had extensive and unbounded sway, ab primo origine. They had large possessions, and shared with the Paine family the entire local influence at Worcester, but did not, like that family, survive the shock of the Revolution, and retain a local habitation and a name.'—'Carl's Tour' through Worcester has it: 'Higher up Lincoln St., and north of the Lincoln Mansion, where P. L. Moen, Esq., resided in 1882, is The Oaks, the fine old seat of the Paine family. My father told me it had never changed within his knowledge. It was Timothy Paine, if I rightly remember, who first located himself there. He held various public offices, and before the Revolution was appointed Councillor to the Royal Governor. The people took a more patriotic view of the matter than he did, gathered around his house in great numbers, and thus induced him to relinquish the appointment. My father said he never knew Mr. Paine, but he knew his son, Dr. William Paine; that he was in England when the war broke out, and for some reason, which I do not remember, did not return home, and joined the British Army in the capacity of Surgeon. After the war was over, however, he returned home, and, in some way, regained possession of his confiscated estate, which has been in the Paine family ever since, a part of which is the splendid hill now covered with wood, which lies east of the house known as The Hermitage, and which will, one day, be a fortune of itself.' But of the Chandlers. 'Their property was confiscated and they were declared traitors. The family was broken up. Some members of it went abroad and died there. Others were scattered in this country. Yet not a few of their descendants, eminent in the most honorable pursuits, and in the highest positions in life, under different names, and in various localities, still represent that ancient, honorable and once numerous race.'"

When the appeal to arms approached, between this country and Great Britain, many of the inhabitants of Worcester, most distinguished for talents, influence and honors, adhered with constancy to the King. Timothy Paine, Esq., had received a commission as one of the Mandamus Councillors. High as was the personal regard and respect for the purity of private character of this gentleman, it was controlled by the political feeling of a period of excitement, and measures were taken to compel his resignation of a post, which was unwelcome to himself, but which he dared not refuse, when declining would have been construed as contempt for the authority of the king by whom it was conferred. The journals of the day best describe his treatment by the indignant whigs. "The spirit of the people was never known to be so great since the first settlement of the colonies as it is at this time. People in the country for hundreds of miles are prepared and determined to Die or be Free." August 23d, 1774.

"Yesterday, Mr. Paine, of Worcester, was visited by nearly 3000 people; notice was given of the intended visit the day before, from one town to another, and, though the warning was so short, the above number collected, and most of them entered the town before 7 o'clock in the morning. They all marched into town in order, and drew up on the common, and behaved admirably well; they chose a committee of two or three men from each company, to wait upon Mr. Paine, and demand a resignation of his office as Councillor; that committee being large, they chose, from among themselves, a sub-committee, who went to his house, where he agreed to resign that office, and drew up an acknowledgment, mentioning his obligation to the county for favors done him, his sorrow for taking the oath and a promise that he never would act in that office contrary to the charter, and after which he came with the committee to the common, where the people were drawn up in two bodies, making a lane between them, through which the committee and he passed, and read divers times as they passed along, the said acknowledgment. They then returned in a peaceful manner to their homes, except about 500 who repaired to Rutland, to demand the like promise from Col. Murray." Col. John Murray was nearly related to the Murrays, Dukes of Athol, in Scotland, a principal man in his section of the country and one of the country gentlemen, or colonial noblemen, who lived upon their estates in a manner which has passed away. He m. Lucretia, fifth dau. of Hon. John Chandler, of Worcester, and sister of Mrs. Timothy Paine. There were seven of these sisters, and, from their distinguished attributes, were called in their day and generation "The Seven Stars."

"At first Mr. Dennie, one of the committee, read the resignation of Mr. Paine in his behalf. It was then insisted that he should read it himself, and with his hat off. He hesitated, and demanded protection of the committee. Finally he complied; and was allowed to retire to his dwelling." "Tradition declares that in the excitement attendant upon this scene Mr. Paine's wig was either knocked or fell off. Be it as it may—from that day he abjured wigs. He never wore one again. The now dishonored wig, in question, he gave to one of his negro slaves, named Worcester." "In the earlier days of the Revolution, some American soldiers quartered at his house, repaid his, perhaps too unwilling hospitality, and signified the intensity of their very unequivocal feelings towards him, by cutting the throat of his full-length portrait."

"The number and variety of offices which Timothy Paine held, exhibit the estimation in which he stood. He was clerk of the courts from 1750 to 1774: register of deeds, 1761 to 1778; register of Probate, 1756 to 1767; member of the executive council of the Province, from 1766 to 1773; in 1774 he was appointed one of His Majesty's Mandamus Councillors, which he was compelled to decline on the 22d Aug. 1774; selectman, from 1753 to 1763, and from 1765 to 1774; town clerk, from 1753 to 1763, and representative for many years to the General Court. Solid talents, practical sense, candor, sincerity, ability and mildness were the characteristics of his life, which closed July 17th, 1793, in the 63d year of his age." [Lincoln's Hist. of Worcester.]

"The three leading Loyalist families of Worcester, the Chandlers, Putnams and Paines, were all joined by a common link, and the same link united Col. Murray, of Rutland, to the first of the three." [Christian Examiner, July, 1847, vol. 43.]

"Mrs. Timothy Paine, or Madame Paine, as she was styled from respect to her dignity and position, was a woman of uncommon energy and acuteness. She was noted in her day for her zeal in aiding, as far as was in her power, the followers of the Crown, and in defeating the plans of the rebellious colonists. In her the king possessed a faithful ally. In her hands his dignity was safe, and no insult offered to it, in her presence, could go unavenged. Her wit and loyalty never shone more conspicuously, than on the following occasion: When President John Adams was a young man, he was invited to dine with the Court and Bar, at the house of Judge Paine, an eminent loyalist of Worcester. When the wine was circulating around the table, Judge Paine gave as a toast, 'The King.' Some of the whigs were about to refuse to drink it, but Mr. Adams whispered to them to comply, saying, 'we shall have an opportunity to return the compliment.' At length, when he was desired to give a toast, he gave, 'The Devil.' As the host was about to resent the indignity, his wife calmed him and turned the laugh upon Mr. Adams, by immediately exclaiming, 'My dear! As the gentleman has been so kind as to drink to our King, let us by no means refuse, in our turn, to drink to his.' Madam Paine, in passing the guard-house, which stood nearly where the Nashua Hotel stood in 1866, heard the soldiers say, 'Let us Shoot the Old Tory.' She turned round facing them and said, 'Shoot if you dare!' and then she reported to Gen. H. Knox the insult, which was not repeated. She then lived nearly opposite on Lincoln Street, just north, where two large elms stand before what seemed then a large two-story house, fifty paces south of the red 'mile stone.' It was in the door of this house, tradition says, she placed herself, when the whig soldiers came to carry off her loyal husband, and told them they should not enter the house except over her prostrate body. The soldiers retired, and her husband retained his loyalty for a little time longer."

She d. 1811, in Worcester, in her 85th year. In person she was very short and fleshy. She was very blonde and had a pretty face. She used to boast of her horsemanship while residing on Long Island, her mother's home.

The children of SARAH CHANDLER and HON. TIMOTHY PAINE were :

- i. WILLIAM PAINE, b. 5 June, 1750 ; d. 19 April, 1833, in Worcester ; m. at Salem, Mass., 23 Sept. 1773,—Lincoln's Papers say, m. at Hampton Falls, 23 Sept. 1773,—by license from His Excellency J. Wentworth, Miss Lois<sup>5</sup> Orne, dau. of Timothy<sup>4</sup> Orne, of Salem, by his wife Rebecca Taylor, of Lynn. Timothy<sup>4</sup> Orne was son of Timothy<sup>3</sup> Orne who married Lois Pickering, dau. of John<sup>3</sup> and Sarah (Burrill) Pickering, and he was son of John<sup>2</sup> and Alice (Flint) Pickering, and he was son of John<sup>1</sup> and Elizabeth Pickering, he Timothy<sup>3</sup> was son of Joseph<sup>2</sup> Orne who m. Anne Thompson and he was son of John<sup>1</sup> and Ann Horn.

“ She was a young lady with a fortune of £3,000. The services of plate, magnificent for our own as well as ancient days, which Miss Orne brought into the Paine family, attest alike to the solidity of her fortune and the lustre of her descent, bearing upon it the oft-repeated broad shield and ducal coronet of the princely house of Horn. Her miniature was at the house of Joseph S. Cabot, Esq., Salem, Mass. She d. 27 Feb. 1822, at Worcester, a. 66.”

One of the early instructors of Dr. William Paine was John Adams, afterwards President of the United States, who was then reading law in the office of Hon. James Putnam, at Worcester. He was graduated at Harvard University, with the rank of second in a class of 42 in 1768, when rank in College classes was according to “dignity of family.” He commenced the practice of medicine in Worcester, 1771. In that year Mr. Adams revisited Worcester, and notes his impressions of his former pupils as follows: “June 2. Sunday I heard Mr. Wheeler, late minister of Harvard, at Worcester, all day. Here I saw many faces much altered since I first knew this place which is now sixteen years. Here I saw many young gentlemen who were my scholars and pupils when I kept school here. John Chandler, Esq., of Petersham ; Rufus Chandler, the lawyer ; Dr. William Paine, who now studies physic with Dr. Holyoke, of Salem ; Nathaniel Chandler, who studies law with Mr. Putnam ; and Dr. Thad. Macarty who is now in the practice of physic at Dudley ; most of these began to learn Latin with me. Drank tea at Mr. Putnam's with Mr. Paine, Mrs. Paine, Dr. Holyoke's lady and Dr. Billy Paine. The Doctor is a very civil, agreeable, and sensible young gentleman.” Dr. Paine inherited the loyal feelings of his family, and early identified himself with the royal cause in the advance of the colonies towards rebellion. On the 20th of June, 1774, “one of the boldest and most indignant remonstrances of the friends of Royal Government, among the productions of the time,” was made by 52 loyalists out of the 250 legal voters of Worcester, against the treasonable doings of the whigs of that town and elsewhere. It was the joint production of Dr. Paine and his uncle—the Hon. James Putnam [See 311], the distinguished Councillor—who had already exerted the whole force of his eloquence to prevent the co-operation of the town in acts of rebellion, but without success. This protest, after enumerating many things, such as the "teas of immense value—lately destroyed—belonging to the East India Company, in Boston Harbor," ends thus: "These and all such enormities we detest and abhor; and the authors of them we esteem enemies of our King and country, violators of all law and civil liberty, the malevolent disturbers of the peace of society, subverters of the established constitution, and enemies of mankind." [Mass. Gazette of 30 June, 1774.] The sentiments of this protest formed the summary of the political creed of the Paines of that day as well as of the other tories of the Revolution. A copy of this protest was entered on the records of the town by the loyal town clerk, Mr. Clark Chandler, who was, in so doing, influenced more by his feelings than by prudence, as he was son of Hon. John Chandler and Dorothy Paine—double first cousin to Dr. Wm. Paine. For some account of the manner that the whigs reprimanded their loyal town clerk, the reader is referred to him. [See 712.] "The indignation of the whigs at the stand taken by Dr. Paine, rendered it necessary for him to absent himself from the country, and he went to Europe, and while in England was presented to King George the Third. He returned with his cousin, William Chandler [See 717] the first of May, 1775, but his arrival was immediately announced by the observant 'Spy,' and he re-embarked for Europe without visiting his family." His property was confiscated, and his name was inserted in the list of those designated as enemies of their country. "He then desigued to avail himself of the advantages of the institutions of Europe for perfecting himself in his profession, until the conflict should terminate, as he supposed it would in the entire subjugation of the rebels. But on the first of Nov. 1775, when the contest between Great Britain and the colonies began to assume a more dignified and equal aspect, he at once accepted the commission of surgeon in the army, joined the Royal Forces in America, and served in New York and Rhode Island." In Jan. 1781, he again sailed for Europe, in company with Lord Winchelsea, and visited the continent. In Oct. of that year he was admitted Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians, and his name was enrolled among the practitioners of London. On his return to New York the next year, he attained the summit of his military profession, being appointed by the English Commander-in-Chief—Sir Guy Carlton—on the 5th Oct. 1782, Surgeon-General to the Army.* He was stationed at Halifax, N. S., until the troops were reduced at the close of the war, when he retired on half-pay. Dr. Paine finding himself on the losing side, and being debarred by proclamations and laws, from returning at this time to the States, gathered his family, and in June, 1784, took possession of the Island of La Tete, in the Bay of Passamaquoddy—granted him by the British Government for his services—and erected a mansion thereon with a view to permanent residence. But the solitude of this situation not proving agreeable to his family, he removed and entered into the practice of his profession in the city of St. John, N. B. In 1785 he was a member of the House of Assembly of N. B.; and was chief clerk of that body. The office of deputy surveyor general of the King's Forests in America was also conferred upon him by his friend Sir John Wentworth, Bart., Governor of Nova Scotia, formerly Governor of New Hampshire.

The act of banishment having been rescinded, he removed, 1787, by permission of the English war department, to Salem, Mass. He remained there, in the enjoyment of a lucrative practice of his profession until the death of his father in 1793, when he removed to Worcester, and took possession of the family estate. He remained on half-pay — 900 dollars — until the war of 1812, when he resigned his office in the British Army.

On the formation of the American Antiquarian Society in Worcester, in 1812, he was elected its first Vice-President, and he pronounced in the King's Chapel, Boston, on their third anniversary, Oct. 23, 1815, an address before that Society, which was published by request. In 1825, he ceased to be a British subject by a special act passed that year, by the Legislature of Massachusetts. Of this privilege he never availed himself, except to hold property in his own name — hitherto retained in the nominal possession of his brother Hon. Nathaniel Paine. He died 19 April, 1833, aged 83, an inflexible loyalist in feeling to the last. He possessed extensive professional learning, and was equally respected as a physician and a citizen. His portrait by Harding, and a miniature, are in the possession of his family. Six children.

The third child of Dr. William Paine was Harriet Paine, born at Newport, R. I., 21 Nov. 1779; died 29 June, 1860, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. John Clark Lee, in Salem, Mass., aged 80 years. A woman of great personal beauty in her youth and of many virtues in age; m. in Worcester, 17 March, 1802, Joseph<sup>3</sup> Warner Rose, who was b. in Antigua, W. I., 5 May, 1773, son of John<sup>2</sup> Rose, who was b. in the Parish of St. Bride, London, Eng., 25 Dec. 1738, by his wife Alice, dau. of Samuel and Rebecca Bacon; and grandson of Thomas<sup>1</sup> and Ann Rose, of London. Alice Bacon was born in Antigua, 23 July, 1735, and died 14 Feb. 1786, according to a mourning finger ring in the keeping of her granddaughter, Mrs. John C. Lee, of Salem, Mass.

Joseph<sup>3</sup> Warner Rose was general commercial agent for the United States at Antigua, and the adjacent islands. See "Worcester Spy" of Jan. 8, 1806. He had a plantation at "The Valley," six miles from St. John, Antigua. He was a fleshy man of blonde complexion; he had musical talents which he indulged socially. After losing seven children he brought his wife and two remaining children to the United States. He resided in Worcester and Boston, Mass. In 1824 he went to London for surgical aid for his eyes; returned to Antigua to settle up his pecuniary affairs, where he died in 1826, aged 56 years. His youngest child Josephine Rose, married May 4, 1842, Dr. George Chandler. [See 919.]

- ii. TIMOTHY<sup>6</sup> PAINE, b. at Worcester, 5 Jan. 1752; d. 29 Dec. 1775, at Mendon, Mass.; unm.
- iii. SAMUEL<sup>6</sup> PAINE, b. 23 Aug. 1753; d. 21 June, 1807, at Worcester; unm. His name stands fourth in the class of 1771, of Harvard College, when its members were arranged according to "dignity of family."

Before the revolutionary war broke out he was associated with his father as Clerk of the Courts and Register of Probate. He soon incurred the displeasure of the patriot whigs, by sending out venires in compliance with an act of Parliament; and on the 8th of May, 1775, Mr. Samuel Paine, accused of circulating reports injurious to the honor of the provincial army, was arrested and sent under guard to Cambridge, at Watertown, by order of the town, "to be dealt with as the honorable congress or commander-in-chief shall, upon examination, think proper." His direct offence consisted apparently in saying, "that the Hampshire troops had robbed the house of Mr. Bradish [his brother-in-law]; that he had heard the whig soldiers were deserting in great numbers; that he was told the men were so close stowed in the colleges that they were lousy." This is the substance of the testimony of one and the only witness. In 1776, Mr. Paine accompanied the British Army from Boston to Halifax, and thence to England. He lived several years in London. The enjoyment of an annual pension of £84 from the English Government, combined with a patrimony not inconsiderable for those days, precluded the necessity of his sharing those sufferings and privations encountered by too many devoted loyalists in their adopted country, after they had escaped contumely and persecution in their own. He returned to this country in 1805. He was a man of elegance and fashion in his day, and is said to have resembled closely in person and manners the Prince of Wales, afterwards George IV. His portrait by Earl, of London, is in possession of his nephew George A. Trumbull, Esq., of Worcester.

- iv. HANNAH<sup>6</sup> PAINE, b. at Worcester, 22 July, 1755; d. 2 April, 1841, a. 86, at Worcester. The "Worcester Spy" of Oct. 21, 1772, contains the following: "This day Ebenezer<sup>1</sup> Bradish, Esq., b. 8 Sep. 1773, at Cambridge, was united in the most agreeable state of human life, to Miss Hannah<sup>6</sup> Paine, daughter of the Honorable Timothy<sup>5</sup> Paine, Esq., of this place — of whom it may not be told her acquaintance, but she is one of the most deserving of her sex:

"So shall each fair and fond companion bless,
When sense and virtue dwell in beauty's dress."

They resided at Cambridge, Mass., in the Old Bradish house, afterwards "Poter's" Hotel, on the Brighton road, and then at Natchez, Miss., and Worcester, Mass. He was of H. U. 1769, Clerk of the Courts of Middlesex Co., and in "1774 was one of the addressers of Hutchinson." He was a loyalist. He died, 1818, of felo-de-se, 29 or 30 of April, in Lancaster, Mass. Four children.

Her granddaughter Frances Sophia Burling, died 8 Aug. 1864; m. first, 4 Sept. 1825, Edward Joseph Vose, b. in Augusta, 18 July, 1806; d. June, 1831, at Worcester, son of Solomon Vose, by his wife Elizabeth P. Chandler. [See 1615] Mr. E. J. Vose was a graduate of Brown University in 1825; lawyer at Worcester. She m. second, 9 June, 1836, Rt. Rev. Thomas H. Vail, who was b. at Richmond, Va.; bishop of Kansas.

Her son Timothy Paine Bradish, b. at Cambridge, 4 Sept. 1781; m. 23 Sept. 1818, Charlotte<sup>7</sup> Paine, b. 9 Aug. 1788, d. 3 Dec. 1866, a. 78, at Worcester, dau. of Judge Nathaniel<sup>6</sup> Paine, of Worcester, by his wife Elizabeth<sup>6</sup> Chandler. [See 730.] One child.

- v. NATHANIEL<sup>6</sup> PAINE, b. at Worcester, 11 April, 1757; d. 25 Dec. 1757.
- vi. NATHANIEL<sup>6</sup> PAINE, 2d, b. 5 Jan. 1759; d. 7 Oct. 1840, at Worcester. The Mass. Spy of Dec. 22, 1785, says: "On the Eighteenth inst., Mr. Nathaniel Paine, Attorney-at-Law, was married to the Amiable Miss Elizabeth Chandler, second daughter of the late Gardiner Chandler, deceased," his cousin. [See 730.]
- vii. ANTHONY<sup>6</sup> PAINE, b. 13 Nov. 1760; d. 8 July, 1788; unm. Apothecary.
- viii. JOHN<sup>6</sup> PAINE, b. 26 July, 1762; d. 23 Dec. 1832; unm.

Of this marriage Mrs. Mary Perkins Abbot, of Exeter, N. H., wrote: "In case of my brother's marriage, nearly eighty-nine sons have not entirely obliterated the incidents, although they have the dates; and you have revived the memory of my journey from Boston to Worcester, with my brother, on the great occasion of his marriage. It was in the winter season, and in a small open sleigh. We happened to upset in a snow bank! This, too, with the remembrance of a sleighing party and a dance at Leicester, with its accompanying jollification, are all the lingering memories of that by-gone time." They resided in Boston, and at Pine Bank, Jamaica Plain, Roxbury, Mass. The character of James Perkins, like that of the commercial house of which he was the eldest partner, was formed on the purest and noblest model of professional uprightness, without guile and without reproach. By a series of munificent endowments, this Perkins family founded the Perkins Institution for the Blind, the Boston Athenæum and the Perkins Professorship of Astronomy and Mathematics at Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass.

A portrait of Mrs. Sarah Perkins, by Gambardella, is in possession of her grandson, Edward N. Perkins, of Pine Bank, Roxbury; and one by Stewart Newton, R. A., is in possession of George A. Trumbull, Esq., Worcester. Three children.

Her son James Perkins, Jr., H. U. 1809; m. Nov. 1812, Eliza Callahan, dau. of Capt. John Callahan, by his wife Lucretia Greene, dau. of Benjamin Greene, by his wife Mary Chandler. [See 304.] After the death of Mr. James Perkins, she m. second, Right Rev. George W. Doane, Bishop of New Jersey. "Mrs. Doane, wife of the late Bishop Doane, of N. J., died in Florence, Nov. 10, 1860, at the residence of her son, Mr. Edward N. Perkins, aged upwards of 70 years. It appears her mind never recovered from the shock it received during the memorable sack at Perugia, Italy, in which she and her party escaped a cruel death."

- x. ELIZABETH<sup>6</sup> PAINE, b. at Worcester, 12 Jan. 1766; d. 12 July, 1832, at Worcester. "Dr. Joseph<sup>2</sup> Trumbull, of Petersham, was married to the very amiable Miss Elizabeth Paine, youngest daughter of the Hon. Timothy<sup>4</sup> Paine, Esq., of this Town." [Mass. Spy, Worcester, Feb. 16, 1786.] He was

b. at Suffield, Conn., 12 Oct. 1756; d. 2 March, 1824, a. 67, of gout and its complicated diseases, of which he was a martyr. He was son of John<sup>1</sup> Trumbull; practised his profession at Petersham; removed to Worcester, Mass. A portrait of him is at the residence of his only son, George<sup>3</sup> A. Trumbull, Esq., Worcester. One child.

1. George<sup>2</sup> Augustus Trumbull, b. at Petersham, 17 Jan. 1793; d. 17 Aug. 1868. He was a bookseller, and afterwards cashier of the Central Bank, from 1829 to 1836; and of the Citizens Bank from 1836 to 1858, at Worcester. He m. 20 Sept. 1815, Louisa Clap. She was b. 24 Sept. 1798, dau. of Capt. Caleb Clap, of Greenfield, Mass. (who served his country eight years in the war of the Revolution), by his wife Miss Stone. Their silver wedding took place at their residence, in the first court-house building on Green Street, in presence of their twelve children and grandchildren. Twelve children.

His dau. Caroline Burling Trumbull, b. 24 June, 1820; m. 14 June, 1842, Francis Blake. [See 1617.] She died 28 March, 1880, in Boston.

He was b. 24 Aug. 1725; was son of Eleazer<sup>4</sup> Williams, b. 20 Feb. 1694, d. Nov. 1768, by his wife Sarah; grandson of Samuel<sup>3</sup> Williams by his wife Deborah Scarborough, and gr. grandson of Dea. Samuel<sup>2</sup> Williams, of Roxbury, by his wife Theoda Park, the eldest son of Robert<sup>1</sup> Williams, of Norwich, Eng., and afterwards of Roxbury, Mass.

Mr. Samuel<sup>5</sup> Williams and wife resided at one time in Worcester, where the Lincoln Square Hotel stood in 1882. She d. 23 May, 1804, aged 76, in Roxbury.

The children of HANNAH and SAMUEL WILLIAMS were:

- i. SAMUEL<sup>6</sup> WILLIAMS, b. 29 April, 1751; d. 13 Aug. 1751.
- ii. ELEAZER<sup>6</sup> WILLIAMS, b. 28 May, 1753.
- iii. JOHN<sup>6</sup> CHANDLER WILLIAMS, b. 16 Aug. 1755; d. 31 Jan. 1831, at Pittsfield, Mass.

“He went to Berkshire County as early as 1769, with the view of engaging in some active occupation, but he rose superior to his humble fortune. He determined to gratify his love of letters and obtain an education. His father becoming poor and incompetent through failure of his mental faculties to afford him the means of support, he was, with an only sister, dependent on his own exertions and the charity of others. ‘He was educated,’ said his son-in-law, Hon. E. A. Newton, ‘and maintained entirely by his mother’s relatives—the excellent Chandlers, of Worcester—by whom he was assisted in part through his college course.’ While in college he rang the college bell for the petty sum which was to assist in his bills. At his graduation, 1777, he was honored for his proficiency as a scholar with the Latin oration.

“ At the breaking out of the revolutionary war, he with several of his classmates, though yet but a boy, joined the American forces then assembled to defend his country against the British, and was at the fight at Lexington, 19 April, 1775.

“ He was employed by the Committee of Safety, ‘ in some secret service, for which he received £4 : 4 : 6 for his reward.’ This service was the searching for and discovering of the letter-book of Gov. Hutchinson, and other of his public records, which he and another had found secreted in his house on Milton Hill.

“ He read law in the office of Hon. John Worthington, of Springfield, and settled, 1782, as a lawyer, at Pittsfield, Mass. At that time a handkerchief literally held all his worldly treasure. But he lived to acquire a large estate, and held many public offices of honor, and was noted for his bountiful liberality.

“ He had a high regard for his parents, and he tenderly cherished the memory of their virtues. He often in his last days spoke of the assiduity with which they implanted in his youthful mind the seeds of piety and religion, which were at length destined to germinate and bring forth in him the peaceful fruits of righteousness. And this was the only legacy they left him.”

He lived on the south side of the Park, in Pittsfield; m. Lucretia Williams, dau. of Hon. Israel Williams, of Hatfield, a descendant of Robert<sup>1</sup> Williams, of Roxbury, through his son Isaac.<sup>2</sup> Likenesses of Mr. and Mrs. Chandler Williams adorn the pages of “ The Williams Family,” by Dr. S. W. Williams.

“ Died in Pittsfield, Francis Hamilton (colored), aged 90 years, who had been a long time a servant of Hon. Chandler Williams, and of his son-in-law, Hon. E. A. Newton. By direction of the latter gentleman he was buried in the family lot, by the side of Mr. Williams.”

Three children :

1. Elizabeth<sup>7</sup> Williams; m. at N. Lebanon, Aug. 1809, Moses Hayden, Esq., member of N. Y. Senate in 1829 and '30, and representative in Congress from 1823 to '27.
2. Lucretia<sup>7</sup> Williams; m. Harris Seymour, of Canandaigua, N. Y.
3. Sarah<sup>7</sup> Tileston Williams, died 24 Oct. 1835, at Rouen, France, and was buried 9 Aug. 1836, aged 44 years, at Pittsfield, Mass.; m. Hon. Edward A. Newton, who was b. 1 May, 1785, d. 18 Aug. 1862; a descendant of Thomas Newton, “ The Sworn Attorney,” as Judge Sewall said in his journal. Mr. and Mrs. Newton resided just east of the “ Big Elm” on the Common, in Pittsfield, the homestead of the Hon. J. Chandler Williams.

iv. THOMAS<sup>6</sup> WILLIAMS, b. 25 April, 1757.

vi. GARDNER<sup>6</sup> WILLIAMS, b. 2 March, 1759; unm.

vii. HANNAH<sup>6</sup> WILLIAMS, b. 3 March, 1761; d. 23 April, 1841, aged 80 years, in Pittsfield, Mass.; unm. “ Entirely beloved through life, and lamented in death. Her memory is fondly cherished by all who knew her.” Her remains repose by those of her brother, in the new cemetery in Pittsfield.

and Col. John Murray, Rutland, Mass.

He came from Ireland, and it has been supposed, with some good reason, that he was the youngest and wayward son of the Duke of Athol, Scotland. He had plate with the Duke's family arms on it, and the surname of the Duke's family was Murray.

In the grant of the town of Athol by the General Court, the first name was that of John Murray, who probably gave the name of his ancestral honors to the new town. But the history of Rutland says he was too poor, when he came over, to pay his passage. He lost his wife on the voyage. At first he peddled about the country, and then settled at Rutland as a merchant. Some of the doors of the house of Col. John Murray were used in building the State House of Ohio by mistake for those of Gen. Rufus Putnam's former residence in Rutland, whose memory (Putnam's) the people wanted to honor.

He m. second, Elizabeth McClanathan, one of his fellow-passengers; m. third, Miss Lucretia Chandler; and m. fourth, 31 Dec. 1769, Deborah Bronty, of Boston.

By his second wife, Elizabeth McClanathan, he had:

A dau. Elizabeth Murray, m. Col. Joshua Upham, of Brookfield, Mass., and of St. John, N. B., for his first wife. [See 741.]

Col. John Murray was a man of great influence in his vicinity and the town of Rutland, which he represented many years in the General Court of Massachusetts. On election days his house was open to his friends; and the good cheer dispensed free to all from his store told in his favor at the ballot box. His wealth, social position, and political influence, made him one of the colonial noblemen who lived in a style that has passed away in New England. He was in 1774 appointed by King George III. and Lord Dartmouth, "Mandamus" Councillor; but he was not sworn into that office, because a party of about five hundred staunch whigs, with the Committee of Correspondence, repaired to his house in Rutland and requested him to resign his seat in the Council. He left his house on the 25th of August, 1774, and fled to Boston, as he stated in his memorial.

In 1745 he had commanded the provincial troops, in conjunction with the British, against the French. Like most who held at that day office and station from the royal hand, he gave his influence and support to the cause of the government and his king, which brought down upon him the displeasure of the whigs. Frank Moore, in his Diary of the American Revolution, page 40, Vol. I., says: "Col. Murray, of Rutland, one of His Majesty's Council, has been obliged to leave a large estate in the country and repair to Boston, to save himself from being handled by the mob and compelled to resign his seat in the Council."

In reference to him and Israel Williams (who was put into a room with a fire, and the chimney top covered and the doors closed by the whigs, and kept there several hours in the smoke) Trumbull, in his McFingal, asks the whig mob—

"Have you made Murray look less big,
Or smoked old Williams to a whig?"

In 1776, with his family of six persons, he accompanied the royal army to Halifax. In 1778 he was proscribed and banished; and, in 1779, lost his extensive estates, under the Conspiracy Act, except one farm for his son Alexander.

He built a house in Prince William Street, St. John, where he resided. A part of his grounds on that street were, in 1846, rented to a horticulturist, who raised flowers for sale. Many curious relicts of the family are among the descendants. His account books and roster of his regiment that he commanded in the old French war, show that he was a careful, calculating and exact man in business.

In person he was about six feet three inches high, and well proportioned. The Hon. Robert L. Hazen, member of the Executive Council of New Brunswick, and a grandson of Col. Murray, has his portrait by Copley. He is represented as sitting, and in the full dress of a gentleman of the day, and his person is shown to the knees. There is a hole in the wig; and the tradition in the family is, that a party who sought the colonel at his house after his flight, vexed because he eluded them, vowed they would leave their mark behind them, and accordingly pierced the canvas with a bayonet.

On a mausoleum in the rural cemetery at St. John, N. B., removed from the old ground, is inscribed:

The Dead, how sacred! Sacred is the dust,
And sacred may this marble long remain.

To the Memory of
JOHN MURRAY, Esquire,
Who was born in Ireland
The 22nd Day of November, 1720.
And died in this city August 30th 1794.

Heaven gives us friends to bless the present scenes;
Resumes them to prepare us for the next
All Evils natural are moral goods;
All Discipline, Indulgence on the Whole.
Believe and Look! with Triumph on the Tomb.

The third wife of Col. John Murray, whom he married Sept. 1, 1761, was Lucretia Chandler—she sat three times to Copley for her portrait—whose likeness by John Singleton Copley was in the keeping of Mrs. Dolly Chandler, of Lancaster, Mass. The portrait is three quarters length, in full dress of brocade silk, full flowing sleeves, showing the forearm, dress low and cut square in the bust. In person she is represented as rather small, slender, and of delicate figure, erect; the forehead very high; large, lustrous dark blue eyes; long Grecian nose; dark chestnut hair. A most excellent portrait of a very handsome subject. Mrs. Lucretia Murray left only one child:

They were married by Chief Justice Jonathan Sewall. He was born in Danvers, 1725, and was graduated at H. U. 1746; studied law with Judge Frowbridge, and commenced its practice in Worcester in 1749. "His ability and learning soon gave him a flood of clients." An associate who knew him well, said of him: "Judge Putnam was an unerring lawyer; he was never astray in his law. He was, I am inclined to think, the best lawyer of North America." At a time when military rank was given as a real distinction of merit, and had not become worse than an empty title, he was colonel of a regiment. In 1757, bearing the military rank of major, he led the military companies of Worcester, under orders of Col. Chandler, to reinforce the army of the Earl of Loudon in expectation of an attack of the enemy. But after reaching Westfield, finding the necessity of their services had passed, the expedition was given up. He was a zealous loyalist, and on the eve of the Revolution, when the government party found itself voted down four to one in Worcester, he drew up, with the assistance of his wife's nephew, Dr. William Paine, the Protest against the strong patriotic whig votes and proceedings of a previous town meeting, which protest stands "illegibly" expunged on the book of the town records.

One who had taken sides so strongly for his king could hardly fail to receive from the excited whigs injuries and indignities in various ways. Frank Moore, in his Diary of the American Revolution, says: "In 1775 Col. Putnam, of Worcester, a firm friend to government, had two fat cows stolen and a very valuable grist-mill burned, and was obliged to leave a fair estate in Worcester and return to Boston, where he has been ever since." He accompanied the British army to New York, thence he went to Halifax and embarked for England in 1776, where he remained until the peace of 1783. In 1784 he was appointed a member of the Council of New Brunswick, and Judge of the Supreme Court of that province. He resided in the city of St. John, and retained the office of judge until his death, Oct. 23, 1789, aged 64 years; and the tablet erected over his remains records that his widow Elizabeth died 2 May, 1798, aged 66; his daughter Elizabeth Knox in 1788, aged 18; his granddaughter Elizabeth Knox in 1788, aged 5 mos.; his son Ebenezer in 1789, aged 36; and his great-grandson James in 1825, aged 11 mos. The motto at the close of the inscription is:

"Vivit post funera Virtus."

While in Worcester he lived on Main Street, at the corner of Park, where Allen's Block stands. The house he lived in was burnt in 1786. He had his office opposite, in front of where Jonas G. Clark's block stands. In this office, John Adams, second president of the United States, studied law, and boarded in the family of James Putnam while he was keeping the district school of the village. Mr. Adams says in his Diary: "When asked, in 1758, by [those staunch whigs] Doolittle and Baldwin, to settle in Worcester as an opponent to" the loyalists and office-holders, "the Chandlers, I declined, with this among other reasons—That as the Chandlers were worthy people, and discharged the duties of their offices well, I envied not their felicity, and had no desire to set myself in opposition to them especially to Mr. Putnam, who had married a beautiful daughter of that family, and had treated me with civility and kindness."

Mrs. Putnam was rather short in stature, was of dark complexion, and had dark hair and eyes.

The children of ELIZABETH and HON. JAMES PUTNAM were:

- i. JAMES PUTNAM, b. 15 Nov. 1756; d. March, 1838, in England. He was of H. C. 1774; refugee in 1775; "one of the 18 County Gentlemen" who were driven to Boston, and who addressed Gov. Gage on his departure. He became intimate at one time with the Duke of Kent. He was barrack master, member of his household, and obtained by his influence the collectorship of the port of —, and was one of the executors of his will. He had no issue.
- ii. JOHN PUTNAM, b. 27 Sept. 1758; d. young.

- iii. EBENEZER PUTNAM, b. 26 Jan. 1763; d. 3 April, 1798; m. 2 Dec. 1786, Elizabeth<sup>6</sup> Chandler, of Worcester. [See 726.] She "died 18 Jan. 1820," relict of Ebenezer Putnam, of St. John, N. B., aged 50. Buried in the Mechanic-Street cemetery, Worcester.
- iv. ELIZABETH PUTNAM, b. 7 May, 1769; d. 1787; m. — Knox. One child.

He was b. 19 April, 1727; d. 11 July, 1775, of chronic disease. He was son of Samuel Willard, by his wife Elizabeth Phelps.

He was a merchant at Lancaster, under the firm of Willard & Ward (Samuel). The junior partner married Dorothy<sup>6</sup> Chandler, a niece of his wife Mrs. Katherine Willard. [See 713.] Their trading house was the largest in the County of Worcester, in their day, standing nearly in front of his house, among the big elms in South Lancaster, where Mr. Fay lived in 1866. Their store was also nearly opposite, a little south, of the house of his partner in business, Mr. Samuel Ward. Mrs. Nathaniel Chandler occupied the Samuel Ward house in 1866. His real estate was inventoried, after his departure for England as a refugee, in the Ship "Thomas," Capt. Callahan, Sept. 1776, at £6,538, and was confiscated. He returned in 1785. He was collector of excise for Worcester County 1760; Lieut. Col. under Col. Caleb Wilder; Justice of the Peace.

She left the church at Worcester, and joined that at Lancaster, under the care of Rev. Timothy Harrington, April, 1756. In her advanced years she was timid and singular about some things. One was, she was so fearful in riding, that she would get into her chaise before the horse was harnessed in. She and her husband were buried in the old part of the graveyard, east of the railroad at Lancaster.

The children of KATHERINE and Col. LEVI WILLARD were:

- i. LEVI WILLARD, b. Aug. 1756; d. 1790; U. U. 1775; loyalist; went to England; returned 1785.
- ii. JOHN WILLARD; d. young.
- iii. KATHERINE WILLARD, b. 15 Jan. 1759; d. 3 Dec. 1759.
- iv. KATHERINE WILLARD, b. 10 Sept. 1761; d. 20 July, 1831, at Roxbury; m. 15 Jan. 1792, John<sup>3</sup> Amory, Jr., Esq., of Boston, who was b. 21 June, 1759, d. 4 Sept. 1822, at Boston, son of John<sup>2</sup> Amory, of Boston, by his wife Catherine (dau. of Rufus Greene), who d. 1778, and grandson of Thomas<sup>1</sup> Amory, of Limerick, Ireland. He resided in Newbury Street, Boston, and was in partnership with his brother Thomas. One child.

v. HANNAH WILLARD, b. 1 Jan. 1764; d. 11 April, 1807, unm., at Boston.

COL. JOSHUA<sup>5</sup> CHANDLER, JR., ESQ. (Joshua,<sup>4</sup> John,<sup>3</sup> John,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and Sarah Miles, New Haven, Conn., dau. of Joseph,<sup>3</sup> son of John,<sup>2</sup> son of Richard<sup>1</sup> Miles. Sarah<sup>4</sup> Miles, b. 6 Oct. 1722; d. ———.

She lived only about two weeks after the family arrived in the Provinces. She was a delicate person, and suffered much on the passage there.

He was graduated at Y. C. 1747, being ranked the thirteenth in the class of twenty-nine, in "dignity of family." He settled at New Haven, in the practice of the law, and his house stood where the Tontine Hotel was afterwards built. The Chandler house, moved off, was afterwards the residence of Rev. Dr. L. Bacon. The original site of the house was the north part of the "Matthew Gilbert Lot." It came to Mr. Chandler from Timothy Alling. He and his son-in-law, Amos Botsford, who lived on the rear of it, owned the whole of that square. He owned the Avery estate at New Haven, and also a salt marsh farm, five or six miles out from New Haven, near which passes the railroad. He got about a hundred Frenchmen from the Provinces to dyke it. This is still called the "Chandler Farm."

At a town meeting at New Haven, 23 May, 1774, Joshua Chandler, Esq., was placed first on a Committee of eighteen, "of Correspondence for the Public Safety." He was a member of the Legislature of Conn. 1775. But he was soon suspected of loyalty, and was sent to North Haven as a prisoner by the whigs of New Haven. Like many of his relatives in the country who held offices in the colonies under the King, he was loyal to the mother country; and when New Haven was invaded by the British troops under Major-Gen. Wm. Tryon, on Monday, at noon, 5th July, 1779, while the whigs were celebrating their independence from the mother country, they were piloted in by two of the sons of Mr. Chandler. Now the crisis had come, he could no longer remain neutral. But the next morning, while he was preparing an entertainment for his friends, Gen. Tryon told him that he could not hold the place, for the militia were fast gathering. The outposts were called in, and the enemy retreated, taking some of the prominent citizens prisoners, and others of them as friends. Mr. Chandler and his family went off as friends, and so sudden was the departure that Gov. Baldwin, who was then a boy, said afterward he remembered going into Mr. Chandler's house on the morning after they left, and there seeing the table spread for a large company, and the viands all untouched. His son John, if he left at all, soon returned to New Haven.

While on Long Island, 10 Feb. 1782, he, with others, addressed "Mr. Rivington, acting Deputy Inspector General of Refugees on the Island," and stated that "we were driven from our respective homes, having left our property in the country," &c.

His property in and near New Haven, Conn., which he valued at £30,000, was confiscated under the agency of Charles Chauncy, Esq., of New Haven.

Joshua Chandler settled at Annapolis, Nova Scotia, on the South Shore of the Bay of Fundy. "The landing of the Loyalists, May 18, 1783," is one of the remarkable events noticed in their registers, and that day as it returns is still celebrated by a salute of cannon firing, at noon.

Charles Chauncy exhibited the inventory of his estate 1 Apr. 1781, £3,755 : 8s. : 1½d. It was sold for £3,050 : 1s. : 2d.

Col. Chandler (as above stated) had a large property at New Haven, which he was forced to leave. He sailed for England to see about a remuneration for his loss. Commissions were appointed to adjust the claims of the loyalists. He returned to Annapolis; and, on that fatal March of 1787, he, with his daughter Elizabeth and son William Chandler, took all their books, papers and evidence of their colonial property, and sailed across the Bay for St. John, New Brunswick, to meet the Commissioners, to prove their titles and their losses, and to get their claims allowed. But the vessel in a violent snow storm missing the harbor, was driven on the rocks on Musquash Point, within about nine miles of St. John. His son William, hoping to secure the vessel, fastened a rope around his body and jumped overboard to swim to the land, but he was immediately crushed between the vessel and the rocks, and was drowned. This was on the 9th of March, 1787. Col. Chandler, his daughter Elizabeth, and others, finally got ashore. But they were miles from any dwelling and the weather severe. It is said he urged his daughter to leave him and make her way to some house, but that she refused to leave her father. He then climbed a high point of the rocks for a look-out, from which, being so benumbed with cold, he fell and soon died. The others, his daughter and Mrs. Grant, after wandering about in the woods, perished on the 11th March, 1787. Their bodies were found and carried to St. John, N. B., and buried in the old burying ground at the head of King Street.

After about seventy years their remains were sought for, but only the smallest portion of the larger bones were found.

These were carefully deposited in the lot of Amos Botsford, Esq., in the "Rural Cemetery," the new and beautiful Woodside grounds at St. John. The old slate-stone slabs — about two by three feet — were laid against the embankment of the Botsford lot; the letters of the inscription having been cut deeper by the pious order of his descendants. Under the "death's head," with rays and wings, is the following inscription:

Here lyeth the Bodies of Col.
 JOSHUA CHANDLER, Aged 61 years And WILLIAM CHANDLER His Son Aged 29 years, who were Ship wreck'd on their passage from Digby to St. John on the Night of the 9th day of March 1787 & perished in the Woods on the 11th of said Month.

Here lyeth the Bodies of Mrs.
 SARAH GRANT Aged 38 Years Widow of the late Major ALEX<sup>r</sup> GRANT;
 & Miss ELIZABETH
 CHANDLER aged
 27 years, who were Shipwreck'd on their passage from Digby to St.
 John on the Night of the 9th day of March 1787 and Perished in the Woods on the 11th of said Month.

His son Charles Henry Chandler, soon after the death of his father, then about twenty years old, went to Europe to get the claims of the estate allowed. He took what evidence of the losses of the family he could find. But they had mostly been lost in the wreck. Charles H. Chandler remained in England a year, trying to get a hearing and to get the claims allowed. The Commissioners at last said to him, "We know your father Joshua Chandler was wealthy and had large and just claims, but we do not know how much, and there is no proof of it. We will allow you each, Mrs. Sarah Botsford, Mrs. Mary Upham, Thomas, Samuel and Charles H. Chandler, £1,000."

John Chaudler, another child, remained with the rebels, and of course had no allowance from the British Government.

London, April 13th 1784.

Reverend and D<sup>r</sup> Friend;

On my Taking my Final and Everlasting Farewell of my Native Country, I addressed you and my Good old and D<sup>r</sup> Friend, Mr. Whitney. I hope you Received that address as a Token of my Love and Friendship; as I flatter myself that you have a Friendship for me, and would be glad to know my Present Situation and Future Prospects in life, I have taken the Liberty of once more Giving you thè Trouble (I hope) the pleasing Trouble of this.

I left New York on the 9th of October Last, with a Design of Calling at New Haven, and for the Last Time, to have bid adieu to that Delightful Spot, and to all my Friends; but the Winds, but more the Feelings of my own Mind, and the Visible feelings of the Family forbid it. We had a most Terrible Passage to Nova Scotia, our Decks were swept of all our Stock, &c. &c. We arrived at Anapolis on the 23<sup>d</sup>. Mrs. Chaudler was overcome with the Passage. She languished, mourned and Died in about 3 weeks after Landing. She is certainly Happy. She Died the Death of the Righteous, and it is the first wish of my Soul, that her Family and her Friends might be as happy and composed as she was in the moment of her Death. Soon after the Death of Mrs. Chaudler, I removed my Family about ten miles above Anapolis Royal. I provided as well as I could for them. I staid with them a few days. I then left them to the Gracious Protection of the Almighty, who I hope will be their God and their Comfort and Support. I left Halifax on the 9th of January, and Arrived, after a mixed Passage, in this Great Sink of Pollution, Corruption and Venality, on the 8th of February. I found the Nation in Great Tumults and Commotions. I found myself Perfectly Lost in Politicks, as well as in Compass; East was west and North is yet South.

Before I left America, I supposed Lord North to be Rather attached to the Prerogatives of the Crown, and Lord Sidney and Mr. Pitt Rather Jealous for the Liberty of the People. But how Greatly was I mistaken. I found Lord North Decidedly against the Crown, in Favor of the Democritical Part of the Constitution to the Ruin of the Monarchical: and Mr. Pitt and Lord Sidney, &c. &c. &c. all in Favor of the Prerogative; these Political Squabbles you will see more Perfectly Depicted in the Newspapers, as also the Dissolution of Parliament, and the Calling of a new one; the Elections in many places have taken place, and the New Ministry will have a Great Majority in the New chosen House; but their Continuance cannot be long, the present Ministry are occupying ground that they are Strangers to; they stand upon Tory Ground, and are at Heart Republicans in Principle, if there is such a thing as Principle in the Kingdom, the existence of which I Greatly doubt. This Kingdom, without a miracle in its favor must soon be Lost; you can have no idea of their Corruption, of their Debauchery and Luxury; their Pride; their Riches; their Luxury has Ruined them; it is not in the Power of Human Nature to Save them. If they are saved, it must be by some Heavenly Power. I like not the Country, either their manners or even their Soil—the Soil is Nothing to America, you cannot see a single Tree but what wants a Flesh Brush—it is True that Agriculture and all the Arts are carried to great Perfection; but give America the means, and in one Half the Time she will Rise Superior to anything in this Country.

My own prospects in Life are all Dashed, my only care is now for my Children; the Idea of a Compensation is but very faint. It is probable I may Have about £400 stg. per annum. My only Effort now is to procure that Sum to be Settled on my two Daughters and my youngest Son for Life; my Son William Stands some Chance for a Separate Support for his Life. I find my Health on a Visible Decline; when I can Get my Little affairs Settled here, I shall go into Yorkshire or into Wales, to procure an Asylum for my Daughters and my two youngest Sons.

Thus this unhappy Controversy has Ruined Thousands; the Sacrificing the Prospects of my Family for life is not the only thing that fills my mind with distress. I yet have a very strong Affection to, and a Predilection for my Native Country; their Happiness would in some measure alleviate my Present Distress; but though I have found myself Greatly lost in Politicks, I cannot yet suppose my Country can be happy in their present state. A Democratical Government cannot long subsist in so great and extended a Country; the seeds of Discord I see Sown among you, former prejudices and future jealousies will cause Convulsions; the subversion of your present constitution cannot take place without bloodshed. I have sent in a small package to my Son, M. De Solme's (advocate in Geneva, Switzerland) History of the British Constitution; it is well wrote; I wish Dr. Stiles would admit it into the Library—it may be of some service to my Country in forming their new constitution, for a new one must be formed at some future time. In the hour of Contest I thought, and even yet think my Country wrong; but I never wished its ruin. I wish her to support a dignified character—that can be done only by great and dignified actions, one of which is a sacred and punctual adherence to public faith and Virtue. Men of your character may preach forever upon moral Virtue; but, if the people see and find that there is no public Virtue, your preaching will be like the Sounding Brass and tinkling Cymbal. I wrote to my Son a few days since; I wish you to enforce my regards to him, and also to remind him of sending the papers and documents I sent for. Tho' I am about to leave this city, any address to me, No. 40 Norton Street, near Portland Chapel, will always find me, while I can find myself. Pray remember me with the most sincere affection to your family, to all my friends. They must excuse my not writing to each one, neither my health or my feelings will permit; but let us all bear up under all our losses and separations with a becoming fortitude. My own time, and the time of my dear friend, is Short, very Short, in this world. My first and last prayers will be to meet where no Political disputes can Ever Separate from near and dear friends.

Your humble &c. &c.

JOSHUA CHANDLER."

The children of JOSHUA and SARAH (Miles) CHANDLER were:

737. VI. WILLIAM, b. 1758; d. 9 March, 1787, aged 29; Y. C. 1775; piloted Gov. Tryon and his royal forces into New Haven, 5 July, 1779, when that city was sacked. But he personally, it is said, interposed and saved the life of the President of the College, Rev. Naphthali Dagget, who, armed with a musket, had rushed to oppose the invaders. For his torysism he was roughly handled by the infuriated whigs. He was Captain in the Royal Army. He retired with his father's family, 6 July, 1779, to Long Island, and in 1783 to Nova Scotia. He was with his father when they crossed the Bay of Fundy, and when the vessel, in the snow storm, struck on the rocks at Musquash Point; had a rope tied about his waist, and jumped in, in order to reach the shore, but was crushed between the vessel and the rocks, on that fatal 9th of March, 1787. Administration of the estate of William Chandler, late of New Haven, Conn., but now with the enemies of the U. S., is granted to Joseph Peck, of N. H. Bond of £200. First Monday in Aug. 1781.

He was of Killingly, Conn.; d. 10 March, 1772, in the 52d year of his age, in Mattituck. He was graduated at Yale College 1742.

"The Rev. Nehemiah Barker was the first Pastor of a church formed at Breakneck Hill, Killingly, in 1746. Was thence dismissed 1755 and invited to settle in Ashford, but removed to Long Island, having charge of a church in Mattituck." [Miss Ellen D. Larned.]

The records of the Union Parish—that of Mattituck and Aginbogue—were continued by him; he began to officiate among that people in the summer following the date of Feb. 29, 1756; and the first entry in it, in the clear bold hand of Rev. Mr. Barker, was “July.”

“I Joshua Chandler, of New Haven, and I Moses Chandler, of Woodstock, Conn., for to gratify the Last Will and Testament of our hon<sup>d</sup> Father Joshua Chandler, late of Woodstock,” do release to our beloved Brother-in-Law, Nehemiah Barker, clerk, and husband of our sister Elizabeth Barker of Southold, “our right to land in Ashford.”

Oct. 10, 1759. The Presbytery gave him leave to return to New England, and recommended him as “a regular member of the Presbytery and a worthy minister of the Gospel.” It appears, however, that he did not leave, but continued in charge of the united congregation till 1766. After that he confined his labors to Mattituck until his death. He baptized 133 persons, admitted to the communion 30, and celebrated 57 marriages.

The second husband of Elizabeth Chandler was Rev. John<sup>5</sup> Davenport, the successor of her first in the ministry at Mattituck—whom she married, 18 Dec. 1775. Mr. John<sup>5</sup> Davenport was born 11 Aug. 1752, and was just 22 years her junior. But it is recorded that he lived many years happily with her. Rev. John<sup>5</sup> Davenport was a descendant in the eighteenth generation from Ormus de Daunporte, who was born in 1086, through Rev. John<sup>1</sup> Davenport, born in Coventry, Eng., 1597, and settled in New Haven, Conn.; by his son John<sup>2</sup> Davenport, who m. 27 Nov. 1663, Abigail, a dau. of Rev. Abraham Pierson, and settled in New Haven; by Rev. John<sup>3</sup> Davenport, of Stamford, who m. first, Martha Gould; and m. second, Elizabeth, a dau. of John Morris.

Rev. James<sup>4</sup> Davenport, Y. C. 1732, was ordained in Southold, 26 Oct. 1738—a successful revivalist, who, at New London, “to cure their idolatrous love of worldly things, called on the people to burn their goods,” &c. [See Miss Calkins’s Hist. of New London, p. 450.] He was father of this Rev. John<sup>5</sup> Davenport, b. at Phillipi, N. J., 11 Aug. 1752; was graduated at New Jersey College, 1769; studied under Drs. Bellamy and Buel; ordained at East Hampton, 16 June, 1774; administered at several churches in Suffolk Co., N. Y., and especially at Mattituck, where he married, 10 Dec. 1775, the Relict of his predecessor. From Mattituck, Mr. Davenport went to Bedford, N. Y.; and then to Deerfield, N. J., 12 Aug. 1795, where he continued until 1805, when he was dismissed on account of ill health. Rev. John<sup>5</sup> Davenport was the first minister on Long Island who refused to administer the rite of baptism upon the "Indulgent Plan." He died without issue, 13 July, 1821, at Lysander, New York.

Mr. Barker became connected with the Suffolk Co. Presbytery, Oct. 1758. He entered the births and baptisms of his four children as follows, on the records of the Mattituck Church:

- i. "ELIZABETH BARKER, dau. of Nehemiah Barker, now minister of this Church, was born in Woodstock, 16 Sept. 1755, and baptized in the 2d church there sometime in the following October;" m. 30 Jan. 1776, Joseph<sup>3</sup> Prince, both of this town. He was descended from John<sup>1</sup> Prince, a sea captain of Oxford, Eng., who m. Reliance Fuller, in Boston. They settled in Southold, when their son Joseph<sup>3</sup> was ten years old. He d. in 1765, aged 77, and she died at the age of 75, at Mattituck. Joseph<sup>2</sup> Prince m. Mary Vail, and they were parents of Joseph<sup>3</sup> Prince above. Three children.
- ii. "BETHIA BARKER, his second daughter, was born 14 June, 1758, in Mattituck, Southold, and was baptized in the church there on the 9th of July following;" d. 22 Jan. 1772, in the 14th year of her age.
- iii. "MARY BARKER, the third dau. of Nehemiah and Elizabeth Barker, was born 25 _____ A. D., and was baptized in this church at Mattituck on the 20th of April following."

"Turn two leaves for Hannah Barker."

- iv. "HANNAH BARKER, dau. of Nehemiah and Elizabeth Barker, was born 17 March, 1766, about 4 in the afternoon;" baptized 20 April.

She was dau. of Capt. John<sup>2</sup> and Mary (dau. of Elias Boudnot, Sen.) Emott, of Elizabeth Town. Capt. John<sup>2</sup> Emott was son of James<sup>1</sup> Emott by his wife Mary Lawrence, whom he m. in 1683. She was dau. of Mrs. Philip Cartaret. James<sup>1</sup> Emott, a French Huguenot, came from England as early as 1682, and was Provincial Secretary. He died 1713.

Mrs. Chandler shared with her husband his loyalty to the king during the contest for national independence, and she subjected herself to the suspicions of the vigilant whigs of that vicinity, of whom was Gen. Maxwell; for he wrote to the legislature of New Jersey, 26 April, 1779: "Mrs. Chandler is much in the same way here that M'Cloud is, with respect to her living; but, in the way of giving intelligence to the enemy, I think she is the first in the place. There is not a tory that passes in or out of New Jersey, or any other way, that is of consequence, but waits upon Mrs. Chandler, and mostly all the British officers, going in or out on parole or exchange, wait on her; in short, the Governor, the whole of the tories and many of the whigs. I think she would be much better off in New York, and to take her baggage with her that she might have nothing to come back for."

Isaac Ogden, a refugee from Newark, in a letter to Galloway 22 Nov. 1778, says: "Remember me to Dr. Chandler's Family and Coopers. Tell Doct. Chandler that Mrs. Chandler and his Daughter Polly, with Miss Rickett, are now in New York with a flagg for a few days. His son Bille I saw last week at Statten Island, who has recovered from his illness. He intends sailing for England in a short time in the Amazon."

The following extracts are from a letter written just after Mr. Mr. T. B. Chandler's 17th year :

BEAN FIELD, JULY y<sup>e</sup> 4th, 1743.

Beloved Brethren and Sisters :

"Sometime about ye beginning of June after pudding (or dinner)," "I met neighbor Draper," "who delivered me a letter." . . . "After having tug'd it open, I cast my surpris'd eyes to ye bottom and Saw a grand catalogue of names as follows, viz. W. C., L. C., T. C., S. C., Henry Chandler. I was puzzled to know ye meaning of that new name y<sup>t</sup> brought up ye rear, but afterwards found y<sup>t</sup> you would have it a Brother of mine y<sup>t</sup> has lately arriv'd from some strange Land to ye Country," &c.

"And subscribe your loving Brother and well wisher,

He was graduated at Yale College, 1745, and took rank from "dignity of his family," &c. the seventh in a class of twenty-seven. The degree of S. T. D. was conferred on him by the college at Oxford, Eng., 1766, and by King's (now Columbia) College, New York, 1767.

The decease of Rev. Mr. Vaughan took place Oct. 1747, and the Vestry of St. John's Church were advised to secure the services of a catechist for the time being. The Rev. Dr. Johnson, of Stamford, thereupon recommended a young man who was teaching school in Woodstock, Conn., and studying at intervals with Dr. Johnson. They complied with that advice.

"Elizabeth Town, Dec. 26, 1747. We Church Wardens and Vestry of St. John Church" "have given an invitation to Mr. Thomas Bradbury Chandler, educated at Yale College in Connecticut, to reside amongst us till he be of age for Holy Orders, at which time, if his Conduct shall answer his recent character, We humbly hope the Society [for the Propagation of the Gospel amongst the heathen natives of New England, and the parts adjacent in America, incorporated in the year 1661, by King Charles the Second] may be pleased to grant him leave to go for England;" "and we do furtlier beg leave humbly to implore and supplicate that Ven'ble and Christian Body, that they would be pleased in their great goodness to appoint the s'd Mr. Chandler their catechist amongst us with an allowance of such a Salary as the Ven'ble Society shall think fit," "that our children and servants may have the benefit of public Catechising," &c.

Mr. Chandler was in his 22d year when he came to Elizabeth Town, about the first of December, 1747, and was appointed by the Venerable Society, in May, 1748, their catechist in Elizabeth Town, on a stipend of £10 a year. The glebe contains about four acres of land, pleasantly located upon Elizabeth Town Creek, near the centre of the city. "The first house was built in 1696-7, and this house was enlarged in 1765, by an addition which contains the present study, dining room," &c. This was their residence. He wrote :

"Elizabeth Town, Dec. 20, 1749. Rev. Sir: Ever since I have been in this place, I have made it my business to answer the ends of the Venerable Society in appointing me their Catechist, to the utmost of my ability; with that view I have not only read Divine Service and catechized the children, but have constantly visited all Ranks of People in the Congregation."

The Society having given leave to Mr. Chandler, their catechist at Elizabeth Town, to come to England for holy orders upon the united testimony of their most worthy missionaries concerning his qualifications, he arrived in England in the summer; and, after being admitted into holy orders and appointed missionary to Elizabeth Town, he went back, and writes thence, Nov. 11, 1751, that after a passage of nine weeks he "was got safe home, joyfully received, and entered upon the duties of his mission."

He wrote the Secretary of the Propagation Society, Nov. 6, 1752:

"I have lately been a journey of more than 200 miles into New Eng<sup>d</sup>, and am surpris'd at the great increase of the Church in many places there. I preached at Woodstock, an inland town, 35 miles distant from any place where the service of the church had ever been performed; and, by the numbers that attended my lectures, and by the desires of many of them expressed of farther opportunity of attending on, and being acquainted with, the service of the Church, I am convinced that it is for want of opportunity that there is not a large Congregation of Conformists."

And he wrote, Jan. 5, 1762: "The severe manner in which I had ye Small Pox in 1757, and ye ill effects whereof it was three years before I perfectly recovered, greatly interrupted the course of my services, especially at Woodbridge, which is ten miles distant; but for some time past I have gone on in my wonted course, and ye Congregation hath been kept tolerably together." "The Society will be pleas'd to remember, that I was appointed their missionary at Woodbridge on my own request." "An enlargement of my Salary on that account was neither asked nor desired, nor were any promises of pay made me by the people, nor have I ever received any pay or gratuities to ye amount of more than Five Guineas in ye whole time of my serving them, altho' in that service I have rode more than 3000 miles, and preached near 200 sermons, besides doing other duties."

The Rev. George Whitefield, the great revivalist, who was in Elizabeth Town in the year 1740, revisited the place twenty-four years after, but was denied Mr. Chandler's pulpit. And he wrote the 5th of July, 1765 :

“ I cannot but think that all Mr. Whitefield's bitterness and rage against ye church would have availed but little, had he been able only to attack it openly and from without. But what gives him an opportunity of really hurting ye Church, is his pretended friendship for her, his wearing ye Garb of her children, his frequently quoting our excellent Liturgy, Articles, Homilies, &c., with solemn declarations of his esteem and admiration. I will say no more of him as he has at length left us ; but my greatest fear is that he will soon begin to hanker after his dear America, few people choosing to continue long in a state of Insignificance, when they have it in their power to appear with more than Apostolic importance.”

In 1766 the Rev. Mr. Whitefield had said, that “ a Society which since its first institution had been looked upon as a Society for propagating the Gospel, hath been all the while rather a Society for propagating Episcopacy in foreign parts.” [Gordon's America.]

Again Mr. Chandler writes :

“ Jan. 15, 1766. The duty of a missionary in this Country is now become more difficult than ever. It is hard to dissemble any truths or precepts of the Gospel, and some of them relating to Civil Society it is now become dangerous to declare. Such an universal spirit of clamour and discontent, little short of madness, and such an opinion of oppression prevails throughout the Colonies as I believe was scarcely ever seen on any occasion in any Country on Earth. And it seems to be the determined inflexible resolution of most People from Halifax to Georgia, never to submit to what they esteem so great an infringement of their essential rights as some of the late acts of the British Parliament. Every friend therefore to the Happiness of the Colonies, or even of Great Britain, who is acquainted with the case as it really is, must wish that the Parliament would relax of its severity ; which yet, it must be confessed, is no easy thing, after such Provocations as have been lately offered on the part of the Colonies. Most probable the Parliament are able (altho' most people here pretend not to believe they are) to enforce the Stamp Act ; yet should they resolve to do it, a disaffection of the Colonies, of which there have been no visible symptoms before, will be undoubtedly established.

“ I do not mean by what I have said to excuse the conduct of my Countrymen ; for I really detest it, and do endeavor to traverse and counteract it to the utmost of my ability. And yet this apology they are entitled to, y<sup>t</sup> the government has not taken much pains to instruct them better. If ye Interest of the Church of England in America had been made a National Concern from the beginning, by this time a general submission in ye Colonies to ye Mother Country, in everything not sinful, might have been expected, not only for wrath, but for conscience sake. And who can be certain but ye present rebellious disposition of ye Colonies is not intended by Providence as a punishment for that Neglect? Indeed many wise and good persons, at home, have had ye Cause of Religion and ye Church here sincerely at heart, and ye Nation, whether sensible of it or not, is under great obligations to that Worthy Society, who by their indefatigable endeavors to propagate the Gospel and assist the Church, have, at the same time, and thereby, secured to ye State, as far as their influence could be extended, ye Loyalty and Fidelity of her American Children."

Dr. F. L. Hawks says: "Early in 1767, the Rev. Dr. Johnson, of Stafford, Conn., suggested to Dr. Chandler, of Elizabeth Town, in New Jersey, the propriety of addressing the public on the subject of an American Episcopate." "Very soon after," "a voluntary association of the Episcopal clergy" assembled, and from their deliberations there resulted from the pen of Dr. Chandler, "An Appeal to the Public in behalf of the Church of England in America," published in June, 1767. This appeal gave rise to a long controversy, in which Dr. Chauncey joined, with many others.

Dr. T. B. Chandler was intimate with Rev. Mr. Leaming, Dr. Wilkins and Dr. Seabury, and they met frequently, as the storm of the Revolution was approaching, at each other's houses, and discussed the agitating questions of the times; and they generally sat up late, and the day often dawned upon them conversing. Mr. Chandler, who held a ready and vigorous pen, warmly espoused the loyal cause. He was a distinguished divine and high churchman, and a tory writer. Trumbull, in "McFingal," thus notices him:

"While mitres fall, as 'tis their duty,
On heads of Chandlers and Auchmuty."

In 1775, Dr. Chandler found his situation unpleasant and painful, as well from the active part he deemed it his duty to take as from the violent feeling generally entertained against the church of which he was minister, and he was induced from these considerations to go to England, where he remained until 1785. He sailed in the "Exeter," May 24, 1775, in company with Dr. Myles Cooper, president of King's College, New York.

During the ten years of his residence in London, he received an addition to his salary, from the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, of £200. He was made D.D. at Oxford, and was appointed to the Bishopric of Nova Scotia—an office he was compelled to decline from the progress of a disease, contracted from visiting one sick with small-pox in the spring of 1758, and which developed from a small scab on his face into a cancer in 1780. Upon his death a pension was allowed his widow until her death. The cancerous disease upon his face prevented his pastoral duties after his return to America; but he was requested to hold the rectorship, by the vestry, as long as he lived, which was until 1790. He was "buried under the chancel of the church where he had so long labored."

A scheme for a lottery was granted in 1759, for making an addition to and repairing St. John's Church, and there were "tickets to be had of Rev. Mr. Chandler."

"During the Revolution the state of the Parish was truly deplorable." The town was sometimes occupied by the troops of England, and at others by the colonial forces. This little church had its full share of the evil. The enclosure for protecting the repository of the dead, lay open to the range of beasts, and the unhallowed movements of men little better than they. The headstones of graves became fire-places at which the soldier dressed his homely meal, while larger monuments served as tables at which he partook of his frugal fare. While all around this edifice were marks of wasting and destruction, the interior exhibited a scene of ruin not less distressing. Even "the organ then in the church was demolished and the metal pipes were converted into balls for the work of death. The dragoon who tethered his horse by day upon the graves of the dead, led him by night within these walls, for a shelter from the storm."

"There were with many in 1748, an expectation of an Episcopal establishment in this country, where men of talents could indulge the hope of becoming dignitaries in the Church. The bait of preferment was at this time offered to Dr. E. Stiles. Whether the circumstances of the times had an insensible influence over the mind of Mr. Chandler or not, it was in 1748 that he was proselyted to Episcopacy."

The salary of Dr. Chandler was £50 sterling a year, on which, with some slight contributions from the congregation, a parsonage and small glebe, he lived with such a degree of ease and comfort, and with such a free and unlimited hospitality as were remembered by many while living, both with wonder and pleasure. Extensively as Dr. Chandler was known and respected by strangers, he was still more beloved by his parishioners and friends. Cheerful in his temper, easy and accessible in his intercourse with others, fond of study, of retirement and rural pursuits, but yet blending and sweetening them with social enjoyments, it was natural that his affability, his kindness, his constant presence and unintermitted labors should endear him to his people.

Dr. T. B. Chandler was a large, portly man, of fine personal appearance, of a countenance expressive of high intelligence, though considerably marked with the small-pox, an uncommonly blue eye, of commanding voice and a great lover of music. He had fine powers of conversation, and he was a most agreeable companion for all ages. He possessed an uncommonly vigorous and highly cultivated intellect.

Rev. Dr. T. B. Chandler died 17 June, 1790, a. 64, of the cancerous effects of small-pox, at his house in Elizabeth Town, N. J.

An engraving from an oil painting by his brother Winthrop, adorns these pages.

The children of Rev. T. B. and JANE (Emott) CHANDLER were:

756. I. Capt. WILLIAM, b. 1756; bapt. 23 May, 1756. He was graduated at King's (Columbia) College, 1774.

He fled in Jan. 1776, on account of his loyalty and parentage; but returned in December following, and remained until the evacuation of Elizabeth Town by the Royal troops, January, 1777, when he was again obliged to flee. He states these facts in a memorial to Lord George Germaine, 11 Feb. 1779, and adds that General Skinner gave him a warrant to be Captain in the New Jersey Volunteers, April, 1777; but that he had received no pay for two years; and he prays his Lordship's recommendation to Sir Henry Clinton, for a commission in the New Jersey Brigade. [Sabine's Loyalists.] June 7, 1780, the British made a descent upon Elizabeth Town, and then advanced five miles to Connecticut Farms, where Rev. Mr. Caldwell had fled with his family. Mr. Caldwell had excited the hatred of the British by his patriotism. The militia under Col. Dayton had left the Farms, so there could be no occasion for firing a gun. But as soon as the British soldiers had reached the Farms, one of their American Volunteers who had been a servant in the family of Rev. Dr. T. B. Chandler, of Elizabeth Town, went to the house where Mrs. Hannah (Ogden) Caldwell was sitting with her children, and putting his gun through the window, and taking deliberate aim, shot Mrs. Caldwell while she had her infant in her arms! At the earnest request of Capt. Chandler, son of the Episcopal clergyman, Rev. T. B. Chandler, of Elizabeth Town, in the British service, the body of Mrs. Caldwell was carried away with the children, and protected in a house some distance off; but her own house was set on fire and burnt with twelve others and the Presbyterian Church. Capt. Wm. Chandler died 22 Oct. 1784, in England, at the age of 38.

757. II. MARY RICKETS; bapt. 15 Nov. 1761; d. 28 June, 1784, a. 22, unm., about one year before her father's return from England.

758. III. ELIZABETH CATHERINE; bapt. 22 July, 1764; m. 19 Jan. 1786, Gen. Elias Boudinot Dayton.

759. IV. JANE TONGRELAU; bapt. 27 Sept. 1767; m. 3 May, 1796, Major William Dayton, both of Elizabeth Town.

1753

They were published the "last Sabbath" preceding 30 Jan. 1753, and were married 5 July, 1753.

Mary Hodges

She died 14 Sept. 1796, a. 64, in Pomfret. She was daughter of Capt. William<sup>3</sup> Hodges, of Taunton, who was born 6 June, 1682, died 23 June, 1766, by his second wife, Mary Clap, and grand-dau. of John<sup>2</sup> Hodges, proprietor in Taunton, "in right that was of his father," by his wife Elizabeth Macy, whom he m. 15 May, 1672, and gr. gr. dau. of Capt. William<sup>1</sup> Hodges, who was of Boston 1663, on a jury at Salem 1638, and whose excursions by sea to Virginia, to the coast of the present State of Maine, to the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and by whom in the good ship "Rebecca," Gov. John Winthrop, of Boston, sent letters on the "28 of the 1 Mo. 1636," to his "very loving son, Mr. Winthrop Jun. Governour of Connecticut," are mentioned in Winthrop's History of New England. "Capt. William<sup>1</sup> Hodges seems also to have commanded a ship in several voyages from Boston to England and back, and is mentioned several times in connection with John Gallop, another sea captain; but as there are no references to the voyages of either of them after the settlement at Taunton, and as John Gallop appears to have been a proprietor of land at Taunton, and whose dau. Esther Gallop afterwards married Henry Hodges, son of Captain William Hodges, it is probable that Captain William Hodges, of Boston, and William<sup>1</sup> Hodges, of Taunton, were the same individual, and that he and John Gallop abandoned the sea, to share with Miss Pool the perils of the wilderness at Titicut, and d. there 2 April, 1654."

William Hodges, father of Mary Hodges, said in his will, March 5th, 1764, "I give to my Grand Daughter Sarah daughter of my Daughter Mary Chandler thirteen pounds Six Shillings & four pence lawful money to be paid out of my personal Estate by my Executors hereafter named, provided She arrive at the age of Eighteen Years or in the meantime should have issue, but failing of either of the aforesaid conditions then s<sup>d</sup> Sum to be equally divided between my four sons equally," "And also that s<sup>d</sup> Abijah Suitably Support and maintain my Grand Daughter Sarah until Eighteen years of age (if she see cause to dwell with him) & give her two suits of apparel suitable for her body at that age and on his failure Abijah to have no part of my personal Estate." "My Son Abijah Hodges" "Sole Executor."

Capt. William<sup>1</sup> Hodges m. Mary Andrews, who was dau. of Henry Andrews, Sen., who in his will of May 15, 1652, gave "To Daughter Mary Hedges, wife of William Hedges, a dwelling house in Taunton, near his own, and after her to his grandson John Hedges." This place has remained the property of the descendants of John<sup>2</sup> Hodges until this day. The house is on the Norton road, half a mile west of the "Green." Henry Andrews married Mary<sup>3</sup> Gilbert Williams, and, in her will, Feb. 14, 1653, she says she is 43 years old, and she disposes of the estate of her deceased husband Henry Andrews, "to Son-in-law William<sup>1</sup> Hedge and dau. Mary Hedge."

Mary Hedges, widow "of William<sup>1</sup> Hedges," of Taunton, in her will disposes of the estate left her by her husband to her sons John<sup>2</sup> and Henry<sup>2</sup> Hodges; and she says in it, "I request Peter Pitts to perform these conditions, in case I make him my husband."

William<sup>5</sup> Chandler, Jr. died 23 Feb. 1756, leaving two sons, and she m. second, 29 Sept. 1757, Peter<sup>4</sup> Chandler, of Pomfret, son of Capt. Joseph and Susanna (Perrin) Chandler. [See 136.]

George<sup>4</sup> Hodges, half brother of Mary,<sup>4</sup> moved to Woodstock, Conn., and "upon the occasion of one of his visits to his homestead in Taunton, he brought a friend whom he introduced to his sister Mary," "Tradition says, Mary was a young lady of great personal beauty." This "friend," William Chandler, Jr., in time became her husband. There was not a little romance and mystery about their courtship, for their love ran not smooth though deep. Some letters that came to light a century afterwards, show that she had at that time many admirers, some of whom she found it difficult to wholly discard. These letters were discovered by an inquisitive mechanical genius, in a curiously constructed secret drawer in her bureau, made of butternut wood, by her first husband.

Mr. Chandler took Ithamar Ammidown, a minor, fifteen years and three months old, as an apprentice, and agreed to teach him the "art or mystery of a shop-joiner, and to make foot-wheels," &c., in the twenty-fifth year of ye Reign of our Sovereign Lord George ye Second, by the Grace of God King of Great Britain—ye year of our Lord One Thousand Seven Hundred and fifty-two.

It was but a little while after this, and while resistance to the stamp act by the whigs of the country was promoted and inflamed, "that the hum of domestic industry was heard more and more; young women would get together, and merrily and emulously drive the spinning wheel from sunrise till dark; and every day the humor spread for being clad in homespun," says Bancroft (see 724) in his admirable Hist. U. States, Vol. V., p. 425.

At a freeman's meeting in Woodstock, 8 April, 1754, he was admitted a "freeman," and sworn by Thomas Chandler, Justice of the Peace.

William Chandler, Jr. was a shop-joiner, in Woodstock, Conn. He died "Feb. 23, 1756, in y<sup>e</sup> 29th year of his age." He left two sons behind him, says his monumental stone in Woodstock on "Plaine Hill," but the youngest was not born until the 17th June after his death.

The children of WILLIAM and MARY (Hodges) CHANDLER were:

761. I. WILLIAM, b. 9 June, 1754; m. first, 1777, Mary Grosvenor: m. second, 17 Feb. 1780, Patty Hill, of Providence, R. I.: m. third, 8 May, 1788, Eunice Tenney, of Hanover.
762. II. HENRY, b. 17 June, 1756; m. 10 April, 1781, Martha Brown, in Pomfret, Conn.

"John Felshaw and Damaris Chandler, both of Killingly, were appointed administrators on the Estate of Lemuel Chandler, late of Killingly, Conn., 13 June, 1758."

Capt. John Felshaw's tavern "was one of the most noted" taverns. It was on Killingly Hill. In 1779 he was far advanced in life. He died 1782. Son Sam<sup>l</sup> continued the tavern.

He d. 17 July, 1756, aged 26.

His brother Samuel said in his will of 20 Nov. 1789, "I give unto the heirs of my brother Lemuel," 5s.

LEMUEL and DAMARIS (Felchar) CHANDLER had one child:

763. I. ELIZABETH, b. 22 Jan. 1756; m. — Wolcott, of Oxford, Mass.

They were m. by her father, Rev. Thomas Frink, of Rutland District, afterwards Hutchinson, but now Barre, Mass.

The Rev. Thomas Frink was a native of Sudbury, Mass. He married Isabel Wright, dau. of Samuel Wright, Esq., by his wife Mary Stevens, who was dau. of Mary Willard, dau. of Hon. Major Simon Willard, of Lancaster, Mass., by his second wife Mary Dunster, sister of President Dunster, of Harvard College.

Mrs. Elizabeth Frink Chandler had three children, and died 23 March, 1771, in Petersham, Mass. Her portrait in oil by her brother-in-law, Winthrop Chandler, hangs in the house built by her husband and afterwards occupied by her grandson, Charles Chandler, Esq., on Chandler Hill, Thompson, Conn., a part of the homestead farm of Capt. William Chandler, her father-in-law. This painting is 30 by 36 inches, and the figure is half-size, showing the arms and hands crossed. She is erect and is dressed in yellow figured brocade silk—her waist is small and her dress is low in the neck, and pointed in front; sleeves open, and, at the elbow, double ruffled, under-sleeves half down the forearm. A small figured black lace shawl covers the shoulders close round the neck, pointed down to the waist. A small white cap partly covers the ears, but showing large earrings and coming under the chin with a dark ribbon in a bow on top of her head. Her face is large. Cheek bones rather high—forehead retreating—nose Roman—lips thick—chin retreating—arms delicate; all making a very handsome picture, and showing her to have been a good-looking woman, at the age of about thirty. She left three children.

He was published "Sept. y<sup>c</sup> 1, 1773," "both of Petersham," to Abigail Ballard, formerly of Fraughton. She d. 29 April, 1816, at the age of 74 years, in Thompson, and was buried by the remains of her husband, in Muddy Brook, and on her monument is inscribed:

"Affliction long time I bore,
Physicians skill was vain,
Till God was pleased to give me ease
And free me from my pains."

Theophilus lived some years in Petersham, Mass., and in 1769 represented that town in the General Court. The reason he gave for leaving Petersham was that "there were so many Tories there." He returned to Thompson, and built there with his own hands, for he was a carpenter by trade, a large two-story house on "Chandler Hill." He was engaged one or more years in Vermont, as land surveyor. In his portrait by his brother Winthrop, he holds the scale of the surveyor and is pointing off the figures. He is painted with a white wig, single breasted coat of very light blue, single breasted vest buttoned up to the neck, of bright crimson, black band round the neck, with shirt collar turned over, full shirt sleeves gathered in at the wrist. The painting is half-size. He is represented as tall, erect, of rather small body, large full face, florid countenance, light eyes, Roman nose, and as a fine looking man of thirty-five years.

He d. 31 July, 1816, aged 84. Winthrop and Theophilus B., his sons, were executors of his will. His estate was inventoried at $5,420.62, with claims against it of $111.41. In his last years he became blind :

“ Tis but a few whose days amount
To three score years and ten.
And all beyond that short account
Is sorrow, toil and pain.”

The children of THEOPHILUS CHANDLER were :

764. i. WINTHROP, b. at Petersham, Mass., 4 April, 1764; m. 30 May, 1793, Mary Morse, of Woodstock.
765. ii. ISABEL, b. 20 March, 1766; m. 14 June, 1792, Caleb May, of Woodstock.
766. iii. JEMIMA, b. 25 Aug. 1768; d. 19 Nov. 1768.
767. iv. MARY, b. 10 Oct. 1773; m. 13 Feb. 1791, Daniel Paine, of Woodstock.
768. v. THEOPHILUS BRADBURY, b. at Thompson, Conn., 14 Aug. 1776; m. 9 Dec. 1802, Hannah Bugbee.
769. vi. BARNABAS, b. 20 Sept. 1782; d. 27 Nov. 1783, a. 11 mos. 7 days.

He was b. at Worcester, Mass., 4 Jan. 1730; d. 17 Sept. 1807, at Woodstock, Conn., says the “ Boston Repertory ” of Oct. 2, 1807. He was probably son of William,<sup>2</sup> the constable, in Worcester, and Jeannie Calhoun McClellan, and grandson of James,<sup>1</sup> the Scotch-Irish immigrant. He settled at Woodstock, Conn., and resided in South Woodstock, where Rhodes Arnold afterwards kept a tavern. He was a merchant; was in the French war, and was wounded in that service.

Immediately on the news of the Lexington fight, 19 April, 1775, reaching Woodstock, Capt. McClellan marched his company of 48 mounted men, and got as far as Oxford on his way to the scene of conflict, when news reached him that the British foe had retired to the confines of Boston. At this alarm it is said fifty towns in Connecticut sent troops towards Lexington. He commanded a regiment of Connecticut troops in the expedition to Rhode Island, and also to the Hudson River. In 1778 he advanced £1000 out of his own estate to pay the men under his command, as there was no money in the public treasury to pay them. He represented the town of Woodstock in the Legislature of Connecticut, in 1775.

In 1776, when he was acting as major, red tape formality led the commissary on one occasion to refuse food to his starving troops, when called for by the colonel of the regiment. The indignation of Maj. McClellan resented this formality. He got the proper leave, and took a file of men and went to the ceremonious commissary and said to him, "You rascal! do you think I will permit my regiment to starve in a cook-shop furnished by the public? Do you Sir, turn out sufficient rations for our soldiers, or I will dispatch you!" while his ten six-foot soldiers all presented their bayonets at the breast of the commissary, who instantly and tremblingly threw open his store door and turned out the necessary supply, to the great joy and mirth of the soldiers.

The noble horse that was ridden by Col. McClellan during the war, so accustomed had he become to martial music, that for years after the war ceased, whenever he heard the drum and fife on training-day, would leap from his pasture and parade himself before the company of soldiers, with as much apparent satisfaction as the captain who commanded it.

His wife Jemima died 13 April, 1764, at the age of 30, and was buried at Muddy Brook. Four children.

He m. 5 March, 1766, Rachel Abbe, b. 6 Feb. 1738-9, dau. of Joshua Abbe, Sen., of Windham, Conn., and had by her eight children.

Gen. Samuel McClellan m. 3 July, 1798, Eunice Follansbee, of Worcester, Mass. In the graveyard at Putney, Vt., is inscribed "Eunice, wife of Gen. Samuel McClellan, died Nov. 7, 1839, a. 89."

The children of Gen. SAMUEL and JEMIMA McCLELLAN were:

- i. MARY<sup>4</sup> McCLELLAN, b. 19 Oct. 1758; m. 29 July, 1785, Dea. Nathaniel Child, of North Woodstock, son of Nathaniel. An oil painting of her at the age of 18, was on exhibition at Putnam, 25 March, 1880. Five children.
- ii. SAMUEL<sup>4</sup> McCLELLAN, b. 11 Feb. 1760; d. 7 Feb. 1850, aged 90; buried at No. Cemetery, Providence, R. I. He was in Capt. Amos Paine's company at New Haven, Conn., Sept. 13, 1776, on the march of that company to West Chester, N. Y., and then received 20 shillings on account of the present march. He was then but little over sixteen years old. It is in tradition that he had not long previously gone home to his father's house in a state of intoxication, which his father perceived, and immediately chastised him, and made him promise to drink no more intoxicating liquor. But under the smarts of the rod, and perhaps of offended pride, he soon enlisted in Capt. Paine's company to serve in the Revolutionary war. He crossed the Delaware with Washington, and was engaged in the battles of Princeton. He commanded a company in this war. He resided in Benefit Street, Providence, R. I.; m. first, 25 Dec. 1783, Ann Dexter, of Providence, who d. leaving one child, and was sister of Mr. Dexter, who built the "Dexter Asylum;" m. second, —; m. third, Nancy Packard, who d. 12 Sept. 1853, a. 86 years. Six children.

- iii. WILLIAM<sup>1</sup> McCLELLAN, b. 5 March, 1762; d. 25 Jan. 1809, in New York. He was in partnership with Lemuel Chandler, in Keene, N. H., and they owned the estate where the Cheshire House stands. They traded and kept tavern. When his partner (Mr. Chandler) died, 4 Dec. 1789, Mr. McClellan was a claimant to his estate in the sum of £387:11. He m. —.
- iv. LEMUEL<sup>4</sup> McCLELLAN, b. 3 April, 1764, ten days before the death of his mother. He died Dec. 1806, in Boston, on his return from sea; m. 10 April, 1786, Lucy Fellows, of Woodstock, Conn.

She was b. in South Woodstock, Conn., dau. of Daniel<sup>4</sup> Paine, b. 22 Feb. 1703, d. 22 July, 1795, a. 93, in Woodstock, by his wife Leah Smith, who died 30 Jan. 1790, a. 79; grand dau. of Samuel<sup>3</sup> Paine, b. 12 Aug. 1662, and m. Abigail Frissel, dau. of James Frissel by his wife Elizabeth Chandler [see 118], who d. 13 Jan. 1752, a. 79; they removed, 1710, to South Woodstock, Conn.; gr. gr. dau. of Stephen<sup>2</sup> Paine, b. in England, emigrated with his father, 1638; and gr. gr. gr. dau. of Stephen<sup>1</sup> Paine, who came from Norfolk Co., England, settled at Hingham and Rehoboth in 1641, and died 1699.

After the death of Capt. Samuel Chandler, she m. 25 Oct. 1791, Rev. Josiah Whitney, who for 60 years was pastor of the Congregational Church at Brooklyn, Conn., and who was b. at Plainfield, Conn.; Y. C. 1752, and who died aged 90. Rev. Dr. Josiah Whitney had previously, on the 1st Sept. 1756, m. Lois Breck, dau. of Rev. Mr. Breck, of Springfield, Mass.

Mrs. Anna Paine Chandler Whitney had an oil likeness of herself painted by her brother-in-law, Winthrop Chandler, on canvas, full length, four feet by five, and in full dress of that day, with her hair dressed over a cushion on top of her head. She had light-colored eyes, and was rather slender in person, not tall.

They lived about a quarter of a mile west of his father's, on what was afterwards the John Paine farm, in Muddy Brook, on the Thompson line, South of "New Boston," a mile or so. He there had a farm of 300 acres; and, during the war of the Revolution, in which he was engaged, they kept tavern there.

“ Mr. Chandler,—The Army are in much want of Wood. You are therefore authorized to cut as much wood as you can find on a lot of Mr. Sewall, in Newtown, and send it on to this camp.

Cambridge, Oct. 16, 1775.

MIFLIN.”

“ Mr. Alex. Shepard,—Sir: Please to go on and cut and cart wood as fast as possible, upon the lot within mentioned. By order of Col. Miflin.

SAMUEL CHANDLER.”

“ A return of the Number of Officers and soldiers, names of, in 11 Co. 11 Regt., in the Colony of Connecticut, commanded by Capt. Samuel Chandler, Sept. 13, 1776. Total No. officers and men 22.”

“ New Haven, Conn., Sept. 14, 1776.—Rec<sup>d</sup> of the State of Con. by the hand of Oliver Ellsworth, Esq., 22£, to pay out 12 shillings to each man on the with in Roll, on account of their march to West Chester.

SAMUEL CHANDLER, Capt. 11th Co. 11 Regt.”

He was in the Legislature of Conn., May and Oct. 1780. There hangs in the house where he lived a portrait of himself and wife, by his brother Winthrop Chandler, each on canvas four feet by five. He is represented in a full sitting length, dressed in military suit, blue coat, epaulette on right shoulder, barred buff vest, buff breeches, white stockings, shoes with large silver buckles, white cravat, ruffled shirt bosom and ruffled wristbands, sword resting on the floor. The background of this picture is a battle scene.

The sword of Capt. S. Chandler is in the keeping of Dr. Samuel Chandler Paine, of Oxford, Mass., who bears his name. Capt. Samuel Chandler was a large man; had large features, dark eyes, but gray or blue.

His relatives expected more property from his estate than they received; and they gave his wife the credit of inducing him to change his will in her favor, cutting them off in his will of 20 Nov. 1789, with “ five shillings” each, and making “ my wife Anna” sole executrix. Among his bequests was “ unto the heirs of my brother Lemuel,” 5s.

The inventory of Capt. Samuel Chandler’s estate taken 1 Nov. 1790, embraced “ 2 Effigies or Likenesses,” at £6. The whole estate amounted to £596:18s:5d. And on Nov. 4, 1794, an inventory of the estate of the late Capt. Samuel Chandler, of Woodstock, was presented by Mrs. Anna Whitney, late Mrs. Anna Chandler, amounting, personal and real, to £358 : 17s : 8d. No issue.

He was b. at Pomfret, Conn., 23 Sept. 1740; d. 24 May, 1810, in the 70th year of his age, at Craftsbury.

“He was son,” said Gov. S. C. Crafts, in his history of the family, “of Samuel<sup>1</sup> Crafts, b. in Newton, near Boston, and while a young man emigrated to Pomfret, Conn., and purchased a tract of wild land which he converted into a valuable farm; married a Miss Warner and brought up a large family of children, most of whom he lived to see comfortably settled. He died at Pomfret, aged about 60.”

Col. Crafts was graduated at Y. C. 1759, and returned to Pomfret, where he was for eight years engaged in mercantile business. In the spring of 1768, he moved to Woodstock, Conn., where he remained two and a half years. Then, having purchased a farm in Sturbridge, Mass., he removed on to it. The hotel in the centre of the village he built and occupied. The large elm trees in front of it were undoubtedly planted by his hand. By his assiduity and judgment in business, he acquired a large estate.

At the commencement of hostilities in 1775, with the mother country, he was captain of a company of cavalry, raised in the towns of Sturbridge, Charlton and Dudley; and when the war broke out he was ordered to join the army with it at Cambridge. He remained in the service of his country until the British troops evacuated Boston, when he returned to Sturbridge. In 1785, a regiment of cavalry was ordered to be raised in Worcester county; of this regiment he was commissioned its first colonel, an office which he held until his removal from the county in 1791.

In “Shays’ Rebellion” he marched his newly raised regiment, in the winter of 1786-7, under Gen. B. Lincoln, into the western counties of Mass., and rendered prompt and essential service in suppressing that alarming but ill-judged outbreak.

Col. Crafts conceived the plan of founding an academy in the pleasant village where he resided; but the opportunity of procuring at auction for £515, the mansion of the late Aaron Lopez — the wealthy merchant who had fled from Newport, R. I. with other Jews, to escape the hostilities which the English waged upon that town during the Revolution — which mansion was a very suitable building, in Leicester, Mass., for the object he had in view, changed his plan. He was aided in this enterprise by Col. Jacob Davis. His influence and his benefactions to this school nurtured and did much towards establishing it on a permanent basis. The Academy at Leicester has a likeness of him (its noble founder) gracing its largest room.

But his efforts in this and other benevolent enterprises, and that general revulsion of business which, after the war, proved so disastrous to New England, so much embarrassed him in his affairs, that he was induced to sell his estates in Sturbridge and remove to Vermont, where he, in company with Gen. Newell, of Sturbridge, had purchased a township of land a few years previous, and begun a settlement in 1788. He moved there in January, 1791, but there were no roads within twenty miles of his land, and the female part of his family were drawn that distance from Cabot upon sap hand-sleds, or walked upon snow-shoes. This new town, out of respect for its founder, took the name of "Craftsbury."

For twenty years Col. E. Crafts stood in relation to the inhabitants of that place as their patriarch, friend and counsellor, whom all understood and whose friendship and fidelity all esteemed. He died in his 70th year, beloved, honored and respected. In 1792 he represented the town of Craftsbury in the Legislature. In 1786, Harvard College honored itself by bestowing the degree of A. M. on Col. Crafts.

Mrs. Crafts d. 27 Sept. 1812, in her 72d year, in Craftsbury.

The children of Col. EBENEZER and MEDITABLE CRAFTS were :

- i. MARY<sup>3</sup> CRAFTS, b. in Pomfret, Conn., 27 Sept. 1763; d. 13 Nov. 1764.
- ii. MARY<sup>3</sup> LUCRETIA CRAFTS, b. in Pomfret, 3 Dec. 1766; d. 8 Aug. 1768, at Woodstock.
- iii. SAMUEL<sup>3</sup> CHANDLER CRAFTS, b. at Woodstock, Conn., 5 Oct. 1768; died 19 Nov. 1853, a. 85, at Craftsbury. His name stands first on the catalogue of Students at Leicester Academy, which was instituted and endowed mainly by the efforts of his father, and opened 7 June, 1784; was graduated at H. U. 1790, with a Greek dialogue for his thesis. He was elected town clerk of Craftsbury, 1792, upon the organization of that town, and held that office 37 years. He was the youngest delegate to revise the constitution of Vermont in 1793. In 1796 he was member of the House of Representatives, and clerk of that body in 1798-9; member of the Executive Council from 1809 till 1812, and from 1825 to 1827; register of probate for Orleans Co. from 1796 to 1815. Was appointed judge of courts for Orleans Co., 1800; was Chief Justice of the State, from 1810 to 1816; was Representative in Congress, from 1817 to 1825; was elected Governor of Vt., 1828-'29

She was b. in Dudley, Mass., 12 July, 1752; d. 30 June, 1789, in her 37th year, in Dudley, in the house of her parent, Rev. Charles Glysson, who was a native of Brookline Mass., b. 29 Dec. 1718, H. U. 1738, ordained at Dudley, 31 Oct. 1744, m. Bethia Scarborough, dau. of Joseph Scarborough, of Roxbury, by his wife Theoda —, granddaughter of William Gliason, of Brookline, Mass., settled at Dudley, 31 Oct. 1744, and died 7 May, 1790, aged 74 years, and in the 47th of his ministry in Dudley.

Mrs. Mary Chandler left Worcester to die with her parents, for she had been some time in a decline, brought on, she said, by a hair of her own head getting into her lungs while dressing at an open window. What furniture they had was carried to Rev. Charles Glysson's, in Dudley.

They moved to Worcester, Mass., 1787, and that year Shays' soldiers (in "Shays' Rebellion," so called) were quartered at their own hired house, on Salisbury Street, where, in 1871, Hon. J. S. C. Knowlton resided. Mr. and Mrs. C. soon exchanged that house for one of Dr. Willard's, near the Common, in the rear of Notre Dame Church, where they resided until they left town, all to go to their own homesteads and relatives to die.

He (Winthrop) studied the art of portrait painting in Boston, it was said; and some of his portraits in oil are still remaining in Woodstock and Thompson, Conn., and in Worcester and Petersham, Mass. The likeness of his wife and of himself, by his own brush, were, until his death, 1861, in the keeping of their son, Winthrop Hilton Chandler, at Avon, N. Y. Her likeness shows that she was handsome, that she had regular features, was of light delicate complexion, had blue eyes, and when sitting for her portrait was dressed in green silk, with her hair turned back over her head.

He is represented in a wig, with dark hazel eyes, fresh complexion, with features rather large, as may be seen in the accompanying engraving of his likeness.

In his leisure from portrait painting, which at that day was, in this country, in its infancy, and was at a time when a taste for the fine arts could not, for want of pecuniary means, be indulged in, he sought the means of sustaining his young family in house painting, and for that purpose had a shop near the burying-ground, on the Common, and near the building for the manufacture of cotton and linen, east of the Common.

He carved with great skill and ingenuity the coat of arms of England, about one foot in diameter, for the mansion of his cousin, Sheriff Gardiner Chandler, in Worcester, where, in 1864, Hon. Ira M. Barton lived, and in 1882, stood the granite block of Ransom C. Taylor. This coat of arms in oak, was afterwards in keeping of Mrs. Mary Greene (Chandler) Ware, of Lancaster.

The last days of his life were embittered by poverty, and by disease brought on by a fall from a horse. The town records of Worcester show that John Barnard rendered an "account of 18s. 3d. for assistance to Winthrop Chandler," 1789, he being "poor and diseased." He died on Chandler Hill, in Thompson, Conn., at the house of his brother Theophilus Chandler, Esq., 29 July, 1790.

The "Worcester Spy" of Aug. 19, 1790, says: "Died at Woodstock, Mr. Winthrop Chandler, of this Town; a man whose native genius has been serviceable to the community in which he resided. By profession he was a house painter; but many good likenesses on canvas show he could guide the pencil of a limner. He left a manuscript that discovers that he had merit as a botanist; many plants, the growth of his native county, are, in his manuscript, not only well delineated, but are accurately and botanically described. The world was not his enemy; but as is too common, his genius was not matured on the bosom of encouragement. Embarrassment, like strong weeds in a garden of delicate flowers, checked his usefulness and disheartened the man. Peace to his manes."

The children of WINTHIROP and MARY (Glysson) CHANDLER were:

770. i. JEMIMA BRADBURY, b. 24 Nov. 1773; d. 2 Nov. 1862; m. 24 April, 1795, Dr. Isaac Osgood, of Pomfret, Conn.

771. ii. SAMUEL, b. in Killingly, Conn., 3 Sept. 1775; d. 11 June, 1821, at Augusta; m. 1 Jan. 1802, Abigail Durkee, of Augusta, N. Y.

772. iii. WILLIAM, b. 24 Aug. 1777; d. 1850, in Tennessee; unm.; H. U. 1801. In vacation he plied the brush of a house painter to help himself along.

In 1801 he taught school in the second school district in Dorchester, Mass.; and he is said in the History of Dorchester "to have been a man of fine attainments and a correct scholar. Though of a constitution apparently feeble, he was a good disciplinarian, and particularly circumspect in preserving order in the school." He moved to Tennessee, and was tutor in Cumberland College. He settled near Nashville, which was his post-office address. He did not marry, because once trying and not succeeding, brought on an affection of the heart. He was the owner of land, and at his death was seized of a family of five slaves, all of whom were liberated with the full and hearty consent of all the heirs, and they were brought on to Clinton, N. Y., by Rev. H. H. Kellogg, who went on as agent of the other heirs, to settle the estate. A comfortable house was built for the family. But they were so discontented and unhappy, at the cold north, away from their former mates, that they were sent back to sunny Tennessee, and there received most of the remains of the property of their late master, that had not been swallowed up by the hungry officials in the settlement of the estate. A likeness of him was at his brother's, in Avon, N. Y., 1861.

774. v. CHARLES GLYSSON, b. 14 June, 1780; d. 29 March, 1786, in his sixth year, at Worcester, but was buried at Woodstock, Conn., from the house of his uncle, Capt. Samuel<sup>1</sup> Chandler.

775. vi. JOSEPH; died young.

776. vii. WINTHIROP HILTON, b. 24 Feb. 1783; m. 11 Nov. 1805, Rebecca Smith.

She was b. 17 April, 1750; d. 17 June, 1829, at Norwich,

John<sup>2</sup> Griswold, who m. Hannah Lee, was her grandfather; and Matthew<sup>1</sup> Griswold, who m. Phebe Hyde, dau. of Samuel Hyde and Jane Lee, who was dau. of Thomas Lee, of England, was her great-grandfather.

She introduced the name of "Marian," which was adopted as the Christian name for their daughters by many parents, for its euphony and for the marked character of her who bore it, in the near branches of the Chandler family.

After the death of her first husband, Judge Chandler, 8 Aug. 1787, aged 41, she m. Capt. Ebenezer Lane, of Northampton, Mass. He was b. 10 Feb. 1747, at Attleboro', Mass., second son of Ebenezer Lane, who came to Dorchester with his family in 1635, and died in 1664. Capt. Lane, of Northampton, had had two wives before he married widow Chandler. His first wife was Phebe Parsons, dau. of Rev. Jonathan Parsons and Phebe Griswold. She d. 12 Nov. 1781. He then married, 6 July, 1783, Martha Phelps, who died about 1785. By her he had: 1, Martin Lane, who m. 1809, Lucretia Swan; and 2, Martha Lane, who m. Maj. William Swan, of Worthington.

Capt. E. Lane was a retired ship-master, and with his third wife settled at Northampton, where he died 21 June, 1808, leaving his last wife Marian (Griswold Chandler) surviving him. Her child by him, Ebenezer Lane, b. 17 Sept. 1793, at Northampton; H. C. 1811; lawyer; LL.D., 1850; m. his first cousin, Frances Ann Griswold, who was born 15 Jan. 1795, eldest daughter of Gov. Roger Griswold by his wife Fanny Rogers. They settled at Elyria, Ohio, and removed in 1819 to Norwalk, where he was elected Judge of the Court of Common Pleas in 1824. He was chosen Judge of the Superior Court in 1831, '38 and '45, and from 1835 was Chief Justice of the Superior Court. He subsequently resigned his judicial office and was engaged in railroads. They were living at Chicago in 1859, and he was vice-president of the Illinois Central Railroad Co. He died 12 June, 1866.

After the death of her second husband, Mrs. Marian (Griswold Chandler) Lane m. Dec. 1810, at Norwich, Justin Ely, Esq., of West Springfield, Mass., who was graduated at H. C. 1759; merchant in West Springfield; Justice of the Quorum; d. aged 78, 26 June, 1817. She was his second wife, and died 17 June, 1829, without issue by him. But his son Theodore Ely, by his first wife Ruth White, b. 10 Aug. 1764; d. 29 Nov. 1838, a. 75; m. Hannah Chandler, the sixth child of this Marian Griswold by her first husband Charles Church Chandler.

When first asked to become Mrs. Ely, Marian's grief and surprise were manifested in her reply: "Oh! I can't think of burying another husband!"

Charles Church Chandler was a graduate of H. C. 1763; lawyer; resided on the Chandler homestead in S. Woodstock, where his father, grandfather, and great-grandfather Dea. John Chandler settled in 1686 and lived. The place was sold by his widow to Christopher Arnold.

Mr. C. C. Chandler built the house on the west side of the road and first one south of the brook in S. Woodstock, but did not live to get into it. Maj. Philip Arnold afterwards lived there.

Mr. Chandler represented the town in General Court, 1775. "The town committee for maintaining a correspondence with this and the neighboring colonies," chosen 21 June, 1778, consisted of Capt. Elisha Child, Charles Church Chandler, Jedediah Morse, Esq., Capt. Samuel McClellan and Nathaniel Child, Esq. He was in the Legislature in 1779 and '80, and was in "nomination for Assistant," 1784. With Thaddeus Burr, of Fairfield, he was appointed at the spring term by the General Assembly of Connecticut, 1775, to employ, at "the expense of the colony, two news carriers to perform regular stages from Fairfield to Woodstock, backwards and forwards, so as to arrive in Hartford every Saturday, and forward all intelligence through the country with all convenient speed." [Hinman.]

He was a man of rare talents, a distinguished whig of that day, and of high promise. He was elected to the Continental Congress.

A manuscript in the handwriting of the Hon. Isaiah Thomas, of Worcester, Mass., says:

"Died on the 8th instant, the Hon. Charles Church Chandler, Esq., of Woodstock, of a malignant cynauche, and on Friday following, attended by a numerous procession, his remains were interred. He was an eminent practitioner in the law; he sustained several important public characters with reputation and ability—as Judge of Probate, representative of the town to the General Assembly, and had been elected a member for Congress. As a man of genius and ability, he was universally known and respected; as a man of philanthropy and goodness, he was universally beloved. He needs not the soft hand of flattery to pourtray his virtues; his best and most honorable epitaph is engraven in the memory of all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance. A widow with six children and an aged mother, and numerous more distant relations, with the public at large, regret his loss."

His estate was appraised 27 Dec. 1787, by Peter Chandler, Thomas Chandler and Jabez Denison, and it amounted to £8,584 : 9 : 7½. The farm on the west side of the road, £1,822.

The division was made 3 Sept., 1789, to

She d. 3 Feb. 1790; dau. of Capt. Painter (or Penther), of New Haven, Conn. She had nine children born in Chester.

He m. second, Olive Archer. She left three children.

He married himself third to Anna Tarbell before Mr. Justice Heald of Chester. While residing at Walpole, N. H., he was chosen "Hay ward."

As one of the first three families that settled in Chester, Vt., the proprietors thereof voted him 500 acres of land, and he chose it in "The Great Meadow," on the west side of the river, opposite his brother Thomas's lot, beginning at the Great Elm Tree. He was constable in Chester in 1765; and at the first town meeting held there, he was chosen one of the selectmen and surveyor. He held a "Dedimus Potestatem" commission from the Government of New York, from 1766 to 1772; and during the same period he was assistant judge of the Inferior Court. He held the office of county clerk from July 16, 1766, to 25 Feb. 1772, when he was removed from office for misconduct.

He d. 1821, in Andover, Vt., in the 84th year of his age.

HON. JUDGE THOMAS<sup>5</sup> CHANDLER, JR. (Thomas,<sup>4</sup> John,<sup>3</sup> John,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and Sarah<sup>5</sup> Lord, Chester, Vt., dau. of Joseph,<sup>4</sup> of Joseph,<sup>3</sup> of Thomas,<sup>2</sup> of Robert<sup>1</sup> Lord and Mary Wait, of Ipswich, Mass., 1636.

As one of the first three settlers, the proprietors voted him 500 acres, and he chose them by the elm tree in the "Big Meadow." At an adjourned meeting of the Proprietors of New Flamstead, held at Worcester, Mass., 22 March, 1763, he was chosen clerk of the proprietors, and for several years after was re-chosen to the same office.

In convention of the people held at Westminster, 15 Jan. 1777, of N. H. Grants, he was the member from Chester, and chairman of the committee to arrange the State government.

At the first session of the Legislature of Vermont, 12 March, 1778, Major Thomas Chandler was chosen clerk of the House, and on the next day, the 13th, he was chosen Secretary of State, and held both offices. On the 8th Oct., 1778, he was made Speaker of the House of Representatives. He represented the town of Chester in the General Assembly, in 1777, 1783, and also in 1787; he was member of the Council in 1779 and '80; was Justice of the first Superior Court, and was Commissioner of Sequestration of Tory Estates.

In the "Westminster Massacre" he opposed the course of the Court and Tory party, favoring the side of the people, and used his influence not to have the court try to sit for the trial of civil cases.

Although he lost his place as speaker from his former connection with New York, he always exerted himself in the American cause in his town, and his patriotism was undoubted.

Having been reduced to poverty by long sickness in his family, he died, it is supposed, as much embarrassed, though not as miserable, as his father. While the country was under the régime of New York, he held high offices, which he lost as it became a State.

But it has been said of him "that he retrieved the reputation of his family name by his opposition to his father's policy." He was conspicuous in the formation of the State Government of Vermont.

The children of THOMAS and SARAH (Lord) CHANDLER were:

795. I. LUCY, b. 28 May, 1764; m. 23 May, 1782, Ezekiel Colburn, both of Chester, Vt.

COL. JOHN<sup>5</sup> CHANDLER (Joseph,<sup>4</sup> Joseph,<sup>3</sup> John,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and Mary<sup>5</sup> Chandler (William,<sup>4</sup> John,<sup>3</sup> John,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) Newtown, Conn.

She was b. 1/4 Feb. 1738; d. 3 Feb. 1816, at the residence of her dau. Mrs. Anne Maria Phelps, in Farnham, Canada East. She was dau. of Capt. William<sup>4</sup> and Jemima Chandler, of Killingly, near Woodstock. They were second cousins.

“Grafton, ss. New Hampshire. I Mary Chandler of Newton in Conn. relict of John Chandler, deceased, but now of Peacham, Vt. depose and say that, in the life time of the said John Chandler, and about the time of the Marriage of his daughter Elizabeth J. Chandler to William Edmonds, said Chandler gave the said Elizabeth one hundred and thirty pounds lawful money's value, in household furniture, including one Cow, as her marriage settlement, which she, the said Elizabeth, received as part of her portion of s<sup>d</sup> Chandler's estate in s<sup>d</sup> Newtown, which was estimated by s<sup>d</sup> Chandler and myself to be worth the aforesaid sum; and that about two years after, she received, at Pomfret, at the decease of the deceased's father, to the value of nine pounds in s<sup>d</sup> kind of furniture, which I also considered as part of her portion of my late husband's estate, and further saith not.

(Signed)

MARY CHANDLER.

In Peacham, Jan. 11, 1799, Personally appeared Mary Chandler, the above signed, and made solemn oath that the above deposition contained the truth, before me,

JOSEPH LORD, Jus. Peace.”

Mrs. Chandler went to reside with her daughter Mrs. Anne Maria Phelps, at Farnham, C. E., and died there; but there is a cenotaph in the family lot at Peacham to her memory, which says she “Died at Stanbridge, L. C., Feb. 3d, 1816, aged 78 years.”

Mr. Chandler was one of eight young men from the small town of Pomfret, Conn., who were graduated at Yale College, in the class of 1759. The seven others afterwards settled in various towns in Massachusetts, as congregational clergymen; but he settled at Newtown as a physician, and became a preacher of the gospel. He built there the two-story gambrel-roofed house, shingled on the sides, which is the first house south of the meeting house, on the west side of the street at the centre of the town. He kept tavern in that house, and Gen. Washington stopped there with him over night on his way to Cambridge, to take command of the American forces. At one time, during the Revolutionary war, the French army was encamped on the hills just in front of his house.

“On the 14th June, 1776, John Chandler, Esq., was appointed by the Legislature of Connecticut, Lieutenant-Colonel under Col. Gold Sellick Silliman, Esq., of the first Battalion of Foot,” “ordered to be raised,” and he marched directly to New York to join the continental army.

His regiment and Col. Durkee's, in Gen. Gold S. Silliman's brigade, were left by General Washington to cover the army's retreat from Long Island, on the night of the 29th of August, 1776; and after the army had crossed over to —, Gen. Washington sent word to Cols. Chandler and Durkee, “To get off the best way they could, in order or not.” In their retreat they passed through a field of grain, and in doing so, Col. Chandler got wet, from which he “took cold,” that resulted in chronic rheumatism, by which he was not long afterwards disabled from active duty in the field. Of this retreat of the army, “The Testimony of Hezekiah Ripley, Chaplain,” contains the following: “On or about the 15th Sept. 1776, Gen. Putnam informed me that the British had landed on the East side of the Island in N. Y., and I must escape on the west side. Gen. John Chandler, then acting Colonel in Gen. Gold S. Silliman's Brigade, told me that the bravery and good conduct of Col. Aaron Burr saved that Brigade from falling into the hands of the British.”

Justice of the Peace, 1780.

He was appointed by the Legislature to the command of the Eleventh Regiment, ordered to be raised in 1777.

He acted as paymaster for the commissary department, towards the close of the war.

Silliman, in his Genealogy, says: “Col. Chandler, afterwards General, proved himself patriotic and a useful officer during the war.”

He was a member of the convention to ratify the constitution of the United States in 1788, and voted to ratify; was side Judge of the County Courts for Fairfield County, Conn., in 1790, and “first side Judge” in 1794; a member of the Court of Appeals. He was nominated for “Assistant” in 1789, and elected in 1795.

When about to remove to Vermont, there appeared in the “Phoenix” (Windham, Conn.), the following card:

“The subscriber, contemplating a removal with his family, from his present place of residence, into the State of Vermont, acknowledges with gratitude the repeated testimony of his friends in his favor; and requests they will no longer consider him as a candidate for any office in this State.

(Signed) JOHN CHANDLER.

Newton, Dec. 26, 1795.”

Gen. Chandler removed to Peacham, Vt., with his family, but lived only a few days after arriving there; and his was the first recorded death of an adult, "March 15, 1796," in that town.

Mr. Chandler was inclined to scientific pursuits, and for that purpose had one room in his house devoted to that object, in which were kept the retorts, vials, &c. of the chemist. As this room was usually kept closed when he was not in it, and as anybody, at that day, who might be engaged in anything that was not materially useful awakened the suspicions of the ignorant, stories were told in the neighborhood of Mr. Chandler's dealing in the "black art," his searching for the philosopher's stone, &c.

"While in the service he had acquired the generous and hospitable habits of the officers of the army, which were incompatible with the ability to save much money."

On a white marble slab, two and a half by five feet, in Peacham Cemetery, is inscribed:

JOHN CHANDLER died March 15 1796
aged 60 years.
He served his country as Colonel in the Revolutionary Army.

He was born in Pomfret, 25 Oct. 1744; d. 11 March, 1825, at Providence, aged 81 years; son of David<sup>1</sup> Williams by his wife Elizabeth Dana, b. 7 April, 1725, dau. of Samuel Dana, of Pomfret, by his second wife Susanna Starr.

“They lived at one time at the east end of Pucker Street, in the Old Salt Box, opposite Gen. Lemuel Grosvenor’s store, in Pomfret,” Conn., and had a store just East of his house. “Feb. 28, 1773, Elijah Williams and Abigail his wife admitted to the church.” [Chh. Records of Pomfret.]

Proprietors’ Records of Woodstock, Conn. “Upon the special request of Mr. Elijah Williams, of Pomfret, for liberty of the Proprietors of the South Half of Woodstock, to set up a store in the most convenient place on the said Proprietors’ land, near the house he lately purchased of Asa Bishop of s<sup>d</sup> Woodstock.

“Jedediah Morse, Proprietors’ clerk, notified a meeting to be held May 14, 1784, to hear the request of s<sup>d</sup> Elijah Williams and act thereon.” “At a meeting on the above May 14, 1784, Voted that Maj. Elijah Williams have liberty to set up a store near the house he lately purchased,” &c. “for 6s. 8d. annually.”

“At a Meeting Jan. 1801, of the Proprietors of the South Half of Woodstock, Nathan Child Moderator, Voted that the promoters for an Academy have a privilege to set a building on the Common North of the Meeting House near Maj. Elijah Williams’s Land for s<sup>d</sup> purpose.”

Maj. Elijah Williams sold his stand to Wm. Bowen and his son Maj. John<sup>3</sup> Williams, who associated himself in trade with Mr. Wm. Bowen, afterwards removed to Providence, R. I., and resided at No. 51 George Street.

Mrs. Abigail Williams died 14 June, 1834, aged 87, in Providence, R. I.

The children of ABIGAIL and Maj. ELIJAH WILLIAMS were :

She was born 14 Nov. 1740; d. 2 Aug. 1811, aged 70 years, and was buried by the side of her husband in Monson, and is made to say on a slate-stone slab, at her grave:

" I bid my friends a long farewell,
To dwell in dust and clay,
Till Christ my Saviour calls me home
At the great judgment day."

Upon the alarm following the capture of Fort William Henry by Montcalm, 1757, four volunteer companies marched from Windham Co., Conn. And in the one from Pomfret, commanded by Capt. John Grosvenor, was enrolled Elijah Chandler, then about 20 years old.

He was a wheelwright, and owned at one time what was in 1860, the Poor Farm in Monson, which he sold and bought an intervale farm in the north-east part of the town on the south side of the river, where his grandson Elijah afterwards lived. He was highway surveyor and collector in 1789. "In the 11th year of his present Majesty's Reign George III. he had one Cow, one Horse," &c. [Town Records.] He died 26 Nov. 1821, in his 84th year.

The children of ELIJAH and SARAH (Frizzel) CHANDLER were:

He was born in Pomfret, 4 Sept. 1740; d. 23 April, 1815, at Pomfret; was the eleventh child of Samuel<sup>3</sup> Dana by his third wife Mary Sumner, b. 2 Nov. 1702, d. 28 April, 1770, and whom he m. 31 Dec. 1731, dau. of George<sup>3</sup> Sumner, b. 9 Feb. 1666, m. Ann Tucker, of Roxbury, Mass., gr. dau. of George<sup>2</sup> Sumner, b. in England, 14 Feb. 1634, m. 7 Nov. 1662, Mary, dau. of Edward Baker, of Brush Hill, Milton, Mass., and gr. gr. dau. of William Sumner, of Dorchester, Mass.

Mrs. Mary Dana d. 30 Nov. 1784, aged 48, leaving nine children.

Dea. Elijah<sup>4</sup> Dana m. second, 21 Jan. 1787, Elizabeth Chandler. [See 338.] She d. 20 May, 1831, aged 89.

He was b. in Pomfret, 21 June, 1742; d. "Oct. ye 15th, 1786, in ye 45 year of his age," and was buried in the Wappaquians lot in Pomfret. He was son of Salmon Griggs, of Pomfret, by his wife Hannah. He was a farmer, on the line of Woodstock, half a mile west of the Norwich and Worcester turnpike, where his sons Benjamin and Nathan afterwards lived.

He was ensign in the 1st Co. 11th Reg't, under Capt. Caleb Clark, at New Haven, Conn., 13 Sept. 1776, on the march to West Chester, N. Y., in the war of the Revolution.

As a specimen of church discipline of that day — held to be orthodox and necessary to preserve church polity pure, until (it was said) their pastor found himself, by some backsliding, in the same category, and then and afterwards the doings of the church on that point were no longer spread out on its records — one may read on the old church records:

"April 24, 1768. Stephen Griggs and Sarah his wife made ye peace w<sup>h</sup> ye church, confessing ye sine of fornication.

A. PUTNAM," Pastor.

And on the same day it is recorded they "owned the covenant." She died 31 March, 1814, aged 73.

The children of SARAH and Capt. STEPHEN GRIGGS were :

- i. BENJAMIN<sup>3</sup> GRIGGS, b. in Pomfret, 5 April, 1767; d. 5 Oct. 1831, in Pomfret; m. first, 21 Nov. 1792, Selah Howe, b. 1760, d. 28 Jan. 1805, dau. of John Howe, of Plainfield, Conn. ABIJAH<sup>5</sup> CHANDLER (Daniel,<sup>4</sup> Joseph,<sup>3</sup> John,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and Sabra Mann, Nicholville, St. Lawrence Co., N. Y.

She died 19 June, 1837, in her 75th year, and was buried in Nicholville.

He and his brother Daniel took goods and carried them to Lebanon, N. H., and traded at the outlet of Enfield Pond. But they were not successful. In 1791 he was taxed in Lebanon, £1:10:6. He left Lebanon in 1806, and went to St. Lawrence Co., and Mrs. Chandler was the first white woman in what is now Hopkinton, N. Y. He bought land two miles east of Nicholville, on the Malone road, and built a house on the south side and kept a tavern there. Danforth Ellithrop lived in the same house in 1863. This house is about one mile east of Nicholville. He worked at the stone mason business, which he probably learned of his father, and he built the stone grist-mill in Nicholville on the east branch of the St. Regis. He was a justice of the peace and tried causes. He was one of the original members of the Baptist Society formed in Hopkinton, 17 Feb. 1818, and was a trustee thereof. This church was removed to Nicholville. He died 4 Nov. 1830, in his 67th year.

She was b. at Haverhill, N. H., 22 Aug. 1766; d. 3 March, 1853, aged 86 years, and was buried by the remains of her husband, who died a few days before her, in the yard of the Episcopal church at Frelighsburg village, St. Armand.

Mr. Chandler bought out the heirs of his father's estate at East Hartford, Conn., but failed there through his partner in business. He then removed to Lebanon, N. H., where he traded in partnership with his brother, Abijah Chandler, but they were not successful, and he "moved into Canada, January 16, 1799;" and he wrote in his bible, "My wife arrived Feb. 10, 1799." He traded at St. Armand in what was then called "Slab City." He had a farm a mile east of that village. He worked at brick-laying and was a master builder. He was a soldier in the war of the Revolution, and a pensioner. He went to the war at the age of 15 for his brother Abijah, who was drafted. He died 15 Jan. 1853, aged 82.

She was b. 2 July, 1761; d. 9 Oct. 1798, at Providence, R. I.; dau. of Benjamin<sup>2</sup> Thurber, who was b. 14 July, 1734, d. 28 April, 1807, m. 13 Dec. 1756, Phebe Dyer, who was b. 12 Aug. 1736, died 1 Sept. 1818, aged 82, dau. of Charles Dyer,

Mr. Lemuel Chandler was at New Haven, Conn., 13 Sept. 1776, in Capt. Caleb Clark's company of forty-two men, the first company in the 11th regiment of soldiers, mostly from Pomfret, Conn., on their march to West Chester, N. Y.; and at that time and place, Capt. Clark "was paid 20 shilling" for each man in his company.

In connection with his father-in-law he advertised in the "Connecticut Gazette," of New London, on the 21st of June, 1782, as follows:

"To be sold by Thurber and Chandler, late of Pomfret, Conn., at their store at the sign of the Bunch of Grapes, North End, Providence, R. I., near Maj. Thayer's Tavern, on the most reasonable terms for cash only, West India and New England Rum, French Brandy," &c.

"N. B. Said T. and C. have for sale warranted Cotton and Woolen Cards of their own manufactory, by the dozen or single pair. They are also to be sold by Capt. Caleb Clark and Mr. Elijah Williams in Pomfret," &c.

"Providence, April 27, 1782."

In 1781, Maj. Jonathan Hale removed his card-making business from Concord, N. H., to Pomfret, Conn. So said his apprentice, Timothy Chandler. [See 942.]

Mr. Lemuel Chandler removed to Keene, N. H., where he was in trade with his half-brother, William<sup>6</sup> Chandler, and was connected in business with his relative, Mr. William McClellan. He kept a public house on the spot where the Cheshire House now stands in Keene.

Mr. C. died 4 Dec. 1789, at the age of 30, and was buried at the south end of Main Street, Keene, and his estate was administered on by his brother-in-law, Dr. Thomas Edwards, and Elijah Dunbar, of Keene.

The inventory of Lemuel Chandler's estate, inn-holder, amounted, 27 Sept. 1790, to £746:16:1.

To the widow Alice Chandler there was set off, 18 Dec. 1790, her thirds, consisting of a farm in Packersfield, N. H., buildings and land (100 acres), and one-eighth part of a forge, grist-mill and saw-mill, with five acres of land in Winchendon.

After her husband's death Mrs. Alice Chandler removed to Providence, where her father had gone, after selling his farm in Pomfret, Conn.; and there she advertised in the "Providence Gazette" of Oct. 27, 1797, that she had "removed her Goods to the store lately occupied by Dr. Throop, opposite the Episcopal Church, at the sign of the Bunch of Grapes, where she offered for sale a very good assortment of English, Irish and Scotch Goods."

The children of LEMUEL and ALICE (Thurber) CHANDLER were :

909. I. MARY, b. 3 Sept. 1782; d. 16 Sept. 1782.
 910. II. BENJAMIN THURBER, b. 9 Sept. 1783; m. 19 Nov. 1807, Mary Tillinghast, of Providence.
 911. III. LEMUEL, b. 23 Oct. 1788; m. 21 May, 1812, Elizabeth Gorton Tillinghast, of Providence.

He was b. at Woodstock, 28 Dec. 1763; d. 14 May, 1837, aged 74, son of Capt. Matthew<sup>4</sup> Bowen, b. 22 Oct. 1724? d. 16 Feb. 1806, aged 81, by his wife Mary<sup>4</sup> (probably Dana, who was b. 3 March, 1726-7, d. 26 June, 1813, aged 87 years, 3 mos., dau. of Isaac<sup>3</sup> Dana and Sarah Winchester his wife, granddau. of Benjamin<sup>2</sup> Dana by Mary Buckminster, and great-granddau. of Richard<sup>1</sup> and Anne Dana); gr.-son of Henry<sup>3</sup> Bowen, Esq., who was b. at Roxbury, 1700, d. 1 Jan. 1758, a. 58, a weaver by trade, by his wife Margaret Davis, who d. 14 April, 1762; great-grandson of Isaac<sup>2</sup> Bowen, b. at Roxbury, 20 April, 1676, and gr.-gr.-grandson of Henry<sup>1</sup> Bowen.

The ancestor came from Roxbury, Mass., 1686. The family was of Welsh origin, and its history extends back until it becomes tradition; but the name became Anglicized to Bowen from Ap Owen, or son of Owen.

William<sup>5</sup> Bowen was a man of medium height, of thin and spare make, of highly nervous temperament, and of light complexion. He was by trade a harness-maker and saddler. He was, 1804, proprietors' clerk of the South half of Woodstock. He kept a tavern at the north end of the Common. He had a store of goods there, and was postmaster and justice of the peace. In later life he removed back on to the Bowen homestead, at the south end of "Plain Hill," just west of where stood the first meeting-house.

Mrs. Mary Chandler Bowen was very handsome when young, as a portrait at the house of her grandson, Capt. Andrew W. Bowen, will show. She was rather slender, had black eyes and hair, clear dark skin and chin receding. She made a most excellent housekeeper and landlady. "She was," said her pastor, Rev. Wm. M. Cornell, "like Lois, truly a mother in Israel; and she united with the church after more than twenty years of unfeigned faith and desire." In her advanced years she wasted away in her physical, and failed in her mental, powers. She died 10 Feb. 1834, in her 74th year, in Woodstock.

The children of MARY and WILLIAM BOWEN were :

- i. GEORGE<sup>6</sup> BOWEN, b. at Woodstock, 8 June, 1789; d. 6 Jan. 1846, at Woodstock, aged 56. LUCY<sup>5</sup> CHANDLER (Peter,<sup>4</sup> Joseph,<sup>3</sup> John,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and Dr. Joseph<sup>2</sup> Lord, St. Johnsbury, Vt.

He was a native of Preston, Conn.; b. 1755; d. 6 Nov. 1829, aged 74 years, and was buried at Castle Bar, Shipton, C. E. He was a son of Joseph<sup>1</sup> Lord; read medicine in Pomfret, Conn.

They settled at Winchester, N. H.; but, in 1787, removed to St. Johnsbury. He was one of the twenty associates with Jonathan Arnold, to whom the corporation of that town was granted 22 Jan. 1791, by Governor Thomas Chittenden. At a meeting of the proprietors of St. Johnsbury, 18 June, 1787, at the house of Jonathan Arnold, Dr. Thomas Lord was chosen clerk, and on the 6th of Aug. following he was chosen their treasurer. Dr. Lord practised his profession many years at St. Johnsbury, and afterwards kept the tavern at the south end of the street. The house stood facing north, up the main street, in which Gov. E. Fairbanks afterwards lived. He was a justice of the peace; was honest and saving, but financially unfortunate in establishing a saw-mill and making improvements on his property in the new town of New Ireland, Canada East, where he resided after the death of his wife, with his son, Peter Chandler Lord; but d. at the house of his son, William Loren Lord, at Castle Bar.

Mrs. Lucy Lord was a woman of rather small size; she had a clear dark skin, hazel eyes and was fleshy and handsome. She was prudent, energetic, and fully able to conduct the out-door and in-door business of their public-house in the absence of her husband. She d. 9 July, 1816, and was buried in the old graveyard where the new court house now (1866) stands. The stone monument at her grave has been removed to "Mount Pleasant," the new cemetery. On this stone is inscribed:—

"Psalms xc: 12. Mrs. Lucy Lord, born in Pomfret, Conn., March 23, 1762; died July 9, 1816, aged 54 years. Her Husband Joseph Lord and 5 children mourn the departed wife and Mother."

A tract of land was given to her for being the first white woman to move into St. Johnsbury.

The children of LUCY and Dr. JOSEPH LORD were :

- i. JAMES<sup>3</sup> LORD, b. at Winchester, N. H., 17 Sept. 1785 ; d. at Tingwick, Arthabaska Co., C. E., where he settled, March, 1826, on two hundred acres of land, for the improvements on which he then paid $400, and afterwards one dollar per acre to the government. He lived in a log house, which was occupied later by his son, Royal Lord. He was buried at Castle Bar, Shipton, aged 73 ; he d. 27 Dec. 1858 ; m. Sarah Marcia Learned. She d. 9 March, 1838, a. 46, dau. of Royal Learned, of New Hampshire, by his wife Tamer Davis, gr.-dau. of Abijah Learned, by his wife Ann Wales. Seven children.
- ii. WILLIAM<sup>3</sup> LOREN LORD, b. at St. Johnsbury, 1789 ; d. at Castle Bar, just "over Nicholas" river, in Shipton, C. E., on the farm which he took up March, 1824. He resided in Pomfret, Conn., with his grandfather Peter, and his uncle John Wilkes Chandler, from the age of four to the age of sixteen years. When on their way, in 1824, from St. Johnsbury to Ireland, Megantic Co., C. E.—a township bought by his grandfather Peter Chandler—the families of his brother James and his own were blocked up by a deep snow storm, and they were so tired of travelling through the almost unbroken wilderness that he purchased a farm on the top of the hill just "over Nicholas." The Grand Trunk Railroad passes through his farm. He m. 21 March, 1819, Betsey Learned, both of St. Johnsbury, sister of his brother James's wife. Nine children.
- iii. PETER<sup>3</sup> CHANDLER LORD, b. 1792. He lived in Pomfret, Conn., with his grandfather, Peter Chandler, while young ; settled in Ireland, Megantic Co., C. E., in 1818 ; farmer : m. 24 Jan. 1817, Lois Dexter West, dau. of Judge Presby West, of St. Johnsbury and Lancaster, N. H., by his wife Miss Carlton. Ten children.
- iv. SOPHIA<sup>3</sup> CAROLINE LORD, b. 1795 ; d. 1849, at Irasburg, aged 50 ; m. 25 May, 1817, George Carlton West, son of Judge Presby West, of St. Johnsbury. They resided at Brownington and Irasburg, Vt. He m. second, Christina Richardson, and lived at Hartland, Vt. Mrs. Sophia C. L. West was an excellent woman, beloved and highly respected by all. Three children.
- v. CHARLES<sup>3</sup> LORD, b. 27 May, 1797 ; resides in New York city: When he was twenty-one years old he went to Boston and resided there ten years, and then removed to New York. - vi. LAURA<sup>3</sup> LORD, b. 1801 ; d. 19 April, 1804.

He was b. in Middletown, Conn., 18 Feb. 1757; d. 12 April 1837, in his 81st year, in Keene; son of Thomas<sup>1</sup> Edwards, who emigrated from Wales, England, and landed in Boston, but soon settled in Middletown, Conn., where he was a goldsmith. His first wife was a Miss McKey, who d. in Middletown, leaving the subject of this notice. Mr. Thomas<sup>1</sup> Edwards then went back to Boston and m. 13 June, 1758, Mary Johonnot, b. 1730, dau. of Andrew (Andrai) Johonnot, b. 21 June, 1705, m. Susan (dau. of Anthoine and Marie Olivier), a distiller on Long Lane (Federal Street), Boston, in 1748. Mary Johonnot was granddaughter of Daniel Johonnot, who was b. in France, 1668, arrived in Boston 1686, and went to Oxford, Mass., with his uncle Andrai Sigournie. He remained in Oxford until 25 Aug. 1696, when that place was broken up by the Indians, and Jean Jeanson and three children were massacred. But Jean Jeanson, daughter of Andrai Sigournie, was rescued from the Indians by Daniel Johonnot, whom she afterwards married. They were consins.

Mr. Thomas<sup>1</sup> Edwards was at the commencement of the Revolution in the employment of the government. He was a loyalist, and went with the British to Halifax, and thence to London, where he died at an advanced age.

Dr. Thomas<sup>2</sup> Edwards, whose mother died when he was about two weeks old, went to live with his aunt Barrett, in Middletown, and remained with her in Middletown until he was twelve years old, and then went with her to Springfield, Vt. At the age of twenty-one he began the study of medicine with Dr. Frink, of Keene, N. H., and commenced practice there. He was two years in Providence, R. I., with his cousin Dr. McKey, in the practice of his profession and in the sale of drugs. He returned to Keene and bought the Chandler Hotel, which his brother-in-law, Lemuel Chandler, had kept. This hotel was a famous stage-house at that day. His son-in-law, John Hatch, kept it afterwards. The Cheshire House stands on the spot now, 1882.

In person Dr. Edwards was rather under size; he had a large head, broad shoulders, was of a nervous temperament, and was very active in thought, feeling and motion, his complexion quite light.

Mrs. Matilda Edwards was noted for her great vivacity of spirits and for her social feelings, which kept her young until almost eighty years old, when she d. 24 Nov. 1843.

The children of MATILDA and Dr. THOMAS EDWARDS were :

- i. THOMAS<sup>3</sup> EDWARDS, b. in Keene, 13 June, 1788; d. young.
- ii. MARY<sup>3</sup> EDWARDS, b. 13 April, 1789; m. 18 Nov. 1819, Benjamin Kimball, Esq., who was b. in Swansea, N. H., 1 March,

- 1778; d. 15 Sept. 1830, son of Jethro Kimball, by his wife Mary Warren; lawyer in Winchester, N. H. After his death Mrs. Kimball resided at Keene with her daughter, and died there 30 Dec. 1872 in her 84th year. Five children.
- iii. SARAH<sup>3</sup> EDWARDS, b. 6 March, 1791; d. 6 Oct. 1851, at Keene; m. 6 March, 1811, John Hatch. He d. 25 April, 1837, aged 50 years, at Keene; he was son of Reuben Hatch by his wife Miss Denison. He kept the Cheshire House at Keene. Mrs. Hatch was for a long series of years confined by illness to her room and bed; yet she kept herself fully posted as to the internal affairs of the tavern. When travellers arrived, their appearance and station in life she had reported to her immediately, and she ordered the appropriate rooms for them. She gave all the minute directions as to the cookery and chamber work. After regaining her strength by the change of life, she was able to travel about some. She was of medium size, fair complexion, had light hair, regular features, and possessed the most lady-like manners, form and address. Five children.

Their son, Thomas Edwards Hatch, b. 11 Aug. 1822; read medicine with Dr. Amos Twitchell, at Keene; was graduated with the degree of Doctor in Medicine at the school in Philadelphia; spent 1844-45 in the Asylum for the Insane at Concord, N. H., as assistant physician to the writer of this, Dr. Geo. Chandler; afterwards he held the same relation to the writer in the State Lunatic Hospital at Worcester, Mass.; was surgeon on board the "Daniel Webster," to Europe, and afterwards went more than fifty trips as surgeon on passenger steamers to Central America. In 1861 he was appointed postmaster at Keene, and in 1865 was reappointed by President Lincoln, and his commission was signed by President Johnson. He was a farmer a quarter of a mile east of the post-office. He m. 12 June, 1854, Hannah Maria Handerson, of Keene. Dr. T. E. Hatch was a member of the Legislature from Keene, 1872. Two children.

He was born 20 Jan. 1766. His Putnam descent was through

- i. JOHN<sup>1</sup> PUTNAM, who emigrated from Buckinghamshire, England, to Salem, Mass., in 1634, by wife Priscilla.
- ii. THOMAS<sup>2</sup> PUTNAM, came with his father.
- iii. Capt. JOSEPH<sup>3</sup> PUTNAM, by wife Elizabeth Porter.

- iv. Gen. ISRAEL<sup>4</sup> PUTNAM, b. in Salem, 7 Jan. 1718; d. 21 May, 1790, in Brooklyn, Conn.; m. first, Hannah Pope, dau. of John Pope, of Salem; m. second, 3 July, 1767, Deborah Averill, widow of John Gardiner, fifth proprietor of Gardiner's Island. She died at the house of Beverly Robinson.
- v. ISRAEL<sup>5</sup> PUTNAM, 2d; m. —, Sarah —.
- vi. ISRAEL<sup>6</sup> PUTNAM, 3d, b. 20 Jan. 1766; m. 26 Feb. 1792, Clarina Chandler.

Hon. Ephraim Cutler said, "There accompanied him Col. Israel Putnam, Israel Putnam, Jr.," and others, "and they arrived at Marietta, 18 Sept. 1795," "having spent 31 days upon the River" Ohio, with what families they had.

It is in tradition that when they removed West, Mrs. Clarina Putnam rode on a horse 28 years old; that they slept in wagons at night, and that she gave birth to a child, but lost it.

On the division of the effects of her mother, Mary Hodges, who died in 1796, the silver spoons were, by direction of Mrs. Olive Backus Chandler and others, to be sent to her daughter Mrs. Putnam, in Ohio, after the death of Peter Chandler, her husband, and father of Clarina. Mrs. Putnam died 29 Nov. 1801, aged 34 years.

The children of CLARINA and Col. ISRAEL PUTNAM were :

- i. FRANCES<sup>7</sup> MAY PUTNAM, recorded b. in Pomfret, 12 April, 1793; d. 5 April, 1809, aged 16 years.
- ii. WILLIAM<sup>7</sup> PUTNAM; d. 26 May, 1799.
- iii. EMELINE<sup>7</sup> PUTNAM; d. 18 May, 1799, aged 2 years.
- iv. CLARINA<sup>7</sup> CHANDLER PUTNAM; d. in the fall of 1839, aged about 40 years. She lived with her mother-in-law until her death, on the farm that her father first settled on when he came to Ohio, five miles from Marietta, on the Muskingum River, and where his only living son, Lewis J. P. Putnam, resided in 1864.
- v. HARRIET<sup>7</sup> PUTNAM, b. 16 Aug. 1800; d. 26 Aug. 1800, aged 10 days.

She was born at Hampton, Conn., 14 Jan. 1772; d. 5 Jan. 1832, at her homestead in Pomfret, Conn., of pleurisy, aged 59 yrs. 11 mos. 19 days; dau. of Capt. James Stedman, of Hampton, by his wife Hannah Griffin. [See 90.]

Mrs. Mary Chandler was left a widow at the age of thirty-six, with eight small children, and the ninth was born three months afterwards. Now her native energy was put to the severe trial of self-reliance. Her husband had left a farm of 340 acres, on which over fifty milch cows had been kept.

The estate was inventoried at $23,818.82 ; on which there were claims of $3,367.35. All of this she undertook to manage, and she did so successfully. In-doors and out she took the entire control. She hired the best farmer she could find for a foreman of out-door work, and told him what to do. The internal affairs of the household she was fully equal to ; and with the help of a single colored woman only she got along until her four daughters were able to assist her ; and, as soon as they were old enough, they were put to housekeeping. The oldest and youngest alternating weekly with the two middle ones, during the time they attended school, were called housekeepers. But as soon as they finished their schooling, or in vacation of the public school, the rule was for one, in weekly succession, to help her mother in the domestic concerns, while the other three spun their daily rounds or wove their allotted stints. Most of the garments worn by the family were made of cloth manufactured by their hands. Her sons labored as constantly in the fields when not at school. This was the way she herself had been brought up, although her father was reputed the wealthiest man in town. She often worked in the field with their hired woman, she told her children, while her father and most of the men—drafted into the army—were at some White Plains, West Point, or Valley Forge, of the Revolutionary war.

In 1783, before she had completed her eleventh year, she went from Hampton to Windham and exchanged a web of cloth—the tow for which she had carded, spun and woven entirely with her own hands—for six silver tea-spoons, which are now become heir-loom, woven into the kind remembrance of her, and in the keeping of her grandchildren.

Mrs. Chandler was rather above the medium size, had light complexion, light eyes full and bright, nose inclined to Roman, mouth compressed, forehead rather high than wide. She was intelligent, energetic, and kind and indulgent to her children. Widow Chandler showed herself equal to her lot. Her daughters married and became housekeepers, and her sons went from home to seek their fortunes ; and she, at the desire of her children, allowed the farm to be sold, and then either kept house by herself or resided with her youngest daughter, Mrs. Dr. Holt. But it was an evil day to her when she gave up the cares and labors of the farm, for she needed the active life of her accustomed duties to keep her mind and physical system in their wonted condition. Her health failed, and she became susceptible to the slightest changes of the weather. A pleuritic attack seized her, and she succumbed in a few days, at the age of 60 lacking ten days, at the old Chandler homestead in Pomfret, where she had spent the most of her life.

She was admitted a member of the Congregational church in Pomfret, 3 July, 1809.

Maj. John Wilkes Chandler was born 4 July, 1769, a time of great political excitement in England; for at this time John Wilkes—the ardent democratic champion “for the rights of the people”—was creating so much interest in London in favor of the people against castes; and when the watchword of “Wilkes and Liberty” was as familiar a cry in Boston as in London. Hence, probably, the baptismal name of John Wilkes was given him, as democracy and liberty were then the watchwords of his father, as they became afterwards those of this son.

John Wilkes Chandler was a successful farmer. The first year of his married life he kept tavern in the north-west corner house in Pomfret, where his brother Charles afterwards lived. He then bought of his father the “Chandler Homestead,” the first house in Pomfret on the road from South Woodstock—“the 114 acres on the Mashamoquett Line.” He was selectman in 1804–5. About the time of the close of “the Oliver Dodge Schism,” he was on the committee of the “old Society.” He was a delegate to the Jeffersonian Convention of the State. He was commissioned, 19 May, 1805, by Gov. Jonathan Trumbull, major of the 5th Reg’t of Cavalry. While captain of the Troop of Horse he had his company warned to meet at his own house; and he entertained his soldiers as well as his neighbors that day at his own expense—an event that was long remembered and talked of. He was a school-committee man in 1799 and 1807; master mason in 1800.

He died 22 Jan. 1808, at the age of 38 years, from hernia brought on by his exertions in sledding wood. He had been much beloved and respected by his neighbors for his kindness of heart and civil deportment, and his memory was long cherished and his kindly acts spoken of by those who had known him.

The children of Maj. JOHN WILKES and MARY (Stedman) CHANDLER were:

912.    i. EMILY, b. in Pomfret, 8 Sept. 1793; m. at the Episcopal Church at Brooklyn, Conn., William Allen, 18 Jan. 1815.
913.    ii. HANNAH STEDMAN, b. 12 July, 1795; m. at Pomfret, Alexander Grant Smith, Esq.
914.    iii. MARY, b. 30 March, 1797; d. 5 July, 1819, of fever, at Pomfret, and was buried in the “Chandler Acre.” Dr. Nathaniel Allen, of Claiborne, Ala., sent her sister Emily’s husband, 1 Dec. 1819, the following, which was inscribed on the white marble slab at her grave:—

“Here rests from earthly care and mortal pain
The daughter, sister, and the friend humane.
If virtue, worth and usefulness could save,
She still had lived, nor known an early grave.
But think not, reader, that for her we mourn,
As one devoid of hope had left this bourne.
The tribute of affection’s tear we shed,
And hope her soul to happier climes has fled.”

915. iv. JOHN WILKES, b. 18 Nov. 1798; m. first, at Annsville, N. Y., 14 June, 1827, Achsah Stanford; m. second, 28 Sept. 1841, Julia Ann Hutchins.

She was born 24 March, 1773; d. 23 March, 1828, a. 55 years, and was buried in the "Chandler Acre," in Pomfret. She was dau. of Thomas Gray, Esq., of Windham, Conn., by his wife Abigail Wales, who m. for her second husband Peter<sup>4</sup> Chandler, father of this Charles Clapp Chandler.

Mr. C. C. Chandler was a farmer, and his house stood on the very north-west corner of the town. His farm was rocky and rough, but by economy he obtained a comfortable livelihood from it. He was in person of full size, broad shoulders, had light complexion, dark chestnut hair and eyes; and he possessed great moral worth. He died 2 May, 1833, in Pomfret, in his 60th year.

The children of CHARLES C. and LYDIA (Gray) CHANDLER were:

921. i. THOMAS GRAY, b. in Pomfret, 22 Oct. 1798; d. 20 Aug. 1855, in Pomfret; m. first, 1826, Lucinda Warren, of Ashford; m. second, 20 Nov. 1842, Lucy Stead, of Woodstock.

She was b. 22 Oct. 1782; d. 5 Sept. 1860, in her 78th year, of colic, at the house of her daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Harris, in Woodstock. She was probably the last representative of any Chandler of the fifth generation from William and Annis Chandler, who came to Roxbury in 1637. She was dau. of Maj. Moses Arnold, who bought of the widow of Charles Church<sup>5</sup> Chandler the "Chandler Homestead," in Woodstock, in 1789, by his wife Sarah Greene, of Pawtuxet, R. I., who died on the Charles Church<sup>5</sup> Chandler place in Woodstock, at the age of 98 years.

Mr. Nathan<sup>5</sup> Chandler lived for a few years after marriage with his father on the "Dennison place;" afterwards he resided on the William Sabin place, directly opposite. About 1812 he bought the farm of Dea. John Howe Payson, about one quarter of a mile north, where he lived a few years, and then went back to his father's to take care of him in his old age—his father giving him a life lease in his farm (the "Dennison farm"), which was to go to his oldest son, N. Horace Chandler, at his arriving to the age of 26 years, and to his male heirs after him.

Mr. Nathan Chandler was a man of medium height, rather fleshy, had light complexion, light eyes, was jovial and happy in his temperament, a good, accommodating neighbor, and a man of sound judgment. He was afflicted with asthma, and hence unable to do much hard labor, and was thus led to "team it" for the merchants to Providence. But in all this he did not increase his worldly store. He died 31 March, 1833, in his 57th year.

The children of NATHAN and ELIZABETH (Arnold) CHANDLER were:

926. I. SARAH ANN, b. 13 Oct. 1802; d. 28 Nov. 1804.
927. II. ELIZABETH ARNOLD, b. 24 Jan. 1804; m. 27 March, 1831, Edward B. Harris.
928. III. SUSAN, b. 27 Jan. 1807; d. 27 March, 1848, at Providence; m. 28 Dec. 1823, James Thomas Rhoades, of Pawtuxet, R. I.
929. IV. NATHAN HORACE, b. 10 May, 1809; m. 30 Dec. 1841, Eliza Searle.
930. V. HANNAH ADALINE, b. 29 March, 1811; d. 16 Sept. 1832, in Pomfret.
931. VI. HARRIET, b. 2 March, 1813; m. 10 June, 1839, Welcome Arnold, of Providence.
932. VII. JANE, b. 15 July, 1815; m. 29 April, 1858, Capt. Souchet Mauran, b. in Barrington, R. I., 3 April, 1794, son of Joseph Carlo Mauran; d. 28 Sept. 1871. He had previously married Miss Eliza Lippett, widow of Mr. Charles P. Merriman, and dau. of Warren Lippett, president of the Atlantic Fire and Marine Ins. Co., at Providence, R. I.

933. VIII. WILLIAM HENRY, b. 13 Jun. 1818; m. 29 July, 1862, Amelia Manton, of Providence.
934. IX. JAMES ALEXANDER, b. 18 Oct. 1823; machinist; has worked for his brother-in-law, Capt. Edward B. Harris. He spent 1857 in a saw-mill at Shackopee, Minnesota. In this Chandler lineage he is the youngest of the youngest of the sixth generation.

She died 9 June, 1793, aged 64, from an overdose of opium, and a broken slate-stone slab marks her grave in the cemetery at the north end of Main street. They kept a tavern on "the east side," in a building which was used, in 1866, as a dye-house. On the 21st of January, 1766, at the "first legal meeting of the freeholders and inhabitants of the Parish of Concord," John Chandler, Jr., was chosen one of the selectmen; he was chosen surveyor in 1768, constable in 1773-4, selectman in 1792, and was the first grand juror called from Concord, to which office he was appointed Feb. 23, 1773.

In 1778 Lieut. Chandler was one of the Committee of Safety, and at that time it was voted by the town, "That an average be made in hiring the continental soldiers;" and that a committee be appointed "to examine into what every man had done in the war;" and the next year Lieut. Chandler was placed on the Committee of Safety, and kept on it during the Revolutionary war, because of his activity and patriotism.

In 1788 his town rate was £7:11:4; and that year he dissented from the vote to give Rev. Israel Evans fifteen pounds annually in addition to his ninety pounds salary, in lieu of the settlement. Rev. Israel Evans had served as chaplain in the Revolutionary war, under General Washington; and it is still told of him by the old people of Concord, that once on the eve of going into battle chaplain Evans prayed before the soldiers to the Lord with great fervor for the success of their arms in the cause of justice and right, and said in his prayer, "but if, O Lord God of battles! thou canst not in thy dealings with men and nations see fit to be on our side, we pray thee that thou wilt, for this once, stand neutral, and we will show thee what an arm of flesh can do."

Lieut. Chandler was one of the incorporators of the Concord Bank, 18 June, 1806. He died in Concord, 1 March, 1807, a. 76.

The children of Lieut. JOHN and MARY (Carter) CHANDLER were :

935. I. JOHN, b. in Concord, 11 Dec. 1752; m. March, 1780, Naomi Farnum, of Concord.
936. II. NATHAN, b. 28 April, 1754; pub. 4 March, 1775, to Susan Ambrose, both of Concord.
937. III. ISAAC, b. 18 April, 1758; d. 25 March, 1826, aged 67 years, in Boscawen, N. H. He was a soldier in Capt. Webster's company at Ticouderoga, in 1777. He was selectman in 1804 and '05; moderator of town meeting and town clerk in 1812, and represented Boscawen in the Legislature in 1816; Colonel of 21st regiment of New Hampshire in 1807. Col. Chandler had a farm in the very southeast corner of the town. He m. Mary Kimball. No issue.
938. IV. JOSEPH, b. 18 Nov. 1760; m. Hannah Farrington.
939. V. JEREMIAH, b. 31 March, 1763; m. 3 June, 1791, Judith Farnum, both of Concord.
940. VI. MOSES, b. 23 Nov. 1765, m. first, Sally Goodwin, of Newmarket, N. H.; m. second, 4 July, 1802, Mary Langdon, of Fryeburg.

H., dau. of Jacob Copp by wife Elizabeth Davis, who visited Canterbury just before her youngest was born. She returned to Sanbornton with her baby in her arms and a bushel of corn meal on her back, and crossed the Winnipisaukee River. Granddaughter of Solomon Copp. She was born 16 April, 1740; d. 20 March, 1830, in her 90th year, the widow of Mr. Stephen Ward, of Concord, to whom she was published Feb. 1774.

In 1756 Mr. Timothy Chandler was rated, for Mr. Walker's salary, £3 : 00 : 00, old tenor.

Feb. 18, 1781, James Chandler was chosen and allowed to be guardian to Timothy Chandler, a minor, upwards of 14 years of age, son of Timothy Chandler, late of Concord, yeoman.

He died 24 March, 1770, aged 37 years, in Concord.

The children of TIMOTHY and ELIZABETH (Copp) CHANDLER were :

He was born in Dunstable, Mass.; d. 29 July, 1808, aged 69, and was buried by the remains of his wife in the yard behind the church, now the county court-house. Dark slate-stones mark their graves.

He failed to be at the battle of Bunker Hill, because he let Moses<sup>6</sup> Chandler, who was his brother-in-law, have his gun while he went to Chelmsford to get the lock of another repaired.

He moved his family on an ox wagon into Farmington in Nov. 1781. They were thirty days on the road, and had to camp out three nights in the woods. Having no building erected, he set up four crotches, on which he laid poles and covered them with elm bark on the sides and the roof. The floor he covered with elm bark. His was the fourth family in Farmington. "This [house] answered a valuable purpose," said Judge Thomas Parker, in his history of Farmington, "for a dwelling house" for himself and wife and seven children for two winters. To this bark house he added, in 1783, a small frame house, the first of the kind in Farmington. These served for his family and for public meetings until 1789, when he built what was long called "the Butterfield Red House," which was afterwards painted white and occupied by his son Moses.

The first meeting of "Colburn and his Associates," held at Sandy River, was held 15 October, 1783, at "the Bark House" of Samuel Butterfield, where the meetings were afterwards held as long as they continued to transact business in that capacity. At this meeting he was chosen one of the committee to finish the surveys. At the next meeting, 12 May, 1785, he was the moderator.

In 1790 he was one of the three who purchased the township. He was representative to the General Court in Boston, 1808.

He took up two hundred acres two miles south of Farmington Hill, on the west side of Sandy River, where his son Moses afterwards lived. He paid about one dollar per acre for it. He built the first mills in Wilton.

Mrs. H. Butterfield died 3 April, 1814.

They lived awhile at the "Borough," in Reading, Vt. "Henry Chandler and family warned out of Town." [Reading Town Records, 28 Nov. 1810.]

"Ebenezer Robinson, lawful guardian to Henry Chandler," "appointed to apprise all the Estate of Henry Chandler, made an inventory of his estate, which amounted to $172.43." [Reading Town Records, 5 April, 1811].

He was a cooper by trade. They removed to Brandon, where, in 1828, he gave a mortgage to secure to each of his children $50. They lived just north of where the "frozen well" was since dug, on the west side of Otter Creek, in the village. This frozen well was dug in the loose gravel. It is about forty feet deep. The last few feet of it, when dug, was through frozen earth; and soon after it was stoned up a rim of ice formed on the stones just above the water, which is said to have remained ever since. When this well was visited, in Sept. 1861, it had been dug some ten years. As a lighted candle was let down by a boy, who came out of the nearest house, through this rim of ice about thirty feet from the top of the well, the ice was plainly seen. It was about 15 inches thick, leaving an opening for the bucket of about 15 inches, to the water, which, on being drawn up, tasted as cold as, but more sparkling than, iced water. The water in the well has stood about five feet deep.

The children of HENRY and SALLY (Proctor) CHANDLER were :

1107. I. ORSON; d. in Brandon.

1108. II. SOPHIA; m. George Swift, who died in Brandon, Vt.; a baker by trade. Their only child, George Swift, inherited the Chandler place in Brandon. He was agent for Dr. Horace Greene, of New York city, famous for his "swabbing" method of cure for ulcerated sore throats, but died Dec. 1866, aged 64.

She died 10 Aug. 1839, aged 82, and was buried beside her husband, her son Ebenezer, and her daughter Patty, one mile north of Chandler's Pond.

He was out in the Revolutionary war under Col. Cilley. He came up and lived two years in Danville, Vt., and then bought a man off of one hundred and fifty acres, for $50, after he had fallen only a few trees, at the pond, in the south part of Wheelock, afterwards called "Chandler's Pond." Mr. Chandler settled in the wilderness, and began to cut the trees to let in the sun-light, and he cleared up every foot of his farm that was brought under cultivation. After buying the man off, he had to pay one crown per acre for it. His sons John and Theophilus resided on this farm. He died 12 June, 1842, aged 87, and was buried one mile from Chandler's Pond.

From the Town Records: "Canterbury, N. H., Dec. 14, 1792. Now recorded the births of Ebenezer Chandler's children."

REV. DR. AMARIAH<sup>6</sup> CHANDLER (Moses,<sup>5</sup> Moses,<sup>4</sup> William,<sup>3</sup> Thomas,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and Abigail Whitney, Greenfield.

She was b. 13 Feb. 1786; d. in Greenfield, Mass.; and on a gray marble slab at her grave in "the Meadows" Cemetery is inscribed:

"Abigail, wife of Amariah Chandler, Minister of the first Parish in Greenfield, Died June 19, 1833, Æ. 47.

Beloved in youth, more loved in age,
 But dearer far in memory."

She was dau. of Joseph Whitney, Jr., of Shelburne, by his wife Abigail Barnard, and gr.-dau. of Joseph Whitney and Hannah<sup>5</sup> Chandler. [See 169.] She left five children.

He m. second, Mary Nims. On a gray marble slab in "the Meadows," is inscribed: "Mary N. wife of Rev. Amariah Chandler, formerly wife of Horace Roberts, Esq., of Whitingham, Vt., and daughter of Hull and Hannah Nims, Died March 4, 1852, Æ. 65. A good wife." She left two children.

He m. third, Eliza Bixby, widow of Solomon Gleason, of Coleraine, Mass., formerly of Worcester. She d. 11 Jan. 1865.

When young, while listening to the stories of hardship and suffering, as well as to the courage and daring of his father in the early settlement of Deerfield and in his soldier's life in the old French war, he became thoroughly imbued with the idea that to become fit for a soldier he must train himself to endure the privations and hardships of a soldier's life. This idea became with him a fixed principle, and an enduring motive of action through life. As early as ten years of age he began to carry out this idea. He dressed thin, slept on hard beds or on the floor, in barns, or even on the ground; went barefoot until the ground was frozen, and labored hard. And from being a puny and sickly boy, he became tall, bony, strong and hardy, and a vigorous man; so that in after life difficulties were not obstacles with him, but incitements. At the proper age an appointment as cadet at West Point was offered him, which he declined, having probably fixed his mind upon the clerical profession.

For fifty years, while settled in the ministry, he labored with his own hands and performed most of the manual labor on his farms. After he had passed four score of years, he was met by the writer of this, early one cold September morning, attending to his chores, thinly clad, and in his bare feet. These austere personal habits have given him the power of greater physical and mental force to meet and overcome the trials and perplexities of the life of a country parson. His few personal wants, his economy and his industry, combined with great good sense, enabled him to provide well for his own household, and to be more than just — generous even — to his neighbors.

At the age of five he went to Shelburne to live. While in college at Burlington, Vt., where he was graduated in 1807, he boarded with his sister Persis Wilder. He studied theology with Dr. Packard, of Shelburne; received the Doctorate of Divinity in 1846, at the Vermont University; was ordained at Waitsfield, Vt., 7 Feb. 1810; was dismissed therefrom 3 Feb. 1830; supplied at Hardwick, Vt., about two years, until he was settled, 25 Oct. 1832, over the first church in Greenfield, Mass., about one mile north of the village, on the Green, or Picomegan River. His relations with this church continued more than thirty years, notwithstanding he often signified his readiness and wish even to have them dissolved. When he had reached ten years beyond the common lot of man, the parish consented that a colleague might be settled with him, and have a salary twice as large as that which had fully met the wants and wishes of Dr. Chandler for thirty years; for, in 1858, he voluntarily relinquished, in consequence of the then financial crisis, one hundred of his four hundred dollars salary. He continued his manual labor on his farm of twenty acres to the last.

Said one of the other parish, "No man ever preached in Greenfield more beloved and more respected than Dr. Chandler; and we all are glad to hear him in this parish when our minister exchanges with him, as he often does."

He told the writer of this, that, when young, his eyes were quite dark colored, but they were at 81 of the lightest shade of hazel.

As is the custom of a few other clergymen, so with him, while looking to heaven in prayer in his public performances, he kept his eyes open.

Preached before the legislature by appointment, the sermon, 1824, and was chaplain 1824.

He was a member of the Convention of 1853 to revise the Constitution of Massachusetts.

There have been printed of his writings: "Evenings by the Fireside, or Thoughts on the first Principles of Speculative Free Masonry," 12 pp. Danville, Vt., 1829. "A Discourse delivered at Greenfield, Mass., July 4th, 1833," 8vo. Greenfield, 1833. "A Discourse delivered in the First Parish, Greenfield, Mass., Nov. 7, 1858, being the Fiftieth Anniversary of his License to preach the Gospel." Printed by S. S. Eastman & Co., Greenfield.

Wrote one who knew Mr. Chandler well: "His first settlement in the ministry was at Waitsfield, Vt. The place was then new and the parish not wealthy. To eke out a limited salary, he was obliged to cultivate a farm, which he did mostly with his own hands, and such occasional help as was given by the people. He studied subjects while at work on his farm, but his sermons were seldom written. He would come into the pulpit with a few small pieces of paper, on which the text and the heads of his sermon were written in a short hand peculiarly his own; from these he would speak without hesitancy or embarrassment, carrying the audience with him to any conclusion or to any point of high resolve he might choose for them. As might be expected, large additions were made to the church. From its membership there has gone out eight ministers and seven ministers' wives, besides many others who have added strength to other churches in various parts of the country." "But, in farming, crops sometimes failed, and the family were thus brought into rather straitened circumstances. It was during one of these times of scarcity of provisions that two ministerial brethren, on their journey, called at Mr. Chandler's. Dinner hour was approaching, and the gentlemen were enjoying their pipes and conversation, when Mrs. Chandler tapped at the study door and beckoned her husband out. "Are those friends going to stay at dinner?" she inquired. "O yes, certainly." "Well, what shall I have for dinner? There is nothing in the house but milk and Indian meal." "O well, my dear, you can make some pudding, and when it is ready, let me know," was the cheerful reply. She followed instructions and gave notice. Mr. C. then said to his guests: "Friends, our dinner is ready, but before going out I must tell you a story." He then related the story of the poor man who in like circumstances told his guests if they were what they professed to be, they would be thankful for what was set before them; and if they were not, it was good enough for them."

At another time, when the family stores were reduced to a few beans and a little pork, the perplexing question was again asked. "What shall we have for dinner?" "Have you any flour?" "No." "Have you any potatoes?" "No." "Meat?" "A little pork and some beans." "Well, then, let us milk the black cow." One who never heard the cheerful kindness of that voice could never conceive the magic there was in it; and one who had heard it could never afterwards eat ungratefully a bowl of bean soup.

It was then customary for every landholder to perform a certain amount of labor on the roads, or else pay an equivalent in cash. Mr. C. preferred the former. While thus engaged one day, a stranger came up and asked for Mr. C. "That is my name, Sir," said he. The stranger then inquired if it was customary in Vermont for ministers to work on the highways. "It is my custom, Sir; for I think it as important for ministers to mend their ways as for any other class of people."

Rev. Amariah Chandler died 20 Oct. 1864, aged nearly 82, "amid his people."

She died 1832; was widow of Mr. Penoyer.

He was a tailor by trade. In Catskill he kept the hotel on the west side of the street, where it was afterwards kept by Mr. France. "He was fond of sacred music, and composed considerable during his lifetime, his music being highly prized in those days. He had read a great deal; was of excellent judgment, but of very eccentric habits. Anecdotes about him and his singularities were long remembered in that neighborhood. He was an active man, and irritable withal. The boys, to try his patience, would occasionally step up and punch his bar-room fire when burning well enough. This was sure to make him flourish over their heads—if he could get near enough—his big cane, which he always carried in consequence of his club foot.”

After leaving the hotel, he and his wife traded in a small way in separate shops. He resided in his last days with his son-in-law, Capt. Baker, and was, after his death, in 1827 or '28, buried on his own land.

The children of SOLOMON and ALTHEA (Doty) CHANDLER were :

GEN. JOHN<sup>6</sup> CHANDLER (Joseph,<sup>5</sup> Joseph,<sup>4</sup> Joseph,<sup>3</sup> Thomas,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and Mary Witcher, Monmouth, Me.

She was b. 16 Feb. 1764; d. 16 Sept. 1846, aged 82, and was buried on "Burnt Hill," Augusta, Me.

He removed to Monmouth about 1780, and settled upon a farm. He was clerk of the proprietors, and afterwards town clerk in Monmouth many years. He was surveyor, selectman and representative to the legislature in Boston. It was said, in a description of Monmouth, Me., that among its distinguished individuals was John Chandler. "Gen. Chandler was the poorest man in the settlement, and was an itinerant blacksmith. His talents were of high order, and by perseverance and industry he became wealthy. From poverty he rose to be a major-general in the militia, and a brigadier-general in the war of 1812." His commission as brigadier-general in the U. S. service bears date July 8, 1812. He was in the General Court of Mass., at Boston, in 1819, and the same year was a member of the Convention which formed the constitution of Maine; and in 1820, was president of the Senate of Maine. He represented Massachusetts in Congress from 1805 to 1808, and was elected to the Senate of the U. S. in 1820, as one of the first two senators from Maine after its separation from Massachusetts. When a senator, a rhymist, anticipating the assembling of the members in Washington, D. C., devoted two lines to him, as follows:

" John Chandler will be there, Tough as steel and bold as Hector."

He was specially appointed by Gov. Sullivan, sheriff of the County of Kennebec, over Gen. Lithgow, to settle the disputes and to quell the rising rebellion in that district in 1807.

"Gen. Chandler," said Dr. Walbridge, of Charleston, S. C., who was surgeon to the army and in the battle, "was senior officer at the head of Lake Ontario, when taken prisoner with Gen. Winder at Stony Creek. They had pitched their tents on the brow of the hill, with their soldiers spread out below and on each side. But in the night the British made a gallant sortie to retrieve their loss of a few days before, and took prisoners the two generals. A hard battle ensued. The Yankees maintained their ground during the night. But as the command fell upon Col. Wilson of the artillery, who had never had general command, the council of war decided to retreat to Four-mile Creek and await the arrival of Lewis with reinforcements."

Gen. Chandler's own account of the affair at Stony Creek was this: "About an hour before daylight, on the 6th of June, 1813, the alarm was given. I was instantly up, and the 25th, which was near me, as well as the left wing which was under Gen. Winder (owing to neglect of front pickets or other causes, the British officers say they were not hailed until they were within three hundred yards). I ordered Gen. Winder to cover the artillery. At this moment I heard a new burst of fire from the enemy's left, on our right; and, not being able to see anything which took place, I set out at full speed towards the right, to prevent being out-flanked. I had proceeded but a few yards when my horse fell under me — by which fall I received serious injuries. Here was a time in which I have no recollection of what passed. But I presume it was not long. As soon as I recovered I recollected what my object was, and made my way to the right, and gave Smith what directions I thought proper to prevent his right from being turned. I was returning towards the centre, and when near the artillery, heard men who appeared to be in confusion; it being the point where I expected the 23d to be formed, I thought it was that regiment. I approached them, and as soon as I was near enough I saw a body of men who I thought to be the 23d in rear of the artillery, broken. I hobbled in amongst them and began to rally them, and directed them to form, but soon found my mistake; it was the British 49th, who had pushed forward to the head of our column, and gained the rear of the artillery. I was immediately disarmed and conveyed down the column to its rear. It was not yet day, and the extreme darkness of the night, to which was added the smoke of the fire, put it out of our power to see the enemy. This was all that saved their columns from total destruction, of which some of their officers were aware."

At a 4th of July dinner, Gen. Chandler gave a toast, "May I be within the walls of Quebec." An old Scotchman present then, said, "If you are, you will be there a prisoner of war." And so he was.

His residence was near the Academy. His mills — "Chandler's Mills" — were a mile north. In 1829 he was appointed Collector of the port of Portland, by President Jackson, which office he held until 1837, when he removed to Augusta, Me., and purchased the Joseph Chandler house, on Chandler Street.

In 1822 he was one of the committee that selected Augusta as the seat of government of Maine.

He died 25 Sept. 1842, in his 81st year, at Augusta, and his remains repose on Burnt Hill, with those of his wife and others of his family.

About 1778, when he was sixteen years old, he ran away from his mother's house in Monmouth, and sailed from Newburyport in a privateer; was taken prisoner, and was put on board a prison-ship which went into a southern port. He told the captain of it that he was going to run away, and not long after he did so, with three others. He begged his way back, and in passing through New Jersey went into a house where he found Maj. James Norris, of the army of the colonies, who had married his sister, Mary Chandler. Maj. Norris supplied him with shoes and with other things for his journey home. When he reached Monmouth he found he had travelled, by the circuitous route he had been obliged to take, about 1700 miles on foot since he escaped from the British prison-ship. His privateering and prison life, with his travels home, took two long and hard years.

The children of Gen. JOHN and MARY (Whitchee) CHANDLER were :

Her mother was Mehitable Goodrich. Mrs. Joanna Chandler m. second, 4 Oct. 1778, Silas Plummer, "both of Bradford," and had by him two children:

1. Mary Plummer, m. John Howe, of Haverhill.
2. John Plummer.

This Silas Plummer was son of Ebs. Thomas Plummer by his wife Bethia Tenny. He had lived in the hotel and worked for Mr. Chandler when he died, 26 Dec. 1776, aged 34. This hotel was the "Ferry Tavern," and it stands yet, in 1871, on a little knoll about forty rods below the Bradford and Haverhill bridge.

The inventory of the estate of Ephraim Chandler, late of Bradford, taken 25 Jan. 1777, amounted to £513:18:1; which "was sworn to by Joanna Chandler, administratrix," 3 Feb. 1777. This estate appraised again, 9 March, 1796, amounted to $1,841.56, with debts against the same of $525.55.

The guardianship of Mehitable, aged about 7, was granted to Isaac Barker, 6 Feb. 1781.

The only child of EPHRAIM and JOANNA (Barker) CHANDLER was:

1423. I. MEHITABLE, b. in Bradford, 11 March, 1774; m. Dea. Charles Foster.

He was b. 10 June, 1746 ; d. 19 Oct. 1834, in Concord, a. 88 yrs. 4 ms. 9 ds. ; son of Philip<sup>4</sup> Eastman, of Concord, by his wife Abigail Bradley ; grandson of Capt. Ebenezer<sup>3</sup> Eastman, of Concord, by his wife Sarah Peaslee ; gr.-grandson of Philip<sup>2</sup> Eastman, of Haverhill, Mass., gr.-gr.-grandson of Roger<sup>1</sup> Eastman, the first of the name who settled at Salisbury, Mass., in 1640.

Jonathan<sup>5</sup> Eastman, Esq., was a man of robust frame, and was distinguished through life for health, activity and enterprise. He was an ardent patriot ; was in Capt. Joshua Abbot's company of volunteers that marched to reinforce the Northern Army, Sept. 1777, and was ready at any time afterwards to fight for his country. "Esquire Eastman," as he was called, lived on the east side of the river, on the spot near the old garrison-house of his grandfather, Capt. Ebenezer<sup>3</sup> Eastman, where he brought up a large family—only the two eldest of whom were children of his first wife, Mary Chandler. He had but little early education, but learned to write on birch bark, and in later years was conversant with all political and public matters by reading the newspapers. At the age of fifteen he drove two cows and two shotes from Concord, N. H., to Conway, alone, going by way of Saco. Near a solitary cabin in the woods, about halfway, where he was to stop, he met a bear in the path, which he faced, till old bruin, put out of countenance, marched off. He lodged in the cabin alone at night, and reached Conway in safety the next day. While a young man he was engaged with Andrew McMillan in running out land in Rumford, Me. He owned extensive tracts of land in Maine, and, with John Bradley, Esq., gave Abiel Chandler [see 953] forty acres to go there and settle.

With others he signed a deed, 1 July, 1782, granting "all their right and property in a certain meeting-house in said Concord, and a Lot of Land containing one acre and a half upon which the greatest part of said Meeting-House standeth, Laid out to the original right of Zachariah Chandler," to a committee of the Parish. This Zachariah Chandler was uncle of his first wife. [See 85.]

The many useful offices which Mr. Eastman filled, and the services which he performed as a citizen, may be seen by reference to the history of Concord by Rev. Dr. Bouton. His son Jonathan, by his second wife, Esther Johnson, m. Mary Chandler, dau. of Capt. John and Naomi Farnum, of Boscawen.

The children of MOLLY and JONATHAN EASTMAN were :

- i. ASA<sup>6</sup> EASTMAN, b. 5 Dec. 1770; m. Mary Kimball, of Concord, dau. of Phineas by his wife Miss Pearl, of Boxford: made a great farm at Chatham, N. H., on which he cut a hundred tons of English hay annually.
- ii. PHILIP<sup>6</sup> EASTMAN; Fryeburg, Me.; m. Susan Osgood, of Boston; no issue.

Capt. H. sailed from Boston, and it is supposed that he was lost at sea with all his crew.

Mrs. Sarah C. Haynes died in Providence, R. I., while on a visit there to her daughter, Mrs. Heman Mann, 28 Feb. 1813, aged 66.

The children of SARAH and Capt. WILLIAM HAYNES were :

- i. ANNA HAYNES, b. 31 Aug. 1775. At the age of 9 she wrought a "sampler," which was left unfinished at her death.
- ii. SALLY HAYNES, b. in Boston, 8 June, 1778; d. 29 Oct. 1825, leaving eleven children; m. 1792, Heman Mann, who was born in Walpole, Mass., 10 Nov. 1771, d. 25 Sept. 1834, aged 61 in Dedham, son of Daniel and Lydia Mann, of Wrentham, Mass. Mr. H. Mann was a teacher, printer and bookseller. He started a newspaper in Dedham, and printed the "Masonic Minstrel." He had a printing office in Providence for six months previous to his settling in Dedham, Mass. Eleven children.

She was born in Newburyport, 18 Dec. 1759; died there, 1 June, 1845; dau. of Capt. Jonathan<sup>1</sup> Parsons, b. at Lyme, Conn., 25 April, 1735, and d. at sea, 29 Dec. 1784, aged 50, by his wife Hannah Gyles,<sup>5</sup> of Salisbury, Mass., b. 25 May, 1738, whom he m. 26 Aug. 1756. dau. of Dr. Samuel<sup>1</sup> Gyles, of Salisbury. Miss Elizabeth<sup>5</sup> Parsons was grand-daughter of Rev. Jonathan<sup>3</sup> Parsons, of Lyme, Conn., and of Newburyport, b. at West Springfield, Mass., 30 Nov. 1705, m. Phebe, dau. of John Griswold, of Lyme, Conn., and a sister of Gov. Matthew Griswold; and gr.-granddaughter of Ebenezer<sup>2</sup> Parsons, son of Dea. Benjamin<sup>1</sup> Parsons, one of the first settlers of Springfield, Mass., from Great Torrington, England.

Mrs. Elizabeth (Parsons) Chandler was a woman of a "quick and impulsive" temperament, "with great strength and tenacity" of mental purpose. She assisted her first husband as long as he lived in his school, and after his death continued it. She and her five sisters were "women of superior excellence, of fine social qualities, cultivated minds, and eminently religious."

The following, on the monument to her first husband, in the cemetery at Newbury (old town) was from her pen:—

Sacred to the Memory of
 MR. SAMUEL CHANDLER who departed this life
 May 25, 1786
 Aetat 32.

Here struggles rest, escaped this mortal strife,
 Above the joys, beyond the woes of life.
 No more sweet patience, feigning oft relief,
 Lights thy sick eye to cheer a partner's grief.
 With tender art to save her anxious groan,
 No more thy bosom presses down its own.
 Now long-sought peace is thine and bliss sincere;
 Ours be the lenient, not unpleasing tear.
 Blest be the bark that wafts us to the shore
 Where death-divided friends shall part no more;
 To join thee there, here with thy dust repose,
 Is all the hope thy hapless widow knows.

After many years of grief and usefulness, she m. 23 Nov. 1804, John Mycall, then of Harvard, Mass., where (said the "Salem Register" of April 16, 1804) his wife Hannah had died.

John Mycall was born in Worcester, England, in 1757, and died in Newburyport, 1 June, 1840, aged 83. He came to this country in 1775, and for some time taught school at Amesbury; was the printer, editor and publisher of the "Essex Journal," of Newburyport, from June, 1780, to 1790. He was called “Master Mycall.” He had an inexhaustible vein of humor which he often gratified at the expense of others. A newspaper not long since published the following remembrance of him :—

“Reading one's own Obituary.—In the days of old Mycall, the publisher of the Newburyport Herald (a journal still alive and flourishing), the sheriff of Essex, Philip Bagley, had been asked several times to pay up his arrears of subscription. At last, one day he told Mycall that he would certainly hand it over the next morning as sure as he lived, ‘If you don't get your money to-morrow you may be sure I am dead,’ said he. The morning came and passed, but no money. Judge of the sheriff's feelings when, on the morning of the day after, he opened his Herald and saw announced the lamented decease of Philip Bagley, Esq., sheriff of the County of Essex; with an obituary notice attached, giving the deceased credit for a good many excellent traits of character, but adding that he had one fault very much to be deplored; he was not punctual in paying the printer. Bagley, without waiting for his breakfast, started for the Herald office. On the way it struck him as singular that none of his many friends and acquaintances he met seemed to be surprised to see him. They must have read their morning paper. Was it possible they cared so little about him as to have forgotten already that he was no more? Full of perturbation, he entered the printing office in propria persona, to deny that he was dead. ‘Why, sheriff!’ exclaimed the facetious editor, ‘I thought you were defunct.’ ‘Defunct!’ exclaimed the sheriff, ‘what put that idea in your head?’ ‘Why, you, yourself!’ said Mycall. ‘Did you not tell me’—— ‘Oh! ah! yes!’ stammered out the sheriff. ‘Well, there's your money. And now contradict the report in the next paper, if you please.’ ‘That's not necessary, friend Bagley,’ said the old joker; ‘it was printed in only one copy.’”

Mr. Mycall left considerable property to his wife, who lived his widow ten years, and died at the age of 86, and her remains were laid by his—a few rods from her first “death-divided friend.”

Mr. Samuel Chandler, Jr., graduated at H. C. 1775. He went privateering; was captain in West India trade; and after that taught school in Newburyport. He possessed a literary taste, which he had cultivated by education. He was a quiet, peaceable citizen, and much respected.

The children of SAMUEL and ELIZABETH (PARSONS) CHANDLER were :

1424. 1. SAMUEL, b. in Newburyport, 14 Dec. 1783; m. Elizabeth Wyatt, of Newburyport.

1425. II. ELIZABETH PARSONS, b. 1784; d. 6 Aug. 1786, but not of the malignant fever then prevalent there. On a slate-stone slab by her father's remains is inscribed:—

In Memory of
ELIZABETH PARSONS CHANDLER
Daugh<sup>r</sup> of Mr. Samuel and Mrs.
Elizabeth Chandler
Aug<sup>t</sup> 6 1766 Ætat 2.

As those we love decay, we die in part;
String after string is severed from the heart,
Till loosen'd life, at last but breathing clay,
Without one pang is glad to fall away.

REV. SAMUEL<sup>6</sup> CHANDLER (David,<sup>5</sup> Josiah,<sup>4</sup> William,<sup>3</sup> William,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and Lucy?

There are traditions about Samuel<sup>6</sup> Chandler among his relatives in Andover that are very vague. It is said of him that when a boy he manifested a strong desire to fit for college, and urged his parents to furnish him the means. He succeeded in his ardent wish, and was graduated in 1779 at H. U. He then travelled in Syria, visited Jerusalem and the Holy Sepulchre, for all of which the small property of the family was largely drawn upon. One tradition is that he married a lady of the West Indies, and was a long time from his Andover relatives, and there was among them much anxiety about him. At length a man appeared to his Andover and Reading friends calling himself the long-lost Samuel Chandler. He turned out to be an impostor. But when at length the real Samuel appeared to his sister, who was nearly twenty years his junior, and had but little recollection of him, as he had left home while she was quite young, she treated him coldly, as she said, but told him to go to South Reading to see his mother, who had married, 10 Nov. 1779, Daniel Parker. But she soon repented of her coldness to him, and immediately sent after him, but he could not be found. He did not then go to see his mother. Another tradition is, that soon after leaving college he went to Philadelphia, and was a clerk or cashier of a bank there, and married a lady of so much style and fashion, that when he came on north with her he found his family so low in the world that they stopped only long enough to take a cup of tea and went off.

Perhaps the following letter will help to clear up some of the rumors about him:—

“CHESAPEAKE FRIGATE, January 31, 1801.

Honored Mother :

I have been favored with a letter from Col. Reed, inclosing yours to him making inquiry for your son—meaning myself. Of Col. Reed's politeness and your tender regards I entertain the most grateful sense.

I was informed some years past, when residing in the West Indies, that a lingering consumption had deprived me of that tender mother, who through the goodness of Divine Providence still lives and inquires for those to whom she has given birth. Many are the changing scenes, honored mother, I have experienced since I heard from you. Most of my time has been spent in New York and Philadelphia. I have, however, visited all the United States, the West Indies and Floridas, and have been in different occupations, but mostly tutor in different colleges.

You may recollect when we were at our family habitation in Andover, how sensibly affected I was by the religious discourses delivered by the Rev. Parson French. Whatever has been my life since that time, I have now resumed the profession of a minister; and as the morning of my life was spent in religious (services), so shall its evening be, if God spares it, and hope its meridian faults will be pardoned by him whom they have offended. The greatest consolations in this life I find are derived from a virtuous life. I am now bound to the Mediterranean against the Turks; shall visit Egypt, the place where the Israelites were once prisoners, then proceed to Jerusalem, the land of Canaan, and, if possible, go to the River Euphrates, where was situated the Garden of Eden; then return to visit my mother, if God spares my life.

Yours with filial esteem,

The only child of Rev. SAMUEL CHANDLER was :

1440. 1. JOSHUA, b. “17 March, 1789.” [Andover Town Records.]

She was b. 17 March, 1749; d. 20 Nov. 1842, aged 93 years, 8½ ms., suddenly, in the full enjoyment of her mental faculties; dau. of Samuel and Mary (Bell) Patten.

Mr. Samuel Patten came to America when he was 19 years old, and settled in Bedford, N. H., about one quarter of a mile a little south of west from where his son-in-law Zachariah Chandler lived.

Zachariah Chandler lived at Roxbury, Mass., during his minority, and drove a milk-cart to Boston, which work and his living below (in Roxbury), was an objection to him in his obtaining a wife for which reason the Pattens opposed it; but at a suitable age he came back to Bedford to reside, and to take care of the patrimonial estate; and before he was 21 years old he married. He lived in the house opposite the residence of his son, Samuel Chandler, Esq. He bought one of the old Billings Collection of Sacred Music for his sons Thomas and Samuel, who were then about ten and twelve years old, which is supposed to have been the first singing book in Bedford. Josiah Chandler, of Andover, was their teacher. [See 612.]

Zachariah Chandler was one of the Revolutionary patriots of Bedford; selectman in 1784. He said in his will of 16 July, 1827, "I give one undivided half part" "of the farm in s<sup>d</sup> Bedford which I bought of one James Martin," to each of "my sons."

In 1791 it was voted in town meeting at Bedford, "that Zachariah Chandler serve (with others) as fish reaf." He died 20 April, 1830, aged 78.

The children of ZACHARIAH and SARAH (Patten) CHANDLER were :

1470. i. THOMAS, b. 10 Aug. 1772; m. 26 Nov. 1793, Susanna McAfee.
 1471. ii. SAMUEL, b. 28 May, 1774; m. 11 Nov. 1800, Margaret Orr.
 1472. iii. SARAH; d. 15 Oct. 1853, aged 72, in Bedford, unm. She resided on the homestead.

She was b. 30 March, 1752, and d. 3 March, 1825, in the 73d year of her age. She was dau. of Peter Sabin by his wife Sarah —, of Killingly.

The muster roll of the grenadiers of Capt. Daniel Lyon's company of thirty-nine men, on the 13th Sept. 1776, at New Haven, Conn., on their march to West Chester, had the name of Philemon Chandler on it. Of this company Samuel Wales was clerk.

"March 7, 1777, Pomfret, Conn. Philemon Chandler drafted, who hath not yet paid his fine nor enlisted." [State Papers, Hartford, Conn.]

He was tithingman in 1783; worked at farming. "He was a good singer, and assisted in the choir;" he also taught singing schools. Of him it must have been that Dr. Albigeance Waldo, of Pomfret, in describing Pomfret in rhyme, wrote:—

"Old uncle Phill with visage grim,
 For tythingman he was."

In his last days he sat in the deacon's seat in the meeting-house at Abington. He died 9 May, 1834, aged 80.

The children of PHILEMON and MARY (Sabin) CHANDLER were :

They moved late in the autumn of 1791, from Pomfret, Conn., to Aquaga, now Windsor, Broome Co., N. Y., and lived there till 1810, when he moved to and settled in Conewango township, now Sugar Grove, in the valley called after him and his two oldest sons who also settled there, "Chandler's Valley." There was but one small clearing in the valley then. He took up two hundred acres there. The soil is light, on a gravelly subsoil, easy to till, and better to settle on when the soil was new, as his son John said, but not as good as the hills around it, where his children afterwards lived. His house was burned in 1814. He was on Newfoundland Banks, cod-fishing, when he first heard of the breaking out of the Revolutionary War, in 1775. He entered a privateer and helped take ten prizes, three of which were retaken by the British. His share of the prize money was $1,800 old continental currency. He was a pensioner, and died in the log cabin of his daughter, Celinda Evans, near where he had lived in the Valley, 30 Oct. 1840, in his 85th year, and was buried beside the remains of his wife, in the graveyard taken from his farm in the Valley.

The children of JOSIAH and EUNICE (Dana) CHANDLER were:

- 1479*u*. I. CHARLES, b. in Pomfret, Conn.; m. in Bridgewater, Alcinda Fletcher.
1480. II. CELINDA, b. 12 Oct. 1785; m. at Windsor, N. Y., 15 Nov. 1806, Randall Evans.

She was b. in Eastown, Saratoga Co., N. Y., 3 Aug. 1780; d. 13 Dec. 1848, of consumption, and was buried in the yard by the Chandler School-house near where they had lived, in Chardon, Ohio, and where rest the remains of her husband. She was daughter of William Guy, a soldier of the Revolution, by his wife Phebe Galucia, b. 9 July, 1760.

In the Spring of 1797 he went with a team of four oxen and one horse to find for himself a new home, and arrived, 4th April, at Aurelius, N. Y., where he settled. He built a cabin and kept bachelor's hall until he was married, 4 Jan. 1798. He suffered a great deal by sickness and by privation while the country was new. His farm was about half a mile east of the "Free Bridge."

He was elected justice of the peace there, and served four years; was also elected to the same office in Mount Morris, Livingston Co., N. Y., where he went in the spring of 1824; but he did not qualify himself there to act. At Mt. Morris he lived just south of the "Brooks Grove." A part of that grove he sold to Maj. Gen. Micah<sup>5</sup> Brooks, "a pioneer in Western New York," who settled there in 1830. A granite monument at Nunda says he "was son of Rev. David<sup>4</sup> Brooks, of Cheshire, Conn., the son of Enos,<sup>3</sup> the son of Thomas,<sup>2</sup> the son of Henry<sup>1</sup> Brooks, who came from Cheshire, England, 1660, to New Haven, Conn."

In 1837, William<sup>6</sup> Chandler, Esq., moved with his family to Chardon, Geauga Co., Ohio, and settled four miles north of the court-house, where he bought a farm of 100 acres, on which resided, 1864, his daughter Clarissa G. Rockafellow. He died there 5 Sept. 1860, aged 86 years 2 mos. 7 days, "in hope of a blessed immortality beyond the grave."

The children of WILLIAM and CLARISSA (Guy) CHANDLER were:

1486. I. SARAH, b. at Aurelius, 11 Aug. 1800; d. 2 Aug. 1807, and was buried on her father's farm, one and a half miles east of the "Free Bridge," N. Y.

DEA. JOEL<sup>6</sup> CHANDLER (Ebenezer,<sup>5</sup> Thomas,<sup>4</sup> Joseph,<sup>3</sup> William,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and Lucy B. Gray, Weare, N. H.

She was b. 18 Sept. 1795, daughter of Timothy and Ruth (Burnham) Gray, of Wilton, N. H.

Mr. Chandler had an iron mortar which tradition says was brought over to this country by William<sup>1</sup> and Annis Chandler, in 1637; but when they moved from Wilton to Weare, they left it with her brother, Henry Gray, in Wilton, who has it yet (1882).

Dea. Joel Chandler was executor of his father's will. He was a miller, and lived in East Weare, by the mills, and attended to them. He died 22 Aug. 1860, of inflammation of the stomach, aged 66, and was buried in Hopkinton by the side of his two daughters Louisa.

The "Watchman and Reflector" of Nov. 15, 1860, says: "In East Weare, N. H., Aug. 22, 1860, died Dea. Joel Chandler, aged 66. He was born in Wilton, N. H., and united with the Baptist Church in that place at the age of 22. He soon after removed to Weston, Vt., where he was chosen deacon of the church at the age of 24. In 1830 he removed to Hopkinton, where for twenty years he served as deacon. In 1853 he removed to East Weare, where he served in that office until his death. He was a good man and greatly beloved; sound in faith, undeviating in his Christian course, and ardently attached to the cause of Christ. His memory will long be cherished in the church of God."

In his will, 29 Aug. 1860, he gave his four youngest children "three dollars each," and "all the rest" to "Lucy B. G. Chandler for her use and maintenance during her natural life," and at her decease "all that may remain to my daughter Lucy G. C. McAlpin."

She was born 1732; died 30 July, 1794, aged 62.

The ancestor of this Ward family was Dea. William<sup>1</sup> Ward, who came with his second wife Elizabeth from Yorkshire, Eng., and settled in Sudbury, Mass., and died in Marlboro', at the age of 87. His son William,<sup>2</sup> born in Sudbury, 1640, m. Hannah, dau. of Solomon Johnson, and the widow of Gershom Ames. Their second son was Col. Nahum<sup>3</sup> Ward, of Shrewsbury, Mass., born 1684, and m. 1714, Martha, dau. of Daniel and Elizabeth (Kerby) How. They were parents of Nahum<sup>4</sup> Ward, Jr., of Shrewsbury, who m. Lydia Stearns. He was a merchant, and died at the island of Jamaica, at the age of about 25, leaving two daughters, Lydia,<sup>5</sup> who m. as above, and Lucretia,<sup>5</sup> who m. Dr. Joshua Willard. Lydia was styled "Mrs." in her intention of marriage.

John Chandler was a successful merchant in Petersham. He resided a mile or so north of the centre of the town, and had there a "deer park." During the deep snow of one winter, the deer walked over the top of the fence, and were shot by neighboring sportsmen. Some remains of this high paling fence were in existence as late as 1850.

During his last days he was melancholy; and, eluding the vigilance of his nurses, in an evil hour hanged himself, 1794, aged 52. His remains, with those of his partner in life, lie in the graveyard in Petersham, covered by one large flat stone bearing no inscription.

The children of JOHN and LYDIA (Ward) CHANDLER were:

1610. i. JOHN, b. 23 July, 1767; m. in Boston, 5 June, 1800, Elizabeth Greene.
1611. ii. LYDIA, b. 28 Aug. 1768; m. 29 Oct. 1800, Joseph Head.
1612. iii. CLARK, b. 19 April, 1770; m. 14 July, 1791, Nancy Lyon.
1613. iv. NATHANIEL, b. 3 Feb. 1772; d. 29 Aug. 1772.
1614. v. NATHANIEL, 2d, b. 6 Oct. 1773; m. 17 Aug. 1802, Dorothy Greene, of Lancaster, Mass.

In 1774, he brought upon himself the just indignation of the strong whig majority of the town, by entering on the town records, secretly and without authority, the protest—"one of the boldest and most indignant remonstrances of the friends of the loyal government among the productions of the time." It was printed in the "Boston Gazette," 4 July, 1774, and signed by the loyalists of the town, among whom were the father, brothers and relatives of the clerk. This was a protest against the whig proceedings of the town. A town meeting was called by the whigs in consequence, and it was "Voted, That the Town Clerk do, in the presence of the town, Obliterate, Erase or otherwise deface the said recorded protest, and the names thereunto subscribed, so that it may become utterly illegible and unintelligible.

"Voted, That the following admonition be given to the Town Clerk, Mr. Clark Chandler: Whereas, this town, at their annual meeting in March last, as well as for several years before, honored you by choosing you for their clerk, relying on your fidelity, that you would act for the honor of the town, and find themselves much disappointed by your conduct in recording on the town book the scandalous protest of William Elder and others, filled with falsehood and reflections against the town, we have just reason to fear you was actuated in the matter by unjustifiable motives, and, at this time, exhort you to be more circumspect in the Execution of your Office, and never give this town the like trouble, of calling a town meeting again on such an occasion. The Town wish to see your behaviour such as may restore you to their former good opinion of you."

"At a Town Meeting held in Worcester, on the 22 day of August, 1774, and continued by adjournment to the 17th of October, the foregoing, being read, paragraph by paragraph, was accepted by the Town.

Attest,                      CLARK CHANDLER, Town Clerk."

In pursuance of this vote, the clerk, in open town meeting, and in presence of the inhabitants, blotted out the obnoxious record; and the work of the pen in defacing its own traces not being satisfactory, his fingers were dipped in ink and drawn over the protest. The pages still remain in the town book, so "utterly illegible and unintelligible" as to bear full testimony to the fidelity of the recording officer, in the execution of the singular and unwelcome duty of expunging thus imposed upon him.

Mr. Clark Chandler went, in June, 1775, by way of Newport, R. I., to Boston, and thence by sea to Nova Scotia, and came back through Canada to Worcester in September, and surrendered himself. He was committed to prison by order of the committee, on suspicion of having held intercourse with the enemy. But on the 15th of December, he was permitted by the council to go out on parole, to reside in Lancaster.

He afterwards kept a store at the corner of Front and Main Streets, Worcester. He died 1 June, 1804, in his 61st year.

His remains were interred in the Mechanic St. burying-ground, and were re-interred in Hope Cemetery, 1878.

He was rather under size; wore bright red small-clothes; was odd and singular, which often provoked the jeers and jokes of those around him, but which he was apt to repay with compound interest in the same coin. He was nearly blind in his last days.

He was born at Worcester, Mass., 25 Sept. 1739, and died at Lancaster, 14 Aug. 1826, at the age of 87, and was buried in Lancaster beside the remains of his wife, who died 31 Dec. 1818, in her 74th year.

Capt. Samuel<sup>5</sup> Ward, after serving one or more campaigns against Canada, commenced mercantile business in Groton, Mass. He moved to Lancaster, Mass., where under the firm of Willard (Levi) & Ward [see 312], he did an extensive mercantile business for years. Their wives stood in relation of aunt and niece to each other.

He was town clerk in Lancaster, 1775; was a jovial man, and full of anecdote. He survived his wife and his three children. He made his sister, Mrs. Dolly Greene Chandler, his heir. He was in the Indian war of 1755—at 16 years of age—Adjutant of Col. Abijah Willard's Regiment, 1760, at the taking of Ticonderoga and Crown Point, 1759, and of Isle-aux-Noix and Montreal, 1760.

The children of DOROTHY and Capt. SAMUEL WARD were:

- i. SAMUEL WARD, b. 16 Nov. 1769; d. 29 Nov. 1800.
- ii. CHARLES WARD, b. 16 April, 1773; d. 14 Sept. 1778.
- iii. SARAH CHANDLER WARD, b. 9 March, 1776; d. 31 Aug. 1778.

She was born 15 July, 1751, dau. of James Putnam.

There was in the keeping of her grandson, R. H. Vose, Esq., of Augusta, Me., a "very beautiful silhouette" portrait of her.

He grad at H. U. 1766, in a class of forty, with the rank of the fourth in "dignity of family." He read law in the office of his uncle, Hon. James Putnam, in Worcester, where he afterwards practised his profession, until the courts were closed by an assemblage of about 6000 whigs, on the 6th of Sept. 1774.

Lincoln says in his History of Worcester: "A few months before hostilities commenced, Capt. Rufus Chandler, a decided loyalist, afterwards a refugee and an active and influential man, paraded his troops before some British officers who had visited him from Boston, and boasted to his guests of that loyalty among his men, which the King vainly expected would sustain his assumptions of power amidst a bold and intelligent yeomanry, knowing their rights and willing to defend them."

Boston, May 30, 1774. "On Saturday last," said a Boston paper, "a number of Gentlemen of the Law, waited on our late Governor, with the following address," &c.

"To His Ex<sup>t</sup> Gov. Hutchinson:

"Sir: The present perplexed state of public affairs we are sensible must render your departure far less disagreeable to you, than it is to us. We, Sir! feel the loss; but, when, in the amiable character of your Successor, we view a fresh instance of paternal Goodness of our most Gracious Sovereign," &c., &c.

Signed by Daniel Bliss, Rufus Chandler, Eben'r Bradish and others.

Rufus Chandler inherited the loyalty of his family, which had shared so fully in the bounty of the King, and he left the country at the commencement of hostilities. He was banished in 1778. He resided in England as a private gentleman. He died in London, 11 Oct. 1823, aged 76 — and his remains were entombed with those of his father in Paddington Church-yard, Islington.

Mr. Chandler was more remarkable for accuracy and method, than for high mental endowments. Fidelity in business and purity of life secured the confidence of his clients. He was economical in his habits and most punctiliously neat in personal appearance. As an "absentee," his estate was inventoried and appraised; and Joseph Allen, in his account, prayed for allowance for articles contained in said inventory, part of them having been given up to the wife of John Chandler, Esq., for the maintenance of the daughter of the said Rufus Chandler, and the remainder to the Committee for the sale of confiscated estates, for the County of Worcester, amounting to £820 9s.

General Court of Mass., May 17, 1781. On the petition of Mary Chandler praying for allowance to be granted out of the Estate of her son Rufus Chandler's Estate, for supporting a child of s<sup>d</sup> Rufus, who is an absentee:

Resolve May, 1781.”

The only child of RUFUS and ELEANOR (Putnam) CHANDLER was :

1615. I. ELIZABETH PUTNAM, b. 1 June, 1771; m. 11 Sept. 1796, Solomon Vose, Esq., of Northfield, Mass.

She was dau. of Brig. Timothy<sup>3</sup> Ruggles and Bethsheba Bourne, wid. of Mr. Newcomb, of Hardwick, granddaughter of Rev. Timothy<sup>2</sup> Ruggles, of Roxbury and Rochester, Mass., and gr.-granddaughter of Samuel<sup>1</sup> Ruggles, Jr., of Roxbury, by his wife Martha Woodbridge.

Gen. Timothy<sup>3</sup> Ruggles, b. 1711, was graduated at Harvard University in 1732; settled at Sandwich as a lawyer; m. widow —, and opened a tavern and personally attended to the bar and the stable, but continued his practice at the courts, where he was generally opposed to Otis. He removed to Hardwick, Mass.; attained to the rank of brigadier-general, and led a body of troops to join Sir William Johnson in the war of 1755. In 1757 he was appointed Associate Justice of the Court of Common Pleas, and was placed at the head of that bench in 1762. In 1765 he was a delegate to the Congress of Nine Colonies at New York, and was made president of that body. But as the revolutionary quarrel progressed, he became more and more tainted with loyalty to the king, as were most of the office-holders of that day, and as a consequence he met with hostile treatment from the patriot whigs, who on one occasion insulted him even in his own house, poisoned his horse, &c.; so that he was obliged to take refuge in Boston, then garrisoned by British troops. He had, in 1774, been named a “Mandamus Councillor,” though not appointed by Heaven, as McFingal suggested; for he wrote:

“Were they not mere earthly struggles,
That raised up Murray, say, and Ruggles?”

He was proscribed and banished, 1778, and his estate confiscated. An oil painting of his homestead at Hardwick, Mass., by Winthrop Chandler [see 326], was at the house of William E. Green, Esq., Worcester, Mass., in 1865. The mother of

Mr. Green was another daughter of Gen. Ruggles. Her likeness, with that of her husband, John Green, by the same artist, was at the same place. Gen. Ruggles died at Digby, N. S., in 1798, aged 87 years.

Gardiner<sup>6</sup> Chandler was a merchant at Hardwick. He sided with the loyalists as the revolutionary struggle came on, and was declared, by an act of General Court, "an absentee who left this State and fled to our enemies for protection," and whose estate of £256:1:10, as rendered 6 July, 1779, by Timothy Page, was confiscated and paid into the treasury of the State.

Mr. Chandler returned, and the town of Hardwick "Voted, that as Gardiner Chandler has now made acknowledgement, and says he is sorry for his past conduct, that they will treat him as a friend and neighbor as long as he shall behave himself well."

Mr. Chandler<sup>6</sup> purchased the Dummer farm in Brattleboro', Vt., and resided there, and was justice of the peace from 1789 to 1795. He sold that farm and bought another on the top of the mountains in Hinsdale, N. H.

Mr. Chandler died at Hinsdale, and was buried near the Dummer Ferry, in Hinsdale, just below his farm.

In his will of 7 June, 1811, he says: "I Gardiner Chandler of Hinsdale," give to "my daughter Sarah Bigelow, deceased, Heirs, one Looking glass, the same that was called their mother's, and books and such things as may be labelled, to the person whose name is on them." "I give to Royal Marble alias Royal Chandler (m. Sally Allen, son of Ruth Marble), my adopted son, all my real estate in Hinsdale and all my wearing apparel, provided that one half of it is to belong to his mother Ruth Marble during her natural life." "And it is my will that Royal Marble shall have $100 out of my personal estate to make him equal to the rest of my children—legal heirs." "All the rest of my estate to be divided into three equal shares to be distributed as follows: one to the Heirs of my daughter Sarah Bigelow, deceased, one to my daughter Eliza Blake, wife of Francis Blake, and one to Charles Chandler. Joseph Clark of Brattleboro' to be sole executor."

The children of GARDINER and ELIZABETH (Ruggles) CHANDLER were:

1616. I. SARAH; m. first, Dr. George Holman Hall; m. second, Richardson Bigelow.
1617. II. ELIZABETH AUGUSTA; m. 14 Dec. 1794, Francis Blake, of Rutland.
1618. III. CHARLES, b. at Brattleboro'; unm. He was clerk in Holbrook's store, Brattleboro'. His estate was administered on by his brother-in-law, Dr. G. H. Hall, and was distributed by order of court, 26 April, 1820; one half $92.50, to Eliza A. Blake, of Worcester, and the other half to the heirs of Sarah Bigelow, deceased—George H. Hall, Gardiner Chandler Hall, Samuel Hall, Helen M. Hall, Elizabeth Hall, and ———, $13.21 each.

He grad. at Harvard University in 1768; lawyer in Petersham, Mass.; loyalist, and one of the "18 Country Gentlemen" who addressed Gov. Gage on his departure in 1775. He became a refugee in the British camp at New York; and he afterwards commanded a volunteer corps in the British service.

He returned to this country in 1784, and engaged in trade at Petersham, which sickness compelled him to relinquish, and he returned to his native town, where he died, 7 March, 1801, at the house of his sister, Mrs. Mary Sever, where the "Lincoln House" stood, aged 51 years. He was a very companionable man, and could sing a good song at social parties. "He possessed personal manliness and beauty. He was endowed with a good mind and a lively imagination. In disposition he was cheerful, but his course of life drew him from those pursuits which might have rendered him a distinguished character."

He says in his will, dated 18 Feb. 1798, and probated 7 April, 1801, by Thomas Chandler, executor, "I Nathaniel Chandler of Worcester," "that every part of my property shall be and remain to my Brother Thomas Chandler, whom I appoint my executor."

The inventory of his estate embraced "the Homestead on the road to Leicester, $1,400." "Land in common with Thomas Chandler," and personal estate. Total, $1,445.82½.

An oil painting of him was, in 1866, at the house of Mrs. Dolly Chandler, Lancaster, Mass.

1775, announced: "Messrs. Chandler and Paine of this Town are arrived in Salem from London." After the Revolution he returned to Worcester, where he died 1 July, 1793, aged 40.

His estate, valued at £605 : 1 : 2, was administered on by his brother, Maj. Charles Chandler; and it included "14 Shirts, at 2s.; 7 Prs. Silk Hose, at 14s.; Plated Shoe Buckles, 6s.; 2 ps. of Velvet Breeches, 3s."

Charges against the estate:—Funeral charges, £12 : 19 : 11¼
 Dr. Oliver Fisk's Bill of last Sickness, 10 : 18 : 6
 Office Fees, 10s. and administering on Estate, 18 : 10

"A balance of £517 : 12 : 8½," "I order him to pay to the Hon<sup>ble</sup> John Chandler, Esq. Father of the deceased, or to his legal representatives. Jos. Dorr, J. Prob."

She was daughter of Capt. Samuel<sup>3</sup> Mower by his wife Anna Leach, of Beverly, Mass., granddaughter of Samuel<sup>2</sup> and Comford Larned, of Oxford, Mass., gr.-granddaughter of Samuel<sup>1</sup> Mower, the emigrant (in 1714) and Elizabeth Sprague his wife. On a mourning piece, worked by her daughter, is—"Sacred to the Memory of Mrs. Sarah Chandler, who d. Dec. 7, 1801, aged 30 years."

Mr. Charles Chandler was a merchant in Putney, Vt., where he opened the second store established in that place, about twelve rods south of the meeting-house, in 1783. He was afterwards, and at the time of his death, a merchant in Worcester, under the firm of Charles & Samuel Chandler. He died 9 April, 1798, aged 43.

He says in his will of Feb. 22, 1798: "I give to my wife Sarah" "the use and improvement of one third part of my Estate during her life, also all my furniture; also I give her during the time she remains my widow and no longer, the interest arising from one third part of my Estate. I give my Brother Samuel Chandler all the rest of my Estate in Trust for my daughter Sarah, to be delivered to her on her attaining 21 years, or on her marriage; and in case of her death, I give it to my Brother Samuel Chandler, except the third part to my wife."

The estate inventoried at $12,726.14, of which the 350-acre farm (where Mr. Ethan Allen lived, and on which he died in 1871, on the road to Leicester); the homestead, was $10,000.

The will of Sarah Chandler, late of Leicester, widow, deceased, was presented for probate by Theophilus Wheeler, executor, 5 Jan. 1802; the inventory of which was $657.24. In it she said, "I give to my only daughter and child, Sarah Chandler, my watch, to be kept for her in the hands of my Executors till the age of Discretion, and then to be delivered to her."

"Worcester, 25 June, 1816. Rec<sup>d</sup> of Theophilus Wheeler the watch which belonged to Maj. Charles Chandler dec<sup>d</sup>, and was bequeathed by Sarah Chandler to her daughter Sarah Chandler."
SAMUEL WARD."

Which shows that in the judgment of the executor the day of marriage was the "age of Discretion."

"Worcester, June 25, 1816. This day settled with Theophilus Wheeler, late Guardian of Sarah Chandler, now my wife, and rec<sup>d</sup> of him $450.09, &c. rents of Sarah Chandler's Estate, and also for money p<sup>d</sup> over to him by Rev. A. Bancroft, Ex<sup>t</sup> of Samuel Chandler's will, on account of, and in full for, the Legacy of £200 Sterling bequeathed to him by his Grand Father John Chandler, with the interest thereof, and her dividend of her uncle Clark Chandler's Estate, &c.

SAMUEL WARD."

The only child of CHARLES and SARAH (Mower) CHANDLER was :

1619. I. SARAH, b. 22 Dec. 1796; m. 25 June, 181~~8~~<sup>6</sup>, Col. Samuel Ward, of Woodstock, Vt.

He was town treasurer of Worcester in 1795, and there was reported and recorded that year a deficit in his accounts of £638:4:7½. But he was chosen to the same office the next year but one. In 1796 he was one of the Committee to confer with the Hon. Dwight Foster on the commercial treaty with Great Britain, appointed by the town from a petition therefor signed by John Stanton, Samuel, Nathaniel, Thomas and Charles Chandler, among others.

He was gentlemanly, hospitably noticed strangers, and when he lived in a house that stood at the foot of what is now Pearl Street, Worcester, he gave a ball which was long remembered. At this ball the children were invited in the afternoon and stayed till 6 o'clock, P. M., and the adults were invited to spend the evening; so said Mrs. Eliza Bancroft Davis.

With others he petitioned the town for the privilege of setting up a building on the east side of the Common for manufacturing cotton and linen, in 1789. The prayer of the petitioners was granted. He was a director in the Worcester Bank; was the residuary devisee of the will of his brother Charles, and sole executor. He died 26 Oct. 1813, aged 56, in Woodstock, Vt.

In his will he says, "I Samuel Chandler of Woodstock," "Imprimis—I give to a Boy living at Dr. Samuel Willard's," Uxbridge, Mass., "who may be now about the age of twenty years, and, I think, is called by the name of Samuel Chandler, and is the son of Polly Singletery of the town of Ward, Two thousand Dollars."

"Item. I give my father's portrait which is now at the house of my sister, the widow Sarah Stanton, in s<sup>d</sup> Worcester, to John Chandler, the eldest son of my brother John Chandler.

"Item. I give my watch to John Chandler Bancroft of Worcester.

"Item. I give and bequeath to my sister Dolly Ward, wife of Samuel Ward, Esq. of Lancaster, and to Sarah Chandler, Daughter of my late Brother Charles Chandler of Worcester, to each a Mourning Suit. All the rest, &c. I give one share—the one half of it—to the heirs of my late Brother John Chandler, and the other half share to Eliza P. Vose, daughter of my late Brother Rufus Chandler; one share to the heirs of my late Brother Gardiner Chandler; one share to my sister wid. Sarah Stanton; one share to my sister wid. Mary Sever; one share to my sister Lucretia Bancroft, wife of Rev. A. Bancroft, D.D.; one share to my sister wid. Elizabeth Putnam.

"And I appoint A. Bancroft, D.D., and Capt. Benjamin Smith, merchant of Putnam, Vt., Executors."—19 Oct. 1813.

Woodstock, Vt., 22 Nov. 1813, the foregoing will was presented for probate.

He was b. in Boston, June, 1755; d. 9 Nov. 1796, at Worcester; was son of John<sup>1</sup> and Joanna Stanton.

They lived on Main Street, where the Universalist Church stands, at the head of Foster Street, and kept a store of goods, "19 March, 1778, near the Meeting-House." He carried on a pottery on the north side of what is now Front Street, where widow Timothy Bancroft lived in 1871.

"He had a reputation for much shrewdness and capacity for business." Capt. Stanton commanded the Artillery Company in Worcester, 1789. In personal appearance he was a short, thick-set, muscular man, with a full, open, pleasant countenance, and easy and familiar address. He was social in disposition and fond of good company, which his large circle of family connections and extensive acquaintance enabled him freely to enjoy. He was afflicted with the gout, and died from an overdose of laudanum incautiously taken for relief in a paroxysm of it.

Mrs. Sarah Stanton was "one of the best-hearted women that ever lived—a very Mother Bountiful." She died at Boston, 1819, aged 60 years. The "Worcester Spy" of that time said: "The law of kindness dwelt in her heart, the exercise of offices of benevolence and charity was through life her delight. She sustained, for a long period, severe bodily sufferings with the resignation of the child of God, and died in the hope of the Christian."

The children of SARAH and JOHN STANTON were:

- i. BENJAMIN<sup>3</sup> CHURCH STANTON. At the age of about 6 years, "could not stand nor speak."
- ii. FRANCIS<sup>3</sup> STANTON, b. 13 Jan. 1785; d. aged about 50. The merchants of Boston erected a monument to him at Mt. Auburn, as a memento of the honesty and integrity of a Boston merchant.
- iii. JOHN<sup>3</sup> STANTON.
- iv. SARAH<sup>3</sup> STANTON, b. at 3 o'clock, A. M., 19 Oct. 1786; m. Sunday, 15 Nov. 1806, Lieut. Joshua<sup>6</sup> B. Blake, who was b. 1779, d. 22 Dec. 1844, in Boston.

Her gr.-daughter, Sally Blake Austin, b. in Boston, 28 Jan. 1841; m. Francis Blake Rice. [See 1617.]

Four children:

- i. Austin Rice, b. Feb. 20th, 1870, in Worcester, Mass.
- ii. Gertrude Major Rice, b. Aug. 1871, in Sheffield, Berkshire Co., Mass.
- iii. George Tilley Rice, b. July 4th, 1873, in Shanklin, Isle of Wight, England.
- iv. Arthur Waldo Rice, b. Aug. 1875, in Dieppe, France.

Their son, Charles Smith<sup>7</sup> Blake, b. 1826; m. first, Katherine Phillips, of Northampton. She died, leaving two children. He m. second, Nov. 1862, Harriet W. Ward, b. 20 July, 1821, dau. of Col. Samuel and Sarah Chandler Ward. [See 1619.] Two children.

- v. JOHN<sup>3</sup> STANTON, b. 18 July, 1788; sailor; boarded out at Needham, where he died, but his remains were buried at Worcester.
- vi. MARY<sup>3</sup> STANTON, b. June, 1790; nm.; resided with Mrs. Joshua Blake in Boston, and with his niece, Mrs. Gardiner G. Hubbard.

He was b. at Kingston, 1759; d. 27 Oct. 1798, aged 39, at Worcester; son of Hon. William<sup>4</sup> Sever, of Kingston, Mass., by his wife Sarah Warren; grandson of Rev. Nicholas<sup>3</sup> Sever by his wife Susannah Winslow; gr.-grandson of Caleb<sup>2</sup> Sever by his wife Sarah Inglesby; gr.-gr.-grandson of Robert<sup>1</sup> Sever.

He was graduated at Harvard University, 1778; studied law in the office of Hon. Levi Lincoln, Sen., at Worcester; was called to the bar in 1781; practised his profession two years at Kingston, and in 1785 removed to Worcester, where he died at the age of 39, "leaving a reputation of fine talents, which, with greater assiduity and self-denial, might have gained him high professional distinction."

His father bought for him a farm which included the spot where the "Lincoln House" stands, and where stood the first licensed house in Worcester, known during the Revolutionary war as the "Old Stearns Tavern." William Sever, Esq., resided there, and after him his son-in-law, Gov. Levi Lincoln, who bought the farm and erected a new brick house on the spot which forms a part of the interior of the Lincoln House Block.

“Mrs. Mary Sever was very talented,” and, in the estimation of some, “the flower of the family.” She died 15 Jan. 1821, in her 62d year.

The children of MARY and WILLIAM SEVER were :

- i. PENELOPE<sup>2</sup> WINSLOW SEVER, b. at Kingston, 21 July, 1786; d. 2 April, 1872; m. 6 Sept. 1807, Levi Lincoln, Jr., who was b. 25 Oct. 1782, d. at Worcester, 29 May, 1868, son of Hon. Levi Lincoln, attorney-general of the U. S. in Jefferson's administration, and Lieut.-Governor of Massachusetts, by his wife Martha Waldo, who d. 28 March, 1828, aged 66 years, dau. of Daniel Waldo, Sen., of Worcester.

Levi Lincoln, Jr., was graduated at Harvard College in 1802; lawyer, and a most successful advocate at the bar in Worcester, Mass.; Speaker of the House of Representatives in 1822; Lieut.-Governor of Massachusetts in 1823; and in Feb. 1824, appointed Associate Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court. In April, 1825, “farmer Lincoln” was, by union of the two great parties, chosen Governor of the Commonwealth, which office he held for nine successive years, when he declined. In Feb. 1834, he was elected to Congress to supply the vacancy occasioned by the transfer of the Hon. John Davis to the executive chair just vacated by himself, and in November following was chosen member of the twenty-fourth Congress. The degree of LL.D. was conferred on him by Williams College and Harvard University. He was president of the Worcester County Agricultural Society from 1823. Seven children.

Their son, Gen. Wm. Sever Lincoln, m. 22 Oct. 1835, Elizabeth Trumbull, b. 31 Aug. 1816, dau. of George A. Trumbull by his wife Louisa Clap.

Their son, D. Waldo Lincoln, b. 16 Jan. 1813; m. 30 Nov. 1841, Frances Fiske, dau. of Francis T. Merrick. President of B. and A. R. R.; killed by the cars at New London, Conn., 1st July, 1880. They were parents of Waldo Lincoln, b. 31 Dec. 1849; H. U. 1870; m. 24 June, 1873, Fanny, dau. of Dr. George Chandler.

Their son, George Lincoln, shot in the battle of Buena Vista, Mexico, 23 Feb. 1847, adjutant-general in U. S. service, m. Nancy Hoard, dau. of Silvius Hoard by his wife Nancy M. de Villers, dau. of Louis de Villers, who came out in Rochambeau's expedition to aid the U. S. in the war of the Revolution. She m. second, Hon. Stephen Salisbury. Their dau. Georgiana de Villers Lincoln m. 8 Jan. 1861, Francis Blake Rice of Worcester.

- ii. ANNE<sup>3</sup> WARREN SEVER; m. 19 April, 1821, Rev. John Brazer, b. at Worcester, 21 Sept. 1789, died 26 Feb. 1846, at Charleston, S. C., where he had gone for the benefit of his health. He was son of Samuel Brazer; was graduated at Harvard University in 1813; and succeeded Hon. Edward Everett as Latin tutor there in 1815; was Professor of Latin there from 1817 to 1820; and from his Alma Mater he received the degree of D.D. in 1826. He was ordained pastor over the North Church in Salem, Mass., 14 Nov. 1820, and labored there until his death. “Few of our divines,” said the “Salem Observer,” “have produced such elaborate and finished discourses. Dr. Brazer was especially distinguished for his devoted care of the poor and unfortunate.” Five children.

- iii. WILLIAM<sup>3</sup> JAMES SEVER was published 22 Oct. 1819, to and m. Adeline Trask, of Gloucester, Mass. He was Consul at Santa Croix. Died 15 Sept. 1835, aged 42 years. No issue. He was lieutenant in the U. S. Navy.

He was b. at Reading, 10 Nov. 1755; d. 19 Aug. 1839, at Worcester; son of Dea. Samuel<sup>5</sup> Bancroft, of Reading, Mass., who was b. at Reading, 21 July, 1715, m. 1735, Lydia Parker, of Reading, who d. 1813, a. 97; grandson of Samuel,<sup>4</sup> who m. 1713, Sarah Lamson; and through Thomas,<sup>3</sup> who m. 1673, Sarah Poole; and Thomas,<sup>2</sup> who m. 1648, Eliza Metcalf; and John<sup>1</sup> Bancroft, who came, 1632, in "the James."

Rev. Aaron<sup>6</sup> Bancroft entered Harvard University in 1774; but in 1775, the revolutionary movements dispersed the students, and he worked on his father's farm until the October following, when the students were collected at Concord, Mass., and re-collected at Cambridge in March, 1776. He was graduated in 1778, and in 1779 began to preach. In 1780, by invitation of Mr. — Barnard, of Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, and by permission of the Executive Council of Massachusetts, he went there to preach, and remained in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick three years. In 1783 he began to supply Rev. Mr. Thaddeus Maccarty's pulpit in Worcester during his illness. In 1784 he preached at East Windsor, Conn. In March, 1785, sixty-seven individuals formed the "Second Society" in Worcester; and on the third Sunday of March in that year, he began to preach to it, and hold meetings in the Court-house. His salary at first was $500. He consented to become minister of this church 7 June, 1785, and remained pastor of it more than fifty-four years.

In sentiment he was Unitarian, and almost the pioneer in that faith in this country, and for many years stood almost alone. For this he was well fitted by self-reliance and a well-balanced mind. In defence of his faith he wrote and published much. In relation to a series of doctrinal discourses delivered in 1821, and printed at the request of his hearers, President John Adams thus expressed himself, 24 Jan. 1823: "I thank you for your kind letter of Dec. 30th, and above all, for the gift of a precious volume. It is a chain of diamonds set in links of gold, I have never read, nor heard read, a volume of sermons better calculated and adapted to the age and country in which it was written. How different from the sermons I heard and read in the town of Worcester from the year 1755 to 1758! You may well suppose that I have heard controversies enough; but after all, I declare to you, that your twenty-nine sermons have expressed the result of all my reading, experience and reflections, in a manner more satisfactory to me than I could have done in the best days of my strength." He received the degree of D.D. from H. U. 1810.

Mrs. Lucretia Bancroft d. 27 April, 1839, in her 74th year. Mrs. Bancroft was in person tall and slender. She had dark complexion, and a keen black eye. Her temperament was nervous and bilious. She was energetic and intelligent; had great colloquial powers and ardent social feelings. It is recorded of her in the last resting-place of her mortal remains, in the Rural Cemetery in Worcester:

With zealous and untiring sympathy she shared and relieved the pious labors of her husband and was not long separated from him by an earlier summons to her reward.
Her ardent friendship, her active benevolence, her many virtues and her efforts and sacrifices for the welfare of the Second Parish in Worcester should ever be held in grateful remembrance.

The children of LUCRETIA and Rev. AARON BANCROFT were:

- i. HENRY<sup>7</sup> BANCROFT, b. in Worcester, 8 Oct. 1787; d. 26 Oct. 1817, in Worcester; unm. He was an East India sea-captain. As sailing-master he had command of one of McDonough's ships when he gained his victory, 3 Sept. 1814, on Lake Champlain.

She d. 16 Oct. 1806, aged 28, in Worcester. She was the widow of William Dana and dau. of Robert Davis, of Boston. She had

1. Adaline Dana.
2. William Dana, Jr.

After Capt. Thomas Chandler's death, 13 May, 1804, she m. for her third husband, 8 Dec. 1805, Capt. James Rowan, of Boston.

Capt. Chandler was a graduate of H. U. in 1787. He was a merchant at Chester, Vt., and afterwards in Worcester, Mass. His store stood in front of the City Hall. He boarded with Mr. Farrar at the corner of Main and Park streets, and it was supposed his death, 21 May, 1804, a. 36, was in consequence of injuries received from a fall from the stoop of that [Clap] house, on to which he had got in his sleep. His leg was broken in this fall.

At one time, while residing in the "green house" out a mile on the Leicester road, he gave a "Sillabub" party, which was long remembered by those present. The great feature of the entertainment was "Sillabub," then considered the nicest thing drinkable, the receipt for which was, "Put port wine and sugar in a pail and milk the cow directly on to it." [Mrs. E. D. John Davis.]

During the hostile attitude of France in 1798, which required energetic preparations for defence, a company of sixty, rank and file, was formed in Worcester, under Capt. Thomas Chandler, called the "Worcester Volunteer Cadet Infantry," holding themselves in readiness to march on the reception of orders. Their pay depended upon actual service. Capt. Chandler's company cantoned at Oxford, Mass., during the following winter, in a bloodless campaign.

In his will of 12 April, 1804, he said, "I give to Theoda Chandler, my respected daughter, the sum of $500, to be paid her when she shall arrive at the age of 18 years, with interest after one year after my death. All the rest I give to my beloved wife Elizabeth Chandler and her heirs forever."

The inventory of his estate was, "half of the Amount of Goods in the Store of the late firm of Farrar and Chandler," $2,761.74½, and other assets, in all amounting to $3,544.96½.

The only child of Capt. THOMAS CHANDLER was :

- i. THEODA, d. 18 June, 1813, in the 21st year of her age, and buried at S. Chester, Vt.

" It must be so, accomplished youth, farewell;
What tongue our sorrows, or thy joys, can tell!
Snatched from the world so hastily away,
To fairer regions and a brighter day."

He was b. 26 Jan. 1763, in Worcester; d. 3 April, 1798; H. U. 1779; son of Hon. James<sup>1</sup> Putnam and Elizabeth Chandler. [See 311.]

After his death she returned to Worcester and resided with her sister, Mrs. John Stanton, but d. in Lancaster, Mass., 18 Jan. 1820, in her 50th year.

The children of ELIZABETH and EBENEZER PUTNAM were :

- i. ELIZABETH<sup>3</sup> PUTNAM, d. aged 6 mos.
- ii. JAMES<sup>3</sup> PUTNAM, b. Nov. 1790; d. in Worcester, 18 Aug. 1810; buried in the Mechanic Street cemetery. H. U. 1808. He was a student in medicine with Dr. Nathan Smith, at Dart. Coll., and while there had rheumatic fever, for which he was put into a cold bath. He was relieved of a fever by the bath, but by it the disease was transferred to his lungs; and he died soon after of consumption, much lamented as a promising young man.
- iii. JOHN<sup>3</sup> CHANDLER PUTNAM, b. Dec. 1792; d. 1840, in Hartford, Conn. He was a merchant in Boston; m. Sept. 1831, Abby Smith, b. April, 1805; dau. of Stephen and Abigail Smith. They had no children, but they adopted Miss —, who m. William Lincoln, of Boston.
- iv. CHARLES<sup>3</sup> S. PUTNAM, d. 1837; m. Eleanor Millidge, of Annapolis, N. S., dau. of Rev. Mr. Millidge, of Annapolis. [See 735.] H. U. 1814; lawyer at St. John, N. B., and at Frederickton. Three children.
- v. FRANCIS<sup>3</sup> EBENEZER PUTNAM; d. 1837; m. Anne Currie, of St. Andrew, N. B., who d. in Boston, 1839. H. U. 1815; lawyer. No issue.

The "Boston Centinel" of April, 1784, announced her death thus:—"Died at Boston, Saturday last, Mrs. Hannah Williams the amiable consort of John Williams, merchant of that Town." She died 4 April, 1784, aged 26 years. An oil painting of her, taken after death by — King, and in the keeping of her nephew, Maj. G. Paine, at Worcester, represents her as having been a slender, delicate person, of dark but fair complexion, dark hair, hazel eyes, heavy eyebrows and a high forehead. Hepsy Hemmingway said she "well recollected her marriage; for Burgoyne's Band came down from Rutland and played before the house of Sheriff Chandler all that evening."

She had four children, all of whom died young.

i. MARY ANNIE was the name of one of them.

The banns of matrimony between "Nathaniel Paine and Elizabeth Chandler were Entered July 30, 1784," and "July 31, 1784, the above Elizabeth<sup>6</sup> Chandler forbid any further proceedings in publishing the above intentions."

"Attest, DANIEL GOULDING, Town Clerk."

Again the banns were "Entered Nov. 24, 1785, between Nathaniel Paine and Elizabeth Chandler, both of Worcester;" and the "Worcester Spy," of 22 Dec. 1785, says, "Mr. Nathaniel Paine, Attorney at Law, was married 18 Dec. 1785, by John Sprague, Justice of the Peace, to the amiable Miss Elizabeth Chandler, the second-daughter of the late Gardiner Chandler, Esq., of this Town, deceased."

Mr. Paine was b. at Worcester, 5 Jan. 1759; d. 7 Nov. 1840, a. 80 years; was son of Hon. Timothy<sup>5</sup> Paine, of Worcester, by his wife Sarah<sup>5</sup> Chandler. [See 308.] The bride and the groom were cousins—a term, in its various degrees of relationship, that can be applied very frequently in the matrimonial alliances of this Chandler family. He was of H. U. 1775; read law in the office of Hon. John Sprague, at Lancaster, and commenced the practice of the law at Groton, Mass. But after four years he returned to his native town. He succeeded Daniel Bigelow as County Attorney. In 1798-99 and 1800, he represented Worcester in the State Legislature. He was appointed Judge of Probate for Worcester Co. 24 Jan. 1801, and held that office until the 18th of Jan. 1836, when his resignation was accepted.

She d. 14 Jan. 1830, a. 66. They resided at the corner of Main and Pleasant Streets. A portrait of Mrs. Elizabeth Paine by Mr. King, which is in the keeping of her grandson, Nathaniel Paine, represents her as having been a handsome woman of rather delicate make, with clear dark complexion, hazel eyes, brown hair and a broad, high forehead.

The remains of Judge Paine and of his wife have been transferred to the Rural Cemetery.

The children of ELIZABETH and Judge N. PAINE were :

- i. NANCY<sup>7</sup> LEONARD PAINE, b. 25 Nov. 1786 ; d. 8 Jan. 1802.
- ii. CHARLOTTE<sup>7</sup> PAINE, b. in the old Paine house, by the two elm trees, on Lincoln Street, 9 Aug. 1788 ; d. 3 Dec. 1866, aged 78 ; m. 23 Sept. 1818, Timothy Paine Bradish. [See 308.] They resided in Mississippi ; but after the death of her husband she returned to her native city, and was interred in the Bradish lot, Rural Cemetery, for the care of which she left $100. One child.
- iii. NATHANIEL<sup>7</sup> ANTHONY PAINE, b. 29 Nov. 1791 ; d. 9 Feb. 1819 ; unm. He entered H. C. 1809.

He was a graduate of Yale College in 1763, and tutor in 1768; lawyer in New Haven, Conn.; lived on what is Tontine Square.

He was agent for the loyalists, and went to St. John, N. B., 1782, in the first fleet.

On a freestone monument about fifteen feet high, in the Rural Cemetery in Saint John, N. B., is inscribed :

Sacred
to the Memory of AMOS BOTSFORD, Esquire, born at Newtown in Connecticut
the 31st January 1744.
Adhesion to his allegiance in the Revolutionary War forced him from his native home
He was appointed in 1782 by Sir Guy Carlton, an Agent for the Loyalists who were then embarking at New York to seek an Asylum in Nova Scotia, and arrived
At Annapolis with the first Fleet in the Autumn of that year.
On the erection of this Province
He represented the County of Westmoreland, Was elected Speaker by the first House of Assembly in 1786,
And was afterwards re-elected by each successive House until his death,
Having filled that important office
Twenty-Seven Years.
He died on the 14th September 1812 in the 69th year of his age.
This monument is the Tribute of filial affection.

The children of SARAH and AMOS BOTSFORD were :

- i. NANCY BOTSFORD; m. Rev. John Millidge, of Annapolis, N. S., where he died in the pulpit. He was a clergyman of the English Church.
- ii. WILLIAM BOTSFORD, b. in New Haven, Conn., April, 1773; died at West Cock, Sackville, N. B., 8 May, 1864, aged 92; m. 1802, Sarah Lowell Hazen, b. 12 Oct. 1775, at Portland, N. B., d. 4 May, 1850, aged 74, dau. of Hon. William Hazen, of St. John, and widow of Thomas Murray, Esq.

privateer captured in Buzzard's Bay; afterwards settled at Plymouth, Mass. William<sup>4</sup> Hazen removed to St. John, N. B., before the Revolution. He was son of Moses<sup>3</sup> Hazen, b. 1701, m. 1727-8, Abigail, dau. of John and Sarah (Gilman) White, of Haverhill, Mass.; grandson of Richard<sup>2</sup> Hazen, b. 1669, m. 1694, Mary, dau. of Capt. John and Hannah (Andrews) Peabody; and gr.-grandson of Edward<sup>1</sup> Hazen, the emigrant ancestor, who settled in Rowley, Mass.

Mr. William Botsford accompanied his father to Annapolis in 1782. He returned to Connecticut and fitted for college with Rev. Elizur Goodrich, of Durham, Conn. He was graduated at Y. C. in 1792, second in rank in a class of thirty-four, and survived them all. He read law in the office of Hon. Jonathan Bliss, then attorney-general and afterwards Chief Justice of the Province of New Brunswick, and was admitted to the bar in 1795, and settled at St. John, N. B. In 1803 he was appointed Judge of the Vice-Admiralty Court, over which he presided until 1807, when at the request of his father he resigned that office and removed to the homestead at West Cock, Sackville. In 1817 he was appointed solicitor-general, and held that office until he was elevated to the bench of the Supreme Court in 1823. On the death of his father in 1812, he represented Westmoreland County in the Assembly of the Province, and was Speaker of that body from 1817 to 1823, when he was promoted to the Executive and Legislative Council. In 1845, Judge Botsford's hearing having become slightly impaired, he resigned his seat on the Supreme Bench, and devoted the remainder of a long and well-spent life in promoting the interests of agriculture, learning, and the amenities of social life in his vicinity. Said one who knew him well: "The late Judge Botsford was a noble specimen of a man; and his heart was warm with love to all the Chandlers, as well as to the rest of mankind." Ten children.

and Sarah dau. of Rev. Nathan Chauncy, son of Charles, Pres. Yale College; and gr.-gr.-gr.-dau. of John Whittlesey, shoemaker, came in 1640, m. Ruth Dudley.

John Chandler was graduated at Y. C. 1772; lawyer at New Haven, Conn., and resided on State Street. A newspaper of New Haven announced, 13 June, 1786, as follows: "At a late city meeting John Chandler was elected Sheriff."

When the war of the Revolution broke out, he had fair prospects of success in business; but soon all his father's family took sides with the adherents of their king and left New Haven, he alone remaining. But he felt wounded at what he thought the unjust suspicions of the whigs, and that a certain degree of disloyalty would be attached to him on account of the course taken by the rest of his family. He was a man of great pride and ambition, but the breaking up of society and of his family discouraged him. His success in business must have been small, for his family was broken up, and his third child taken from home by her maternal grandmother, so young and kept away so long and persistently, that there were born to her five brothers and sisters, of whom she could not, at one time, say that she had ever seen either of them, although living in the next town. He died "the winter" before 16th Jan. 1805. His remains with those of his wife and some of his children, were interred in the cemetery at New Haven, near the monument of their relative, Rev. Samuel Dana, D.D.

The children of JOHN and SARAH (Whittlesey) CHANDLER were:

1626. I. SARAH, b. at New Haven; bapt. 30 Oct. 1778; d. 14 Feb. 1802.
1627. II. JOHN, b. 30 April, 1780; killed while cutting wood at the door, aged 16.
1628. III. SUSAN, b. 14 Oct. 1781; m. at Middletown, Conn., 16 Jan. 1805, James Casey.
1629. IV. WILLIAM, b. 20 April, 1783; d. 1830, at New York city; m. first, 26 Aug. 1804, Mary Larkin McIntire; m. second, 1809, Mary Herbert, of Monmouth, N. J.
1630. V. CHARLES HENRY, b. 16 April, 1786; m. first, in Watertown, 23 Jan. 1811, Sarah Blackman, of Watertown, Mass.; m. second, Betsey Ann Slawson.

She was born in 1775, dau. of Maj. Alexander Grant, of the 42d Reg't of the British Army, by his wife Sarah Kent, who was shipwrecked on "her passage from Digby to St. John, N. B., on the night of the 9th day of March, 1787," with Col. Joshua<sup>5</sup> Chandler. [See 314.] She was dau. of Rev. Mr. Kent, of the Church of England.

Another daughter of Maj. Grant (Lucy) married Mr. Halliburton, barrister at law, and they were parents of Thomas Chandler Halliburton, author of "Sam Slick."

The Annals of Newtown, N. Y., say: "The farm of the late Judge Coe (now Abraham Whiston) was, from the year 1777 to 1783, in possession of the family of Lieut. Alexander Grant, of the 42d Reg't, who was killed at the battle of Fort Montgomery. But fortunately Grant left property in New York. The State in 1785 allowed Coe to file a declaration against Grant's heirs, so that Coe was compensated for waste and injury to his farm."

Thomas Chandler assisted his brother William in piloting Gov. Tryon and his forces into New Haven, Conn., when it was burnt, 5 July, 1779. He went with his father's family to Annapolis, Nova Scotia, in 1783. He was commissioned ensign in the British service in the war of the Revolution, and he held that commission (retired on half-pay) until his death. He read law with his brother-in-law, Amos Botsford, Esq., and immediately, on settling in business, represented his district in the Legislative Assembly.

He died at Pietou, N. S., while attending the Supreme Court as barrister, and was buried there—he being the only barrister between Jacksonville, N. B., and Halifax, N. S., a distance of one hundred and forty-five miles; which distance, as there were then no roads, had to be travelled on foot.

"He was a lawyer," said one, "and had great talents. He was a good classical scholar; elegant in personal appearance; of middle size, rather slight in figure; remarkable for his colloquial powers; very eloquent at the bar; excelled in the pathetic; could move a jury to tears at his will."

The children of ENS. THOMAS and ELIZABETH (Grant) CHANDLER were:

1635. I. ROBERT GRANT, b. at Fort Westmoreland, N. B.; d. at Fort Lawrence, N. S.
 1636. II. ELIZA, b. at Fort Westmoreland, N. B.; d. at Fort Lawrence, N. S.

1637. III. WILLIAM A., b. 1790; d. 1807. When quite young he became a clerk in the mercantile house of Messrs. William & Robert Pagan, at St. John, N. B. At the age of 12 he went from St. John to England, as supercargo in a vessel called the "Duke of Kent," belonging to Black & Pagan. From England she went to the West Indies, thence to Quebec. After leaving that port, she was captured by a French privateer. The crew were retained as prisoners, but Mr. William A. Chandler was released; and on his return to St. John was sent out again by the same firm. On the voyage back to St. John, the captain and mate having died of yellow fever, Mr. Chandler, at the age of 17, took charge of the vessel; but, eight days before she arrived at St. John, he also died of yellow fever, and was buried at sea.
1638. IV. THOMAS E., b. at Spruce Grove, Cumberland, N. S., 25 Nov. 1796; m. 1 April, 1824, Maria Herbert.
1639. V. LUCY, b. at Fort Lawrence; d. at St. John, N. B., aged about 12.
1640. VI. ANN, b. 17 Feb. 1800; m. at Annapolis, N. S., 5 Nov. 1823, Silas Hibbert Crane.

She was b. 1776, dau. of Sheriff Thomas Watson, of Cumberland, the first sheriff of that county, and held that office forty-five years.

Mr. Chandler was a merchant; was captain of the militia; was in the legislature many years. He represented the town of Londonderry in the district of Colchester, in 1808, during which time he was appointed by Sir John Wentworth, formerly governor of New Hampshire, licut.-colonel of the embodied militia, in anticipation of a rupture with the United States, which finally broke out in the war of 1812.

Col. Chandler died at his daughter Jane's in Wallace, 1850. He had a fondness for literature, and his memory was stored with a great fund of poetry.

The children of Col. SAMUEL and SUSAN (Watson) CHANDLER were:

1641. I. JANE, b. 3 Sept. 1798; m. Isaac Rindress.
1642. II. JAMES WATSON, b. 11 Sept. 1800; m. 1 Feb. 1843, Julia Isabella Hathaway.
1643. III. MARY, b. 1802; m. Thomas King.
1644. IV. ELIZABETH, b. 1804; m. William Hewson, Esq.
1645. V. CATHARINE, b. 1806; m. David McAlmon.
1646. VI. SARAH, b. 1808; unm.

1647. VII. SAMUEL, b. 1812; d. 14 July, 1881; farmer in Fort Lawrence; married.
1648. VIII. WILLIAM BOTSFORD, b. 1 May, 1814; m. 8 June, 1839, Maria Herbert, widow of Thomas E. Chandler, Esq., his cousin. [See 1638.] He was educated at Pictou Seminary; read law in the office of Martin I. Wilkins, barrister; is a barrister at Arichat, Cape Breton, N. S., in full practice in 1882.

She was b. 14 April, 1771, dau. and only child of Timothy Rice, a refugee. At the age of 93 she was thin in flesh, but had a large frame. She was clear in her mind, and showed that she had been a person of marked character. After his father's death he went to Europe, and remained there about one year, getting the claims of his family allowed by the commissioners of refugees. His proportion of the claim, £1000, he invested in goods and merchandise and returned. But he did not realize as much as a competent merchant should. He settled in Amherst, and held the office of high sheriff for thirty-eight years. He died 13 April, 1851, in his 83d year.

The children of Sheriff CHARLES H. and ELIZABETH (Rice) CHANDLER were:

1649. I. SARAH MILES, b. 17 April, 1791; m. 5 Nov. 1815, John Morse.
1650. II. JOSHUA, b. 7 Oct. 1792; m. 15 Aug. 1816, Mary Dickey.

He was b. 3 Nov. 1741; d. 1808, in England. He was son of Dr. Jabez<sup>5</sup> Upham, of Brookfield, Mass., by his wife Katron; grandson of Phineas<sup>4</sup> Upham and Tamsin Hill; gr.-grandson of Dea. Phineas<sup>3</sup> Upham and Mary Millins; gr.-gr.-grandson of Phineas<sup>2</sup> Upham and Ruth Wood; gr.-gr.-gr.-grandson of Dea. John<sup>1</sup> Upham, who d. 1681, aged 84.

He was graduated at Harvard University, 1763; was admitted to the bar at Worcester, Mass., 1765; lawyer at Brookfield. As the storm of conflict between the colonies and the mother country was gathering, and when it became necessary for every man to define his position, Mr. Upham in 1775 addressed the Committee of Correspondence, of Brookfield, an able and interesting letter relative to his political sentiments, which was unanimously voted to be satisfactory. But subsequently he incurred the displeasure of the whigs, and became a refugee, and was proscribed and banished. He left Brookfield in 1776, and went first to Boston and thence to New York. He entered the British Army, and attained the rank of colonel of dragoons. He was in 1781 Deputy Inspector-General of Refugees, at Lloyd's Neck, Long Island, and received an address of thanks. The same year he wrote the following letter, taken from the "New York Gazette" of Sept. 24, 1781:—

"To his Excellency Gov. Franklin:

* * * Immediately on the receipt of yours by Capt. Camp, I made every preparation consistent with the necessary secrecy, to furnish as many refugees for the proposed expedition as could be spared from the garrison. I left Maj. Hubbill to take charge of the Fort, and with as much dispatch as possible, Embarked one hundred Loyalists, exclusive of a sufficient number to man the two armed sloops. [Lieut. Col. Upham commanded one hundred and twenty New Jersey Loyalists.] With these we joined the fleet in season to prevent the least delay. By the inclosed arrangement you will see we had the honor to be included in the first division, and I have the pleasure to add we were first on shore. We proceeded to the Town of New London, constantly skirmishing with the rebels who fled from hill to hill, and from stone fences which intersected the country at small distances. Having reached the southerly part of the Town, the General (Benedict Arnold) requested me to take possession of the hill north of the meeting-house, where the rebels had collected and which they seemed resolved to hold. We made a circle to the left and soon gained the ground in contest. We had one man killed and one wounded. This height being the outpost was left to us and the Yagers. Here we remained exposed to a constant fire from the Rebels on the neighboring hills and from the fort on the Groton side, until the last was carried by the British Troops. [New London burnt 6 Sept. 1781.] We took the same route on our return as in going up, equally exposed, though not so much annoyed. Everything required was cheerfully undertaken and spiritedly effected by the party I had the honor to command. A small party from Van Alstin's post joined us, which increased my command to one hundred and twenty. At the request of the General, I furnished boats to land forty of the Troops on the Groton side.

JOSHUA UPHAM, Lieut. Col.

Fort Franklin, Sept. 13, 1781."

Maj. Gardiner, in his interesting volume of "Anecdotes of the War in the Southern Department," relates the following: "The British Troops, it will be remembered, were in red, and the American in blue uniforms. About the period of the final departure of the British from New York, Miss Susan Livingston said to Maj. Upham, Aid-de-Camp to Sir Guy Carlton, 'In mercy, Major, use your influence with the Commander-in-Chief to accelerate the evacuation of the city; for among your incarcerated belles, your mischianza princesses, the scarlet fever must continue to rage until your departure.' 'I should studiously second your wishes,' replied the Major, 'were I not apprehensive that, freed from the prevailing malady, a worse would follow, and that they would immediately be tormented with the blue-devils.'

He settled at New Brunswick after the the war in the practice of the law. At the organization of government there in 1784, he was Justice of the Supreme Court and Member of the Council. Of the loyalists who went to New Brunswick, few performed greater service, and of few is the memory more deeply cherished. He went to England 1807, to perfect the organization of the Court in the Provinces, and died there the following year, at the age of 67 years. His remains were buried in Mary-le-Bone Church.

Col. Joshua Upham m. 27 Oct. 1768, Elizabeth, dan. of Hon. John Murray, of Rutland, Mass. [See 310.] She died in New York, 1782, leaving five children:

1. JOSHUA UPHAM; died in Mass. 1805, aged 30. He m. Miss Field, of Enfield, Conn., and had one child.

Wm Chandler 1802

She was b. at Pomfret, Conn., 1756, and died 5 Sept. 1777, "in ye 22d year of her age," and was buried in the graveyard in the centre of the township of Hanover; and by her remains have been placed those of her husband and his two other wives. She died childless, seven months after marriage, of a fever. On a renewed gravestone is the following epitaph:

"Come my friends and See that you must quickly be a heap of Dust Like me."

"Roxbury, Mass., 1677. John Grosvenor petitioned for a small parcell of ground between the old Mill-House and the Bridge, to make some pitts for liming his Leather and for the accommodating him for his trade."

Mr. Chandler m. second, Patty Hill, of Providence, R. I. She was b. 1750; d. 19 Nov. 1787, in her 37th year; and on her monument is inscribed: "Polly G. her babe aged 4 months lies by her side."

"In humble lines I here express,
That with my Jesus I do rest."

On 8th May, 1788, Mr. Chandler m. third, Eunice Temy, of Hanover, N. H., b. 27 Jan. 1762, and d. 30 Oct. 1844, in the 82d year of her age. She was daughter of John Tenny, of Hanover, by his wife Olive Armstrong, who both went to Hanover, in 1769, from Woodbury, Conn.

William Chandler was for a time a merchant in Keene, N. H., with his half-brother, Lemuel Chandler. [See 375.] He moved up to Hanover, N. H., and bought a farm about four miles west of Dartmouth College, just southwest of what was mapped out for the centre of the town; and surveyed into half-acre lots for each owner of a hundred acre out-lot, for his village lot. This paper centre was never built upon; the actual centre, where the meeting-house was built, was about one mile northwest. When he moved to Hanover there was no road, and only marked trees to guide them. He was a pioneer emigrant there, and bought two hundred acres of land and paid for it in Continental money.

After his first wife died he moved back to Pomfret, Conn., on to the farm owned afterwards by his half-brother, Maj. John Wilkes Chandler, and lived there one year, during which he married his second wife Patty Hill. and then returned to Hanover.

In April, 1799, William Chandler and thirteen other families formed themselves into what they styled a "Moravian Community," and were to have some things in common. His house and farm were the centre of operations, but some of the families lived at other places. Four of the principal men were directors, of whom William Chandler was chairman. One of the rules was that any young man of the community might marry in or out of the circle and bring his wife in, but that one of their own girls could marry none but a man of the Community. This made some crying and much talk among the women. When Henry Chandler, who was a tailor, made a coat for one of the world's folks, and the pay for it in grain was handed over to another family in the Community, the pangs of hunger made him open his eyes to look about for the reason why a lazier family than his own should be allotted his own earnings. The many instances of this kind soon raised discontent. William Chandler urged his brother Henry to keep quiet, that the undertaking might have a fair trial. But there was much uneasiness before autumn, when there was to be a division of food for winter. The wives had opposed it all along. Stephen Burroughs (father of the notorious "Stephen"), their neighbor and pastor, predicted from the first that the scheme would not work. "The people were too intelligent," he said, and "if you wish to make it go, you must keep all but the leaders ignorant." At the end of six months, when each was assigned his portion of the summer's labors, almost all were disappointed at the smallness of their shares. William Chandler, as the owner of the farm from which most of the crops were raised, and of the house in which many of them had lived, claimed and took, as he thought justly, a large share. The corn was stored in his garret, and his barns were stored with the hay; and he would not allow any to be removed. At this there was a general murmur of the members of the Community; and when the question "whether they would continue in common for another year" was put, those in favor by staying in the room, and those for dissolving their connection with the association by retiring, Henry Chandler got up and went out, followed by the larger part. Thus ended what some of the wags called "The Raving bewitch'd Community."

It was thought that William Chandler, by the improvements on his farm and his lion share of the products, was better off in his worldly means, while most of the other members of that "Moravian Community" received for their labors only the hard lesson that sad experience teaches.

William Chandler was a tall man, large frame, of dark complexion, dark hair, and full large hazel eyes. He was religious in feeling, and had strong mental powers. But as he approached a century, his mind failed and his hearing became dull. He was town clerk in Hanover, and the births of his first five children were recorded by his own hand.

"To the Baptist Church at Hartland, Vermont:

The Baptist Church of Christ in Hanover
To the Church of the same faith and order in Hartland, Sendeth Greeting, wishing you Grace, mercy and peace through our Lord Jesus Christ.

Beloved Brethren, We request you to send such and as many as you think meet, of your faithful, able Brethren, to set in Council with us, at the House of Brother William Chandler in s<sup>t</sup> Hanover, on the third Wednesday in June next, at nine o'clock A. M., for the purpose of Ordaining and setting apart our Beloved Brother, Isaac Bridgeman, to the Work of the Gospel Ministry.

In behalf of the Church,

WILLIAM CHANDLER, Clerk.

May 27th, 1801."

Mr. William Chandler died 21 April, 1844, in his 90th year.

DEA. THEOPHILUS<sup>6</sup> B. CHANDLER (Theophilus,<sup>5</sup> William,<sup>4</sup> John,<sup>3</sup> John,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and Hannah Bugbee, Woodstock.

She was b. 25 July, 1778; d. March, 1864; dau. of Hezekiah and Bathua (Holmes), dau. of Dr. David Holmes, of S. Woodstock, "Arnold Town," and lived east of the brook, on the pond road. Dr. Holmes was surgeon in the Revolutionary war, in Col. Chandler's regiment.

After her husband's decease she lived near the mineral springs, one mile east of the meeting-house in Woodstock, Conn.

Mr. Chandler was a merchant at one time in Providence, R. I., as a member of the firm of R. & E. Chandler. [See 820.] Afterwards he kept a store just south of the bridge, above the pond, and at the foot of the hill on the road to "New Boston." He was chosen deacon of the church in Woodstock. He was Judge of the Probate for Woodstock. Died 13 March, 1849, in his 73d year. They had no issue.

He was a large, fleshy man, of light complexion, light eyes, of kindly feeling, which he afterwards manifested towards the writer and other boys. He had a conciliatory and benignant countenance. Many facts of this branch of the Chandler family are of his gathering. A marble slab in the Muddy Brook graveyard marks the resting place of his remains.

He was b. 20 Nov. 1772; d. 25 June, at Avon; son of Winthrop Osgood, of Pomfret, Conn. He practised his profession at Avon.

Jemima learned the tailor's trade of her cousin Henry<sup>6</sup> Chandler [see 762] in Pomfret, before he left for Hanover, N. H. She died 2 Nov. 1862, in her 89th year.

The only child of JEMIMA B. and Dr. ISAAC OSGOOD was :

- i. FRANCIS MARY OSGOOD, b. 23 May, 1812; m. at Orville, N. Y., 5 May, 1831, Benoni Thompson. They reside at Avon. Six children.

She was b. at Washington, Conn., 29 Feb. 1780; d. 17 April, 1854, at Clinton, N. Y.; dau. of Benjamin Durkee, of Augusta, N. Y., by his wife Susanna Clark, who came from Litchfield, Conn., to Augusta; granddaughter of Robert Durkee.

Mr. Chandler was a merchant some five or six years, in company with Mr. Abel Lindsey; and afterwards in 1806, under the firm of Samuel Chandler & Co., with his brother Winthrop Hilton Chandler, at Augusta, N. Y., where Samuel, the elder partner, had settled in 1798. The store of Messrs. Samuel Chandler & Co. was burnt, and the Methodist Meeting-house was afterwards built on the spot. Mr. Chandler was the first postmaster in that place; was member of the Assembly from Oneida Co. in 1810; and he was also elected the second time, but died before the commencement of the session of Jan. 1822. He was supervisor of the town. He died 11 June, 1821, in his 48th year, in Augusta.

The children of SAMUEL and ABIGAIL (Durkee) CHANDLER were :

1718. i. SUSAN, b. at Augusta, 27 March, 1803; d. 10 July, 1838, unm.
 1719. ii. Infant son, b. 26 Dec. 1804; d. 5 Jan. 1805.

Winthrop H. Chandler
 She was b. 12 Nov. 1785, dau. of Nehemiah and Hannah (Richards) Smith, of South East, Putnam Co., N. Y. She had a cataract of the eyes successfully operated on; but at the age of 76 was suffering from dizziness and partial palsy of the lower limbs. After her husband's death she went to reside at Clinton, with her son Henry.

While the family lived in Worcester, Mass., Mr. Chandler attended a school kept by Miss Rebecca Bill. After his parents left Worcester, he went to live with Capt. Larnard, in Dudley, Mass., and then in the family of the late Charles Church Chandler, Esq., in Woodstock, Conn., "as one of their children." When the widow married Capt. Ebenezer Lane, of Northampton, Mass., he went with the family there. To better his condition, which he thought a hard one, he, in his sixteenth year, with the consent of Capt. Lane's family, enlisted into the marine service in 1798. As he was then, as ever afterwards, quite short in stature, it was contrived to have him stand on a little knoll when he was examined to pass muster. He sailed from Providence, R. I., under Capt. Fletcher, two trips to the West Indies. Then he was stationed in Fort Adams. From 1 Jan. 1800, to 22 Aug. 1802, he was in the U. S. Ship Essex, on her voyage to the East Indies, and on her return was discharged in the city of Washington, D. C. He in after life looked back with horror at the temptations that were placed before him in common with others, and with gratitude at his individual escape from the almost universal besotting effects of "grog rations" upon the crew. At first he sold his rations of grog. But it was soon discovered that some sailors had drunk more than their half a pint. To prevent any marine from buying the boy's grog, an order came that the grog rations must be drunk by those to whom they were delivered, in presence of the officer appointed for that purpose. The grog could have been left by the boy marine quite easily, perhaps, had not the thirst produced by his salt junk rations and the tropical sun been less clamorous for water. Each man had two pints of water per day, and an allowance with the grog. To get this last, the grog must be drunk first, and then the boy could get some water after it.

On arriving in New York city, he first worked for Mr. Samuel Whittemore, brother of the inventor of the card-making machine, at card-making. He gained the confidence of his employer, and was afterwards befriended and assisted by him in obtaining credit to purchase goods in New York to send to his brother Samuel Chandler, at Augusta, N. Y., where he went in 1808 and engaged in trade with him. He resided in Augusta until 1839, in trade. In that year he removed to Avon, Livingston Co., and traded for a while at Littleville with his son Lewis. While in Augusta he was postmaster about twenty years, and was a member of the Legislature in 1827. The annals of Oneida Co. say: "The firm under the name of Samuel Chandler & Co. became one of the most respectable mercantile establishments in the county, and the brothers long enjoyed the confidence of the community. He and his brother were both, at different times, elected supervisors of the town, and represented the county in the Assembly. After the death of the senior partner, Winthrop H. Chandler continued the business until 24 Feb. 1835, when his store was destroyed by fire. This was the most disastrous blow to the prosperity of Augusta Centre that has ever happened."

Winthrop H. Chandler died of strangulated hernia, at Avon, N. Y., 18 Aug. 1861, aged 78 years. He suffered much the last day and night previous to his death, but for several hours before his spirit took its flight he was very quiet. He was then asked by his wife if he was aware that he was dying. He replied that he "was not conscious of it, but was resigned to the mercy of God."

"He was a kind father." "His cheerful, joyous disposition made his home very pleasant."

He was about five feet five inches high, rather thick set, had a florid complexion, dark hair and hazel eyes. He was quick and prompt in mental as well as in physical action.

The children of WINTHROP H. and REBECCA (Smith) CHANDLER were :

1723. I. WILLIAM, b. 1 Sept. 1806; d. 1 Nov. 1816, of scarlet fever.
1724. II. HENRIETTA, b. 27 Feb. 1808; d. 19 Dec. 1819, of dropsy of brain.

She was b. 25 Jan. 1780; d. 19 Nov. 1813, aged 33, leaving three children.

Dr. Chandler m. second, Mary Hopkins, widow of Mr. Larkin and dau. of James Hopkins, Esq. She was b. 8 March, 1778; died 7 Sept. 1839, in her 62d year.

The following notice of Dr. Chandler is from the "Boston Medical and Surgical Journal" of March 23, 1853, by J. O. S., N. Chester:

DR. CHARLES WOLCOTT CHANDLER was the sixth child of a family of nine children by the same mother, all of whom lived to a great age—the average being over eighty years. He had no other than the ordinary advantages of education, such as were afforded by the common schools of his time, which, when the country was comparatively a wilderness, must have been very limited in their advantages. He studied medicine for a time with his brother, Dr. Chauncy Cheney Chandler, of Chester, and continued his studies in Cooperstown, N. Y., with a physician there, where he was engaged for a time in school-keeping. He attended the medical lectures of Prof. Nathan Smith, at Hanover, N. H. Dr. Charles W. Chandler settled in Andover, Vt., in 1799, and remained there until Jan. 1852, actively engaged in the practice of medicine—the profession of his choice, and one for which he was particularly fitted by native endowment.

His youngest child, Henry Chandler, on whom he leaned as the staff and stay of his old age, died in 1839, at the age of twenty-one years; and his oldest child, Dr. Wolcott Charles Chandler, died in the midst of his usefulness in South Natick, Mass., in 1848, aged 41.

In December, 1849, a shock of paralysis disabled him from further active service, and then the shadows began to gather faster over his pathway; his vision grew dim, white blossoms covered his head, all his faculties sank under accumulating infirmities, and, in his last moments saying "All is well," passed away on the 9th January, 1853, in his eighty-second year, at the house of his eldest daughter, Mrs. Abram Adams, in Ludlow, but was buried in Andover, Vt.

Dr. Charles W. Chandler maintained a high rank as physician, and his practice extended over some ten towns, and no country more hilly and bleak, no climate more cold and severe can be found in our whole land than are presented in the field of his labors. He was ever ready to go when called for, whether it was to the rich or to the poor, by day or by night, through mud in summer or snow-drifts in winter. He travelled, it was said, one winter, more than three hundred miles on snow-shoes to visit the sick.

He was distinguished for independence of character, for sterling integrity of purpose, for humanity and benevolence, for frankness and simplicity of manners, and a native unaffected humor that never turned sour the milk of human kindness. Under a somewhat rough exterior there beat one of the noblest and most generous of hearts, and he was emphatically an honest man. By economy and fidelity to every duty he succeeded in accumulating a competency of this world's goods. He was a firm believer in Christianity, and in the ultimate restoration of the whole human family to holiness and happiness.

He was born at Woodbury (South Britain), Conn., 28 Sept. 1755; died 1 Aug. 1838, aged 82 years, 10 mos. at Newtown. He was the second of ten children of Robert<sup>1</sup> Edmond by his wife Mary Marks, of Cork, Ireland.

Robert<sup>1</sup> Edmond was born in Dublin, Ireland, but his father was a native of Scotland. He immigrated to this country, and landed at Philadelphia, 23 Dec. 1750. He remained in Pennsylvania about two years; but in consequence of the difficulty with the Indians there he removed to New York, and soon after, in 1753, to Southbury Society, and settled in the district of South Purchase, where he bought land of the Pootatuck tribe of Indians, on which he resided several years, and then removed to Ridgefield, Conn., where he died, aged 93 years.

By his second wife, Elizabeth Payne, dau. of Hon. Benjamin and Rebecca Payne, of Hartford, Conn., whom he married, 14 Feb. 1796, Hon. William<sup>2</sup> Edmond had

1. Elizabeth Payne Edmond, b. 17 March, 1798; m. 7 Oct. 1822, Hon. Curtis Holbrook, of Watertown, Conn.
2. Sarah Edmond, b. 24 June, 1800; m. Oct. 1820, Dr. Cyrenius H. Booth, of Newtown.
3. William P. Edmond, b. 4 July, 1802; d. 10 Aug. 1829.
4. Ann Edmond, b. 5 April, 1804.
5. Robert Edmond, b. 12 Sept. 1805; m. Nov. 1833, Mary Delaplaine.

It is in tradition of the family that William<sup>2</sup> Edmond assisted his father in the cultivation of his farm, and, at the same time, by the instruction and assistance of the minister of the parish, fitted himself to enter the freshman class, and that he was actually admitted before his father knew anything about it; that he then informed his father of what he had done, and he, being highly gratified, consented to his continuing with the class. He was graduated at Yale Coll. 1777. While he was a member of the College, in the spring of the year in which he was graduated, he went as a volunteer in the service of his country against the British, who under Tryon had made an excursion to Danbury, Conn. The British having set fire to that town, attempted to return by way of Ridgefield. The Americans, under Benedict Arnold, overtook them at the north end of the village in Ridgefield, and a smart skirmish ensued. In this attack Mr. Edmond took a part and was severely wounded. Of this wound he says in a memorandum in his own hand-writing :

“Wounded at Ridgefield, 27 April, 1777. Boarded with Dr. Joseph Perry, of Woodbury, from Nov. 9, 1780, to Jan. 17, 1781. During this time, or about the latter part of it, my wound, which had continued painful by times in the extreme, discharging daily large quantities of pus, and occasionally small fragments of bone, was laid open. The thigh bone, near the knee joint, was broken entirely off in two places about three inches apart; the intermediate bone divided or split lengthwise in three pieces. These pieces were extracted, together with about one-third of an ounce of ball which was wedged between them. These pieces the doctor retained as a trophy of his surgical skill. Scales of bone followed, when the ulcer healed.”

But tradition says a council of surgeons had met at this time and had decided that to save his life the leg must be amputated; that the surgeons left the house to attend church, expecting to perform the amputation the next morning; that Mr. Edmond resolved, as he afterwards said, not to have the operation done, as he thought life, after such a loss, would be a burden; that during their absence he obtained possession of their surgical instruments, scraped a large quantity of lint, and with a fortitude and determination which few men would possess in an equal degree, cut with his own hand into the wound until he discovered the piece of ball lodged between the pieces of the bone. Becoming faint, he applied the lint, bound up the wound and waited the return of the surgeons, when they finished the operation he had begun, by taking out the lead and pieces of loose bone. The wound, or, as he said in his memorandum, “the ulcer,” healed up but he was always afterwards lame to a considerable extent.

After he had recovered sufficiently to be removed, he spent some time in reading, chiefly theological and medical books, and resided for awhile in Fairfield. Some of the members of the bar, regarding him with kindness and sympathy, suggested that he should offer himself for admission to the bar, although he had read but little on the subject of law. He adopted the suggestion, and after a slight examination was admitted.

He established himself at Newtown in May, 1782, and took an office in the dwelling-house of Gen. John Chandler, on the west side of the street, and a little north of the place where he afterwards built a dwelling-house and resided until his death.

At a town meeting held soon after he opened an office, some one, to put a joke or a slur upon him, nominated him as “hog-hayward.” One of the oldest inhabitants objected upon the ground that it would give him a settlement in the town.

Mr. Edmond soon after he commenced was engaged in an extensive and lucrative practice. In 1797 he was elected to Congress, and continued in that office four years. He belonged to the old federal party in politics. He was repeatedly a member of the council which acted then as a Court of Errors, until 1795, when he was appointed a Justice of the Supreme Court, which office he retained until the change in the politics of the State in 1819, when he was left out with other distinguished men. From this time he would never accept of an office, nor receive a fee for services or advice. He devoted his time to agriculture and to general reading. No man in town could swing a scythe or handle a pitchfork with greater skill or effect.

When 70 years old he fell down the chamber stairs of his house and broke the neck of his thigh bone. After being confined to his couch for eight months, he was able to move about on crutches, and this he continued to do until his death, Aug. 1, 1838, aged 82 years, 10 mos. He was a pensioner on twenty shillings a month for his services and sufferings for his country.

His talents were far above mediocrity. "I have heard," said William Cothorn, the historian of Woodbury, "the older members of the bar speak of his eloquence, when his feelings were excited, as being greater than that of almost any other lawyer in the State. His reputation was high as an impartial and sound judge. But it was as a patriot and a man that he was chiefly worthy of commemoration. It has never been my fortune to meet with any one for whom I entertained such a profound and unmingled respect. He came nearer to the perfection of character which raised Gen. Washington so much above other men, than any other person within my observation. He was the very embodiment of the spirit of '76."

Mrs. E. Jemima Edmond died 17 Feb. 1795, in her 30th year, in Newtown.

The only child of ELIZABETH J. and WILLIAM EDMOND was :

- i. MARY<sup>3</sup> ELIZABETH EDMOND, b. at Newtown, 23 May, 1785; d. May, 1825; m. Col. Elias Starr, of Danbury, Conn., and of New York. His pedigree was: Dr. Comfort<sup>1</sup> Starr; Thomas,<sup>2</sup> "chirurgion to forces in Pequod war"; Josiah<sup>3</sup>; John<sup>4</sup>; John<sup>5</sup>; Nathaniel<sup>6</sup>; Elias<sup>7</sup> Starr, b. 12 Jan. 1779, in Danbury, Conn.; died in New York city, 17 Feb. 1855; m. second, Oct. 23, 1826, Hannah Howard White. Six children.

She was daughter of Peter<sup>1</sup> Chandler by his wife Mary Hodges, of Pomfret, Conn. John<sup>6</sup> Winthrop was "cousin-nephew" to his wife Susanna,<sup>5</sup> as Shattuck says, or his father was cousin to his wife Susanna.<sup>5</sup> [See 382.] She was a woman of sweet disposition, and of kind affection to all; of rather small stature, with a keen dark eye, and of great beauty in her best day. There is an oil painting of her in keeping of her son, Col. O. P. Chandler, of Woodstock, Vt., as well as one of her husband. Engravings of these paintings adorn these pages.

Mr. Chandler was feeble when young, and after being in college about a year, he left on account of his health. He went to Peacham with his parents, where he settled and lived. He became engaged extensively in land surveying, and was particular to make a record and plot of the lands he surveyed in a book, which has been preserved, showing the industry and great care he took in his surveys. His book became, even after his death, authority in settling bounds, and was much consulted and referred to. He was in consequence often applied to about the real estate in that section of the State. His surveying led him to know what lands were valuable, and he became in consequence a successful speculator in real estate.

He was much respected in his vicinity, and held important civil offices. He represented Peacham in the legislature in 1797, 1800, '01, '03 and '16; was justice of the peace; register of probate in 1805, and judge of probate for Caledonia District in 1798, 1806, '07 and '17. He was treasurer of the grammar school and of the town thirty-four years, when both of these offices were transferred to his son, Samuel A. Chandler, Esq., who held them as long as he lived. Judge Chandler died 15 July, 1855, aged 88 years 11 days.

He was born 1776 ; d. 12 July, 1858, at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Susan P. Cowles, at Coventry, Vt.

He traded at Windsor, Vt. It was said of him that "he was absent-minded, and was singular in that respect, but that he was always hopeful." They removed to Farnham, near Stanbridge.

Mrs. Phelps had great personal beauty, and was too gentle in spirit and too accomplished in manners for a life in the then wilds of Canada. She had carried with her from the States some of her household furniture, which was there considered very elegant. But pecuniary misfortune followed them, and her furniture was to be sold. It was during this trial that her lady-like deportment and her amiable character shone conspicuously ; for during the sale it was noticed that even the bailiff was disarmed of his usual unfeeling harshness by her cheerful resignation and courtesy. She died of a contagious disease, contracted of an old Frenchman to whom her kindness had given a shelter during his wandering, 20 Aug. 1823, in her 45th year, at Farnham.

The children of ANNA MARIA and ELKANAH PHELPS were :

She d. 3 May, 1829, in the 62d year of her age. They lived in Fairlee, Vt. Thence removed to Potton, C. E., where they lived ten or more years, and owned the land where Masonville now is, which he exchanged for the land where Frelighsburg Village is built; but before going there he exchanged that for the land on which Stanbridge East Village is, and resided there. They experienced the hardships of settling the "Eastern Townships" in Canada, and suffered for many of the necessaries of life. While in Potton, their son George tells of carrying pieces of plank heated by the fire, before starting to school, to warm his feet on the way in the winter, as he had no shoes.

He was successful as a farmer, and settled his children around him. He gave each of his sons an acre in the village of Stanbridge, C. E. He died 6 Feb. 1830, in his 64th year. On his monument in the graveyard which stands on his land, is inscribed:—

"This stone can say what few marbles can:
Here truly lies an honest aged man.
Calmly he look'd on either life,
Unvexed with the world's ignoble strife.
Industrious, and to labor bred,
Saw nothing here to fear, or there to dread."

She was b. 31 Oct. 1784; d. Jan. 1857; dau. of Thomas Trevilian, of Caroline Co., Va., by his wife Susanna Pleasants.

Rufus Chandler was graduated at Yale College at the age of 21 in the class of 1806. He went South as a teacher, took charge of a school in Hanover Co., Va., and married a lady of small landed expectations, and became through her the owner of a few slaves and a small plantation at Oxford, Caroline Co., Va., where he established a private school and called it "Little Yale." The Richmond and Fredericksburg Railroad runs through his plantation about thirty miles from Richmond. One of the battles of the rebellion was fought, May, 1864, on the plantation in front of the house of his son, Thomas T. Chandler.

In 1812 he was baptized; and at the water's edge, Elder Chandler addressed a large assembly on the vital importance of religion and gave his own views on the mode and design of baptism as derived from a critical examination of the original text.

Elder Chandler removed in 1815 to Caroline Co., Va. Here he continued teaching for several years and farming. His health failed. On 13 June, 1830, he was ordained to the Gospel ministry. His hope of performing the arduous duties of a minister of the Gospel was only partly realized. He preached at Burrup, Va. He was classical and literary. He died 18 July, 1837, aged 52, at Little Yale—his homestead.

She was born 18 April, 1775; she d. 31 May, 1833, in Hardwick, leaving six sons and six daughters. They lived in Hanover, N. H., until their four oldest children were born, and until their two oldest were burnt up in the house they were building. Mrs. Chandler left the two oldest—Benjamin and Mary—in care of the carpenter who was finishing off their house, and took with her Rebecca and Daniel to a neighbor's to a quilting. Mr. Chandler was threshing in the barn. It is supposed that, while at play with the carpenter's shavings, the two children set the house on fire, in which they were consumed. At their funeral, the minister said, in the performance of his sacred duty, that "because these children had not been baptized, they were damned to all eternity and would burn in hell fire forever." Mrs. Chandler, being of a confiding, credulous nature, believed that, by her neglect, she had been thus the cause of their everlasting misery; and hence her mind was ever after disturbed and unbalanced at intervals. Soon after this sad event the family removed to Hardwick, where he bought one hundred and twenty acres of the wilderness and cleared it up for a farm, about an eighth of a mile west of the spot where he and some of his family now lie buried. He died 17 Aug. 1828, aged 56.

She was b. in Windsor, Vt., 30 Aug. 1803, dau. of Penuel Leavens, of Berkshire, Vt., by his wife Sally Cross, grand-dau. of Charles Leavens. She died 19 Aug. 1881.

He was clerk and then merchant at Abbot's Corner, St. Armand; and, during the Canadian Rebellion in 1837, kept tavern at Frelighsburg Village, and there "made money as fast as he could take it in." He was afterwards a farmer on about three hundred acres of land, a mile and a half south of that village. At the age of sixty-one he gave up the active care of his farm to his son Linus, but lived on the farm, and his wife continued to superintend their large dairy.

He was a "magistrate for the final settlement of small causes," and he was also much employed by his neighbors as their counsellor and their advocate in the trial of their causes. He ran once for a seat in the Parliament of Canada, but his opponent, Wm. Badgley, of Montreal, was able to bid higher for the office than he could afford to, although he was radical enough in politics to suit the popular vote of his district. He was a man of medium height, of light complexion. He died suddenly, 25 April, 1879.

He was b. 13 March, 1785; d. 20 March, 1833, aged 48 years, at Waterford, Conn., and was reburied at Cedar-Grove Cemetery, New London. He was son of Capt. Thomas<sup>3</sup> Allen, who resided on Fisher's Island, and in Pomfret, Conn., on the Nightingale farm, by his wife Amelia Taber; grandson of Thomas<sup>2</sup> Allen, who was probably born in Boston, 1728, lived in Shrewsbury, and removed to New London, Conn., and died there, 19 Nov. 1793; he m. 1754, Elizabeth<sup>3</sup> Christophers, who died 5 Aug. 1787, aged 67, and who was dau. of Richard<sup>2</sup> Christophers (son of Christopher<sup>1</sup> Christophers, of New London, by his wife Sarah Prout), and she, Elizabeth<sup>3</sup> Christophers, was widow of John Shacknaple, Jr., surveyor of Connecticut.

This Thomas<sup>2</sup> Allen published in the "New London Gazette," a "Marine List," which created quite a sensation; and on 27 Aug. 1788, this "list" came out as follows: "Thomas Allen's Marine List Commences on a New Hope, The Federal Constitution." During the war of the Revolution he kept a public house on Main street, which was referred to as the "City Coffee House," in 1785, and the "Gazette" noticed it thus: "City Coffee House re-opened by Thomas Allen, next door to Capt. Joseph Packwoods, where can be had drink for the thirsty; food for the hungry; lodging for the weary, good stabling for horses. Said Allen has also a Supply of choise Madeira, Lisbon and Port Wines, for the benefit of the Sick and Weakly, and good horses to let to merciful riders."

This house was regarded as the centre of good living and convivial brotherhood. Here were heard the latest news, the freshest anecdotes, the keenest repartee; here was served up the earliest and best game of the season, the January salmon, the eighteen-pound blackfish, trout, woodcock and wild duck, in advance of every other table. It was then much in vogue for gentleman to dine together in clubs at the tavern. This Thomas<sup>2</sup> Allen was son of Nathaniel<sup>1</sup> Allen, b. 1699, of London, England, and Shrewsbury, Mass., by his wife Dorcas Bowes, and captain of a packet-ship between Liverpool and Boston.

Mr. William<sup>4</sup> Allen, after marriage, lived with his father some years, and then bought a part of his farm in Pomfret, Conn., and built a house thereon. But successful farming did not follow habits formed in the social gatherings at the hospitable board of his parents on Fisher's Island, and his means, which were but a little more than his wife's patrimony, dwindled away, and they removed into a hotel at Waterford Bridge, Conn., where in a few years he died. After her husband's death, Mrs. Allen removed back to Pomfret, Conn., and lived for a time in the "Stamp Office." [No stamped paper was sold at this office, because the occupation of stampmaster was gone by the revolutionary events of 1775, before this building was quite finished.] In this office her youngest child was born. She afterwards lived with her sister, Mrs. Marian Holt, and with her daughter, Mrs. Ann M. Ames, at Oswego, N. Y., and died with her 26 April, 1882, aged 88 years, 7 mos. and 12 days, buried in Mexico, Oswego Co., N. Y.

He was b. 1 Sept. 1783; d. 1 March, 1834, at Stonington Point. He was son of Edward<sup>5</sup> Smith by his wife Elizabeth Grant, dau. of Alexander Grant by his wife Abigail, dau. of David Cheeseboro'; grandson of Col. Oliver<sup>4</sup> Smith by his wife Mary Dennison; gr.-grandson of Nathan<sup>3</sup> Smith by his wife Mary, dau. of David Dennison, 2d; gr. gr. grandson of Nehemiah<sup>2</sup> Smith, Jr., who m. 1669 Lydia Merchant.

Alexander G. Smith, Esq., was one of the volunteers "who so bravely stood the brunt of the attack on Stonington Point" by the British on 10 Aug. 1814: Lawyer and merchant at Stonington Point. He had previously married Nancy —, who d. 5 Aug. 1820, aged 26 years, and he subsequently married again; but his children were all by his second wife, Hannah S. Chandler, who was one of the best of her sex, and performed her part in life well. She was rather above the medium size, and her weight reached about one hundred and sixty pounds in her best days. Her figure was erect and commanding, her face large, her features regular, eyes dark hazel, hair dark, skin clear, but inclined to brunette.

Her education was obtained at the public schools, except for a short period at a private boarding school in Hartford, Conn. She was thoroughly instructed in the mysteries of housekeeping under her mother's eye, which added very much to the comfort of her future home. When young she had sat in the singers' seats in the church with her sisters Emily and Mary, and assisted on Sundays in the choir. On 28 Sept. 1823, she joined the church of the Congregational Society in Pomfret.

In her new relations at Stonington Point she was admired and loved by all for the good deeds she did and the kind words she spoke, and the sympathy she manifested for those around her. On her deathbed she exhibited the most confiding faith in the future, and a most cheerful resignation of all earthly joys in the hope of the purer ones in the heavenly state of existence. Parting with her children and friends was hard for her; but as she was called to make the sacrifice, she did it as one who puts her trust in the Good Shepherd who taketh care of his lambs. She died 2 Aug. 1831, exhausted from protracted nursing of her youngest boy, at the age of 36, and was buried at Stonington Point by the side of her two infants, and where sleep her daughter Mary and her husband.

The children of HANNAH S. and ALEXANDER G. SMITH were :

- i. JAMES<sup>7</sup> A. SMITH, b. at Stonington, 25 Dec. 1825; d. 6 Sept. 1826.
- ii. MARY<sup>7</sup> CHANDLER SMITH, b. 6 Sept. 1826; d. 19 Nov. 1853, in Pomfret, aged 27 years, 2 mos. 13 days, at the house of her aunt, Mrs. Dr. H. Holt, her home. Dr. H. Holt had been the guardian of her property. As a child she had been kind, playful and confiding; as a scholar, apt to learn and correct in deportment; and as a woman she was intelligent, judicious and orderly in her affairs. She was most amiable, kind and sympathizing; loving and beloved; a peacemaker among her companions, and no one's character suffered from her tongue. She was of medium height, genteel in figure, had a dark fair skin and dark eye, with a sweet and lovely expression of countenance. Her health was delicate, and she spent one season at her uncle Edward Smith's, at Montgomery, Ala., without improvement. Her general debility led her to decline several offers for change in her social condition.
- iii. JANE<sup>7</sup> SMITH, b. 4 Sept. 1828; d. 11 Nov. 1828.
- iv. EDWARD<sup>7</sup> ALEXANDER SMITH, b. 14 Sept. 1830. After the death of his father, which occurred within three years of that of his mother, he was taken by his guardian and uncle-in-law, Dr. H. Holt, to Pomfret, Conn. Here he remained attending the public school and assisting in the family until he went to the academies in Woodstock, Conn., and in Leicester, Mass. Thence he went to the State Lunatic Hospital, Worcester, Mass., as clerk, under the superintendence of his uncle, Dr. George Chandler. Here he remained seven or eight years in the capacities of clerk, attendant upon the insane, cook, steward and assistant physician, until April 1, 1856, when he was called to the office of Assistant Physician in the Pennsylvania Hospital for the Insane in Philadelphia. This position he resigned in 1862, and opened an office for the practice of medicine in the city of Philadelphia. During the war of the rebels for slavery he was, after 1862, one of the three surgeons in care of the sick and wounded soldiers at the U. S. Military Hospital in Philadelphia. His house and office are at No. 126 South 18th Street. He was m. at the residence of her parents, in Philadelphia, on 10 Dec. 1863, to Rebecca Miller Welsh, dau. of Samuel Welsh by his wife Elizabeth Thomas.

Two children:

1. Elizabeth Welsh Smith, b. in Philadelphia, 11.30 A. M., 26 June, 1865. "Elsie."
2. Josephine Chandler Smith, b. at 10 o'clock A. M., 26 Dec. 1866.

John W. Chandler and Achsah Stanford, Annsville,
 N. Y.

She was dau. of Mr. Samuel and Hannah Dana Stanford, of Annsville, b. 16 Feb. 1806. She d. in Annsville, 2 Dec. 1840, the same day her third child was born, aged 34 years, 9 mos. 16 days.

Mr. Chandler's second wife, Julia Ann Hutchins, was b. 12<sup>d</sup> Jan. 1808. She had been a school teacher in that vicinity, and was of Lenox, Madison Co., N. Y. She was descended from Thos.<sup>1</sup> Morris, ship-builder, who bought "Morris Point," New Haven, 1671. He was one of the company, mostly Londoners, who arrived at Boston, 3 June, 1637, and in March, 1638, sailed for Quinipiac, New Haven; his son Eleazor,<sup>2</sup> grandson James<sup>3</sup> and gr.-grandson Amos,<sup>4</sup> who m. 1745, Lydia Camp, who were parents of Amy<sup>5</sup> Morris, b. at East Haven, 1748, m. 1768, Asa<sup>3</sup> Bradley, a son of Zebulon.<sup>1</sup> They were parents of Jerusha<sup>3</sup> Bradley, b. 1711, m. 1789, Benjamin Hutchins, b. 1767, the parents of Julia Ann Hutchins, b. 12 Jan. 1808.

Mrs. Julia A. Chandler is tall, of light complexion, and of highly nervous temperament.

Mr. John W. Chandler was a farmer, and assisted his mother in the management of her farm until he was about 27 years old, and then bought a farm in Annsville, N. Y. He afterwards owned and lived on a farm in Mexico, Oswego Co., N. Y.; and from thence he moved in 1856, to Rockford, Ill., where he built a house. But in 1858 he moved on to new land in Monroe, Ogle Co., Ill., where he died of fever, induced by long watching nights with his wife, and hard work in the day securing his crops. He was industrious, faithful and prudent in all his ways. But he was unsuccessful in his pecuniary affairs from domestic interference; but "as honest as John W. Chandler" became in his neighborhood a proverb. He died by a relapse of typhoid fever, 18 Nov. 1860, at the age of 62, "without a fear" of the future.

The children of JOHN W. CHANDLER were :

2016. i. Infant son, b. April, 1828.
 2017. ii. MARY STANFORD, b. in Annsville, 10 July, 1839.

He was b. at Hampton, Conn., 31 Jan. 1798; d. 30 Nov. 1870, in his 73d year; son of Nehemiah Holt, Jr. and Mary Lamphear.

The following couplet indicates the origin of the name of Holt :

"Ye that frequent the hills
And highest holls of all."

Dr. Holt was a descendant in the sixth generation in the line of Nicholas<sup>1</sup> Holte, of Romsey, England, who sailed from Southampton about the 6th day of April, 1635, in the good ship "James of London," and arrived at Boston 3 June following, and proceeded to Newbury, Mass., where he remained ten years, and then removed to Andover. In Newbury he owned what is now "Holt's Neck." He removed to Andover 1644, and his was the sixth family in the order as they came to that town. He owned three hundred and sixty acres on "Stony Plain." He married three times, and d. 30 Jan. 1685, aged 83. By his first wife, Elizabeth, he had Henry<sup>2</sup> Holt, b. at Andover, 1644, who married 24 Feb. 1669, Sarah, dau. of William Ballard. This Henry<sup>2</sup> Holt had permission (1686) to erect a mill on Ladder Brook, in Andover. He was father of George<sup>3</sup> Holt, born at Andover, 17 March, 1677, and d. 22 Feb. 1726, removed from Andover with his brother Paul,<sup>3</sup> and settled in Canada Society, Windham, Conn. He m. for his third wife, 7 June, 1717, Mary Bixbee. They were parents of Nehemiah<sup>4</sup> Holt, b. at Andover, 3 April, 1723, who was a soldier in the French war, 1754; leaving his wife and five children at home in good health, on his return he was met at the door by his wife only. His children had all died during his absence, of malignant dysentery, or, as it was then called, "camp distemper." He settled in Chaplin, and m. 25 Nov. 1745, Anna Farnham, who died 1 April, 1810, aged 84, and he d. 17 April, 1799, aged 76. Their son Nehemiah<sup>5</sup> Holt was b. at Chaplin, Conn., 28 Nov. 1756; m. first. 11 June, 1782, Mary Lamphear, who d. 11 Dec. 1799. Mr. Nehemiah<sup>5</sup> Holt was a man of great energy of character and industry. At the age of 19 he entered the army of the Revolution, and shared largely in its sufferings, perils and privations. He was an officer in Col. Durkee's regiment, and while stationed in New York city, in the summer of 1776, assisted in removing the leaden statue of George III. from its location in the old Bowling Green, and manufactured the same into bullets for the use of the army. In September of the same year he was at the battle on Long Island, and the next day after, in the skirmish on Harlem Heights Col. Thomas Knowlton charged into the heart of the 42d regiment of Highlanders, and was mortally wounded from a bullet in his groin, and was taken from his horse by Serg. Nehemiah<sup>5</sup> Holt. He was in the retreat through New Jersey with Washington and his little army, and after crossing the Delaware, was engaged in the battles of Trenton and Princeton. At Trenton he took the small-pox of the Hessians. He had charge of a company of men employed on the Mohegan Hills in cutting and binding fascines for the use of the army, and he subsequently served a year in the forts at New London and Groton, Conn.

At the close of the war he returned to his farm on "Orchard Hill," in Chaplin, where he lived to the close of his life, 5 June, 1824, aged 64 years. Their seventh child was Hiram<sup>6</sup> Holt, b. 31 Jan. 1798, m. first, 21 Feb. 1828, Marian Chandler, of Pomfret, Conn., by whom he had three children. He m. second, 30 March, 1858, Martha S. Mather, at the age of 31 years, dau. of Eleazer Mather, of Brooklyn, Conn., and widow of Simon Cotton, by whom she had

1. Dr. JOHN CORTON, H. U. Medical School, 1871; settled in Providence, R. I.

2. WILLIAM COTTON, of Providence; assistant editor of the "Providence Journal."

Dr. Hiram Holt went to Pomfret, 6 July, 1821, and studied medicine with Dr. Thomas Hubbard, in that town; he attended the medical lectures at Yale College; and from that institution received in 1834, the honorary degree of M.D. He settled at Pomfret, Conn., in the practice of his profession, where he continued with the exception of one year, with great success and acceptance until his death, 30 Nov. 1870, in his 73d year, both as a physician and surgeon. Dr. Holt was a man of clear mind, sound judgment and of strong tenacious memory. He was in person tall and large, had light eyes and light complexion. Was a member of the Connecticut Medical Society; Registrar for Pomfret, 1864; represented Pomfret in the legislature of Connecticut; County Commissioner, 1848.

Mrs. Marian Holt was a woman of medium size; had a clear, fair skin, dark hazel eyes, and was a handsome person. She had good manners, and was sociable and amiable in her feelings. She made peace wherever she went; was esteemed, respected and beloved by all; was industrious, frugal and made a most excellent housekeeper. She died of pleurisy, 20 March, 1857, in her 57th year, and so easy was her departure that she could hardly believe death so gentle and attended with so little suffering as she then had. She calmly replied to him who had been her chosen companion in life, "I am as well prepared to go now as ever I shall be, I suppose;" and, "I wish to be buried where you will be willing to be buried by my side when your hour of departure shall come." Her body rests in the Holt Cemetery at Chaplin.

The children of MARIAN and Dr. HIRAM HOLT were:

- i. ELLEN HOLT, b. at Pomfret, Conn., 12 May, 1834; m. in the First Congregational Church at Pomfret, on the morning of Christmas, 1865, to Henry Chandler Bowen, who was b. at Woodstock, Conn., 11 Sept. 1813, son of George Bowen by his wife Lydia Eaton, and grandson of William Bowen, Esq., by his wife Mary Chandler, dau. of Peter Chandler and Mary Hodges his wife. They are second cousins. [See 376.] They reside at 76 Willow Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

One child:

1. Paul Holt Bowen, b. 25 Sept. 1868.
- ii. MARIAN CHANDLER HOLT, b. 20 Sept. 1837; m. at Pomfret, 8 April, 1863, Edward Payson Mathewson, both at the age of 25 years. He was b. 18 Aug. 1837, son of George B. Mathewson, of Pomfret, by his wife Hannah<sup>d</sup> Payson, b. 12 Dec. 1805, dau. of Dea. John<sup>d</sup> How Payson, of Pomfret, by his second wife Amaryllis Payne, dau. of Rev. Joshua Payne, whom he m. 16 Sept. 1796. John<sup>d</sup> How Payson was son of John<sup>2</sup> Payson by his wife Thankful How, dau. of David How, who sold to — Cargill the "Cargill Mills," at the falls in Putnam, Conn. David How bought this privilege of Capt. John Chandler. [See 31.] And gr.-son of Edward Payson who came up from Roxbury to Pomfret and lived where Edward Payson Mathewson resides, about one mile north of the "Street" on what was the Norwich and Worcester turnpike. Edward P. Mathewson is grandson of Darius Mathewson by his wife Miss Smith. Mr. Mathewson went to Butler's Island in the Alatomah River, opposite Darien, Ga., and taught school in the family of Pierce Butler, who m. "Fauny," Frances Anne Kemble; and he knew of the persons and facts in that vicinity described by her in "A Journal of her Residence in America." He was on Butler's Island 1860, and in 1861 was pressed into the drill service of the Confederates; but he soon escaped and came north and enlisted, 27 Nov. 1861, in the U. S. service, and went to the war in the 11th Conn. Reg't of Infantry as sergeant-major, at the age of 23. He had a fever, and was honorably discharged 31 May, 1862. Mr. Mathewson is a farmer.

Six children:

1. George Holt Mathewson, b. in Pomfret, 8 March, and d. 14 March, 1864.
2. Robert Mathewson, b. 19 May, 1865.
3. Henry Smith Mathewson, b. Feb. 1867.

He lived in the family of his uncle Dr. George Chandler, of Worcester, Mass., and there fitted for college in the public schools, and entered Y. C. 1862. He was messenger to the House of Representatives in Connecticut during the session of 1862. He was class-orator; and of his oration in College Chapel, 27 June, 1866, the "Boston Daily Advertiser" of 29 June, says it "had the unusual merit of originality and independence of thought; he claimed the national need of better education; that the government had authority to secure and maintain common education throughout the whole country as a means of enlightenment, as a preventive of rebellion, as a barrier against the religious tyranny of Catholicism, as well as a healthful mode of reconstruction in the South; and for the students, need of more extensive universities. Well considered, boldly written, and spoken with dignity, the oration was a decided success; no mere notice can do justice to a class oration which I never heard surpassed at Yale." Said A. Parish, Superintendent of Schools, New Haven, Conn., of it: "I must acknowledge that I was somewhat taken by surprise, to hear a young man utter thoughts of such deep practical importance, so clearly, so forcibly, and so beautifully expressed both in action and in diction." Gov. J. R. Hawley wrote on the evening of Class Day: "I listened with very great satisfaction to your oration this morning. Perhaps a portion of my interest is due to the fact that, in a short speech at the Boston anniversaries two or three weeks ago, I warmly urged the same general views." At the graduation of his class at the Law School of Columbia College, N. Y., he was also class-orator. Lawyer, N. Y. City, of the firm, 1882, of Holt & Bowen. He m. in Woodstock, Conn., 12 Oct. 1871, Maria L. Bowen, b. 26 July, 1848, eldest dau. of Henry C. and L. M. Bowen, Brooklyn, N. Y. [See 376.] Mr. G. C. Holt resided in Brooklyn until 1878, when he removed to Spuyten Duyvil, up the Hudson river. He had an office, 1882, 16 Exchange Place, N. Y. City, in partnership with his brother-in-law, Herbert W. Bowen.

She was b. at Marcellus, N. Y., 4 June, 1814; d. at Mexico, 17 May, 1869, of consumption; dau. of Moses Gunn, of Marcellus, N. Y., but who died in Plymouth, Ind. After Mr. Chandler's death, she m. second, Luke Doolittle Smith, Esq., of Mexico, and by him had Josephine Chandler Smith, who m. M. W. Collins, of Mexico.

Mr. Peter Chandler educated himself at the district school, and on his mother's farm, which farm he took charge of when sixteen years old, one season, while his older brother was absent at the "West." At the age of eighteen he left home to solicit subscribers for books published in Hartford, Conn., in which occupation he was particularly successful for two years. He then, in company with Thomas Walter Ward, son of Gen. A. Ward, of Shrewsbury, Mass., traded in Pomfret, Conn., for one year. They dissolved, and he purchased a store of goods at Mexico, where, by industry, perseverance, civility and economy, he was successful in increasing his property to $76,000. His trade consisted mostly in bartering goods from the store for the produce from the farms in that country. Soon after going into business it became a rule with him "to purchase no more goods at New York or elsewhere than he could pay for at the time." About two years before his death, he sold out his stock in trade to his two clerks, Messrs. S. H. and B. Stone, and, in the autumn of 1847, made a disposition of his estate to take effect after his death. He gave legacies to five benevolent societies, to whose support he had annually contributed in life, of $28,000. To each of his brothers and sisters he gave $2,000, and to his wife, what some thought, a small stipend. The remainder of his property he gave, in trust, to his executors for the benefit of his two mute children. He was for years the chief supporter of the religious society in the village where he worshipped, and was honored by his fellow-citizens with some of the civil offices within their gift. He was much respected as a man and a citizen. He built for his residence in the centre of Mexicoville, a splendid mansion of stone, from grindstone quarry in that place. For the welfare of his mute children he had much solicitude. He employed for their governess Miss — Parker, to instruct them in the silent language of signs and the digital alphabet; and, when they became old enough, kept them seven years at the School for Mutes in the city of New York, under the charge of Mr. Peet.

He left his home in Dec. 1847, with his wife, to seek a southern clime for the benefit of his health; but in riding in a public stage to Pittsburg, Pa., and there taking a sweat to remove a cold, he prepared his system for a lung fever, which set in as they were driving about the streets of that city. But they took a boat the next day for Marietta, Ohio, where his sickness increased, but where he received the kind attention of his old townsman, Elisha B. Perkins, Esq., and of Dr. Hildreth. But died at the end of a week, on the 2d of Jan. 1848, aged 45 years lacking 10 days. The last years of Mr. Peter Chandler's life had been embittered by a wasting marasmus, which he attributed to injury received while a young man by pitching hay at the coming up of a shower. His remains were carried back to Mexico, by his brother James S., for interment.

The children of PETER and JOANNA HINSDALE (GIDD) CHANDLER were:

2024. I. HELEN ARABELLA, b. at Mexico, 27 July, 1833; m. 16 Dec. 1857, Henry C. Rider.
 2025. II. JOHN WILKES, b. 28 May, 1836; m. in St. John's Church at Buffalo, N. Y., in the mute language, to Grace Josephine Colvin.

She was b. in Mendon, Mass., 25 April, 1807; dau. of Dea. Henry Sweeting, who d. in Pomfret, 18 Feb. 1840, who had been a merchant in Providence, R. I., and in Mendon, Mass. with Benjamin Davenport, and who had removed on to a farm in the north part of Pomfret, Conn., 1814; by his wife Sarah, who d. 13 April, 1872, aged 97 yrs., dau. of Capt. E. Durfee, by his wife Miss Jacobs, dau. of Nathaniel Jacobs. Mary Sweeting was granddau. of Job Sweeting, of Newport, R. I.

Jarvis S Chundler
1828, 5th March 1878

Mr. Chandler left his mother's farm before he was of age, and went into the grocery store of George W. Fox, on South Main Street, Providence, R. I., where he remained two years. He then managed the farm of his brother-in-law, Levi Hoppin, in Pomfret, a year or two; then bought, with his father-in-law, the Chandler Farm on which he was born, which they managed together. Was School Committee-man in Pomfret, 1833; became a clerk in the store of his brother Peter, in Mexico, N. Y., where, after a few years, he opened a store of goods on his own account. In 1855, in company with his nephew-in-law, Leonard Ames [see 912], he had a banking house under the firm of "Chandler & Ames;" which firm was dissolved in 1865, when Mr. Ames removed to Oswego. From outside operations Mr. Chandler was obliged to close, in 1867, his banking house, and after a while went into the manufactory of knit woolen under-clothing with Hon. Cheney Ames, in Oswego City, where he went to reside. While in Mexico, he was honored with some of the civil offices by his townsmen, and he was in the Custom House in Oswego.

Their golden wedding took place at Oswego, N. Y., 5 March, 1878, in presence of a large number of relatives and friends, and a lithotype of their appearance on that occasion adorns these pages and is from The Lithotype Printing Works, at Gardner, Mass.

The children of JAMES S. and MARY (Sweeting) CHANDLER were:

2026. I. SARAH SWEETING, b. in Pomfret; m. 2 May, 1850, Luther Henry Conklin.
2027. II. NANCY HOPPIN, b. in Mexico, 6 Oct. 1833; m. 26 Oct. 1854, Henry A. Brown.

Dr. GEORGE<sup>6</sup> CHANDLER (John<sup>5</sup> W., Peter,<sup>4</sup> Joseph,<sup>3</sup> John,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and Josephine<sup>1</sup> Rose, Worcester, Mass.

1872                      Mass.

She was b. at St. John, on the Island of Antigua, W. I., 13 Feb. 1815, and died of bronch disease, 4 May, 1866, on the 24th anniversary, to an hour, of her marriage. She was the eighth child of Joseph<sup>3</sup> Warner Rose by his wife Harriet Paine. Mr. Rose was "General Commercial agent for the United States at Antigua and the adjacent Islands." He was b. in St. John, Antigua, 5 May, 1773; d. 1826, at Antigua, while on a business visit there to settle up his affairs. He had, about 1818, brought his family to Massachusetts for a permanent residence. Mr. Joseph<sup>3</sup> W. Rose was son of John<sup>2</sup> Rose, merchant in London and St. John, Antigua, W. I., by his wife Alice, dau. of Samuel and Rebecca Bacon, who d. 14 Feb. 1786, aged 54 years; so says a funeral mourning finger-ring in care of her granddau. Mrs. John C. Lee; and grandson of Thomas<sup>1</sup> and Ann Rose, of London, Eng.

The children of JOHN<sup>2</sup> ROSE and ALICE BACON were:

1. Rebecca<sup>3</sup> Rose, b. in Antigua, 17 Jan. 1759; d. 1 May, 1800, in Boston; m. in Antigua, 13 Nov. 1777, David Greene, b. 20 June, 1740; d. 21 June, 1812, at Ballston Spa., son of Thomas Greene by his wife Martha Coit [see 304]; grandson of Nathaniel and Ann Gold Greene of Warwick, R. I. [See 34.]
2. Catherine<sup>3</sup> Rose, b. 2 Feb. 1760; m. 27 Jan. 1778, Lewis Johnson, Jr., of Savannah, Ga.
3. Ann<sup>3</sup> Rose, b. 30 Aug. 1762; d. 18 Nov. 1783; m. 11 May, 1780, Samuel Jefferson, Esq., of Antigua. No issue.
4. John<sup>3</sup> Ireland Rose, b. 11 Oct. 1764; married.
5. Thomas<sup>3</sup> Winston Rose, b. 29 April, 1767.

George Sanden

W. S. Sanden, M. D.

6. Daniel<sup>3</sup> Warner Rose; in. twice; clergyman at Kingston. He had the family Bible.
7. Alice<sup>3</sup> Freeman Rose, b. 18 Jan. 1770.
8. Rachel<sup>3</sup> Winston Rose, b. 14 Feb. 1771; d. in Salem, Mass.
9. Joseph<sup>3</sup> Warner Rose, b. 5 May, 1773; d. 1826; m. in Worcester, Mass., 17 March, 1802, Harriet Paine, ns above, dau. of Dr. Wm. Paine by his wife Lois Orne.
10. Stephen<sup>3</sup> Blisard Rose, b. 11 May, 1775; d. 14 Dec. 1776.
11. Elizabeth<sup>3</sup> Akers Rose, b. 1778; m. — Donaldson.

Mr. Joseph<sup>3</sup> W. Rose was a planter at Antigua, and his slaves, whom he left on that island, were emancipated after his death by the royal assent, given 28 Aug. 1833, to the government measure, with a provision to pay their masters in all of the West India Islands under the English rule, £20,000,000. The census gave the number of slaves in the British West Indies in 1829, at 604,005, which would be an average for each slave of about £33.

Josephine Rose was for many years very small and sickly, and that was one cause of the family leaving the West Indies for a more healthy climate, in Massachusetts. She was not tall; she had a dark complexion, dark hair, and deep hazel eyes, tinged with gold. Her kindness of heart and sympathetic feeling were very great. An oil painting of her by M. Wight, in the possession of her children, is a correct likeness, and makes a handsome picture of a lovely woman.

Dr. George Chandler m. second, 8 April, 1874, Mary Eliza Douglas who was b. 7 Feb. 1830, dau. of Stephen and Nancy Howe Douglas, of Greenwich, Mass. She was widow of Charles A. Wheeler, of Worcester, Mass., whom she m. 1 Jan. 1851, and by whom she had three children. The two oldest died young—the third, Charles Douglas Wheeler, was born Nov. 9, 1865. He and his wife Mary E. Douglas had the same ancestry in Dea. Wm. and Anna Mattle Douglas, of New London. He through their dau. Elizabeth [see 5] and she through their son Robert,<sup>2</sup> Thomas,<sup>3</sup> Stephen<sup>4</sup>, Sperry,<sup>5</sup> Stephen,<sup>6</sup> Stephen,<sup>7</sup> and Nancy Howe.

Dr. George Chandler lived at home, attending the district school and working on the farm in summers, until the autumn after he was seventeen; when, 8 Sept. 1823, he went to the Academy in Dudley, Mass., and remained there two terms under Isaac Webb and William H. Rockwell as instructors. In the spring of 1824 he attended the Academy in Leicester, Mass., under the charge of John Richardson, who, that autumn, signed a certificate of him as "qualified to teach a common school," which introduced him as the teacher of the school in West Sutton; and, soon after he began to teach, "The approbation of the Subscriber, Edmund Mills, minister of the Gospel in Sutton, Mass., Dec. 16, 1824," was obtained. The winter vacation at Brown University of 1826 and '27 was devoted to school-keeping in Westboro', Mass. By both of these districts he was solicited to take charge of the same schools the winters following. In the summer of 1825, he attended the Academy in Woodstock, Conn., under the care of his relative, Thomas Jefferson Forbes, of Bangor, Me., who had been instrumental in inducing him to give up farming and prepare for college. This proposition was the more readily entertained, as the hard work of four or five summers in the field had shown him that a farmer's life was not an easy one.

In the spring of 1826 he entered the freshman class in Brown University, under Dr. Asa Messer, and had for his chum David T. Brigham, afterwards of Keokuk, Iowa. At the end of their Sophomore year, in consequence of the disturbed state of Brown University, he and his chum offered themselves for the senior class in Union College, Schenectady, N. Y., and were on examination received. He passed the examination for the senior class for the degree of A. B., and the thesis assigned him for commencement was "Select Studies." He read his profession with his brother-in-law, Dr. H. Holt, in Pomfret, Conn., attended a course of lectures in Boston and another in New Haven, where he received the degree in medicine.

He opened an office in Worcester, Mass., Nov. 3, 1831. In the winter of 1832-33, he resided in Ward, Mass., where he took charge of the patients of Dr. Daniel Green while he was in the Legislature. On the 28th of March, 1833, he went into the State Lunatic Hospital, Worcester, Mass., to assist Dr. Samuel Bayard Woodward, and at first was to receive for his labors, board and lodging; there he remained as Assistant Physician until May 2, 1842, on a salary, at last, of $700. After a vacation of four months, spent in travelling with his wife, he took charge of the Asylum for the Insane at Concord, N. H. The building had just been erected on a plan submitted by himself. This Asylum he began under much pecuniary embarrassment, and which he started on a prosperous career of usefulness — and got it nearly full of patients and out of debt; and then, after a little more than three years, at the desire of his mother-in-law, he resigned his charge, to the surprise and much against the wishes of the Trustees of the Asylum. After another vacation spent in Salem, Mass., at the house of his mother-in-law, he succeeded, July 1, 1846, Dr. Woodward in the Superintendency of the State Lunatic Asylum at Worcester, where he remained ten years, and then resigned that charge on the 16th of July, 1856, into the hands of Dr. M. Bemis, who had spent about eight years as his assistant. During his superintendency of ten years, the Hospital was crowded to overflowing all the time. For some time he had a household of about 630 persons, and at one time 568 of them were the insane. By request, he sat to Wight, of Boston, who painted a likeness of him to be kept at the Hospital.

After about twenty-five years devoted to the care of the insane, Dr. C. resided in Pearl Street, Worcester. He was appointed by Colonel Rufus Hayward and commissioned by His Excellency Hon. Edward Everett, Governor of the Commonwealth, and Hon. John E. Bigelow, Secretary of State, 23 March, 1839, Surgeon of the regiment of Light Infantry, 1st Brigade of the 6th Division of Mass. Militia; was Justice of the Peace; a member of the Mass. Medical Society; honorary member of the New Hampshire and of the Connecticut Medical Societies; member of the American Antiquarian Society; Inspector of the State Almshouse at Monson; representative to the legislature in 1859; alderman of the city of Worcester in 1862; and compiler of this genealogy.

In 1867, '68, '69, Dr. Chandler visited Europe, Asia and Africa, and travelled with his two daughters in Europe. And in 1874 he visited Europe again with his wife, Mary E. Chandler, for two years. In 1874 he went with his wife to the Pacific coast, visiting on the way the Mammoth Cave in Ky.; Salt Lake City to see the Mormons; to the big trees and Yosemite Valley; to Santa Cruz on the coast, and by steamer from San Francisco to Puget's Sound; visited her sister in Victoria, the Capital of British Columbia; up the Columbia River to the Dalles; and by stage through Oregon to San Francisco; and thence by rail to Worcester, Mass.

In Aug. of 1874, he went to Europe with his wife, and on their way to see the midnight sun, they reached Molde in Norway, in latitude 65°, thence by Bergen, Christiana, Stockholm, Abo and Helsingford in Finland, St. Petersburg and Moscow in Russia.

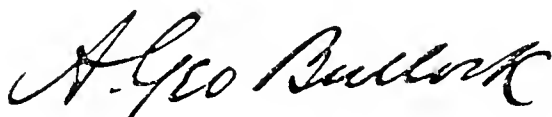

He has visited Constantinople, Balbec, Damascus, Capernaum, the Sea of Galilee, Nazareth, Jerusalem, the Dead Sea, and the River of Jordan, in whose waters he baptized himself by plunging nine times, Bethlehem, Suez and saw there men and animals crossing the Red Sea, where it was said the Israelites crossed, visited the Island of Philæ above the lower cataract of the Nile in latitude 23°, Cairo and the Pyramids, Constantinople, Gibraltar, Spain; and returned to his home 24 Chestnut Street, Worcester, Mass., where he collected the materials for this second edition of "The Chandler Family." The Steel Engraving of No. 919 was from a daguerreotype at the age of 36.

The children of GEORGE and JOSEPHINE (Rose) CHANDLER were:

2032. 1. Infant son, b. at the Asylum, Concord, N. H., 3 Dec. 1843; buried on the Asylum ground, but the remains were removed, 1861, to the new cemetery in Concord.

2033. II. MARY, b. at the Asylum, Concord, 17 Feb. 1845; m. 4 Oct. 1871, Augustus George Bullock, who was b. 2 June, 1847, son of Hon. Alexander H. Bullock, born in Royalston, 2 March, 1816, died in Worcester, 17 Jan. 1882, very suddenly, while walking in the street, Governor of Mass. in 1866, '67 '68, of Worcester, by his wife Elvira, dau. of Col. Augustus George Hazard, of Enfield, Conu., by his wife Saloma G. Merrill, of West Hartford, Conu. Col. A. G. Hazard was son of Thomas S. and Silence Hazard, of Kingston, R. I. A. George Bullock was grandson of Hon. Rufus Bullock, of Royalston, Mass., by his wife, m. 1803, Sarah Davis, of Rindge, N. H., and gr.-grandson of Hugh Bullock, who moved to Royalston in the early days of its settlement from Rehoboth, in which last place and its vicinity resided the progenitors of those who have since borne the name into the southern and western states. The first of the name came into the old colony from England in 1636. A. George Bullock was graduated at H. U. 1868; was commissioned 15 Feb. 1868, Military Secretary to the Governor with the rank of Lieut.-Colonel. Col. A. George Bullock commenced the business of banking in Worcester, Oct. 1, 1871, under the firm of Rice, Whiting & Bullock. Afterwards read law and practised his profession in Worcester, Mass.

The children of MARY C. and Col. A. GEORGE BULLOCK were:

- i. Chandler Bullock, b. 24 Aug. 1872.
  - ii. Alexander Hamilton Bullock, b. 7 Nov. 1874.
  - iii. Augustus George Bullock, b. 20 April and died 29 April, 1880.
  - iv. Rockwood Hoar Bullock, b. 21 August, 1881.
2034. III. HARRIET ROSE, b. in the State Lunatic Hospital at Worcester, Mass., 6 June, 1847; d. in Worcester, 1 July, 1857, and was buried in the Lot 823 in the Rural Cemetery, Worcester. She was large of her age, had dark hair, dark hazel eyes, and very red cheeks. She was quiet, amiable, confiding, sensitive, and honored her parents. She excelled with her needle, and made great progress in school; was diligent, and had extreme delicacy of feeling, yet was ambitious. She rode in the floral procession, July, 1856, as one of the "flower girls," and was so much excited by it that nervous fever followed. The last of June, 1857, the closing exercises of the dancing school quarter were to come off with some show of parade, and she was so anxious about her part in it that she could take no dinner that day. During the afternoon she was pushed across a settee by her mates, but continued to dance afterwards. On coming home she complained of feeling ill and went to bed. Inflammation of the bowels came on, and she sank on the morning of July 1st. The last hours of her life were singularly calm and serene. She tried to comfort those weeping around her, and when told she could not live long, she replied, "Do you think so, father? Oh! then I shall see Jesus." She then gave her two sisters each "half of all she had," naming the articles for each. She bade "all come to Heaven," and said "Tell grandmother to come." While sick, her schoolmates serenaded her under her window, and at her funeral they sang a hymn at the house and a dirge at the grave, besides strewing her coffin with flowers.

2055. iv. FANNY, b. at the State Lunatic Hospital, in Worcester, Mass., 5 June, 1852; m. 24 June, 1873, Waldo Lincoln, b. 31 Dec. 1849, son of D. Waldo Lincoln, President of the Boston and Albany railroad, by his wife Frances Fiske Merriek, dau. of Francis T. and Mary (Buckminster Fiske) Merriek. Mr. Waldo Lincoln, graduate of H. U. 1870, is engaged, under the firm of W. E. Cutter & Co., in the manufacture of copperas, venetian-red, &c., at Worcester, Mass.

She was born 28 April, 1760; d. 20 March, 1832, "widow of Capt. John Chandler, aged 71 years 4 mos."

On a soapstone slab at Boscawen Plains (where rest the remains of her husband), is the following verse:

"When I lie deep buried in the dust,
My flesh shall be thy care;
These withering limbs with thee I trust
To raise them strong and fair."

She was a daughter of Ephraim<sup>4</sup> and Judith (Hall, of Bradford, Mass.) Farnum; granddaughter of Ephraim<sup>3</sup> and Molly (Ingals) Farnum; gr.-granddaughter of Ephraim<sup>2</sup> Farnum, son of Ralph<sup>1</sup> Farnum, who came from Wales, England, settled in Andover, and m. 1658, Elizabeth Holt.

Capt. John Chandler was an innholder at Boscawen, just over the Contoocook River at Fisherville, in the large white house on the top of the hill, which was, in 1866, occupied as a tavern. This house was built, and his daughter Mary, Mrs. Jonathan Eastman, was first carried into it in her cradle the day (3 Sept. 1787) she was one year old. It bears upon its sign the figures "1787."

"The New Hampshire Committee of Safety met, Jan. 5, 1779, and ordered 'one John Chandler, of Boscawen, to deliver to Mary Thornton, wife of Matthew Thornton, now in Exeter Gaol, a Sleigh belonging to said Thornton, in his custody.'"

He was selectman in 1792; was a man of light complexion, tall, and weighed in his last days about 300 pounds. He died 24 Jan. 1825, aged 72, leaving seven children.

Their house stood on the west side of Main Street, about twenty-five rods south of Pleasant Street.

In consequence of the long continued sickness and early death of the father, the mother and children were left almost destitute; and Timothy, their eldest son, and only eight years old, was soon apprenticed to Maj. Jonathan Hale, who was then carrying on in Concord the business of making hand-cards for carding wool. About the year 1781, Maj. Hale removed his business to Pomfret, Conn. (which was four years before Edmond Snow established the same business in Leicester, Mass.), and took his apprentice with him. When he had served out his apprenticeship, April 25, 1783, he returned to Concord, N. H., on foot, with only one dollar in his possession and that borrowed of his kind master and friend, Maj. Hale. Upon arriving in his native town, he very soon established himself at his trade of hand-card making. But the Whittemore invention of card making by machinery soon began to supplant the slow process by hand, and to sustain himself, he added to this the gold and silver-smith business, and the making of brass clocks and time-pieces, by hiring workmen skilled in these trades. By strict integrity, frugality and indomitable perseverance, he soon acquired a large property for those times — nearly all of which was lost by fire, 17 Aug. 1809, when his house, barn, shop and nearly all of their contents were consumed. His loss was estimated at $5,000. His neighbors immediately subscribed about $1,200 to manifest their sympathy and to show their confidence in his integrity and good citizenship. He immediately rebuilt on a larger basis, and had more conveniences. He took apprentices and hired journeymen, and was prospered and continued until 1829, when he gave up a part of his interest in the business to his youngest son Abiel, and they continued the business until a few years before his death, which took place at his house, 9 Aug. 1848, aged 86.

In 1797, with some of the most respectable men in Concord, he enrolled himself in a company of minute men for the expected war with Great Britain. Dec. 30, 1799, he was commissioned acting major of the 11th N. H. Reg't. He was chorister in the North Meeting-house, 1800-04. In 1814 he enlisted as a volunteer to go to Portsmouth.

“He was a man of sound judgment and of extraordinary perseverance, and ‘truly a genuine go-a-head’ Chandler, and an ornament to the name in every sense of the word.’ Intuitively a mechanic and devoted to his business, he was always ready to help forward every public enterprise designed for the good of his native town, from the opening of the singing school in 1783, to the establishment of the New Hampshire Asylum for the Insane. To this last, he was the first to call public attention, and he devoted to it more time than any other person. It undoubtedly was to his influence, that his cousin, Abiel Chandler, made so large donations to this Asylum. Mr. Abiel Chandler never forgot the favor of the $100 from his cousin Timothy when he was striving to enter college.”

Maj. and Mrs. Chandler lived to be almost 90 years old each. He was about 6 feet in height, and in his last days thin in flesh.

The children of Maj. TIMOTHY and SARAH (Abbot) CHANDLER were:

- 2089. I. PEREGRINE WHITE, b. 10 July, 1788; d. 28 Aug. 1792.

He was in Stark's Brigade and in the fight at Bennington, Vt. As soon as it was decided to raise volunteers, Colonel Hutchins mounted his horse, and reaching Concord on the Sabbath, walked up the broad aisle of the church while Mr. Walker was preaching. Mr. Walker paused in his sermon and said, "Col. Hutchins, are you the bearer of any message?" "Yes," replied the Colonel; "Gen. Burgoyne, with his army, is on his march to Albany. Gen. Stark has offered to take the command of the New Hampshire men, and, if we all turn out, we can cut off Burgoyne's march." Whereupon Rev. Mr. Walker said, "My hearers, those of you who are willing to go, better leave at once." Twenty-eight men from Concord were in Stark's Brigade.

She was b. 21 Feb. 1773; d. 27 March, 1841, a. 69. After the death of her husband, Asa Eastman was appointed, by Ebenezer L. Hall, Judge of Probate, guardian of the three oldest children by their choice, and of the six youngest by petition of the widow, Susan Chandler, 7 June, 1815.

Capt. C. was a farmer in Cold River Valley, which is a mile or two wide and is shut in by the "Kearsarge" on the west and north; by the "Deer Peak" and other hills on the east. This valley extends up between the mountain ranges some five or six miles, and is drained by the "Cold River;" and there is no access to it except by the one road from the south. On this road the farmers live; and here, east of "Bald Face" peak, lived Capt. Paul Chandler, and here he died, 5 April, 1815, aged 45.

The children of Capt. PAUL and SUSAN (Hardy) CHANDLER were:

She was dau. of Epes Sargent; d. 2 Feb. 1837, a. 48, and was buried in Mt. Auburn; and, on the obverse face of a white marble slab, is inscribed to her:—

"Blessed are the pure in heart,
For they shall see God."

On the reverse of the same slab is:—

“ ABIEL CHANDLER,
 Born in Concord, N. H., Feb. 26, 1777.
 Died at Walpole, N. H., March 22, 1851.
 He was an alumnus of Harvard College of the Class of 1806 ;
 a faithful teacher in Salem and Newburyport, and a successful merchant in Boston.
 True through life to his convictions of duty, modest, staunch, cautious and wise, a sensitive heart, and active in kindest deeds, he lived and died a Christian.
 With the desire of benefiting his native State, he became the liberal patron of its public charities, and the founder of the Scientific School bearing his name connected with Dartmouth College.
 At his request his remains are here deposited near those of his beloved wife.”

Mr. Bouton, in his admirable History of Concord, N. H., says: “ Abiel Chandler is known as the distinguished benefactor of Dartmouth College, by a legacy of fifty thousand dollars, ‘for the establishment and support of a permanent department, or school of instruction in said College, in the practical and useful arts of life.’ He was also the patron of the New Hampshire Asylum for the Insane, in his lifetime, by the gift of a convenient carriage for the benefit of the inmates, and in his will by a legacy amounting to about twenty-five thousand dollars.”

Mr. Chandler was son of Daniel, and grandson of Capt. John Chandler, one of the original proprietors of Concord. “ His mother was Sarah Merrill, dau. of Dea. John Merrill. His parents were poor. Abiel was born Feb. 26, 1777, in a house which stood just west of Richard Bradley’s, on or near the spot where Hamilton Perkins, Esq., has recently built a beautiful residence. An apple tree, within a rod of the new house—which may justly be called the ‘Chandler tree’—grew up in the cellar of the old house after it was removed.” Robert Bradley, Esq., of Fryeburg, says he was well acquainted with Abiel Chandler when a boy; that Abiel was remarkable in childhood for a steady, persevering purpose; that his father, John Bradley, used to say that Abiel was the best Chandler boy that he ever knew; "he would hoe in the field all day without stopping or looking up. When a boy, he acted like a man." Having observed these traits in young Chandler, John Bradley, Esq., who, with Jonathan Eastman, owned extensive tracts of land in Maine, offered to give Abiel forty acres, in the township of Stowe, near to Chatham, provided he would go there and settle. This he accepted, at about the age of twenty-one. Working on his farm in summer, Abiel went in the fall and winter to the Academy in Fryeburg, then under the instruction of Paul Langdon, of Portsmouth. Here he became acquainted with two gentlemen, graduates of Dartmouth College; and hearing them converse and discuss subjects in a style superior to what he was capable of, the thought occurred, "Why may I not obtain an education and be able to converse as well as they?" Advising with his teacher, he sold his farm and commenced preparation for college, which he completed partly at Fryeburg and partly at Exeter. On entering Harvard College, John Bradley, Esq., became bondsman for the payment of his bills. Graduating in 1806, he taught the grammar school in Salem, Mass., at a salary of $1,200 the first year, and $1,600 per annum for about eleven years; spent a year afterwards in Baltimore; then became a commission merchant in Boston, in the firm of Chandler & Howard, and afterwards of Chandler, Howard & Co., where, by his industry, integrity, and perseverance, he acquired wealth and distinction.

In May, 1827, he married Dorcas Sargent, a daughter of Epes Sargent, Esq., of Boston, who died without issue, in 1837. Retiring from active business in 1845, he located himself at Walpole, N. H., where he died, March 22, 1851, aged 74 years.

Having in his last will given numerous legacies to more than fifty nephews and nieces, residing mostly in Concord, and Fryeburg, Me., and vicinity, many of whom were poor or in moderate circumstances; and making, also, generous legacies to the relations of his wife, and to particular friends, he left the residue of his estate to Dartmouth College and to the Asylum for the Insane in New Hampshire—amounting in all to seventy-five thousand dollars.

The Scientific School which he established at Dartmouth College is now in successful operation.

An occurrence in the store of C. & H. may have been the cause of turning his mind to one of his bequests. A Mr. D——, a young man from Roxbury, was clerk in the store, and upon him fell the duty of making out the bills. But he made so many mistakes that Mr. Abiel Chandler, who had naturally a very high temper, could not refrain from admonishing him thus : " You can't do a sum in simple addition ; I never saw such an ignoramus ! " D—— replied, " I was fitted for college. " Mr. Chandler retorted, " If you were fitted for college, you were not fitted for a counting-room. "

She was b. 9 June, 1777; d. 26 Dec. 1830, aged 53 years. She was a dau. of Obadiah Foster by his wife Hannah Ballard. [See 145.] She was appointed administratrix of her late husband's estate, 6 Jan. 1818, and was ordered by the court "to distribute the balance as follows:—" "To you, being the widow," $1029.05—being one-third part. She joined the church in Andover, 29 June, 1800, and was dismissed therefrom to the church in the West Parish, 7 Oct. 1827.

Mr. Chandler was an influential man in town, as well as a good citizen. His death was most singular. While attending the General Court, of which he was a member, he partook, at his boarding place in Boston, of a piece of fowl, and swallowed with it, it is supposed, a small bit of glass, or bone. This stuck in his throat. He went home, and in about 10 days, on 26 Nov. 1817, died of hæmorrhage, probably from an internal cut in the throat.

A handsome Italian marble slab marks the last resting-place of his body in the West Parish.

The children of JOSHUA and DORCAS (Foster) CHANDLER were :

2164. I. DORCAS BALLARD, b. 1 April, 1800; m. 26 Dec. 1820, Moses Parker. [See 641.]

She was daughter of Capt. Jonathan Abbot, of Merrimac Corner, by his wife Mary Chandler. She was b. 10 Jan. 1762; d. 21 May, 1845. [See 397.]

They lived in the West Parish of Andover, on the farm where Joseph and Mary (Phelps) Chandler lived in 1864. He was active in getting up an infantry company in Andover, and was its first lieutenant. He became a major in the militia.

They moved to Boston, and kept a boarding-house there. He d. in Boston, 2 Nov. 1833, aged 73, but was buried in Andover. West Parish Cemetery.

Their only child, born in Andover, was :

2168. I. JOSHUA, b. 15 May, 1787; d. 31 May, 1854, in Boston, unm. He was graduated at H. U. 1807.

On 27 Nov. 1818, he was installed over the Congregational Church at Orange, Mass., which had remained without a settled pastor since his predecessor, Rev. Emerson Foster, had been dismissed in 1790. Mr. Chandler continued to preach until 21 Oct. 1821, when he was dismissed by a mutual agreement between him and the society. He was settled at Swansea, N. H., 20 Jan. 182-, and dismissed 26 Dec. 182-, and installed 27 Nov. 182-, at Orange, Mass., and dismissed 31 Oct. 1827. He was installed 20 Jan. 1836, at Bedford, over the First Society.

He removed to Boston, where he spent the remainder of his days, which he closed at the Mass. General Hospital, at the age of 67 years, and was interred in the Lot No. 1067, Mount Auburn.

In his religious sentiments he was a Unitarian. From a youth he was very neat and particular, even fastidious, in his person and dress.

When he exchanged pulpits with his clerical brethren, he carried his own sheets and bed-linen; and it was told of him, that once, in walking in a funeral procession, the lady who had his arm stepped, by mischance, into a little puddle of water and spattered his pants. This so disconcerted and wrought upon his feelings, that ever after he felt an aversion to the female sex, and showed all members of it his scorn.

He was b. at Andover, 9 Nov. 1749; d. 21 Nov. 1810, in Andover, suddenly; son of Capt. Benjamin<sup>1</sup> Ames by his wife Hepzibah<sup>5</sup> Chandler. [See 174.] He built the tavern—now, (1865) “The Elm”—near the railroad station at Andover, and kept it for many years. He owned at one time most, if not all, of the township of Hebron, Me.

Mrs. Ames died 19 June, 1798, in her 44th year; member of the church in Andover.

The children of PHEBE and BENJAMIN AMES, Jr., were :

- i. BENJAMIN<sup>3</sup> AMES, b. at Andover, 24 Feb. 1773; d. 10 Oct. 1775.
- ii. PHEBE<sup>3</sup> AMES, b. 8 April, 1775; m. first, — Searls; m. second, Samuel Stevens, Jr., of Andover.

One child :

1. Daniel Stevens.
- iii. HEZIBAH<sup>3</sup> AMES, b. 20 Jan. 1777; d. 28 Jan. 1802, at Montreal; m. Nathaniel Stimpson. He was a manufacturer of buckles. Two children.
- iv. BENJAMIN<sup>3</sup> AMES, b. at Andover, 30 April, 1778; d. 28 Sept. 1835; m. first, in Andover, 1809, Mary Boynton, of Andover. She died 3 Nov. 1810, at Bath, Me., dau. of Col. Abel Boynton, of Westford. She left no issue. He m. second, at Saco, 11 May, 1812, Sally Boynton, sister of his first wife, by whom he had three children.

He was graduated at H. U. 1803, fulfilling the last will and testament of his paternal grandfather, Timothy Chandler, that “he be brought up to Learning and through college, if capable.” He read law in the office of Hon. Samuel Dana, at Groton, Mass.; settled at Bath, Me., 1806. In a few years he stood in the front rank of the lawyers of Maine. His brother Nathan Ames, who was then deputy sheriff of the County of Lincoln, was perhaps in some measure instrumental in his obtaining such a large practice. He was an easy and ready speaker, and a close reasoner, for he had a legal brain.

He was county attorney for Lincoln, in 1807; Justice of the Circuit Court of Common Pleas; Speaker of the House of Representatives, of which he was a member in 1820 and '21. He was President of the State Senate; acting Governor from Dec. 5, 1821, to Jan. 2, 1852. From 1827 to 1829 he had an office in Cincinnati, Ohio. He then came on for his family, and on his way to Bath, he was stricken down with paralysis at Providence, R. I. He then went to his relatives at Houlton, Me., where he died in his 57th year.

Judge Ames had many fine qualities; but in making political honors the grand object of his life, he entered upon a path of intrigue where corruption and uncertainty usually prevail. By his last wife he had three children.

One child:

1. George Ames; educated at West Point; became a lawyer.
- v. HANNAH<sup>3</sup> AMES, b. at Andover, 19 July, 1781; m. first, 30 June, 1801, Maj. Daniel Cummings, of Andover. He was b. 2 Sept. 1778; d. 26 Dec. 1827. He resided at the time of his death at Maidstone, Vt.; farmer. She m. second, 21 June, 1842, Hon. Leonard White, cashier of the Merrimac Bank, Haverhill, Mass. After Mr. White's death she resided at Bangor, Me., with her daughter, Mrs. Mary E. Paine. Four children.
- vi. MARY<sup>3</sup> AMES; m. Joseph Wilson, Charlestown, Mass. She had three children, all of whom died young.
- vii. EZRA<sup>3</sup> CHANDLER AMES, b. in Andover, 7 Jan. 1785; d. about 1868. He helped his father in the Ames tavern at Andover until he was of age. He went to Haverhill; was a merchant there, and deacon of the Congregational Church. Seven children. He m. first, 19 Nov. 1815, Joanna Eames, who d. 6 Oct. 1822, leaving four children. She was dau. of Dea. Eames. He m. second, 4 March, 1824, Nancy Porter, who d. 11 May, 1840, aged 50 years, 7 mos., leaving three children; she was dau. of Dudley Porter. He m. third, 26 April, 1842, Elizabeth Marsh, of Haverhill. Seven children.
- viii. NATHAN<sup>3</sup> AMES, b. at Andover, 7 May, 1787; m. at Andover, 24 Nov. 1811, Lydia Clark, both of Andover; deputy sheriff for Lincoln Co., Me. Had five children.
- ix. ELIZABETH<sup>3</sup> AMES, b. at Andover, 19 Jan. 1789; m. 29 Nov. 1810, David Boynton, both of Andover. He was b. 19 Jan. 1784; d. 25 March, 1826. Painter by trade, in West Parish, Andover. Five children.
- x. RHODA<sup>3</sup> AMES, b. 12 Jan. 1792; d. 31 Jan. 1792.
- xi. ISAAC<sup>3</sup> AMES, b. 13 Nov. 1794; d. 5 Nov. 1818; unm.; at Richmond, Va., where he was a commission merchant.

She died 8 June, 1827, aged 67, and was buried beside the remains of her husband, in the graveyard at the north end of the street in Concord. She was dau. of Dea. Hezekiah Ballard, of Andover, by his wife Miss Lydia Chandler.

April 19, 1775, Mr. Chandler held the office of corporal in Capt. John Foster's company of militia in Andover, Mass., of which company his father was then lieutenant. He was out one day and a half in Capt. Joshua Holt's company, at the Lexington alarm, 19 April, 1775.

As administrator of the estates of Nathan Chandler the elder, and Nathan Chandler the younger, his grandfather and his father, both of Andover, he was empowered by the court, in 1787, to sell land, which he did in that same year to Joseph Chandler, for £59 : 12s.

They removed Jan. 1794, to Concord, N. H., and lived there near the Little Pond. He was a farmer.

In his will of 18 Jan. 1821, he gave his children one dollar each, and "my son Nathan Chandler all my real estate." And he said, "My son Hermon Phelps Chandler shall on and after the 1st of April next ensuing the date hereof, be free to act for himself."

His son Nathan Chandler, 4th, of Concord, was appointed administrator of his father's estate by the court, the widow declining the trust.

Mr. Nathan Chandler, 3d, died 27 June, 1837, in his 81st year.

The children of NATHAN and LUCY (Ballard) CHANDLER were :

2169. I. LUCY, b. at Andover, 3 Nov. 1785; m. 24 Jan. 1808, Capt. Job Abbot.
 2170. II. NATHAN, Jr., and the 4th, b. 1788; bapt. 30 March, 1788; d. unm., 17 Sept. 1860, at Ballardvale, Mass. A feeble man.
 2171. III. REBECCA, b. 17 July, 1790; bapt. 18 July, 1790; m. 14 June, 1821, Jeremiah Abbot.

He was b. 11 March, 1764; d. 21 June, 1823; son of Jonathan<sup>4</sup> Abbot by his wife Mary Chandler. [See 397.]

They lived on a farm in the West Parish, about five miles from the meeting-house in South Andover, where they attended church. Their pew was never vacant when the snowbanks would allow a horse to go through them. Mrs. A. rode on a pillion behind her husband. They and their neighbors built a “Nooning House,” or “Sabbath-Day House.” Some one would go early Sunday mornings and build a fire in it; and before going into the meeting-house they would warm themselves and fill their foot-stoves. At noon they would eat their bread and cheese and drink of their cider stored there. This Nooning House was for Sabbath-day use only.

Mr. and Mrs. Abbot were cousins; and her sister Rhoda m. his brother Benjamin. Mrs. A. joined the church in South Andover, 16 May, 1790, and was dismissed therefrom to the church in the West Parish, 28 Nov. 1826.

The children of PRISCILLA and DAVID ABBOT were :

She was born at Concord, 2 April, 1777; d. 20 Feb. 1849, a. 72, and was buried in the graveyard at the north end of Main Street, in Concord, where a single monument commemorates the death of her husband, and only son, and her daughter, Mrs. Abiel R. Crosby.

She was dau. of Reuben<sup>5</sup> Abbot, who was b. 5 Feb. 1754, d. 12 Dec. 1834, m. 24 Sept. 1776, Zerviah<sup>4</sup> Farnum (dau. of Joseph<sup>3</sup> Farnum by his wife Zerviah<sup>4</sup> Holt, of Concord, son of Ephraim<sup>2</sup> Farnum, son of Ralph<sup>1</sup> Farnum, who came from Wales and m. 1658, Elizabeth Holt, dau. of Nicholas, and settled at Andover, Mass.); gr.-dau. of Reuben<sup>4</sup> Abbot, b. 4 April, 1723, d. 13 May, 1822, in his 100th year; m. Rhoda Whittemore, and lived West of Long Pond, in Concord; gr.-gr.-dau. of James<sup>3</sup> Abbot, an original proprietor of Concord, by his wife Abigail Farnum, whom he m. 1714.

Mr. Henry Chandler lived at Little Pond, two miles northwest of the street, and died 3 April, 1856, in his 90th year.

It was the grandfather of Mrs. Ruth Chandler—Mr. Reuben<sup>4</sup> Abbot—who narrated, 29 Aug. 1817, in his 95th year, the following:

“I, with Abiel Chandler, was at work in the Fan, near Sugar Ball, making hay, on Monday morning, Aug. 11, 1716 (the time of the Indian massacre at Concord, N. H.), then in my twenty-fourth year. We heard three guns fired at Parson Walker’s Fort, which was the appointed signal of alarm at the approach or apprehension of the Indians. We ran and took the foot-path, and arrived at the spot where the bodies lay as soon as those who [soldiers from the garrison and others] went round on the main road. On the east side of the brook we found Samuel Bradley, stripped naked and scalped, and shot through the body. His brother Jonathan was not wounded by the Indians in their fire. He was lieutenant in Capt. Ladd’s company, and ordered his men to fight them immediately after the Indians had fired first. As but few of the Indians had fired the first time, Jonathan supposed he and his six men could manage them, and they fired at the few who had risen up from their ambush. Immediately the whole body of the Indians, about one hundred in number, rose up and fired. Jonathan Bradley seeing their number and receiving their fire, ordered his men to run and take care of themselves. The Indians then rushed upon them, killing Obadiah Peters, John Bean, John Lufkin, and Lieut. Jonathan Bradley, who refused quarters. Four Indians were killed, and were carried off on biers. The bodies of the five dead—mangled, bloody, and some of them naked—were laid side by side in a cart, and as all others refused to do so, Mr. Reuben Abbot drove the team down to Mr. James Osgood’s garrison, and there a great multitude of men, women and children collected to see the dreadful sight.”

Mr. Chandler united with the Baptist Church, North Springfield, Vt., 22 May, 1825. He received his literary education at Hamilton Literary and Theological Seminary before it was chartered as Madison University. He received the degree of A. M. from Columbia College, Washington, D. C., and in 1838 was graduated at Newton Theological Institution; he was ordained the day of his marriage, 5 Sept. 1838; was pastor of the first Baptist church in Indianapolis, Ind., for about three years; then, 1843, he became the first president of Franklin College for eight years, and by his efforts placed that institution upon a permanent basis. He edited and published the first religious paper in Indiana, and was prominently connected with the educational interests of that State during his presidency. He removed to Oregon in 1851, to take charge of a Baptist college in Oregon City; finding, however, that the country was too young to support such an institution, he devoted himself wholly to the ministry until the spring of 1858, when he removed to McMinnville, Yam Hill Co., Oregon, to assume the charge of a Baptist institution of learning, and the pastorate of a Baptist church at that place. His connection with this institution ceased in 1863. He was afflicted with paralysis many years, and died at Forest Grove, Oregon, 19 June, 1881.

" Sometime after, my father returned, and finding that she was married, left without seeing her ; and I do not know that any of his friends have heard of him since. My mother had but two children, myself and Hannah. Left as we were, I was obliged when quite young to hunt for myself—not living with mother, but among strangers, and in different places." " And I have seemed to be one on whom fortune never smiles. Some places where I lived when a small boy, they wanted to get all the work out of me they could, and not give me half enough to eat ; sometimes hardly enough to keep soul and body together. When about eighteen I went on a whaling voyage, and was gone four years. I left the vessel at a port in South America, with two others of the crew, because we thought the vessel was not sea-worthy. So we hid in the mountains till the vessel was gone. There we came very nigh starving to death. One time we caught a rat, and would have eaten it, but found it nothing but skin and

She was dau. of Zenas and Eleanor (Rumrill) Chapin, of Springfield, Mass., b. 17 Jan. 1794. She had two children, and died 11 June, 1815; was buried in Bridgeport.

He m. second, June, 1818, Ann E. McKelsey, dau. of Mr. McKelsey by his wife Polly Hilton, of Albany Co., N. Y. She had eleven children. He was a wagon-maker by trade, which he learned in Granville, Mass. He belonged to the order of Freemasons. Capt. Chandler wrote from Iowa, as follows:

BRIDGEPORT, Feb. 17, 1861.

* * * * I will give you the genealogy of my family and some of the statistics of my life, as well as my memory serves me. My children's ages I am not able to give you, as all my records and books were destroyed. I moved from Albany to Canada in 1819; lived there till the Patriot War of 1838. I was identified with the patriots, and was four years a state prisoner, and taken to England; from there to Van Dieman's Land, via the Cape of Good Hope, and returned by New Zealand and Cape Horn. I arrived home in July, 1842. Came to Iowa Oct. 1843, and settled at Bridgeport, where I now live. The reason of my not answering your first letter was, I had mills about seventy-five miles away, and when I came home I found a second letter here. I am sorry that I cannot give you the full statistics of the questions in your letter; but I cannot, as my memory is so bad that I cannot recollect, owing to my having two fits of apoplexy, and I don't know how soon I may have the third.

*Yours Truly
Sam. C. Chandler*

In the Canadian rebellion of 1837, Mr. Chandler performed the duties of commissary-general to the patriot forces. He often crossed the Niagara River at that time on affairs connected with the patriots, purchased provisions for them and acted as a spy in Canada. "He was taken prisoner at Short Hills, and in June, 1838, was condemned to be hanged; but by the earnest pleading of his daughter Sarah his punishment was commuted to banishment to Van Dieman's Land, from which place he made his escape before the proclamation of pardon was made to those who had been engaged in the same rebellion as he." He returned to his family in 1842. In this Patriot War he lost a large property.

Dr. Wilson, of Jackson, said "Samuel Chandler was the most faithful patriot that crossed the line."

He died 29 March, 1866, in his 75th year, of disease of the kidneys, having had thirteen children.

The children of Capt. SAMUEL CHANDLER were:

2623. I. HARRIET, b. at Norwich, Mass., 13 Nov. 1812; m. at Brimfield, Mass., 14 Dec. 1831, Anson Walker.

He was b. at Woodstock, Conn., 6 Sept. 1774; d. 16 Sept. 1857, aged 83, at New Nebraska City, Nebraska, a few days after arriving there, on a visit to his only son (a physician) settled there, and to an unmarried daughter who was there teaching. Dr. Silas Bowen was son of Dea. Henry<sup>1</sup> Bowen, of Eastford, Conn., by his wife Lydia Fowler.

“The Bowen family was Welsh in its origin. Its history extends backwards till it becomes tradition; but the name, like the race, had long ago become Anglicized to Bowen, from Ap Owen, or son of Owen.”

Dr. Silas read medicine, with Dr. Ballantyne, and settled in Reading in 1799. He then had attended no public school of medicine, but the University of Vermont honored him afterwards with the degree of M. D. When about fifty years old he went to the South Flats, Clarendon, Vt. He earned the endowments and honors of his profession, and never shrank from its burdens. “He was in the active practice of his profession until the day he started on his journey at the age of 83. His professional career was a success. But out of almost $100,000 honestly earned and charged on his books, probably less than one-tenth remains to pass the seal of the Probate Court.”

Mrs. Polly Bowen was “a lady of rare good qualities of mind and disposition—a faithful wife, a fond mother of eight children, a firm friend and a Christian woman. She inherited her father's qualities of mind, his intelligence, sweetness of temper, delicacy and refinement. She was confined to her bed the last twenty-five years of her life; but from the style of her conversation and forgetfulness of self, you would not have supposed her a bed-ridden invalid."

She d. April, 1853.

They lived in West Richfield, Summit Co., Ohio. In 1835 he went with his parents to Ohio. In early life he evinced an ardent love for music, which he inherited in a great degree from his mother who was passionately fond of the same. From such meagre instruction as he could get, he soon acquired quite a knowledge of the rudiments and theory of music. And all his spare time was devoted to the practice and study of his favorite art. The violoncello and violin were his constant companions, and he soon became an almost thorough master of the violoncello. The composition and arrangement of music also received a share of his attention; and his productions in those lines, though of a high order of merit, have never been published.

As a poet he has also achieved some notoriety. A poem lately written by him, entitled "Sounds in the March of Time," and published July 1, 1882, in No. 196 of the "Musical Record," of Boston, Mass., by O. Ditson & Co., was awarded the prize offered by that paper for the best original poem, over a large number of competitors.

SOUNDS IN THE MARCH OF TIME.

The following verses from the Boston Musical Record were written by a citizen of Ohio, and they took a prize which was competed for by a number of bards :

Within a valley lone I stand,
Where mountains rise on either hand,
Whose woods of evergreen surround
Their heads, which seem like monarchs crowned;
While far below, the sunlight shines
On ocean's face in glinting lines,
As when old friends together meet,
And joyfully each other greet.

The varied sounds borne to my ear
In long vibrations, pleased I hear;
They seem the throbbing, pulsing chime
Of the eternal March of Time;
And as I listen come the moans
Of nature's grand cathedral tones,
In melodies like those which rang
When "morning stars together sang."

The sounds of breeze, and bird, and bee,
Come mingled in the harmony,
With eagle's scream, and dove's low call,
And sound of distant waterfall;
And with a chorus clear and fine
The dwellers of the marsh combine
Their many voices, wild and free,
In joyous spring-time jubilee.

And evermore with steady roar,
As beat the surges on the shore,
Is heard the deep unceasing sound
Of ocean's mighty bars profound;
While echoing over land and sea
The thunder adds its minstrelsy,
And rolls its grandest song of praise,
Responsive to the lightning's blaze.

There blend with these, on land and sea,
The sounds of human industry,
That speak with highest eloquence,
Of man and his intelligence.
As it has been, so it must be,
From century to century;
With strength and majesty sublime,
Moves on the endless March of Time.

J. A. CHANDLER.

West Richfield, Ohio.

For sixteen years, from 1845 to 1862, he taught school with the utmost success until failing health compelled him to abandon that work. In 1864 he built the residence where he now, 1882, lives at the village of West Richfield. In 1863 he went to Alliance, Stark Co., O., where he engaged in the book and stationery business with Mr. David G. Hester, under the firm of Chandler & Hester, until Feb. 1865, when he disposed of his interest in his business to Mr. Hester and returned to Richfield. In 1868 he engaged in the general grocery and provision business at West Richfield, and in partnership with Mr. C. M. Phillips, under the firm of Chandler & Phillips, until Oct. 4, 1874, when failing health again compelled him to retire from active labor. He then visited his New England home for the first time since 1835, for a short time.

“In religion his firm belief is in the immortality of the soul, but the Golden Rule is his only text. In politics he is a staunch, firm and lifelong republican.”

He was elected town clerk in 1859, which office he held for five consecutive years. In 1868 he was elected justice of the peace, which office he has held continuously until the present, 1882.

In 1863 the family was stricken with a malignant disease and the then three youngest succumbed to its fatal effects.

The children of JOEL A. and MARTHA M. (Buck) CHANDLER were :

2737. I. FRANCIS MARION, b. 3 May, 1851. He was appointed 1 May, 1876, Deputy Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas, Cleveland, Ohio. Married 2 Feb. 1876, in Richfield, O., Ettie May Barney, b. 8 May, 1857, dau. of Thomas J. and Eunice M. Barney.

She was b. 18 April, 1813, dau. of William Furber, of Somersworth, Rochester, N. H., by his wife Alice Coleman Furber, of Northwood, who was dau. of Gen. Richard Furber by his wife Alice Coleman; gr.-dau. of Levi Furber, of Newington, by his wife Miss — Pickering. Mrs. E. D. Chandler died 2 March, 1873.

Capt. Isaac Chandler was born in Windsor, Conn., Sept. 22, 1811. He remained in his native town until the age of sixteen years, when he procured employment in a factory at Ludlow, Mass., to cover rollers and as a mule-piecer. He remained there three years. In 1830 he went to Great Falls, N. H., and engaged in covering rollers for the Great Falls Manufacturing Company at 22 cents per day, and at the end of the year had saved from this pittance $49.76. He then commenced working in a mule-room for a slightly increased compensation.

Hand mule-spinning required skilled labor, and as the manufacture of cotton was comparatively in its infancy in this country, all of the spinners were brought from England, who monopolized the trade. Their time was about equally divided between spinning and beer drinking, and but a small product was obtained for their labor.

Mr. Chandler's perseverance and natural ingenuity soon made him master of the machine, and he commenced spinning, working for his own and his employers' interests, he soon showed them the increased product of a mule run by a young and energetic American. Everything was done to diminish his product and his mules were frequently disordered during his absence, but he had no affiliation with their combination or their habits. Soon other young men were apprenticed to the business and in a short time no foreigners were employed as spinners. In 1835 he took charge of the belt and roller shop for the corporation, which position he still retains.

The systematic and rigid economy which enabled young Chandler to save so large percentage of his first earnings was characteristic of his whole life, which with good judgment in making his first investment laid the foundation for his great financial success. When twenty-two years of age, before there were any railroads leading to the west and long before Horace Greeley emphasized the words, "Go West, young man," he discerned that the Star of Empire was tending towards the setting sun, and that soon the track of the buffalo and the trail of the red man would be buried by the ploughshare, and the out-post of civilization would be constantly moving towards the Pacific slope, which would enhance the value of the then almost worthless lands.

He collected his available funds, concealed them in a leathern girdle, and by stage-coach and canal-boat, on foot and on horseback went to what was then the far west and invested his funds in wild lands, and the subsequent returns from this investment attest the correctness of his youthful foresight and good judgment.

Mr. Chandler has held many places of honor and trust in the town; has been identified with all its leading interests. He held a captain's commission for four years in the New Hampshire State Militia; is a director of the Great Falls National Bank; Vice-President, and is now, 1882, President of the Somersworth Savings Bank; has been director of the Great Falls & Conway R. R.; was one of the founders of the Manufacturers' and Village Library; represented the town in the Legislature of 1851; and has been a member of the School Committee for a period of thirty years.

When first elected a member of the School Committee there were no graded schools in this vicinity. He visited schools in Boston, Lowell and other cities in Massachusetts, entered into correspondence with prominent teachers and educators respecting the advanced modes of teaching. He visited the schools almost daily, and in addressing schools used no bewildering preliminaries, but spoke directly to the point and was never misunderstood. He wasted no words in apologies for telling teachers their faults. Glittering and elaborate advertisements of text-books had no influence on his selections, nor could gratuities from persistent agents corrupt him. They must be tested by his standard. He called to his assistance the best available talent and they were thoroughly examined, and after weeks and sometimes months of patient labor his selections were made. A few years since Mr. Chandler asked to be relieved from serving on the committee longer, but at the last annual meeting of the district the expression was so unanimous that he should again serve them, although he has passed three-score and ten years, he has again buckled on his old armor which has never become rusty* from inactivity.

Owing to the small amount of schooling in the town where he spent his childhood his education was necessarily limited, but his constant study of the text-books and his frequent visits to recitation rooms, and the watchful interest he took in the advancement of the various classes, although his name does not appear on the school register as a pupil, it can be truly said that he was educated in our schools. He is social and domestic in his habits, is a lover of music and amusements, indulgent in his family, and liberal in his expenditure for their comfort and happiness. He is constitutionally honest and temperate in all things. His doors are wide open to his friends and they are welcome to his pleasant fireside to enjoy his generous hospitality without restraint. Mr. Chandler is a benevolent man — by this the writer does not mean that he has become a life-member of all or any of the so-called charitable societies; he chooses to be the almoner of his own charities and the worthy poor are never turned empty away — needed supplies have been found at more than one poor neighbor's door and frequent donations that have come to them by no visible hand have generally been marked to the credit of some good angel. Some young men starting out in the battle of life, struggling for fame or fortune, will testify that they have found him a true friend in time of need.

Politically Mr. Chandler is a republican — was formerly a whig. He attends the Congregational church. His likeness adorns these pages.

Married second, 25 Sept. 1876, Charlotte M. Cochrane, b. 26 July, 1837, dau. of Levi Cochrane, by his wife Alice Coleman Cochrane, of Fayette, Me.

The children of Capt. ISAAC and ELIZABETH D. (Furber) CHANDLER were :

2758. I. MARY ELIZA, b. at Great Falls, N. H., 22 Feb. 1839; d. 4 Feb. 1855.
2759. II. CHARLES FURBER, b. 15 Jan. 1841. In commission business at Chicago, and afterwards in St. Louis, Mo.; enlisted in U. S. service, but was rejected for short-sightedness. Commission merchant at St. Louis, Mo.
2760. III. ARABELLA, b. 22 Nov. 1843; m. June, 1869, Emory James Randall.
2761. IV. ALBERT FERDINAND, b. 7 Dec. 1845; clerk in Chicago; learned watch-maker's trade of George W. Hazen, in Boston; settled in Great Falls, and had a store No. 4 Central Exchange Building, on Main Street, Somersworth, N. H. Afterwards mining at Leadville, Col.

He had charge of the light-house on Burnt Island, Boothbay, fourteen years, from 1825 to 1839, and then settled down as farmer in Exeter, Me., near the line of Corinth. He died at Exeter. While on his dying bed, he had a table set out, and wine, decanters and glasses put on it in order, and then had all his children's children gather around, and he drank with them a glass of wine—thinking that that ceremony, or act, would make a lasting impression of himself on their minds.

GEN. JOSEPH<sup>7</sup> CHANDLER (Joseph,<sup>6</sup> Joseph,<sup>5</sup> Joseph,<sup>4</sup> Joseph,<sup>3</sup> Thomas,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and Mchitable Andrews, Augusta, Maine.

She was b. at Turner, Me., 22 Sept. 1788; d. 10 March, 1865; dau. of Mark Andrews by wife Ruth Parris.

At the the age of five years his father was drowned in a mill-pond, and he went to live with his uncle, Gen. John Chandler, in Monmouth. At the age of eighteen, when he got a pair of new shoes, he left for New York city, but returned to Monmouth and commenced mercantile business. Appointed captain in the U. S. Army in 1808, in the embargo times, and was in command one year or so at Fort Preble, and then resigned his commission, in 1809, left Portland, and went into trade at Monmouth.

He was appointed clerk of the courts, and removed to Augusta; but, after a year, a change in politics put another in the clerkship, and he commenced the dry goods trade in Augusta, under the firm of Chandler and Nason. He died suddenly at Walker's hotel, in New York city, 11 Sept. 1846, of "hemorrhage of the lungs," as a jury of inquest rendered their verdict.

When young, he was studious. On the 4th of July, 1804, and '06, he delivered orations at the centre meeting-house in Monmouth. These orations were published.

He was a man of marked ability. An oil portrait of him, at the house of his son, Marcellus Chandler, Esq., at Augusta, represents him as a man of dark complexion, dark hazel eyes, heavy eyebrows, full forehead, very prominent Roman nose—all giving the expression of a decided and energetic man.

The children of Gen. JOSEPH and MCHITABLE (Andrews) CHANDLER were:

She was dau. of William and Elizabeth Pike, of Calais; died Nov. 21, 1847, aged 44, and was buried in Calais.

He m. second, Annie Eliza Bradbury, dau. of Jeremiah Bradbury, of Calais. She was sister of Hon. Bion.

He was a graduate of Brown University, 1814, and his part was "an oration on antiquity." He received, in 1852, for governor of Maine, 21,774 votes. He kept school in Wayne, Me.

The "Portland Argus," of May 21, 1863, says:

"It will be observed by the obituary column that Hon. Anson G. Chandler, of Calais, departed this life at Bethlehem, Pa., on the tenth inst. Judge Chandler was well known in this State, and none knew him but to respect him. He was a gentleman of singular purity of character and kindness of heart; an able jurist as well. As Justice of the District Court for the Eastern District from 1840 to 1845, he gave universal acceptance to the bar and the people. He was indeed an upright Judge; and a prominent legal gentleman of that section of the State, politically opposed to him, used to say that fewer of his decisions were overruled than any other of our District Judges. In 1852 Judge Chandler was an irregular candidate for governor in opposition to Gov. Hubbard, a position which it always seemed strange to us that he allowed himself to occupy. In 1856 or '57, he was appointed U. S. Consul at Lahaina, Sandwich Islands, to succeed Hon. Geo. M. Chase, of this State, who died while holding the office; and he continued in that position until the incoming of the present administration, when he was removed.

"Mr. Chandler always took an active interest in railroad and other public enterprises in our State, although delicate health for a long series of years prevented arduous labor. The past winter his health was very delicate, and a few weeks since his physician, at Philadelphia, where he had been sojourning, advised him to seek the country for more quiet and purer air. He did so, but his failing strength soon gave out, and he now rests with the pure in heart. Mrs. Chandler accompanied the remains of her late husband to the State, and took passage for Calais in the steamer."

Capt. Chandler resided in Cambridgeport, Medford, Mass., and Thompson, Conn., for about two years, and afterwards at the "Mulliken Place," High Street, Newburyport. His widow went to live with her brother, in Chelsea, Mass.

Capt. C. attended the Dunmer Academy, and while there was what is now called "a fast young man." In person he was tall, genteel, and of good address. He had a strong will and a determined purpose; a man of few words and fearless. He was a sea-captain, and the sailors under him thought him severe. He was daring and headstrong; and while at the West Indies, because he did not bring his vessel to when hailed, he was shot in his head. From this circumstance the story arose that Capt. Chandler had a piece of silver put in by the surgeon to cover his brain, and that he wore it ever afterwards.

He sailed in 1823 in the brig "Pearl" to the North-West Coast for Bryant & Sturgis, and on his return brought home as passengers Mr. Daniel Chamberlain, wife and six children, the early missionaries who went to the Sandwich Islands in 1819.

It was said of Capt. Chandler, that, to subdue a mutiny on his own ship, he was obliged to shoot one of his crew. He went to sea about 1828, in his own vessel, and was lost.

Samuel Newman administered on the estate of Samuel Chandler, and paid over to his heirs $2,608.84, on 1 March, 1831.

She was b. 10 June, 1809, dau. of Alexander Bowman, of Barnard, Vt., by his wife Sarah, dau. of John Anthony, of Newport, R. I., by his wife Miss Hopkins, youngest daughter of Rev. Dr. Samuel Hopkins. John Anthony was land-agent for Messrs. Chaplin and Ellery, and received of them the grant of the township of Shelburne, Vt., and removed his family there.

Mrs. Mary A. Chandler was gr.-dau. of Rev. Joseph Bowman, gr. H. U.; ordained in Old South Church in Boston, as missionary to the tribe of Indians called "The Six Nations." He was stationed at Onohoquago, near the Susquehanna River, where he labored zealously for nine years. He returned to New England and married Lavinia Baker; and, as he was about to return to his mission, news came of a rupture with the Indians, and the mission was abandoned about 1764. Rev. Mr. Bowman then settled in Oxford, Mass., and had a family of children there. He afterwards settled, Sept. 1784, in Barnard, Vt., the first Congregational clergyman of that town.

Mr. D. Chandler was a tanner and currier by trade. But after the death of his brother John, he went back to the homestead in Pomfret, Vt., where he died, 27 May, 1869, in his 71st year. "A just and good man."

 fight, July, 1863, in Co. E, 1st Reg't of Vermont Cavalry; orderly bugler, Jan. 1865, "and the clarion blasts of his bugle inspired Phil. Sheridan's brave boys in their circuit round Richmond." He was less than eighteen years old at the time of his first enlistment.
 "With two sons in active service we would gladly have kept our Benjamin at home, but his spirit could not rest without a personal share in the nation's rescue. Some of his words to us were: 'Once you wanted your son to help in the overthrow of slavery; now I want to go, and you are unwilling. Mother, it will make a man of me.' He went and performed a manly service for his country. He returned, re-enlisted, and was with Sheridan in all that last ride through the Shenandoah Valley."
 So writes his mother. Was a farmer in Kansas — near Humboldt — in Allen county. Died 26 Dec. 1880, of

JOHN<sup>7</sup> CHANDLER (Josiah,<sup>6</sup> Josiah,<sup>5</sup> Philemon,<sup>4</sup> Philemon,<sup>3</sup> William,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and Mabel Wasson, Chandler's Valley, Sugar Grove, Warren Co., Pa.

She was b. 5 Nov. 1791; daughter of John and Amy (Turner, of Middletown, Conn.) Wasson. Her father was born in Ireland, and was a farmer in Chandler's Valley.

She d. 1878, in Michigan.

John Chandler left Pomfret just after he was four years old, and went with his parents to a place then called Aquaga, on the Susquehanna River, now Windsor, Broome Co., N. Y. He married there, and moved in 1810 to Conewango township, now Sugar Grove, Warren Co., Pa., where he took up two hundred acres in Chandler's Valley. He helped his father clear the soil of its forests on the Susquehanna, and then with courage, faith and a sturdy arm cut down the mighty trees, burned them, and made himself a farm in the valley which was rightly called after his name. He obtained a living from his mother earth; but in the years of frost and consequent scarcity of 1816 and '17, he and his neighbors felt some of the pinching cravings of hunger. He sold his valley farm in his old age, and moved into a house of his son John W. Chandler, on the hill.

They have an intervalle farm of two hundred acres on the Coos road leading from Castine, Me., to Coos Co., N. H. His house was consumed by fire in 1860, but was rebuilt. He is successful in his farming; was commissioned justice of the peace, and held that office seven years. Aug. 17, 1835, he received a patent from the U. S. government on a machine for mowing grass. He thinks this patent the first ever granted for a mowing machine. All the machines now in use are using the power by which Mr. Chandler's machine was run. Like many other inventors, he was too poor to put his machine in the market. In 1833 he obtained a patent for a "gang" plow suspended on wheels. This patent he sold. In 1870 he obtained a patent for a "malleable iron carriage hub." This hub is considered by competent judges to be the most perfect one now in use.

MAJ. CLARK<sup>7</sup> CHANDLER (John,<sup>6</sup> John,<sup>5</sup> John,<sup>4</sup> John,<sup>3</sup> John,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and Nancy Lyon, Coleraine, Mass.

She was b. 17 Aug. 1775 ; d. 5 June, 1832 ; was dau. of David Lyon, of Coleraine, who had moved from Roxbury, Mass., with his wife Abigail Draper, to whom he was married “Feb. ye 9th, 1764,” by the Rev. Nehemiah Walter, pastor of the church in Roxbury. She was only sixteen or seventeen years old when married. Her mother, it is said, had an eye upon the fair young merchant who had come to live in her family, and who had his store in a part of their house, for a son-in-law ; and was forward in the arrangement between the young folks. Her husband, while town clerk, recorded the births of twenty children born to him. While a neighbor was counting up the number from the record, Mrs. C., who stood by, asked him how many he made out. He replied, “twenty.” “Yes,” said she, “and you may carry three.” “She never nursed her children, for the reason that she could not.” In her last days she was a remarkably fresh-looking woman.

In the old graveyard, close by the site of the old meeting-house — once the centre of the town — on the sharp ridge of the mountain, and near where Maj. Clark Chandler traded, is inscribed on a white marble slab, two by five feet :

This Marble is raised to the Memory of
MRS. NANCY CHANDLER,
The ever virtuous and much esteemed companion of Clark Chandler, Esq., who died Tuesday morning,
June 5, 1832, aged 57.

An affectionate and tender parent much and deservedly lamented by a bereaved family and a numerous circle of relatives and friends. Long a member of the christian church, she has left the consolation of having died in perfect charity with those from whom she is for a time separated, and in full hopes and assurance of being hereafter reunited to eternal joys in God our Redeemer.

Forgive, dear friends, forgive the generous tear
That mourns my exit from a world like this;
Forgive the wish that would have held me here,
And stay'd my progress from the realms of bliss.

Clark Chandler went to Coleraine and managed that branch of the extensive mercantile house of "John Chandler & Brothers," located there. His store was where Aaron Lyon afterwards lived, about one mile from the present "city," on the ridge of the mountain called "Chandler Hill," and which the brothers advertised for sale, 21 March, 1798, "as the celebrated stand for business in Coleraine which they had occupied for seven years."

Mr. C. was six feet high, full and corpulent; had a fair clear skin, full dark eye and florid complexion. "The handsomest man and the handsomest military officer I ever saw," said a neighbor. Was town clerk from 1792 to 1817. In his latter days was alternately exalted and depressed in his feelings.

Maj. Clark Chandler died 27 Feb. 1824, in his 54th year. The births of their twenty children were recorded by his own hand as town clerk of Coleraine, and were as follows :

She was b. in Stafford, Conn., 25 Feb. 1783; d. 30 July, 1869. She was the tenth child of John Greene (son of Nathaniel Greene), b. in Surinam, S. A., 10 Dec. 1736, by his wife Azubah Ward, b. in Woodstock, Conn., 11 Nov. 1737, dau. of Maj. Daniel Ward by his wife Mary, dau. of Nathaniel Stone and widow of Henry Coggin. Major Daniel Ward was son of Obadiah Ward and Hannah Harrington, grandson of Richard Ward and Mary, dau. of John and Elizabeth Moore, and gr.-grandson of William Ward, of Sudbury, Mass., the emigrant, 1639. She was a perfect lady.

Nathaniel Chandler was graduated at H. C. 1792; he resided in Petersham, Mass., which town he represented in the legislature, 1807, and conducted that branch of the mercantile house of "John Chandler & Brothers," located there. He afterwards removed to Lancaster to assume the estate of his uncle-in-law, Samuel Ward, Esq., of that place. [See 713.] From a singular state of his feelings, it became proper for him to reside in his last days in the State Lunatic Hospital at Worcester, under the care of Dr. S. B. Woodward, and afterwards under that of the writer of this work, Dr. George Chandler, and where he chose to remain until the close of his life, on the 4th of June, 1852, at the age of 78.

In person Mr. Chandler was of the medium height and size, his complexion was light, his features regular but marked. He retained his intelligence, shrewdness, wit and dry humor, his dignity of person and character, his marked civility and gentlemanly bearing until the last. His will, a model for others, is as follows:

Imprimis. I give and bequeath to each of my children living at my death one dollar. I give them no more, believing that the best provision that I can make for them as well as for my wife, is to give her the possession and control of my whole property.

Secondly. I give and bequeath all my property, real and personal (excepting the preceding bequests to my children), to my wife Dolly Greene Chandler and to her heirs in fee simple.

Thirdly. I make and appoint my said wife sole executrix of this my will. * * *

The children of NATHANIEL and DOLLY (Greene) CHANDLER were:

- 3137. I. SAMUEL WARD, b. 12 July, 1803; m. 18 Nov. 1830, Eliza Fales Richmond.
- 3138. II. CATHERINE AMORY, b. 18 April, 1805; m. 7 May, 1823, Theophilus Parsons, Esq.
- 3139. III. CHARLES, b. 7 Sept. 1807; m. 25 March, 1834, Sarah Whitney.
- 3140. IV. JOHN GREENE, b. 18 Dec. 1815; m. 5 June, 1850, Sarah Ann Guild.
- 3141. V. MARY GREENE, b. 22 May, 1818; m. 25 Feb. 1862, Dr. John Ware, of Boston, who was b. in Hingham, 19 Dec. 1795, d. 29 April, 1864. He was son of Rev. Henry Ware Hollis Professor at Harvard College, by his wife Mary,<sup>6</sup> dau. of Rev. Jonas<sup>5</sup> Clark, of Lexington, who married, 1757, Lucy, dau. of Rev. Nicholas and Lucy (Hancock) Bowes; gr.-dau. of Capt. Thomas<sup>4</sup> Clark, of Hopkinton, who m. 1728, Mary, dau. of Isaac Bowen, of Newton; great-grand-dau. of John<sup>3</sup> (and Ann [Pierce] Clark, of Newton) son of John<sup>2</sup> Clark, son of Hugh Clark, of Watertown. Rev. Henry Ware, Hollis Professor, was son of John Ware, of Sherborn, by his wife Martha Prentiss. Dr. John Ware was graduated at Harvard College in 1813; took the degree of M. D. in 1816; was Professor of Theory and Practice of Medicine at the same college from 1832 to 1858; President of the Boston Medical Association, and had for many years a very extensive and lucrative practice of his profession in Boston. His death was noticed by the profession and by several societies of which he had been a member. He had previously married Helen Lincoln, by whom he had four children. Mrs. Mary G. Ware is literary in her tastes and habits, and resides on the homestead in Lancaster, Mass.

He was b. in Milton, Mass., 22 Feb. 1768; d. 11 Aug. 1809. He was son of Col. Joseph Vose, of Milton, by his wife Miss How. He was graduated at H. C. 1787; studied law in the office of Levi Lincoln, Sen., of Worcester; settled in his profession in Northfield, Mass., but in 1805 removed to Augusta, where he was successful in his business. His arguments to the court and jury "were plain, perspicuous, brief and direct." But his career was brief in Augusta, as when passing up Jail Hill on his way to dinner, apparently in perfect health, he fell and expired immediately, at the age of 41. His loss to the town was great, for he was making himself useful; and to his widow and four little boys, irreparable. He was buried from the meeting-house with masonic honors.

Mrs. Vose was brought up in the family of her grandfather, Hon. James Putnam, in Annapolis, Nova Scotia, and became a remarkable woman in after life, for she brought up her four boys in good habits and gave them a good education. She retained her faculties at the age of ninety, and had never used spectacles, for her eyesight was good. She d. 23 July, 1862, aged 91 years, 1 m. 22 days.

The children of ELIZABETH P. and SOLOMON VOSE were :

- i. RUFUS CHANDLER VOSE, b. in Northfield, Mass., 24 June, 1798; d. 14 Aug. 1842, in Augusta. He was engaged in mercantile pursuits in Augusta; selectman in 1837-8; adjutant general of the State under Gov. Kent in 1838. He was tall, straight and of fine figure and martial bearing. He m. 6 June, 1828, Mary Bridge, who d. 27 June, 1852, dau. of Hon. James Bridge by his wife Hannah, dau. of Hon. Joseph and Hannah (Flegg) North, and grand-dau. of Sheriff Edmund Bridge, of Dresden, Me. [See North's History of Augusta.] Six children.

- ii. GEORGE HOW VOSE, b. in Northfield, 25 Oct. 1801; d. 15 Nov. 1820, at Augusta; member of College.
- iii. RICHARD HAMILTON VOSE, b. 8 Nov. 1803; d. 19 Jan. 1864, in Augusta; m. 31 May, 1831, Harriet Chandler. [See 1625.]
- iv. EDWARD JOSEPH VOSE, b. in Augusta, 18 July, 1806; d. 25 May 1831; in Worcester, Mass., aged 24. He was graduated at Bowdoin College, 1825; read law in the office of Davis (Hon. John) and Allen (Hon. Charles) at Worcester; opened an office in Worcester; m. 4 Sept. 1828, Frances Sophia Burling.

Two children:

- i. Edward Joseph Vose; m. Mary Jane Lanman.
- ii. Frances S. D. Vose; m. Dr. William Burge.

He died 3 April, 1807, aged 44—"multis ille bonis flebitis occidit"—in Brattleboro'.

He was a practitioner of his profession nearly three years from 1788 in Worcester, Mass., and then removed to Brattleboro', where he practised medicine in connection with the apothecary business. In his will of 26 March, 1807, he speaks of his wife Sarah and "my charming children."

He lost his store by his clerk's holding a lamp near an open cask of alcohol which depressed him so that he died in consequence ten years after.

She m. second, Richardson Bigelow.

"We, Selectmen of Guilford, do find that he, the said [Richardson] Bigelow, is visited with mental derangement and debility; and that, in our opinion, he is incapable of taking care of his person and his estate. 27 Nov. 1811."

Mrs. Sarah Bigelow died 3 July, 1809, aged 35 years, in Brattleboro', Vt. "She was a very graceful, fascinating woman, and was called 'the flower of the Valley of the Connecticut.'"

The children of SARAH and Dr. GEORGE H. HALL were:

He was b. in Northfield, Mass., 8 Nov. 1803; d. 19 Jan. 1864, son of Solomon Vose, Esq., and Elizabeth P. Chandler. [See 1615.] He was graduated at Bowdoin Coll. 1822; read law in the office of Levi Lincoln and John Davis; practised law in Worcester one year in company with Pliny Merriek, but in 1828 removed to Augusta, where he soon became a prominent member of the bar of Kennebec, a position which he retained for thirty-five years, until his death in 1864. He represented Augusta in the legislature in 1834-35, and 1838-39; Senator for Kennebec Co. in 1840-41, and president of the Senate the latter year; acting Governor from January 12 to 13, 1841; county attorney from 1848 for eight years. Mr. Vose was of ardent temperament, and warm in his attachments, a diligent student, and kept fresh his acquaintance with the classics by daily reading. As an advocate he was most successful. His voice was strong, yet musical; his enunciation rapid and nervous; his diction clear and simple, yet at times rich and swelling with pathos. He not only argued his cases, but acted them. A learned judge of a court in which Mr. Vose practised, remarked that "he put himself in the case and carried the jury with him."

Mrs. Harriet Vose died 27 June, 1862, aged 51.

The children of HARRIET and RICHARD H. VOSE were :

- i. GEORGE LEONARD VOSE, b. in Augusta, 19 April, 18—; civil engineer. He published a book on Railroad Engineering, and a work on Orographic Geology, or the origin and structure of mountains. REV. GEORGE<sup>7</sup> CHANDLER (John,<sup>6</sup> Joshua,<sup>5</sup> Joshua,<sup>4</sup> John,<sup>3</sup> John,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and Catherine<sup>3</sup> Rice, Philadelphia.

She was b. 16 Dec. 1800, dau. of John and Elizabeth<sup>2</sup> (Hill) Rice, of Kensington, and gr.-dau. of Mr. George<sup>1</sup> Rice, of Kensington.

The "Independent" of Feb. 23, 1860, says:

"Died in Philadelphia, Feb. 15th, 'the Rev. George Chandler, pastor of the first Presbyterian church, Kensington, in the 71st year of his age and the 46th year of his pastorate. He belonged to the class of 1814, in Yale College, but did not take his degree. For nearly half a century this devoted servant of God has labored patiently and hopefully in his sacred calling; and by the purity of his life, excellent teaching and example, has accomplished great results for good with the people of that district. At the dedication of the new church edifice, recently erected by the people of his charge, Mr. Chandler, in his sermon, stated that during his ministry in that neighborhood, since 1814, he had performed funeral services at the burial of over five thousand persons, and united in marriage over three thousand six hundred couples. His labor is now over and his work well done."

In front of Mr. Chandler's church stands a marble monument, perhaps sixteen feet high, on the front face of which is chiselled in bass-relief, his likeness, and below is inscribed:

"Erected to the memory of
REV. GEORGE CHANDLER
By his friends.
He was the Representative of Christianity in its Purity."

On the other three sides are the following inscriptions ;

“ Pastor of the first Presbyterian Congregation in Kensington for 45 years.”	“ His last charge was, Be faithful to Jesus.” “ Born January 24, 1790, Died February 15, 1860.”
---	---

His remains were interred at Laurel Hill, in his family lot, No. 32, Section C, which is on the path leading to the right from the monument of Walter Scott's Old Mortality, about half way to the chapel.

HON. EDWARD<sup>7</sup> B. CHANDLER (George H.,<sup>5</sup> Joshua,<sup>5</sup> Joshua,<sup>4</sup> John,<sup>3</sup> John,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and Phebe W. Millidge, Dorchester, N. B.

She was b. 25 June, 1802, dau. of Stephen Millidge by his wife Sarah Botsford, dau. of Amos Botsford by his wife Sarah<sup>6</sup> Chandler. They were cousins. [See 735.]

Joseph S. Moore, Esq., who with Edward B. Chandler, Jr., succeeded him in his law business at Dorchester, very kindly communicated the following just account of Hon. E. B. Chandler:

“The Hon. Edward Barron Chandler, of Rocklyn, Dorchester Co., Westmoreland, N. B., second son of Charles H. Chandler, formerly high sheriff of Cumberland, Nova Scotia, was born at Amherst, in that Province, 24 Aug. 1800. He studied law in the office of his cousin, the late Hon. Judge William Botsford, and was called to the bar of the Supreme Court of N. B., 14 Oct. 1821. On the elevation of Mr. Botsford to the bench of the Supreme Court in 1823, Mr. Chandler was appointed Judge of Probate and Clerk of the Peace, of the County of Westmoreland, the former of which offices he still holds. In 1827 he entered the legislature as a member for Westmoreland, and continued to represent the county till 1836, when he was appointed by the Crown a member of the upper branch or legislative council for life. In 1844 he was appointed a member of the Executive Government, of which he soon became one of the most prominent and influential members. In 1833 Mr. Chandler and the late Hon. Charles Simonds, of St. John, were sent to England as a Joint delegation in reference to the crown lands and revenues of the Province, and in 1852 he represented New Brunswick in the joint delegation to England, composed of Hon. Francis Hineks for Canada, and Hon. Joseph Howe for Nova Scotia, on the subject of the International Railways.

In 1856 the conservative government, of which Mr. Chandler was then the leader, resigned, and their successors have since held office.

“Mr. Chandler continued his practice at the bar till 1855, and was throughout his professional career regarded as one of its most able and honorable members. His practice was very large, varied and lucrative, and he retired from professional life with a large fortune and is still considered one of the wealthiest and most influential men in the lower Provinces. He has always been held in high esteem for his abilities by the colonial office, and the successive Governors of the Province since he entered political life, while his highly moral character and amiable manners have won him the respect and esteem of all who have met or associated with him in private life.

“It is well known to the bar that Mr. Chandler has on several occasions declined promotion to the bench, his active habits and large professional practice rendering the elevation undesirable to him.”

“Edward B. Chandler,” says C. W. U., “is truly a jewel, and his home a scene of all that is desirable to a traveller, particularly a relative. I have long regarded him as one of the best of men—truly lovely and delightful.” He was commissioner of the International Railway in 1871. No man was more generally known or more generally respected.

Hon. E. B. Chandler d. 6 Feb. 1880, in his 80th year. He was appointed 1878 to succeed Hon. Mr. Tilley as lieutenant-governor of New Brunswick. He was a member of the commission for the union of the Provinces, July, 1871. On its way to its last resting-place in Dorchester, the body laid in state at the Court-house in St. John over night and was viewed by a large number of citizens.

The children of Hon. E. BARRON and PRUEBE W. (Millidge) CHANDLER were :

She was b. 11 Feb. 1811 ; d. 30 May, 1868. She was dau. of Dr. Rufus Smith, of Westmoreland, N. B., by his wife Elizabeth.

“ Died at his residence in Richibucto, on Friday the 19th inst., 1856, after a short illness, in the 51st year of his age, William B. Chandler, Esq., barrister-at-law and Surrogate Judge for the County of Kent. Mr. Chandler was one of the first lawyers that settled in this country, and who, for over a quarter of a century, has been a most honorable and successful practitioner. As a counsel he was honest, candid and confidential. As a public man, in his varied transactions with the public, was courteous and gentlemanly to all ; as a neighbor, kind and obliging ; as a friend, sincere and to be relied on ; and as a parent, indulgent, prudent and affectionate. He has left a wife and nine children to weep over the grave of a beloved husband and kind father.”

He left behind him a reputation unreproachable in every respect, one unsullied by an act of dishonesty, professionally or privately, untarnished by a single act of tyranny and one certainly worthy of the closest imitation.

She died 28 Dec. 1840, aged 29 years, 11 mos., and was buried at Chandlerville. She was dau. of Peter Rickard by his wife Mary, of Thompson, Conn. She left five children.

Dr. Chandler m. second, Clarissa Child, dau. of Rensselaer and Priscilla Child, of Woodstock, Conn., and gr.-dau. of Asa and Elizabeth Child, b. 26 Sept. 1810; she d. 11 March, 1873.

With many sacrifices on the part of his parents, and with indomitable energy on his own, he prepared himself for and was graduated with the degree of M. D., at the Castleton (Vt.) Medical School. In 1829 he located in Seitate, R. I., and there "built up a promising professional business." But becoming impressed with the growing importance of the great West, he started for Fort Clark, now Peoria, Ill., in the spring of 1832. When they arrived at Beardstown, Ill., they found the "Black Hawk" war raging so fearfully that he did not like to take his wife and daughter so far into the Indian frontier, and they stopped there, waiting the result of the war. He explored that vicinity, and was so much pleased with the beauty and amazing richness of the valley of the Sangamon, that he invested two hundred dollars in one hundred and sixty acres of land where now is located the village of Chandlerville, under the "Bluff," in the western part of Cass Co., twenty-five miles north of Jacksonville. "Taking advantage of the rich soil, and the charming location on which to rear a town, Dr. Chandler, in 1848, laid out this garden spot—Mr. Lincoln, afterwards the martyr President, and others, officiating as surveyors. The doctor has lived to see it prosper, as he himself and his family are prospering. Chandlerville has [1870] nearly one thousand inhabitants, intelligent and active. It is built upon high table land, with a gradual slope west. It is both high and dry." From the bluff on the east of the village "you have an unbroken view for miles of the rich corn and wheat-growing lands of the Sangamon river-bottom—a tract of land for productiveness unexcelled in the entire western States."

Dr. Chandler's professional services were soon called into requisition. The new settlers there, as everywhere, were illy provided with the comforts of life, and malarial epidemics annually swept over this fair region. "Dr. Chandler was among the first who practically understood the character of these miasmatic diseases, and who, abandoning the lancet, introduced quinine as a remedial agent." His success was so marked, the recovery of his patients so rapid, that it seemed like magic to people accustomed to a different state of things. For twenty years he was a most active physician; almost constantly in the saddle or sulky night and day, he did all that any man could do to minister to the wants of a sick people scattered over a territory which in 1870 is divided into eight counties. During the epidemic seasons of July, August and September, he rode on an average of sixty miles a day. But he was stopped in this career of ministering to the wants of others—forgetting that physical laws assert themselves always. While visiting the sick he was injured in the chest, which prostrated him for months. But his long rides could not be endured again, though he regained health sufficient to consult professionally with his brethren in the village. He now employed his mind in mercantile business, and in attending to the moral, intellectual and physical wants of his created village. He was active in building a railway communication through the village, and in erecting school-houses and churches.

The authority for much of the foregoing, himself a physician, "believes that no life can be more spotless, and that very few lives are more useful than has been, and still is," that of the founder of Chandlerville. "The lesson of that life, forced upon the attention of many by his daily example, is to the promotion of industry, liberality, strict integrity, spotless morals, and generous enterprise. * * In that community there is no man more widely known or more deservedly respected and honored than Dr. Charles Chandler."

His likeness adorns these pages. Dr. Chandler d. 7 April, 1879.

Mr. Chandler m. second, Sarah Jacobs Perrin, b. 21 Nov. 1821, in Massachusetts, dau. of Samuel Perrin by his second wife Sarah Jacobs. His wives were half-sisters. He was a merchant in Chandlerville, to which place he immigrated in the fall of 1832. He had learned the carpenter's trade, at which he had worked awhile in Chandlerville, where he d. 3 March, 1859, aged 50, and was buried on the hill just east of the village.

The children of MARCUS CHANDLER were:

3219. I. KNOWLTON H., b. in Connecticut, 30 Aug. 1831. At the age of nineteen he went into his father's store, where he remained a clerk one year. In the spring of 1853 he went by the overland route to California, where he worked in the mines awhile, then went into a hotel at St. Louis as proprietor. He returned home after an absence of five years, having been quite successful in business. He then engaged in lumbering at Bath, and in the drug business at Chandlerville. He was elected pol. magistrate at Chandlerville, where he lived. When the slaveholders' rebellion broke out, in 1861, he raised a company and received from the patriotic ladies of Chandlerville a beautiful flag in behalf of the company. In a speech he said, "That wherever he should go that precious emblem of liberty should bear him company." The company was too late for the first quota, but when the second call for troops was made, he accepted a first lieutenant in a company raised at Virginia, Cass Co., Ill. At Murfreesboro' that beautiful flag which bore "him company" was torn in shreds by the bullets of the enemy, being typical of his own fate on that fatal 2 July, 1863. From early childhood he was remarkable for his amiability and gentlemanly deportment, and won the love and esteem of all who knew him. A beautiful monument in Chandlerville, surmounted by an eagle bearing the colors in his beak, has inscribed on it: "Knowlton Howard Chandler, Captain of Co. F, 19th Reg't Ill. Vol. Born in Canterbury, Connecticut, Aug. 31, 1831, and instantly killed at Stone River, Jan. 2, 1863, in the very moment of victory, while leading his command in the charge which decided the day. THOMAS<sup>7</sup> KNOWLTON CHANDLER (John,<sup>6</sup> Moses,<sup>5</sup> Joshua,<sup>4</sup> John,<sup>3</sup> John,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and Keziah Morse Dewing, of Westminster Society, Canterbury, Conn.

They moved to Illinois soon after marriage and engaged in farming near Chandlerville. In 1843 they removed to Mississippi, and taught school seven years. In 1850 they again removed to Texas and taught school in Crockett for two years, and then bought a farm and began stock raising. When the civil war broke out he was in a prosperous condition, but when it closed he had nothing left but his land and some stock, but with his energy he soon amassed a sufficient amount of this world's goods for himself and enough to leave a nest egg for his children, and above all he left them the Christian example of his own life.

Thomas K. Chandler lived at Alabama Crossing, Houston Co., Texas. His wife Keziah Morse Dewing died there the third year of the war, 17 Jan., 1863, of grief, leaving five children. He m. second, 15 July, 1863, Ann Maria Spence, dau. of Absalom Spence by his wife Susan Trowbridge. She died 21 Nov. 1869, having one child which died in infancy.

Married third, 23 June, 1870, Elizabeth Wade McFarlin, at White Rock, Houston Co. She bore him two boys, Thomas K. and Charles Robert Chandler. After the death of Mr. Thomas K. Chandler, Sr., his widow m. second, Johonan Robert who died about one year after, leaving no issue. She m. third, E. M. Murphy, and by him had a daughter b. about 1880. She and Mr. Murphy occupy, with her Chandler boys, the Thomas K. Chandler homestead at Alabama Crossing. These boys have some property of which John K. Chandler is guardian. He was a farmer. Had 1500 acres of land and other property in proportion; was a good liver and stood well with the community; held the office of justice of the peace before the civil war. His motto in politics was "United we stand, divided we fall." He was a devoted Christian and was very zealous in the cause of Christ. He left a large acquaintance behind who mourn his departure.

The children of THOMAS K. CHANDLER were :

3229. I. JOHN KNOWLTON, b. near Chandlerville, Ill., 15 Nov. 1841. "The Patriot." As soon as the slaveholders rose up in rebellion he, to avoid entering their service against his country, went teaching school; "was once lodged in our county jail for his loyalty," so wrote his father, but the second year of the war teachers were obliged to enter the army, as well as others, and he was compelled to enter the ranks. He was taken prisoner at Vicksburg; paroled and sent to the parole camp; went home and found his mother dead. His father furnishing him with a horse, he made out a pass, crossed the lines at Brownville, and joined the Union army to serve his country. After the war he married an orphan girl who had 640 acres of land; m. 1st March, 1869, Elizabeth Murphy, in Houston, Texas. She died 28 Jan. 1873, in the effort to give birth to a child. He m. second, 20 Aug. 1873, Mrs. S. A. Chandler. They live in Porter's Springs, Houston Co., Texas. They have no child, but have an adopted son and two orphan girls in their charge. They have 1500 acres of land of which 300 are under cultiva-

- tion. They have a good name in the community; exercise a marked influence in it for good, and are living Christian lives.

She was b. 25 Nov., 1784; d. 19 March, 1864, in her 80th year; dau. of Samuel Slade, of Hanover, N. H., by his wife Sally Durkee. She was a large woman, of light complexion and light eyes.

He was a carpenter by trade, and worked at his trade up to and into his 78th year at least.

At the age of 68 he removed with his family from Hanover, N. H., to Chelsea, Jo Daviess Co., Ill. He got a good farm there; but after a few years he sold it out at what he then thought to be for his advantage, and removed to Waupaca in 1848, with his family, and was one of the first settlers in that place. On their journey there he went up the east side of Wolf River to Mukwa, and there swam his oxen over the river. An Indian took him over in his canoe, and then he cut logs of which he made a raft to float his wagon over. Such was the difficulty of travelling before roads and bridges were made. On the 18th Sept. 1856, his house was burnt from the sparks of the stove falling upon the hay in the shed adjoining, at a loss of five hundred dollars to him, together with all his papers as executor of his father's estate, and a loss of one thousand dollars to his son-in-law, Dr. Foss, who was living with him at the time. He then, at the age of 74, commenced and built a new house; but after the death of Dr. Foss, 21 Aug. 1859, he went to live with his son Augustus in the east part of that town.

He was of medium size, florid complexion, hazel eyes, active and energetic, and swung his broad axe at the age of 78, when he built a barn for his son, Augustus Chandler.

Capt. Chandler died 17 April, 1871, after nine days' illness with inflammation of the lungs, aged 88 years, 9 mos. and 5 days. "He was a man of active habits, having an investigating powerful mind, as you may know. Though he did not leave his children worldly wealth, he left what is far better, a stainless record; and I thank God for giving me such a father."

The children of Capt. AUGUSTUS and SALLY (Slade) CHANDLER were:

- 3268. I. JOHN WILKES, b. in Hanover, 28 Jan. 1808; m. first, 29 Jan. 1834, Phebe Bridgeman, of Hanover; m. second, May, 1855, Catherine M. Bent.

She was b. 20 May, 1790, dau. of David Wright, of Hanover by his wife Lydia Tenny.

He was named by Mary Hodges, his grandmother, she adding the name of Hilton for his ancestor Edward Hilton, of Exeter, N. H. He was b. at the Dewick house, in Pomfret, Conn., where Hon. Charles Matthewson afterwards lived. He was about ten years old when his father moved to Hanover. In 1800 he came back to Pomfret and worked for his uncle Maj. John W. Chandler, on the Chandler homestead, and remembered seeing there a "family scene," painted by Winthrop Chandler [see 326] on canvas, about two and a half by three and a half feet. The centre figure was his grandmother, Mary Hodges Chandler, surrounded by her three oldest daughters, Mary (Bowen), Lucy (Lord), and Matilda (Edwards), with a striped squirrel perched upon the finger of one of the daughters. This family picture was kept many years in the family of the oldest daughter, until her grandchildren wore it out in their play, unconscious of its ancestral value. This grandson, Henry Hilton Chandler, told the writer of this, and said that his grandmother, Mary Hodges Chandler, was the handsomest woman he ever saw.

Mr. Chandler carried on the wool-carding business, at Mill Village, in Hanover. He attended a saw and grist-mill there; was town clerk.

He was about five feet ten inches high, and weighed in his best days one hundred and ninety pounds; but after 70, he grew thin in flesh. He had a mild, light-blue eye; possessed a remarkable memory for dates and events; was exceedingly kind and hospitable; in his religious sentiments tolerant and liberal.

He died in 1869, aged 85.

William B. Chandler

When three years of age his parents removed to Hanover, N. H., where he lived with them until nearly seventeen years of age, when he was "apprenticed" to Mr. Joseph Chase, a blacksmith in what was known as "Mill Village," in Hanover, and worked with him about five years, during which he formed a strong friendship for "Master" Chase, as he always called him, whose industry and kind consideration he highly appreciated. Afterwards he worked at his "trade" in Campton, Franconia and Springfield, N. H., for about two years. From the latter place he removed, in April, 1816, to West Randolph, Vt., where he established the home which has ever since been known as the "Chandler Home." There he lived for more than sixty years, an industrious, useful, contented, well-spent life, and there all his thirteen children were born. His prominent characteristics were his devotion to Christian principles, in heart and life; the strictest integrity, love of order, abhorrence of debt, intemperance, slavery and every form of oppression. He was prudent and economical, yet always kind and charitable. During the last twelve years of his life he spent the summers only at his Vermont home, and the winters with one or the other of his youngest sons, Frank and Albert, in Brooklyn, N. Y. This change of climate and scene, and the good care taken of him in his last years, probably prolonged his life, and it surely added to his happiness.

What the Roxbury records quaintly say of William, the husband of Annis, and father of our race in America, was eminently true of William Brown Chandler, viz.: "He was a very thankful man, and much magnified God's goodness." Through all his life "his faith, patience, godliness and contentation so shined that Christ was much glorified in him."

He died at the home of his son Frank, in Brooklyn, May 10th, 1881, without organic disease, aged 89 years, 4 months. His weary worn out body peacefully sank to the sleep that knows no waking, putting off the mortal that his spirit might put on immortality. Comparatively few men have lived so usefully, peacefully and so universally beloved. He was buried beside his wife, in the family lot at the village cemetery in West Randolph. He was a man of medium size, had blue eyes, and was by the universal voice of his neighbors a very pleasant man, a good citizen and much respected. The beloved father of thirteen children, all of whom grew up to full estate and have taken most responsible positions in society.

He married at Hanover, N. H., 7 Nov., 1816, Electa Owen, daughter of Joel and Mary (Gillett) Owen, born at Northumberland, N. H., April 17, 1796. She died 6 June, 1866, at the "Home" above referred to, aged 70 years, 1½ months.

Although her educational advantages were meagre, even for the times in which she lived, her perception was so quick, her thirst for knowledge so keen, and her memory so retentive that she was well informed in her girlhood and youth. In the rearing of her large family of children she made their studies her own, acquiring much in aiding them, and in her advanced life she was recognized by all who knew her as possessing a mind of uncommon natural ability, and faculty for instructing others. She was an exceedingly kind Christian wife and mother, a helpful neighbor, a wise counsellor and universally valued friend. Of all who have borne the Chandler name, to none can the family motto be more truly said to apply. She was, indeed, "faithful unto death."

The children of WILLIAM BROWN and ELECTA (Owen) CHANDLER were:

3298. I. DELIA ELECTA, born Nov. 13, 1817; d. Sept. 11, 1839, at East Bethel, Vt.; married Nov. 22, 1837, Benjamin Goodrich Fisk, son of Leonard and Lucy (Billings) Fisk. He died June 24, 1872, at the home of his brother-in-law, John A. Chandler, at St. Paul, Minn. They had

HON. LUCIUS<sup>7</sup> H. CHANDLER (Chauncy<sup>6</sup> C., John,<sup>5</sup> Thomas,<sup>4</sup> John,<sup>3</sup> John,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and Susan A. Kendall.

She was b. 1 Jan. 1811 ; d. 5 June, 1868, dau. of Littleton Kendall by his wife Maria Robbins, dau. of Col. John Robbins, of Salt Grove, Northampton Co., Va.

Mr. Chandler was graduated at Waterville College in 1831 ; studied law and practised his profession in Thomaston up to about 1845, and then in Boston up to 1851, when he removed to Norfolk, Va., and resided there until 1870, with the exception of two years when he was consul at Matanzas, and his family resided as refugees at Rockland, Me. The family went to Rockland, 25 Aug., but he received the appointment of consul on the 1st of that month, 1861.

He was one of the "Bell and Everett" electors, and during the whole campaign made strong union speeches, so that he was known throughout the State as one who was opposed to secession in any form. Virginia went for Bell and Everett. In the spring of 1861 a very important case, involving nearly half a million dollars, in which he was counsel, came up in Washington. Virginia had not then seceded, but that event was expected daily to take place. Mr. Chandler obtained a permit from Gen. Gwyne, then in command at Norfolk, to enable him to return; and he went to Washington. Hurrying through with his case as rapidly as possible, he returned and arrived at Fortress Monroe only to find that the obstructions placed in the river the night previous would prevent all persons from reaching Norfolk in that direction. His only way of getting there was to take a carriage as far as Yorktown, whence he could go by cars to Richmond, and thence home to Norfolk. It was at Fortress Monroe, at this time, that Gen. B. F. Butler tried to get from him some information of the Confederate forces. At Yorktown Mr. Chandler was arrested by the Rebels under the Rev. Gen. D. H. Hill, of North Carolina. His horse and carriage were confiscated, and he was thrown into jail, where he remained for more than two days in a cell with a stone floor, without food, drink, or even a blanket to protect him from the cold, and subjected to the grossest insults. Frequently was he shown a rope and told that he would be hung, which undoubtedly would have been his fate, had it not happened that a Col. Charles Mallory, of Hampton, Va., accidentally heard of his arrest; and, not believing it, rode down to the camp to ascertain the facts. He went instantly to Richmond, and left no stone unturned to effect his release. Upon Mr. C.'s arrival in Norfolk he applied for permission to go north with his family. After a long delay he obtained a "flag of truce" on the 23d of June, 1861. Even then he barely escaped, for an order came from Richmond to arrest him at ten o'clock that morning; but fortunately the order fell into the hands of a friend who delayed it a few minutes, so that when the officer went to serve it the family were steaming down the river. His family remained in Baltimore until the 25th of August, when they went to Rockland, Me.

In 1863 he removed his family back to Norfolk. He was U. S. district attorney for East District of Virginia, and so gently did he administer that office that there were but few cases of confiscation, and no one tried for treason; but he was threatened with removal from office many times because of his leniency.

He drew up, May, 1866, the indictment against Jefferson Davis for treason against the United States, and assisted the attorney-general in the prosecution at his trial.

He was counsel in the case of Mayor Ellyson vs. Chahoon, for Chahoon; and was very much injured in the shoulder by the falling of the floor of the room of the Court of Appeals, on 27th of April, 1870, from the great mass of people assembled to hear the decision of the court in the case. He had not, in 1871, entirely recovered the use of his hand, owing to the thickening of the shoulder blade in uniting where it was fractured by that fearful accident. He became insane by spells, during one of which he drowned himself in a stream near his residence, 7 April, 1871.

While residing in Thomaston, he was commissioned justice of the peace, 18 Feb. 1835; and of the quorum in 1844; was chosen, 29 June, 1839, captain of the Thomaston Guards. He resided, 1871, at No. 70 I Street, Washington, D. C. Pension agent for Virginia.

"Why start? The case is yours, or will be soon;
Some years, perhaps—perhaps another moon.
Life, at its utmost length, is still a breath,
And those who longest dream must wake in death."

3490. III. HARRIET, ♀. 1827, and on her monument is written :

"In memory of HARRIET daughter of Micah and Adaline Chandler who departed this life
March, 17th, 1830,
aged 2 yrs. and 6 months.

This lovely bud, so young and fair,
Called hence by early doom,
Just came to show how sweet a flower
In Paradise could bloom."

He m. third, Jane Matthews, of Vershire, Vt.

He was for ten years city watchman in Boston. The first night of his service he was put on a "beat" which his predecessor had abandoned after threats of personal violence, and was knocked down twice by persons springing from behind dark corners, but who afterwards tried to soothe and comfort him by assuring him that they had mistaken their man. From this his first night's experience, he drew the inference that, in dark nights and in pokerish places, the watchman had better keep a little way off from dark holes and as near the curb-stone as he conveniently could, to avoid sudden attacks from the lawless. He was one of the largest specimens of human bone and muscle that has adorned the Chandler family.

He was afterwards, and until his death, 20 March, 1861, aged 58, keeper of the jail at Chelsea.

She was b. at Burrillville, R. I. 18 Nov. 1830.

He was a successful teacher for sixteen years. After marrying he lived one year on the "Paine Farm" in South Woodstock, Conn. In 1851 they kept the Academy boarding-house in Woodstock. They removed to Douglas, Mass., and he was engaged on the railroad there in 1852; overseer on the same in 1853, and graded on contract the ground for the depot in Douglas, 1853. They moved to Illinois in April, 1856. He enlisted in Co. B, 7th Ill. Cavalry, 17 Oct. 1861; was quartermaster sergeant in that regiment until May, 1862, when he was appointed ward-master in the general hospital at Hamburg, Tenn. He served in that capacity and as clerk of the hospital until it was broken up in Aug. of that year. Then he was appointed military store-keeper, and had charge of sales to officers at Corinth, Miss.; was present at the battles of Corinth, Oct. 3 and 4; assisted in passing shot and shell to one of the batteries, the third day, and in guarding the stores on the 4th. This regiment was scouting constantly, and it had some heavy skirmishing, especially on Oct. 26, 1863. Under Col. Spenser, it left Camp Glendale, near Corinth, Oct. 19, 1863, for a raid into Alabama to destroy bridges and to cut off rebel communications. In this regiment he had command of a company. His commission bears date, Jan 28, 1863. When about one hundred and fifty miles from Corinth they were obliged to turn back on account of high water from rains in the mountains; but when within thirty-five miles of their camp, this command of five hundred fell in with a force of two or three thousand rebels under Gen. Ferguson. While leading his men to the charge, Capt. Chandler fell, as a comrade in arms wrote his widow, "gallantly defending the right of freemen against traitors of the deepest dye." The remains of this gallant soldier were buried under a flag of truce from his own regiment.

In the autumn after his entering the U. S. service, she returned to Douglas, Mass.

She was b. in Pomfret, Conn., 11 July, 1822, dau. of William Allen, of Pomfret, by his wife Emily Chandler. [See 912.]

He was a graduate of Y. C. 1839; was at the Law School of Harvard University. But his eyes becoming weak and inflamed, and fearing to use them in the pursuit of his chosen profession—for which his legal mind fitted him—he followed the advice of his medical advisers and went to work on the land. He bought a rough farm in the village of Thompson, and for years exhibited to the world an almost solitary instance of a city boy, brought up in schools and nearly fitted for one of the professions, abandoning all professional aspiration and going into the field and laboring with his own hands, early and late, hard and continuously, for twenty years or more, as manager and laborer. This course of life gave him physical health, and allowed his eyes to recover from their debility; and he obtained thereby the primary object of his manual labors. That these labors were not small, his fertile acres, smoothed of ledgy and boulder rocks—piled up into massive stone walls—continually testify.

He has been justice of the peace; represented Thompson in the legislature in 1847; was also a member of the State Senate in 1867. His likeness adorns these pages.

He enlisted 4 May, 1861, in Co. E, 24th N. Y. Vols., to assist in putting down the rebellion. He was in the attack on the rebels near Falmouth, April 18, 1862, in the battles of Cedar Mountain, Rappahannock Station, Rappahannock Crossing, second Bull Run, Chantilla, South Mountain and Antietam. He served in the engineer corps. In 1862 he was in the division of Gen. Wadsworth; was in the battle of Fredericksburg, Va. under General Burnside, and in that of Chancellorville, under Gen. Hooker. His regiment was mustered out at Elmira, N. Y., having completed its two years of service.

On Oct. 5, 1863, he re-enlisted as a veteran, for three years, in Co. A, 24th N. Y. Cav.; was appointed quartermaster sergeant, and remained such until the end of his service. His regiment was assigned to the 9th corps. He was in the battles of the Wilderness, Spottsylvania, North Anne, Bethesda Church, Cold Harbor and Petersburg; and was in the works before that place until the battle of Cemetery Hill, when the rebel fort was blown up, 31 July, 1864.

He was wounded 16 Aug. 1864, by a Minie ball, which passed through his left side near the heart. He was then in the hospital three months and ten days. He immediately joined his regiment, and took part in the battles of Hatcher's Run, Five Forks, Harper's Farm, Painesville, Gettersville and Farmersville, and was with the army of the Potomac at Lee's surrender, April 9, 1865.

He "carried the colors of the 24th N. Y. on the 9th of April, 1865, being the last to exchange shots with the enemy. When we got orders to cease firing as Lee had surrendered, our cavalry was between their cavalry and their infantry, and could not communicate except through our lines, so we had to wave a white flag to them to stop firing. So I think I can safely say our regiment received the last lead of the rebels in the army of the Potomac." Mr. Stephen E. Chandler also said, "I also draw a pension on account of the wound received Aug. 16th, 1864."

He had a horse shot under him on the 5th, and another on the 9th, just before the surrender. He received his discharge from the U. S. service, Aug. 4, 1865, having served three years and nine months. He settled at Dayton, O., and was employed as foreman of a gang of men on the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railroad. He resides in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

He enlisted in the U. S. service as private in Co. H, 106th N. Y. Vols., 12 Aug. 1862 ; was at Ogdensburg, N. Y., Baltimore, New Creek, Western Va. He was in the battles of Western Virginia, North Mountain and Martinsburg ; fought the rebels under Lee at Gettysburg ; withstood the whole rebel force, and retreated in the night to Harper's Ferry and Washington, D. C., July 4, 1863 ; thence to Maryland to meet the rebels under Gen. Lee, after the Gettysburg fight, and followed him to Fox's Ford, where Co. H remained one month ; being transferred to the 3d Corps, moved on to the Rappahannock and drove the rebels to Culpepper ; fought the battle of the Rapidan and fell back to Chancellorville ; returned and fought the battle of Rappahannock ; drove the enemy over the Rapidan and took their quarters at Brandy Station. In the spring was transferred to the 6th Army Corps, under Grant and Meade ; left Brandy Station 4 May, and commenced the battle of the Wilderness on the 5th. On the 9th Gen. Sedgwick was killed ; fought nine days and nights without cessation, having hardly time to make a cup of coffee ; fought and flanked and drove the rebels to Bermuda Hundred, and thence to Petersburg and Weldon railroad ; back to Petersburg, took boat to Baltimore, and thence to Frederick City, to engage, with 4,000, at Monox Bridge, a force of 15,000—a hand to hand fight, but had to retreat to Point of Rocks, and on to Frederick City. Fought the battles of Charlestown, Opican Creek, Winchester fight, and drove the rebels under Early to Fisher's Hill, capturing almost everything they had ; fell back to Cedar Creek. On the morning of 19th Sept. 1863, the picket line of the 19th Corps were relieved by the rebels, and at daylight the latter fired into the tents of the 19th Corps, and the 6th Corps, which camped alongside the 19th, fell back and fought. The 6th lost twenty pieces of artillery. After falling back two or three miles, the 6th advanced again one mile and formed a line, when Gen. P. Sheridan came up, and in twenty minutes orders came to advance, when the rebels were driven across the Creek, the lost guns retaken and fifty pieces of theirs, together with the most of their ambulance and wagon trains. "When," says Mr. Chandler, "I got within forty rods of where I encamped the night before, I was wounded by a shell cutting through the fibula of the left leg; was carried in an ambulance wagon to Martinsburg, and thence by railroad to Baltimore. I remained seven months in the Jarvis Hospital in Baltimore, and was honorably discharged 29 May, 1864." For four years he drew a pension of four dollars per month, and afterwards two dollars per month. For three years he kept a grocery store at Nicholville, which he sold, in 1870, to his cousin, Jerome A. Simonds. Salesman at Nicholville.

Henry Closson Rider was born 14 Dec. 1832, in Esperance, Schoharie Co., N. Y. He was son of Lewis Rider, of Florence, N. Y., by his first wife Savilla Cornish.

He was educated at the institution for the instruction of the Deaf and Dumb in New York city, and was in attendance at school from 1846 to 1855 ; was my class-mate for four years, [wrote his wife in 1882], and he was given two gold medals and a set of fifteen volumes of Irving's works by the directors of the institution as a reward for his good behavior and excellence in his studies. He was a clerk in his father's store, but after his marriage he came to Mexico and lived in the house of his brother-in-law, John Wilkes Chandler and wife, all four of whom were mutes, but the children of all of them could hear and speak.

Mr. H. C. Rider was, 1877, editor and proprietor of the "Deaf Mutes' Journal" published at Mexico, Oswego Co., N. Y.

Mrs. Helen A. Rider had got to be nearly three years old before the fact of her being mute was known, or could be realized by her parents or friends. But she early showed brightness of intellect and was provided with an instructress in mute language ; and at about fourteen years of age was sent to the school for mutes in New York city, where she spent seven years. She is a woman of clear perception, .

more than average intelligence, of great kindness of heart and has managed her large family with much shrewdness and judgment. Their children were :

- i. LEWIS CHANDLER RIDER, b. in Mexico, N. Y., 27 Sept. 1859 ; m. 13 Feb. 1879, Anna Josephine Ames, dau. of Edwin Ames, Jr., of Mexico, by his wife Madora Newell. L. C. Rider was at one time a partner with Frank Penfield in the livery business in Mexico, and at another time a landlord of a hotel at Massena Springs, N. Y. But he had to give up each occupation after a short time on account of poor health. He went to Colorado in the Fall of 1881 and returned in the Spring of 1882 somewhat improved in health.
Two children :
i. Henry Newell Rider. b. 8 Nov. 1879 ; d. 28 May, 1880.
ii. Lewis Chandler Rider, b. 4 Aug. 1881.
- ii. JOHN HENRY RIDER, b. 12 Nov. 1862 ; d. 7 Dec. 1862.
- iii. EDWARD CORNISH RIDER, b. 23 Nov. 1863 ; is, 1882, studying at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York city.
- iv. GRACE ARABELLA RIDER, b. 27 Jan. 1867.
- v. HELEN CHANDLER RIDER, b. 9 July, 1869 ; d. 24 Jan. 1871, of pneumonia.
- vi. CLARA AUGUSTA RIDER, b. 25 Aug. 1872 ; d. 10 April, 1874, of scarlet fever.
- vii. HENRY SMITH RIDER, b. 4 May, 1877 ; d. 13 June, 1877, of causer rash.

She was b. at Lewiston, N. Y., 13 Feb. 1833, dau. of Zeriah H. Colvin by his wife Susan S. Barton.

He spent nine years at the school for mutes in the city of New York. He learned a part of the book-binding trade while at school. Was probably mute from birth. After living with his sister awhile he bought the Harry Webb place, opposite the Academy in Mexico, and resided there, where he died 3 March, 1866, in his 30th year.

The chancel window of the Episcopal Church in Mexico is a memorial one of him, and has the following inscription :

In Memoriam.
JOHN W. CHANDLER,
Died March 1st,
1866.
By the Empire
State Association of Deaf Mutes.

The children of JOHN W. and GRACE J. (Colvin) CHANDLER were.

3747. I. PETER, b. at Mexico, 26 Sept. 1859; d. 25 May, 1864, of diphtheria.
 3748. II. ZINA COLVIN, b. 1 March, 1862; d. 5 Sept. 1862, aged 6 mos. 5 ds.
 3749. III. ANNA AUGUSTA, b. 15 March, 1866.

The following is a portion of the address made at the funeral of John Wilkes Chandler, by Rev. T. A. Weed:

“Nearly thirty years ago there was born here two children of respected parents. They have lived in our midst through childhood, youth, and quite up to manhood and womanhood. They have walked our streets, entered these houses, known by all, knowing all; yet have they never spoken an audible word, nor have they ever heard the voice of parent or friend; the whole world of sound, with all its pleasures and with all its instructions, has been shut out from their souls.

“They have lived comparatively blameless lives; have been good citizens; have always commanded respect. They were in a sense the children of the community: their welfare, their interests, their rights, were almost sacred to us all. * * *

“It did not seem to occur to us that one of them might die and pass from our sight. But one has sickened and passed suddenly away, and we are to-day to carry him to the tomb to sepulchre him by the side of that father who watched over his infancy and boyhood with more than common tenderness and love; to lay him down near the precious dust of his loved children.

“His sickness was brief, and excited no alarm until within two or three closing days; then his disease (diphtheria) assumed a fatal form.

“He retained his consciousness till the last hour, and by the silent language of his life, could communicate with great distinctness to his friends. He manifested an anxiety to obtain pardon for his sins, and to gain acceptance with his God. He sought instruction. He was reminded of the precious invitations of the Saviour, of the wonderful promises of God that he would abundantly pardon all who come to him. With intense attention did he gather into his soul these great truths.

“On the morning of his last day, with a countenance beaming with joy, he said to his mother, ‘I have been talking with God, and he has I think, accepted of me. I am now willing to die.’ He was reminded of leaving his loved companion. He said, pressing his hand upon his breast, ‘It is hard, but I am willing; I would like to have my wife, sister and mother go with me, but I am content.’”

Susan Sogood), by his second wife Esther<sup>5</sup> Johnson, of Woburn, Mass., whom he m. 12 July, 1776. Esther<sup>5</sup> Johnson was dau. of Francis,<sup>4</sup> son of Uriah,<sup>3</sup> son of Maj. William<sup>2</sup>, son of Capt. Edward<sup>1</sup> Johnson, who emigrated to America from Herne Hill, county of Kent, 1630, and settled at Woburn, Mass.—which town he represented in the General Court twenty-eight years, and was Speaker of the House of Representatives. This Capt. Edward<sup>1</sup> Johnson published a "History of New England, or Wonder Working Providence of Zion's Saviour, London, 1654, from the English planting in 1628 till 1652."

Jonathan<sup>5</sup> Eastman, who m. first, Mary Chandler, and second, Esther Johnson, was b. 10 June, 1746; d. 19 Oct. 1834, at Concord, N. H.; was son of Philip<sup>4</sup> Eastman, by his wife Abiah Bradley, and grandson of Capt. Ebenezer<sup>3</sup> Eastman, who m. Sarah Peasley and became an early settler at Concord, and gr.-grandson of Philip<sup>2</sup> Eastman of Haverhill, Mass., a son of Roger<sup>1</sup> Eastman, the first of the name who settled (1640) at Salisbury, Mass.

In the war of 1812, Jonathan<sup>6</sup> Eastman served his country in the 21st Reg't, commanded by Col. Eleazer Wheelock Ripley, two years as staff-officer, pay-master, and quarter-master. He was stationed at Sackett's Harbor, French Mills. He was at Stony-Creek fight, 6 June, 1813, near Niagara, where Gen. John Chandler was taken prisoner by the British forces. [See 575.]

Mr. Eastman was chairman of the meeting of the citizens of Concord, 9 Aug. 1843, to invite Hon. Richard M. Johnson, of Kentucky, to visit that place, and also chairman of a like meeting, "8 Feb. 1847, in favor of a more vigorous and determined prosecution of the war with Mexico." Was a member of the convention to revise the constitution of the State of New Hampshire, chosen 8 Oct. 1850.

Mr. Eastman obtained and kept in his possession the "good gun" of the Penacook Indian chief Peorawarrah, that fell into the Merrinack River, when he was shot in the boat by the husband of the woman he was running off with. This Peorawarrah gun is to be handed down to his grandson, Jonathan Eastman Pecker.

Mr. Eastman and wife resided in East Concord, in healthy, intelligent, dignified old age, much respected, in their sixtieth year of married life. Mrs. Eastman died 27 Feb. 1872, aged 85.

DR. MOSES<sup>8</sup> CHANDLER (Joseph<sup>7</sup> John,<sup>6</sup> John,<sup>5</sup> John,<sup>4</sup> John,<sup>3</sup> Thomas,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) Concord, N. H.

He read medicine with his uncle, Dr. Moses Chandler, of Fryeburg, and settled, 1816, in the practice of his profession in Concord. But when the war of 1812 broke out, he went as surgeon on board the privateer "Fox," which sailed in 1813 from Portsmouth. The "Fox" was successful in taking, among other prizes, a Liverpool packet, which proved a rich one—his share of which, after dividing with his partners, was about $13,000.

He was a tall, stout, athletic man, and was devoted to his profession. He died of dysentery after a short and most distressing sickness, and was buried with masonic honors. A handsome marble stone marks the place of his interment in the old burying-ground in Concord. On this monument is inscribed:

In memory of
 DOC. MOSES CHANDLER, son of Joseph Chandler, Esq., of Fryeburg, Me.
 Distinguished by his faithful labors in the arduous and responsible duties of his profession and equally so by his unwearied exertions in the cause of philanthropy.
 He closed his brief pilgrimage
 Sept. 2, 1825, aged 39.

A tome is thine on every page,
 An Epitaph on every tongue;
 The present hours the future bring,
 For them bewail, to them belong.

An oil portrait of him was in 1866 in the keeping of his kinsman and friend, Jonathan Eastman, Esq., at East Concord.

Dr. MOSES CHANDLER had :

3774. I. JOSEPH ADDISON ; m. 25 Sept. 1834, Sarah Maria Wolcott.

- iii. JONATHAN EASTMAN JOHNSON, b. 28 Jan. 1824; artist. Noticing the annual exhibition of the Artists' Fund Association, 1863, at the Derby Art Institution, New York, a writer in the "Tribune," of Nov. 13, 1863, says: "Mr. Eastman Johnson has two excellent pictures, Nos. 114 and 52. The former is a nice little girl in a red dress, painted as Mr. Johnson knows how to paint. The picture is remarkable for the introduction of a common parlor stove, without offence to the eye. Few artists would have courage to employ so ungraceful an accessory, and few would have conquered it so successfully. No. 52 is a blacksmith-shop, with a group of children huddling over the fire of the forge." The "Evening Post," of Dec. 1863, says: "Eastman Johnson's Village Blacksmith is one of the most desirable pictures in the collection, both on account of the interest to be found in its subject and its artistic treatment. It is evidently a study from life, and though not solely characteristic of American scenes, it yet represents that which every one who has dwelt in a country village will remember to have witnessed—a bevy of children clustering around a blacksmith's forge on an October day; and the smith—himself a hale, hearty old man—looks gravely on and enjoys their guileless society. There is much character displayed in the various figures forming the picture, from the blacksmith leaning on the handle of his bellows, down to the sturdy little chap in frock and trowsers who stands back to, just lifting from the floor the sledge hammer, which is almost as tall as himself." This picture brought at auction, $1,150. His studio is in the University Building, New York. Mr. Johnson m. 29 June, 1869, at Troy, N. Y., Elizabeth W., dau. of the late P. H. Buckley. One daughter.

She was b. 7 Dec. 1801; d. 12 Nov. 1855, and was buried among the white birches near the old meeting-house, under the brow of old Kearsarge. She left six children.

He m. second, Cordelia Sweetser, who was b. 25 July, 1825, dau. of Nicholas Sweetser.

Mr. Chandler read medicine with Dr. Alexander Ramsay, and settled at North Conway, where he was for half a century the acceptable physician. He was a man of medium size, had light complexion, light eyes and a freckled skin, which features are characteristic of many of this family. Dr. Chandler d. 16 May, 1864, aged 70.

The children of Dr. JEREMIAH and POLLY C. (Eastman) CHANDLER were:

- 3810. i. SARAH GOODWIN, b. 16 July, 1823; m. Elijah<sup>4</sup> Stanton, who was b. 19 Dec. 1817, in Winthrop, Me., son of John<sup>3</sup> and Lydia (Bassett) Stanton, of Bartlett, N.

H. ; gr.-son of Elijah<sup>2</sup> Stanton, and great-gr.-son of William<sup>1</sup> Stanton, of Connecticut. Mr. Elijah Stanton was several years engaged as travelling agent for the sale of gold pens, jewelry, watches, &c., for a firm in Philadelphia, and fell into the habit of treating his customers with wine, hot suppers and cigars, as was the custom of all travelling agents of large business houses. But the effects of that custom became so obviously ruinous to his health and morals that he resolved, one morning after a night of drinking and eating, given by him as a bribe to his customers, that he would be faithful to his employers and sell what goods he could, but that he would give to, and partake of, no more such social bribes. The result was that his sales were increased and the bills rendered his employers for his expenses much less from that time onward for several trips. His expenses now being so much less than the other agents, the inquiry arose why it was so. He told his employers that the effect of wine, cigars and hot suppers was injurious to his own health, and interfered with his duties to them ; and he showed them by his accounts, that he had sold more goods for them since he had stopped treating his customers than before, and at less expense ; also, that their accounts would show that he had sold more goods and at better profits, without the entertainments, than any other of their agents had with them. And yet he lost his agency, for a majority of the partners of this house were governed by their appetites and were agents themselves, and could not bear the idea that one of their hired agents should show a fairer record than they themselves could. He then went into the same agency for Wilmot & Chaseman, of New York city, on a salary of $1,500 and his expenses. He was by trade a cabinet-maker, and for fourteen years carried on that business in Conway, N. H. He moved to Winthrop, Me., and kept the "Winthrop House," but in 1867 he went to Lancaster, N. H., and took charge of the Lancaster House on Thanksgiving day of that year, and, 1882, of "Hotel Berkley," Boston.

Strong, and lived where his grandfather Daniel<sup>1</sup> Abbot lived, at the south end of Long Pond, Concord, N. H. This Daniel,<sup>1</sup> when a boy, was taken by the Indians. By engaging with spirit in everything they considered manly, and spurning all they considered the drudgery of squaws and unbecoming a warrior, he so won their esteem that they promised to adopt him and make him a chief. After he had been with them some time, they obtained several pairs of skates. He soon perceived they were unskilful in the use of them; and having obtained permission to put on a pair of them, and appearing to be as inexperienced in their use as they were till their attention was turned from him, he got behind a point of land, and being a good skater, put forth all his strength, and neither their shouts nor their balls could stop him; and though they pursued him, he escaped. This happened on Lake Champlain; and having reached the south end of it, he found his way to Albany and returned to Concord.

She was b. 21 Aug. 1817, dau. of Rufus Sherbur by his wife Mary Ann Phinney.

He removed to Concord, N. Y. 1865, where he took care of his father-in-law, Rufus Sherbur. In 1871 he removed to Sutton, Clay Co., Nebraska, and took up government land, where he lived until his death 22 Jan. 1874; carpenter and farmer in his last days.

Their children were:

Of my father's (Samuel Chandler, Jr.) children, said A. B. Chandler, No. 4041, the first child was:—

4041. I. ALEXANDER BIGELOW, b. 27 June, 1844, at Yorkshire, New York; learned carpenter and joiner's trade at Franklin, N. Y., in 1862-3; enlisted, 2 Jan. 1864, for three years or during the war as a private in Co. D., 179th Reg't N. Y. Vol. Infantry; belonged to 2d Div. 2d Brig. 9th Army Corps (Burside's), Army of the Potomac; was in active service with regiment up to July 15, 1864, when I received a severe injury of spine while helping to carry timber (in the night) to build fortifications in front of Petersburg, Va.; remained with company in trenches but was off duty until July 22, when I went on picket and was wounded in the right thigh, by a Minnie ball from a rebel sharp-shooter. I was taken to Armory Square Hospital, Washington, D. C., and there received treatment up to the 15th of March, 1865, when I returned to Reg't in trenches near Petersburg, Va., where I did service until 2 April, 1865, when, with Regiment at last battle of Petersburg, in charging upon Rebel works near Fort Hill, at about 4 o'clock, A. M., my canteen was shot off, the ball passing under left arm, soon after I was wounded by a grapeshot, it striking me in the face, breaking lower jaw, knocking out seven teeth, clipping the end of tongue and causing bad disfiguration of face; also by a second shot in the right shoulder (as I fell by first shot), it carrying away a portion of shoulder blade and causing much difficulty in an upward or outward motion of arms. At the same instant that I received the wound in shoulder a shot struck my gun just below my hand, shattering my gun and so badly wrenching my arm that I did not know that I was wounded in shoulder until I had been taken to Division Hospital. Was in Alexandria, Va., and Augur General Hospital, also from effects of these wounds, until discharged (by reason of General Order No. 777), June 5, 1865, at Washington, D. C. Lived at Concord, N. Y., up to Feb. 1866, then removed to Hyde's Mills, Wisconsin, and in November, 1866, to Jones County, Iowa, where I worked at my trade when health would permit up to Sept. 1871, when I came to Omaha, Nebraska, and worked in ear shops of U. P. R. R. Co. up to Sept. 1882, when, owing to increased disabilities from injuries and wounds I was forced to give up work at my trade and removed to Clay County, Nebraska, and located on land where I have since lived. I have 160 acres of land  $1\frac{1}{2}$  miles from Sutton which is leased. Live in Sutton to give my children benefit of schools. Concerning myself, the injuries and wounds that I received in the army, have made a pretty bad wreck of me; for the past five years I have been able to work but a very little and for last three I have been hardly able to get about. Since Dec. 1, 1881, have been confined to house and most of time to bed. Partial paralysis of legs and arms and terrible pains in back and in fact the whole length of spine are but a small portion of my troubles, "and while I think I can very readily appreciate the great blessing 'good health,' yet I have no complaint to make," neither have I ever regretted the humble part that I took in the great conflict, "and when I think of the 600,000 brave men who laid down their lives that this Republic might live, and that the lie might be hurled into the teeth of croaking despots, who pronounced the failure of the Republic, vindicating the claim of men to the right of self-government, enabling four million chattels to stand forth as men, robed in the right and glory of American citizenship, I feel that my sufferings should be borne without a word of complaint and that if I had a hundred lives to give it would be but a small offering for such a cause." In 1870 I applied for a pension which was granted in 1872 at \$2.00 per month from date of discharge, this was immediately raised to \$8.00 per month, and in 1874, to \$18.00 per month, which I yet receive. On the 9th of November, 1869, at Anamosa, Iowa, I married Martha Jane Orcutt (dau. of Joseph and Mary Ann Orcutt), of Castle Grove, Iowa. She was b. 20 of June, 1846, at South Bend, Ind. Sutton, Clay County, Nebraska. Our children are:

- i. Laura Ann, b. 1 Feb. 1871, at Langworthy, Iowa.
- ii. Aravilla Martha, b. 1 Jan. 1873, at Sutton, Nebraska.
- iii. Mary Irena, b. 29 Sept. 1874, at Sheridan, Nebraska.
- iv. Samuel Philip, b. 29 July, 1876, at Edgar, Nebraska.
- v. Joseph Henry, b. 11 Feb. 1878, at Sutton, Nebraska.
- vi. Zach. Alexander, b. May, 1880, at Sutton, Nebraska.

4042. ii. SARAH MARCELINE, b. 4 May, 1847, at Yorkshire, N. Y.:
 m. 15 Feb. 1866, at Concord, N. Y., Albern S. Twichell (son of Enos and Eliza Sophia Twichell, of Concord, N. Y.). He was b. 7 June, 1843, at Concord, N. Y. Is a farmer. He enlisted 18 Aug. 1862, as a private in Co. F, 116th Reg't N. Y. Vol. Infantry for three years. His regiment belonged to 1st Brig. 1st Div. 19th Army Corps. Soon after entering service was detailed as guard at Gen. Franklin's headquarters; went with Gen. Banks on his Red River expedition and was returned to his regiment from detail March 26, 1863, and was in the following battles: Cane River, La., 28 March; Pleasant Hill, La., 8 and 9 April; Marksville, La., 15 and 16 May; Semmesport, La., 18 May, 1863. Went to Shenandoah Valley, July 10, 1864, and was in the following battles under Sheridan: Winchester, Va., 19 Sept.; Snicker's Gap, Va., 18 July; Opequan Creek, Va., 18 Sept.; Fisher's Hill, Va., 20 Sept.; Port Republic, Va., from 21 to 25 Sept.; Little North Mountain, Va., 12 Oct.; Cedar Creek, Va., 19 Oct.; and a skirmish at Blue Ridge Valley, Va., 19 Nov. 1864. Was on detail to guard Old Capitol Prison at Washington, D. C., from May 1, to discharge of regiment, June 8, 1865, at Washington, D. C. Escaped sickness and wounds throughout army life. He came to Wisconsin in April, 1866, with Samuel Chandler and his family. In the Spring of 1867 he removed his family to Jones County, Iowa, where he lived up to April, 1871, when he, with P. H. and S. M. Chandler removed to Clay County, Nebraska. He "homesteaded" 160 acres of land,  $2\frac{1}{2}$  miles south of where Sutton now stands (where he built a sod house, the first house on the prairie in that vicinity), where he has since lived. Their children are:

- i. Ella Rosetta Twichell, b. 24 Jan. 1867, at Hyde's Mills, Wis.
- ii. Philip Arthur Twichell, b. 23 May, 1869, at Castle Grove, Ia.

4043. III. PHILIP HENRY, b. 11 Oct. 1849, at Yorkshire Centre, N. Y. : came to Iowa in 1867 with his father's family; in 1868-9, learned the carpenter and joiner's trade; now located at Superior, Nuckolls Co., Neb., where he has built himself a shop and is doing a good business as contractor and builder, 1882.
4044. IV. SAMUEL MANLEY, b. 23 Jan. 1854, in Yorkshire. He lived with his father and worked on his farm in Sutton until 1875. Then learned the carpenter and joiner's trade; m. 22 Aug., 1878, Sarah A. Harrison, dan. of Thomas Harrison, of Edgar, Nebraska. She was b. 20 March, 1861, at New York city, N. Y. He has a shop in Edgar and does a good business.

One child:

- i. Wm. Henry, b. 21 May, 1879, at Edgar.

He was a farmer; was in the U. S. service as sharp-shooter, Co. F, 1st Reg't of S. S., and was killed in battle near Spottsylvania Court House, Va., 12 May, 1864, in the 42d year of his age. He was son of Robert<sup>1</sup> and Elizabeth Brown; was b. 9 Jan. 1823, in Ryegate. In Aug. 1862, he came to the conclusion that it was his duty to devote himself to the service of his country, and aid in suppressing the gigantic rebellion which was threatening the life of the republic and the liberties of the people. He accordingly volunteered to serve three years from 20 Sept, 1862, and being an excellent marksman, enlisted as a sharp-shooter. He was in every sense of the word a good soldier, and it is the testimony of his commanding officer that he was always ready for duty, however dangerous or perilous it might be, and that promotion was in store for him had he lived a few days longer. He was in the many hard-fought battles from Chancellorville to Spottsylvania. At the former place his regiment was surrounded by the rebels, owing to the failure of other troops to maintain their lines, but instead of surrendering they cut their way out, bringing off a large number of prisoners. He was with Meade in his campaigns, and with Grant in the bloody battles of the Wilderness, until 12 May, 1864, when he fell in Hancock's gallant charge upon the rebel works near Spottsylvania Court House.

The children of LYDIA and THOMAS H. BROWN were :

She was the youngest dau. of Lyman and Hannah Chapman, late of Ohio.

Mr. Chandler learned the trade of moulder in his father's shop, and at the age of 21 was engaged in the foundry business at East Saginaw. At his father's death, 17 Jan. 1854, he and his brother Daniel H. Chandler became members of the firm of Chandler, Warren & Co.; from which he retired in Oct. 1855, but continued to work at that business until the great rebellion broke out in 1861, when he joined the service of the U. S. 27 July, 1861, and marched, on the 13 Aug. following, with the rank of 2d lieutenant in Co. D, in the 16th Reg't, Mich. Vol. Infantry, commanded by Col. S. B. W. Stockton, to the rendezvous at Detroit. He left Detroit with his regiment on the 10th of September, and arrived at Washington, D. C., on the 16th Sept. 1861, where they encamped until the spring of 1862. This regiment was assigned to Gen. Butterfield's brigade, of Gen. Fitz John Porter's division of the Army of the Potomac, afterwards known as the 3d Brigade 1st Division 5th Army Corps.

He was with his regiment in the movements of the army on the peninsula, and in the following engagements, viz.: in the battle and siege of Yorktown, Va., from the 4th of April to the 4th of May, 1862; in that of Hanover Court House, Va., 27 May, 1862; of Gaines' Mills, Va., 27 June, 1862, when the regiment suffered very severely, and when Lieut. Chandler was wounded in the left arm so severely as to make amputation necessary, which was done on the 2d July, at Carter's Landing, Va. He was then taken by the hospital steamer "Daniel Webster" to Philadelphia, Pa., and placed, 7th July, in the Penn Institution, where he received every care and attention that could be bestowed, and where he remained until 1 Nov. 1862, when he went home to Michigan on leave of absence. He was promoted to 1st lieutenant, 12 Oct., to date back to 23 Aug. 1862.

He received orders, 28 Feb., 1863, to join his regiment in the field, which he did at Falmouth Station, Va., on the 6th of March, and was again promoted, 22 April, 1863, to a captaincy, and participated in the Chancellorville fight, May 1, 2, and 3, 1863; and in that of Middleburgh, Va., 21 June, 1863, and Gettysburg, Pa., 2nd and 3d July, 1863. In the last fight this regiment lost heavily—nearly half of the available force—as his brigade occupied the important position of the "Little Round Top," on that glorious day.

Capt. G. A. Chandler was, upon application, on account of his disability, transferred to the Invalid Corps, 8 Aug. 1863, with the rank of 1st lieutenant, and assigned to duty at Harrisburg, Pa., 28 Aug. 1863, and then at Philadelphia and at Washington, D. C., as a detachment, until 10 Jan. 1864, when his company E was assigned to the 19th Reg't Vet. Reserve Corps, to the captaincy of which company he was promoted, 10 Dec. 1863. This regiment left provost duty at Washington, 4 Sept. 1864, for Elmira, N. Y., where it was broken up for detached duty. He was afterwards on duty at Rochester and Suspension Bridge, N. Y., until 16 Nov. 1864, when he was ordered to join his regiment at Elyria, N. Y.

Capt. Chandler was on court-martial duty from 26 Nov. 1864, to 21 Dec. 1865, when he received orders to proceed to his former place of residence, and from that place to report by letter to the Adjutant General, and there, 1 Feb. 1866, he was waiting orders.

On 17 May, 1866, he was appointed assistant superintendent of Sub-District D, Department of Virginia, of the Freedmen's Bureau—head-quarters at Winchester, Va. His sub-district embraced the counties of Clark, Frederick and Warren. He was mustered out of U. S. service Oct. 10, 1867. City treasurer in 1870-71.

The children of Capt. GILBERT B. and SARAH A. (Chapman) CHANDLER were:

4237. I. FLORA NELLIE, b. at East Saginaw, 14 June, 1856; d. 17 June, 1864, at Washington, D. C.

He was employed in the foundry of his brothers at East Saginaw. When the rebellion broke out, he enlisted, 17 Aug. 1861, in the 12th Reg't U. S. Infantry as a private at Detroit, and at Fort Hamilton was assigned to Co. D, 1st Battalion, 12th U. S. I. When this battalion was ordered to the field he was in the hospital sick, and was temporarily assigned to Co. G, 2d Battalion, of the same regiment, which was ordered to the field May, 1862, and assigned to the Army of Virginia, then commanded by Gen. Pope, and was in all of his unfortunate campaign. In Sept. 1862, the 2d Battalion was ordered to join the 1st of the Potomac, and John Q. A. Chandler joined his old Co. D, 1st Battalion, and afterwards followed the fortunes of the grand old Army of the Potomac—his regiment being in the 2d Division of the 5th Corps—and was in nearly all of its battles until the expiration of his time of service, when he was honorably discharged, 17th Aug. 1864. He returned home quite well satisfied with his experience of war life. He was employed by the F. & P. M. R. R. until 1868, since then as master-mechanic of the Detroit & Lake Superior Copper Company at Houghton, where he lives, 1882. He married at Houghton, Lake Superior, Michigan, 25 Dec. 1871, Harriet M. Belamy, who was born in Hillsdale, Mich., 19 May, 1849. They adopted Marion Inez who was b. 18 Sept. 1871.

The following is from the Army Press Despatch :

“HEADQUARTERS, ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, }
Sept. 3, 6 A. M. [1864]. }

Execution of a Deserter.—Private Seldon S. Chandler, of Battery K, Fourth U. S. Artillery, suffered the extreme penalty of the law for having deserted from his command during active operations. A detail from the provost guard of the second division of the second corps performed the sad duty. The culprit addressed his fellow soldiers, admonishing them against the crime of desertion. He then sat down on his coffin, when the Chaplain made a prayer, after which his eyes were bandaged. In a few minutes he gave the sign that he was ready, and eight bullets entered his breast and head, killing him instantly. He leaves a wife and two daughters to mourn his fate.

She was b. 6 Jan. 1816, dau. of Luther Briggs by his wife Susanna Stetson, and gr.-dau. of Elisha Briggs.

While a small boy Mr. Chandler was ambitious to be a printer. He saved his pennies and bought damaged type, and without assistance, at the age of 16, he invented and constructed a printing press. He alone edited, published and printed a newspaper called "The Star," and carried it to his subscribers regularly until he entered college at Waterville, Me. After remaining there two years he went to Harvard University. Two years more and his health failed. He then studied civil engineering in Boston. Afterwards returned to Augusta; studied law, and was admitted to practice in the courts of Maine in 1843. In 1852 he was appointed civil engineer in the navy, and stationed in the navy-yard at Portsmouth, N. H., where he has discharged his duties up to this time (1871) to the entire satisfaction of the department and the public.

"A Great Newspaper." Under this title the "Rockland Gazette" notices in Augusta, in 1833, the publication of B. F. Chandler, called "The Star," a sheet measuring  $3\frac{3}{4}$  by  $8\frac{1}{2}$  inches. It says the boy Chandler was "sole editor, proprietor and printer, and worked off his paper semi-monthly, on Thursday, at the reasonable price of four cents per month. Frank was a smart and ingenious lad, and foreshadowed a likely man as he is."

The "Journal" says: "We recollect having seen this semi-7-by-9 paper, which the schoolboy set up in readable form, and printed on a press of his own construction. We refer to it now after nearly thirty years have elapsed, for the purpose of commending those boys who use to advantage their leisure hours, instead of spending them in idleness. That boy printer of 1832 is now civil engineer at Portsmouth Navy Yard."

The "N. H. Gazette" says: "We are informed by Mr. C. that he commenced the publishing business at the age of 13, with a capital of  $12\frac{1}{2}$  cents. After two years he sold out his printing materials for \$200, and invested the proceeds in standard books."

Mr. B. F. Chandler was, up to the war of 1861, one of the eight civil engineers attached to the Navy Department. After 29 years and six months active duty in building navy yards he was retired Oct. 15, 1881, and placed upon the reserved list with the rank of commander. His portrait adorns these pages.

COL. CHARLES<sup>8</sup> H. CHANDLER (James<sup>7</sup> J., John,<sup>6</sup> Joseph,<sup>5</sup> Joseph,<sup>4</sup> Joseph,<sup>3</sup> Thomas,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and R. Eliza Leach, Brownville, Me.

She was b. 6 Nov. 1825, dau. of Jarius Leach by his wife Marian Hoyt, dau. of Abner Hoyt, of Canterbury, N. H., by his wife Martha Weeks. [See 1123.]

In 1849 Mr. Chandler was in the mines of California ; was afterwards interested in a kerosene lamp factory at Foxcroft, Maine, with his brother Gilbert. He was one of the first to offer his services to the government in the maintenance of the Union at the breaking out of the rebellion of 1861. He raised a company of 64 men on the 24, 25 and 26 of April, 1861, and was appointed its captain, and ordered into camp for instruction. After being in camp some three weeks he was informed that the State had more men enlisted than was required and that only one company from his county was wanted, and that the old organized company that had existed in the county must be filled up and have the preference. After consultation with his company Capt. Chandler resigned the captaincy of his company and took a commission of first lieutenant under Capt. Brown of the old organized company. So he and all his 64 enlisted men, made the full ranks of Capt. Brown's company. This company was assigned to the 6th Reg't of Maine Vol. Infantry as company A. On the 15 of July, 1861, he was mustered into the U. S. service at Portland, Me., and was soon at the front. On the 11 Jan. 1862, he was commissioned captain, and later to the lieutenant-colonelcy of his regiment by special request of his Brigade Commander Gen. W. S. Hancock. In this capacity he served with distinction in the Army of the Potomac through the several campaigns of Gens. G. B. McClellan, Pope, and Burnside, participating in all the hard-fought battles of those generals, some of which were, Williamsburg, Golding's Farm, Savage Station, White Oak Swamp, Antietam, Fredericksburg and the second Bull Run. Through all these storms of leaden hail he did not get a scratch. But with the poisonous damps of the Chickahominy he was not so fortunate, for while exposed to them he contracted sciatic rheumatism which soon became chronic, baffling all medical treatment both in the field and at the officers' hospital at Georgetown, D. C. He was on the 9th of March, 1863, compelled to leave the field, an invalid for life. On the following May after his discharge he was appointed by President Lincoln commissioner of the board of enlistment for the fourth district of Maine where he assisted in enrolling and drafting of men under the several calls by the president until nearly the close of the war, when, owing to his rheumatic difficulties he was compelled to resign that position. In 1870 he resided in Brownville, and in 1882 at Bridgewater, McCook Co., Dakota.

The children of Col. C. H. and R. ELIZA (Leach) CHANDLER were:

She was dau. of Hon. Crosby Miller by his wife Orphia Hewett, oldest child of Joseph Dennison Hewett, Esq., of Pomfret, Vt.

In his 20th year Mr. Chandler left home, with his parents' consent, and went to Boston and shipped before the mast on board the "Margaretta," Capt. Prior, bound for the Western Isles on a whaling voyage. Before sailing he bought "Bowditch's Navigator," and in his leisure hours applied himself to the study of it. The voyage of fifteen months was a profitable one to the owners, but he had only forty dollars after paying for his outfit. He then sailed as second mate on board a merchantman and afterwards as first mate. After three years' of sea life he returned to his native place, and bought from the heirs of his grandfather Josiah Chandler the homestead farm in Pomfret. He rebuilt and repaired the buildings and fence, and renovated the land. But when the government was imperilled by the autocrats of the Southern States for power and caste built upon slavery, he at once obeyed the call of his country and enlisted as a private without bounty on the 19th of Sept. 1861, and on the 19th of Nov. following was promoted and went as orderly sergeant of Co. E, 1st. Vt. Cav. He was commissioned, 17 March, 1863, 2d Lieut. of Co. E, 1st Reg't Vt. Cav. under Col. E. B. Sawyer, and as 1st Lieut. 4 June, 1864. His captain, Hiram H. Hall, was killed in the action 23 June, 1864, and he was commissioned 7 July, 1864, as captain of the same company. He had three horses shot under him, and bullets went through his clothes, but he escaped a wound. He was with Wilson in his raid on the Weldon Railroad, and after fighting, dismounted, all night at Reams Station, being outnumbered three to one, he with his company was captured, 29 June, 1864, at Stony Creek Station, while fighting on the picket line with his company. In a letter written soon after, he said: "We had been out day and night for eight days, marched nearly two hundred miles, and had torn up and burnt completely thirty-five miles of railroad, besides twenty-five more partially destroyed. One third of the men were on mules and picked-up horses. We were two days without regular rations. In this condition we met the 'rebs,' and they were too much for us. We had only our 3d division (Wilson's and Gen. Kratz's division of four regiments), while we encountered all the rebel cavalry that had been fighting Sheridan, added to all that had been against us."

While being marched to the rear, "by a gracious Providence aiding his own shrewdness and native common sense, he succeeded in making good his escape and again reaching our lines, though all that tract of country was alive with rebel soldiers. He had nothing to eat for three or four days but blackberries and one drink of milk that a colored woman gave him. He came upon her as she was milking and talking to her cow in a little yard by the road side. It was the first food he had tasted for several days. He was so exhausted he could only go about a mile without stopping to rest. But he kept on, sleeping in the bushes upon the bare ground, when he dared to sleep at all. The greatest caution was necessary, as he often found himself coming right upon the rebel soldiers guarding the railroad, or in the woods gathering timber to repair what he had helped to destroy. At length he reached our lines, but not being sure, inquired of one he saw with a blue jacket on, to what regiment he belonged. The answer was, "To the 13th Penn." That was enough. He bounded out of the bushes, sprang over a fence, and was among our own troops. A horse was brought, and he rode to head-quarters and reported himself to Gen. Sheridan, near Petersburg, Va. All the information he got was from ~~the~~ negroes, who were loyal, and who directed him across Jones Hole Swamp, so as to enable him to elude the rebel pickets."

Capt. A. B. Chandler had a very strong constitution, and for three years endured the fatigues and hardships of service without perceptible injury to his health; but at last his physical powers became impaired, and he came out of the war with a broken constitution, and went home, like thousands of others, with the seeds of death firmly implanted in his system. He went into business in Boston under the firm of Trickey & Chandler, in the Boston Box Factory. But his chronic diarrhoea soon exhausted him, and he died in Boston, 21 May, 1870, a martyr to his country's safety. His remains were interred in Pomfret,

Vt. He was a man of great energy of character, and his motto was, "I'd rather carve out than inherit a fortune."

The children of Capt. ALEXANDER B. and ELLEN M. (Miller) CHANDLER were :

4411. I. ISABEL MILLER, b. 6 June, 1867.

4412. II. EMMA MARY, b. 23 Sept. 1868.

She was dau. of Maj. A. B. Childs, of Wilmington, Vt., by his wife Harriet Lamb, dau. of Maj. Jonathan Lamb, of Wilmington, Vt., and widow of John E. Clary, of Deerfield, Mass., who d. 4 Sept. 1861.

Mr. Chandler was a cadet of the University of Vermont, in Norwich. He enlisted, 12 May, 1861, in Co. F, 3d Reg't Vt. Vols., for three years; commissioned 2d Lieutenant 20 May, 1861, and 1st Lieutenant 16 Dec. 1861; was wounded in the right hand and thigh at Yorktown, 16 April, 1862, where his and another company were ordered to cross the Warwick Creek, several rods wide, up to the armpits in water, and to attack three regiments of the enemy entrenched in their rifle-pits, which these two companies did in the face of a murderous fire. The first line of rifle-pits was taken by them and held till ordered to withdraw. After receiving treatment for the wound of his hand (which is crippled for life), he recrossed the stream and walked unassisted three-quarters of a mile to camp. When partially recovered he was detailed on a court-martial in Baltimore. He was then put on the recruiting service in Ludlow and Brattleboro', Vt. In March, 1864, he was ordered to re-join his regiment. On 4 May, he was in the battle of the Wilderness, and on the 6th assumed command of Co. I, of the 3d Vermont, and led his company through all that terrible campaign, including the battles of Spottsylvania, Cold Harbor and others, up to the expiration of his three years' service, when, with the remains of his regiment, he was honorably discharged on the 16th, and mustered out on the 27th of July, 1864, and returned home as a "peaceful citizen."

But he re-enlisted in the Veteran Reserve Corps, and was stationed in command of his company before the mansion of Secretary W. H. Seward, in Washington, D. C., after that murderous attack on him in his sick chamber, at the time of the assassination of President Lincoln. He was afterwards transferred to the Freedman's Bureau, and stationed in Virginia as assistant superintendent.

“ Having helped to subdue rebellious men,” says his mother, “ he and his brother J. H., have turned to subduing the wilderness, and are assisting to build up new towns in the West.” Lives in Redwood Falls, Redwood Co., Minnesota.

HON. ZACHARIAH<sup>8</sup> CHANDLER (Samuel,<sup>7</sup> Zachariah,<sup>6</sup> Thomas,<sup>5</sup> Zachariah,<sup>4</sup> William,<sup>3</sup> William,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and Letitia Grace Douglas, whom he m. 10 Dec. 1844, Detroit, Michigan.

She was the daughter of George Douglas, Esq., of New York city and Mary McElderry, whom he married 16 May, 1815 ; gr.-daughter of Benjamin Douglas, of Charles Co., Maryland, by his wife Ann Middleton.

Mr. Chandler was b. in Bedford, N. H., December 10, 1813, in the family homestead which he owned when he died at Chicago, Illinois, November 1st, 1879. He attended the common school in Bedford and academies in Pembroke and Derry ; was a clerk in Nashua, N. H., and in September, 1833, emigrated to Detroit, when he commenced trade as a dry goods dealer with about $1,000 capital. His business gradually increased until between 1840 and 1850 he became a wholesale dealer and eventually acquired great wealth.

Mr. Chandler early became a zealous anti-slavery and whig politician ; commenced his career in 1851 as whig candidate for mayor of Detroit and was elected. In 1852 he ran for governor on the ticket with Gen. Scott for president, made an earnest canvass of the whole State, and although defeated received more votes than the full party strength, and in recognition of his services and popularity was made the whig candidate for the U. S. senate at the election of 1853. July 6, 1854, he participated actively in the first organization, in any State, of the republican party, "under the oaks" in Jackson, which revolutionized the politics of Michigan. He attended the first republican national conventions in Pittsburg, Feb. 26, 1850, and in Philadelphia, June 17, 1856, and as the result of the Fremont campaign of that year he was elected, Jan. 10, 1857, United States senator by 89 votes against 16 votes for Lewis Cass, then senator, also a son of New Hampshire, and took his seat March 4, 1857.

He was re-elected senator in Jan. 1863, and again in 1869, was succeeded by Isaac P. Christianey, March 4, 1875, but on his resignation, Mr. Chandler was again elected, Feb. 18, 1879, and remained senator until his death, having served 18 years and 8 months.

As a republican senator Mr. Chandler was radical and aggressive, in dealing, by opinions, speeches and votes, with the Kansas struggle, the John Brown raid, the tariff conflicts, secession and rebellion, the conduct of the war, the emancipation of the slaves, the impeachment of President Johnson, the reconstruction measures, the constitutional amendments, the civil rights bill, negro suffrage, rebel war claims, the currency, inflation and the resumption of specie payments, amnesty to Jefferson Davis, and the attempts to repeal the national election laws by the refusal of appropriations.

At the December session, 1858, he was made a member of the committee on commerce, and in March, 1861, became chairman, and so remained until he left the senate in 1875. He was a zealous advocate of river and harbor improvements and during his chairmanship, over forty-five millions were appropriated for such works.

December 5, 1861, he moved the resolution which resulted in the joint committee of congress on the Conduct of the War, of which he became a member, but declined the chairmanship. This committee during the whole progress of the war made thorough investigations and full and valuable reports. It opposed Gen. McClellan's military management and Mr. Chandler made a speech on July 16, 1862, of great power and effect, assailing the competency of that officer.

While many western republican leaders faltered before the temporary popular craze for unlimited issues of the national greenback currency, Mr. Chandler was foremost and uncompromising in his opposition to inflation and in demanding a prompt return to specie payments. January 20, 1874, he spoke against the inflation bill (afterwards vetoed by President Grant) commencing his speech, "We need one thing besides more money and that is better money;" and Feb. 17, 1874, he made an elaborate speech showing the evils of an inflated currency.

He was justly indignant at the unfriendliness shown to the United States by Great Britain during the war of the rebellion and was active and persistent in demanding that England should be forced to pay the losses sustained by American ships from confederate cruisers fitted out in English ports.

He opposed in the senate and voted against the act of March 3, 1873, known as the back salary act, and refused to receive the amount accruing to him.

After his last election to the senate his most noted speech was on March 3, 1879, at half-past three in the morning, on the attempt to include Jefferson Davis in a bill granting arrears of pensions to veteran soldiers of the Mexican war. This was a brief, unpremeditated denunciation of Mr. Davis, delivered in the most energetic and forcible manner, which electrified the senate and aroused the country more than any speech ever delivered in congress of which the effect has been recorded. He followed it by a vigorous "arraignment of the democratic party" for its refusal of appropriations, at the extra session of March 18, 1879, which was his last speech in congress.

During the interval while Mr. Christiancy was senator, on October 19, 1875, President Grant appointed Mr. Chandler secretary of the interior and he improved, reformed and infused energy into the administration of that great department, particularly reorganizing the Indian bureau and patent office, both of which had been in bad repute. His successor, Hon. Carl Schurz, in taking the office in March, 1877, addressed him as follows: "I think I am expressing the general opinion of the country when I say that you have succeeded in placing the Interior Department in far better condition than it has been in for years * * * and I shall be happy when leaving the department to have achieved as good a reputation for practical efficiency as you have won."

Mr. Chandler was early chosen and remained chairman of the republican congressional committee, which engaged in circulating political documents and the great work of political organization throughout the country, and became under his guidance and that of his faithful friend and co-worker, Judge James M. Edmunds, a powerful political agency. In 1876 he was made chairman of the "Republican National Committee," appointed by the National Convention, and with Gov. R. C. McCormick as secretary, conducted the noted campaign contest between Rutherford B. Hayes and Samuel J. Tilden. In the close elections and in the subsequent contested countings in South Carolina, Florida and Louisiana, and by the electoral commission and in congress, he was confident, courageous and energetic, and a most prominent actor in the exciting events which resulted in the inauguration of President Hayes.

During all his political and public life Mr. Chandler was also diligent in his business and engaged extensively in farming pursuits.

Mr. Chandler was tall and stalwart in person, of great physical strength and vigor and always in perfect health. He was companionable and fond of social life and constant in his attachments to his friends. He was generous in his hospitalities and liberal in his donations for worthy objects.

Mr. Chandler died as he had lived "with the harness on." After the adjournment of the special session of the senate in the summer of 1879, he was eagerly demanded for campaign speeches. He spoke in Wisconsin, Maine, Ohio, Massachusetts and New York, afterwards again in Wisconsin, and then proceeded to Illinois. These extraordinary exertions began to affect his health, but he continued his canvass. He spoke on Thursday at Janesville in a tent and became cold while speaking as he afterwards said, and on Friday morning he had sore throat and pain in his chest, and on the evening of Oct. 31, he addressed the Young Men's Republican Club, at Chicago, in a speech of much force and eloquence, arousing great enthusiasm. He returned to the Grand Pacific Hotel, and said this was his last appointment for the campaign. But late in the evening a telegram was received for him to speak the next night at Detroit, and after conversing with friends he retired to his room. In the morning he was found by the porter at 7 o'clock, who went to call him, to take the cars at 9 A. M. to meet the wishes of his friends at Detroit, lifeless from cerebral hemorrhage, Nov. 1, 1879. His death caused unusual demonstrations of national grief. He was buried with all the honors of the city of Detroit, and the State of Michigan, in Elmwood Cemetery. Gov. Crosswell recited his great merits in a proclamation to the people of Michigan. President Hayes announced his death to the country, and ex-President Grant paid to his memory the following appropriate tribute:—

“A nation as well as the State of Michigan mourns the loss of one of her most brave, patriotic and truest citizens. Senator Chandler was beloved by his associates and respected by those who disagreed with his political views. The more closely I became connected with him, the more I appreciated his great merits.”

The third and only child of Zachariah and Letitia Grace Douglass Chandler that lived was :

4438. 1. MARY DOUGLASS CHANDLER, b. 2 May, 1848, who married 20th December, 1871, Hon. Eugene Hale, of Ellsworth, Maine.

He was b. 8 Nov. 1806, son of George Eldridge Stedman and Hannah Webster, of Tyringham, Berkshire Co., Mass. Carpenter by trade.

Like many of the neighbors of the oil regions, who listened to the stories of the oil products and saw the wonderful overflowing wells, Mr. Stedman became infected with the desire of fabulous gains, and went to boring for oil with a company of forty—"forty thieves," as they were called. They bored on the bar in the Oil Creek, and were successful in obtaining a supply of the coveted treasure. But, on their success becoming known, a new difficulty awaited them. The riparian owners forbade their pumping, as they claimed the soil to the centre of the stream, and got an injunction put upon their proceedings from the courts. So his ardor for sudden riches abated with this unlooked-for difficulty and the expenditure of a few hundred dollars.

Many small farmers and others in the vicinity of the oil wells have bought tickets in the same lottery with similar luck. If they succeeded in finding oil by boring, their wells soon dried up, and they retired from oil-pumping to their now mortgaged farms. A few have become wonderfully successful.

These oil-works, it was said, owed their origin to a fearful railroad disaster. The engineer who happened to run that fated train, loaded mostly with medical men, down through the awful draw-bridge at Norwalk, a few years ago, escaped through fear to Europe. He there became acquainted with the petroleum wells. On his return he found out the springs from whence the famous "Seneca oil" was obtained, and there commenced boring (as he told the curious questioners) for salt. He was successful.

Oil for fifty years has been gathered by blankets from the little bays and eddies below the springs where it oozed out; and it had, under the name of Seneca Oil, wonderful healing properties as long as it was obtained in small quantities only.

Children of LOUISA and JAMES STEDMAN :

- i. JAMES CHANDLER STEDMAN, b. 29 April, 1848.
- ii. WILLARD GEORGE STEDMAN, b. 8 March, 1853; graduated from N. Y. Medical College.

COL. THOMAS<sup>8</sup> W. CHANDLER (Thomas,<sup>7</sup> Thomas,<sup>6</sup> Ebenezer,<sup>5</sup> Thomas,<sup>4</sup> Joseph,<sup>3</sup> William,<sup>2</sup> William<sup>1</sup>) and Annie E. M. Bartholic.

He left home in 1856, at the age of nineteen, and after making an extensive tour through the Western States, he stopped in Illinois until the spring of 1859, when the "Pike's Peak fever" broke out. He then with the vast throng started for that land of gold, in a party of five, driving an ox-team through Iowa and Nebraska. But after reaching that land of promise they failed to find the gold as they expected, and immediately concluded to return to the States, which they did by steamer from Nebraska City. He enlisted in the U. S. service, 1 Aug. 1861, in a company raised at Mt. Morris, Grundy Co., Illinois, as was said, for Fremont's body guard ; but, as it was not raised in time for that glorious band, this company was assigned to the 36th Ill. Reg't of Infantry, commanded by Col. Gruisel, and rendezvoused at Camp Hammond, Aurora, Kane Co., Ill. He was soon made sergeant. The regiment went to and remained at Rolla, Mo., until Jan. 1862, when it moved against Gen. Price at Springfield, Mo., where he engaged in his first fight. He was in the battle of Pea Ridge, on the 6th, 7th and 8th of March, 1862. Under Gen. Curtis the regiment was then transferred to the Army of Tennessee. He was in the battle of Corinth, 28 May, 1862, under Gen. Halleck. In Aug. 1862, he was commissioned captain of Co. D, 127th Reg't Ill. Vols., which was then encamped at Chicago. It was here and in camp that he was married to Miss Bartholie, and partook, by invitation of the colonel, of their wedding dinner in camp. Soon after he went down the Mississippi, and was in the battles of Chickasaw Bayou, 28 Dec. 1862, under Gen. Sherman, and that of Arkansas Post, Jan. 1863. He acted as lieutenant-colonel of his regiment during the expedition up Black Bayou. At this time he wrote home to his family (at Athens, Me.), a letter dated Camp before Vicksburg, April 18, 1863, of which the following is an extract: "I have been in five battles. I went into the service a high private, next was sergeant, then rose to be a captain, and am now pretty sure of a position on the staff. In the battle of Arkansas Post I acted as major; and in the last skirmish out here, on Black Bayou, I acted as lieutenant-colonel, and am still in that position." And with noble filial pride, to his father and his mother he added: "I have climbed up pretty well for a poor boy."

Mr. Chandler was presented with a sword which cost $51.50, by the "boys of his own company." He was in the expedition under Gen. Grant, round in the rear of Vicksburg, and was wounded in the attack upon that place, 28 May, 1863, but was present at its fall, on the 4th of July, 1863; was commissioned, 1st July, 1863, major of the 127th Ill. Reg't; was at the siege of Jackson, Miss., in July, 1863, under Gen. W. T. Sherman; was transferred to the army of the Cumberland, and acted as lieutenant-colonel at the battle of Mission Ridge, on the 25th Nov. 1863; marched to Knoxville, Tenn., and raised the siege of that place; encamped at Larkinsville, Ala., and went through the campaign against Atlanta, Ga., under Gen. Sherman, in 1864; resigned his commission as major, July, 1864.

She d. 12 Sept. 1879. He is called by his relatives "The Major." He is a farmer on 160 acres and in mercantile business in Kempton, Ill.

He was b. at Hebron, Conn., 20 May, 1787; d. 21 Sept. 1864, at Rochester, N. Y. When a child, his father Capt. David<sup>7</sup> Barber, son of David,<sup>6</sup> his mother was Lois Dutton, dau. of Timothy Dutton, removed to Northfield, Mass., and engaged in mercantile business there. At the age of fourteen his son Isaac Bartholomew Barber entered Harvard College, where he remained two years, when a rebellion broke out and the whole class was expelled. He then entered Dartmouth College, where he was graduated at the age of eighteen. He entered the law office of Mr. Barrett, of Northfield, and was admitted to the bar in Northampton, at the age of twenty-one. He settled at Colerain, Mass., and was doing a large law business when the war with Great Britain broke out in 1812. He then sought and obtained a captaincy, in the 9th regular U. S. Infantry. After serving nine months he resigned and returned to the practice of the law.

About the year 1813 he went to Parsonfield, Me., to settle, and there obtained a large business. But, at the solicitation of Maj. Clark Chandler, he returned in 1817 to Colerain, where he remained until 1837, when he removed to Halifax, Vt. At this time he received the appointment to a clerkship in the General Land Office at Washington, D. C., which he accepted, and went to Washington in April, 1837. In 1839 he returned to Vermont, and resumed the practice of law and the management of his farm. Here his wife died April 3, 1851, in her 55th year, of consumption; and the next year the rest of the family removed to Rochester, N. Y., where he died at the age of 77, on 21 Sept. 1864.

Capt. Barber had a most retentive memory. While in college, by reading over only once as much as two columns of a newspaper, he could repeat the same, word for word, in the recitation some time after. And so with the study of the law; when he had once read a book, he knew and remembered its contents.

"Mrs. Barber was a first-rate woman," smart for business, mild and amiable in her disposition.

The children of NANCY and I. B. BARBER were:

- i. WILLIAM HENRY BARBER, b. at Parsonfield, 1 Nov. 1815; d. at New York city, 19 Oct. 1853, of dysentery. He was in the dry-goods trade at Rochester many years, and removed to New York city, 1852; was buried at Rochester; m. Jan. 1844, Harriet Bracy; no issue.

He was born in Watertown, Mass., 28 Nov. 1811, and served an apprenticeship as a baker with Mr. Beesey, in Salem Street, Boston, and at the age of 21 was married 27 June, 1832, by Rev. Dr. Streeter in Boston, to Lucinda M. Knapp, who was born 15 March, 1813, in Canton, Mass., dau. of George Knapp by his wife Lucinda Mann, of Randolph, but she was brought up in the family of Mr. Fenno, who kept tavern at the sign of the bunch of grapes, corner of Kilby and State Streets, Boston.

Shortly after marriage he took his young bride, bid farewell to the busy scenes of city life, and took his line of march westward and did not stop until they reached the dense wilderness of Franklinville, Cattaraugus Co., N. Y. A rudely constructed "cab house" of logs, more than a mile from any road or footpath, was their home, where their most frequent visitors were the deer, the wild-cat and the bear. The worldly goods they had accumulated soon wasted away and they sold piece by piece their wardrobe as necessity seemed to demand. It being much finer than the average "country folks" had it found ready sale. By economy, frugal living, indomitable will and perseverance their condition began to improve. They bought a cow, and then his trading propensities began to develop with varying success. His wife lent a willing hand and served the ladies with her needle in making up nice caps, and in providing for the wants of hungry footmen with pies and cakes. Her fancy needle work grew so much that a "shop" was needed to store her wares, as their one room cab-house was too much crowded.

He had taken the contract for carrying the mail from Franklinville to Buffalo through the then almost pathless country, carrying with him in winter on horse-back a shovel to break down the snow drifts to let his horse go on, but now his wife had got up such a large trade that he gave up his mail contract and assisted her in the "shop." Their business increased so much as to be in a short time one of the institutions of that region. Thus it was that the mercantile house of Chandler, in Cadiz, was founded originally with his industrious, persevering wife.

"Fortune smiled on the family until Aug. 20, 1867, when he died at Cadiz possessed of a goodly fortune." A handsome white marble column marks his grave in the village of Cadiz in Franklinville.

Mrs. L. M. Chandler died at Alleghany, N. Y., while on a visit, Nov. 4, 1873. "A better wife and mother never lived, not only to her own folks, but to all. The poor especially will testify to this." Their children all "know and feel the benefits of their early training."

The children of A. B. and L. M. CHANDLER were :

4570. I. ROXANNA BLACKMAN, b. in Franklinville, 24 July, 1825; m. 15 May, 1861, Dazell Gilbert, son of Tilly Gilbert. Dazell Gilbert went to California, and she was divorced from him, and she afterwards married Simeon B. Robbins, and she died the first year of their marriage, 16 June, 1874.

Her children :

- i. Dazell Chandler Gilbert, died 21 Aug. 1867, aged 8 years.
ii. James Lancaster Gilbert; died 20 June, 1865, aged 1 year and 20 days.

4571. II. SARAH ELIZABETH, b. 2 Nov. 1837; m. 13 Feb. 1857, Joseph McCluer, born 12 Feb. 1805, d. 20 Aug. 1880, by his wife Esther Morris who b. 1804, died 1878. Mr. Joseph McCluer died in Idaho, 3 Dec. 1865. Mrs. S. E. McCluer m. second, 11 Sept. 1876, S. B. Robbins the widower of her sister. He was b. 17 Dec. 1832, son of Peleg and Mary (Bullock) Robbins. He was born 10 April, 1796, and Mary Bullock was b. in Montpelier, Vt., 6 Feb. 1806. Mr. S. B. Robbins was in the furniture business in Franklinville. The children of Sarah E. and Joseph McCluer were :

Mrs. S. E. Robbins lived in Franklinville, until Nov. 1882, when they opened an undertakers' establishment in Buffalo, N. Y.

4572. III. GEORGE HENRY, b. 7 Nov. 1844; was educated at Rushford Academy and at Alfred University, N. Y., and was attending school when the times demanded that he should go where he was most needed, consequently in 1861 he enlisted for the war, but on examination at Erie, Pa., was not accepted. At the close of the war he engaged in insurance business at Washington, D. C., under the direction of P. M. Blair. His aptness and ready perception in business matters secured him a general managership of the business, and he was sent to Richmond, Va., to establish agencies while the city was yet smouldering in the ruins of the fire set by the confederates to burn their own capitol, and to Petersburg and other points South. His efficiency became so manifest that he was about to become one of the corporate bodies of a large insurance company just forming when he went home on a visit and spent a short time in the office of Samuel Spring, afterwards Judge, as student in law preparing to return to Richmond, Va., to take a responsible position in the insurance company then forming, when his father sickened and died, 20 Aug. 1867, making his presence at home a necessity, with his brother. He, with his brother, assumed the mercantile business of their father under the firm "Chandler Bros." at Franklinville, N. Y., with branches at Penn City, Pa., Custer City, Pa., and Aiken, Pa., for general merchandise, top carriages, wagons, cutters and sleighs. They do a business of $100,000 or more annually. He m. 12 Oct. 1880, Ellen Searle, born in Franklinville, 5 July 1855, dau. of Almond Searle by his wife Miss Scott.

She was b. 13 April, 1840; d. 8 Sept. 1863, aged 23.

He was at the Scientific School, Cambridge, Mass., but left and went to sea as a sailor. He was in the employment of Mr. Lombard, Boston; commanded a ship; was skipper; went to Smyrna for dry fruit; was at sea five years. Came home, got married, and was persuaded to go to farming; bought a farm in Dorchester, and in 1864 built a nice house on it, half a mile north of the court-house. He owns sixty acres of the marsh which is the grand reliance of the farmers there. This land is salt marsh reclaimed by dyking, and yields on an average a ton or a ton and a half of hay to the acre, without manuring. The dykes are embankments to keep out the tides, and are built some ten or twelve feet high. Some forty thousand acres are thus enclosed, and the dyke money is assessed upon the owners of the marsh, which bears good English hay, enabling the farmers to keep large stocks of cattle, or to sell it pressed in Boston market.

Mr. L. W. Chandler was born 28 June, 1851, in Independence, Iowa. He wrote Dec. 5, 1882, the following:

In 1865 I commenced learning my trade (a practical printer) in the Buchanan Co. (Iowa) "Bulletin" office, attending school regularly until that time. In 1868 started for the Pacific Coast, via Panama, and remained in Oregon until the spring of 1869 when I went to Walla Walla, Washington Territory, and was employed in the composing rooms of the Walla Walla "Union." I left Walla Walla in the fall of 1872 and returned to Iowa, and embarked in mercantile pursuits with my brother William D. Chandler, at Jefferson, Greene County. Withdrew from the business the next spring and went to Dubuque, Iowa, and continued reading law and was admitted to the bar at Independence, Iowa, in the spring of 1874, and departed for Nebraska, establishing a paper at St. Helena, Cedar County, that State, under the name of "The Cedar County Advocate," the first paper ever started in that county. I gave my attention to law matters as well as newspaper work and accumulated considerable property. The discovery of gold in the Black Hills brought Dakota to the front. Thinking that territory would soon become a State and therefore open up a better field for a young man I moved to Vermillion, Clay County, Dakota, in the spring of 1876 and established the "Vermillion Standard." But grasshoppers, hard times (and a lack of appreciation of the paper, I suppose) consumed my funds. In 1878, Sept. 16, I was wedded to Eldora Shriner, and during the fall of 1879 we moved to Burlington, Iowa, where I was offered and accepted the position of city editor of the "Burlington Hawkeye." October 1, 1880, after an illness of four days, Eldora died at Vermillion, Dakota, where she had gone to visit her parents, Judge Wm. Shriner and wife, and came in contact with a malignant type of diphtheria. In March, 1882, I resigned my position on the "Hawkeye" and left for Peoria, Ill., to take editorial charge of the daily "Freeman" of that city, and remained with that paper in that capacity until April, 1882, when I purchased a half interest in the "Wyoming Herald," and from the depths of the sanetum I now address you. My wife died childless and I am still unmarried.

Elizabeth Hunter was dau. and youngest child of John Hunter and Rebecca McMillan. He was a native of Scotland, came to Virginia where he married and moved to near Lake Erie, Pa. He enlisted in the war of 1812, and served until its close. His last engagement being at Perry's exploit on the Lake in 1814. Mr. Hunter and family settled at Columbus, Ohio, where Mrs. Chandler was born.

Mr. W. H. Chandler lived near Alton, Ill., five years, and then moved to Hennepin, being there engaged in keeping hotel and in book-keeping for the stage companies, and in teaching in the Academy. In April, 1849, Mr. Chandler started across the plains to California and went to Johnstown where he built a store and furnished supplies to miners. Mr. C. sold his store and moved to Forest City, one of the richest and most extensive mining localities in the State, now known as Bald Mt. Extension. Mr. C. was considered a thorough practical miner, and, as such, organized the company called the California Mining Co. He located some of the best claims in California. Being tired of mining he resolved to "stake up" a ranch at Sierra Valley. Mr. Chandler declined the nomination for joint senatorship for Sierra and Nevada counties.

Mrs. Chandler and family went over to Sierra Valley in 1861, one of the first women in the valley. After her husband's death 1863, Mrs. C. managed her ranch with the help of her son William Henry and wife, who is also a teacher of a public school.

Chandler, continued until May 10, 1882, when, in jumping from an express train of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railway, while in motion near Chicago, he was thrown under the wheels and so injured that he lived but a few hours. He retained consciousness until near the time of his death, related in detail the manner in which the shocking event occurred, realized that he was fatally injured, and, in presence of his pastor, his brother and other friends, prepared for the great change, from life to death.

He was a young man of great excellence of character, and remarkable industry. Although "brought up" as a farmer, mainly after 14 years of age, with his brother-in-law, Benj. Goodrich Fisk, of East Bethel, he was fond of mechanics and went into railway service in Milwaukee, Wis., soon after he was twenty-one years old, and was among the first to engage in railway business in that State. He was the first to run a construction train on the Milwaukee & Mississippi Railway, one of the first roads built in Wisconsin. For six years he ran a locomotive on that and the Milwaukee & Lacrosse roads, with such care that no one was ever injured on his train, rendering it proverbially safe—a rare thing in those early days of hastily-built and incomplete railways. On the 28th of April, 1857, his engine “jumped the track” and he was so seriously injured that he died four hours later, at the home of Hon. Scott Sloan, at Beaver Dam, Wis., near which the accident occurred.

His widow m. second, Theodore Reed, of Portage City, Wis.

He learned printing in the office of Judge Daniel P. Thompson, the historian of Vermont, in Montpelier, 1848 to 1852, and established himself as editor and publisher in Wisconsin, when about twenty-two years of age. He was widely known as an able and facetious writer, and was often spoken of as "the wit of the Wisconsin press." In 1861, he enlisted as a private in the United States service, in Co. G, 2d Wis. Vols., declining a commission which was offered him.

He was in the first Bull Run fight, and wrote an account of it and of his being disabled in it, which was published in the "Daily Cleveland Herald" of July 29, 1861, which is here copied with an editorial introduction.

Letter from J. C. CHANDLER, "ye Shanghai," in the fight, and after it was over.

We have kindly been permitted by Mr. W. W. Chandler, of the general freight office of the C. P. and W. Railroad, to publish the following letter from his brother, Mr. J. C. Chandler, of the Adams County Independent, Wisconsin, widely known as an able editor and the facetious "Ye Shanghai." Of course it was not written for publication, but is none the less graphic and interesting.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Thursday, July 25, 1861.

My Good Brother:

Senator Doolittle's young son came running "lickety larrup" up to the Avenue House this forenoon, inquiring for J. C. Chandler. He said his father had received a telegram from W. W. Chandler, Cleveland, inquiring about me. I bade him report me "gay as a lark," which I doubt not he did. O William! we had a terrible fight. I believe too it was a very ill-advised attack. The rebel forces were, at least, three to our one; our men were exhausted when they arrived at the battle-field, and worse than all, we had poor generalship "unto us." I wish the fact could be denied, but it is so patent that every soldier there knew it. We retreated! The Federal Army Retreated! Great God! I would rather be shot fourteen thousand times, than to witness what I did that Sunday night.

The horrors of a battle-field are supremely greater than my imagination had ever conceived. I saw the bloodiest part of it; our regiment relieved the Zouaves whom the rebels rallied and charged on with more than demon vengeance. The Zouaves fought like heroes and devils; but there were ten guns to one against them, and when they retreated, terribly riddled, our regiment marched into the most hellish shower of bullets you can imagine if you try a month. Probably nearly a hundred of our men were killed, and some were taken prisoners. I had my belt shot off, a bullet hit my cap-box and cut the belt so that it soon burst, and while I was stooping to pick up some of the caps, a soldier in front of me was shot through the breast just as he was aiming, and he threw his gun back in his death-struggle, and hit me across the back of my head, well-nigh killing me. I laid there until the rebels tramped over my body like a flock of sheep. I remember getting up, and seeing our regiment forming a square to resist a charge of the "Black Horse Cavalry," which they did successfully.

After that I don't remember much, until our first lieutenant (shot through the shoulder) took me by the ear and told me to retreat with him. We were some two miles from where we charged, in a house where they were cutting off legs, arms and—heads, I should think. The boys took me there, and said I was as "crazy as a loon." Well, we retreated—thirty miles—I scarcely know how I came; but I remember there was great disorder. I don't remember how or when I got into Washington; but some of the regiment took me to the Avenue House, where Mr. and Mrs. Scott Sloan (at whose house poor Derwin [Chandler] died) have been very kind to me. I know "what's what" most of the time, and although my head is very sore, and I am moreover very sore everywhere else on my mortal person, I am in good spirits and shall be better than two dead soldiers in a few days. It isn't very pleasant to be crazy and imagine your hands and feet shot off, and all such things. I keep very quiet and don't read much, because it hurts me.

Our surgeon, Dr. Lewis, is taken prisoner. Tom Russell (assistant surgeon) is safe and is very kind to me. Our regiment is encamped at Fort Corcoran, five miles from here, and I shall go to camp as soon as I am able. I carried my belt and shattered box when I first started but I don't know when I lost it. I'm sorry it's gone, as I wanted to send it to my grand-children.

Another rebel charged on my "walking apparatus" and put a ball through the heel of my shoe, while I was loading. It is the only scar I can show

I shot one tall soldier in "Seeesh cloes," not two rods from where I was hid behind a capsized artillery wagon. He threw up his rifle and threw himself down simultaneously. I sent two rebels to "Tophet," that I'm sure of, and took aim at seven or eight more.

In haste,

After the war he returned to his chosen employment at Friendship, and afterwards at Baraboo, Wisconsin. He died at the latter place Aug. 28th, 1878, aged 45 years.

FRANK<sup>8</sup> H. CHANDLER (*William<sup>7</sup> B., Henry,<sup>6</sup> William,<sup>5</sup>
 Davis, 28 Aug. 1872.*

She is a native of Milford,

N. H., but was a successful teacher of a private school for young ladies in New York city several years before her marriage. To her excellent care and loving kindness the comfort and happiness of the venerated father of this branch of the family, William B. Chandler, during the last few years of his long life, is largely due.

Frank H. learned the "trade" of manufacturing church organs, at Bellows Falls, Vt., 1853 to 1861. He enlisted as a member of the band of the 4th Reg't Vt. Vols., in Sept. 1861, remaining in that service until all regimental bands were discharged, about a year later. Subsequently he was employed in the U. S. Armory at Springfield, Mass., and later as an inspector of ordnance equipment in New York city till after the close of the war.

In April, 1869, in connection with his brother Albert, he established piano-forte and music warerooms adjoining the Academy of Music in Brooklyn, New York, representing especially the Chickering's. He has continued in this business and locality, building up a large trade and an enviable repute.

Their only child was :

- 4671c. I. FRANK WADLEIGH, b. 16 June, 1873.

She was daughter of Henry and Eunice (Tilson) Stedman, was born 10 Jan. 1843. Her grandfather Stedman came from Germany.

Albert B. worked as compositor in printing offices in West Randolph and Montpelier, Vt., in the intervals of school, from 1852 to 1858, occasionally acting as clerk and telegraph operator in the bookstore connected with the printing office at West Randolph. He was clerk and telegraph operator at Cleveland, Mansfield, Belleaire, O., and Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 1858, to May 1859, when he was appointed agent for Cleveland, Pittsburg & Wheeling Railway at Manchester, opposite Pittsburg, continuing there until June, 1863. From June 1, 1863, to Aug. 1866, he was cipher and disbursing clerk, in military telegraph service, his office being in the war department at Washington city, and his duties bringing him into personal acquaintance with President Lincoln, Secretary Stanton and other high officers of the government during the war of the rebellion. From Aug. 1866, to June, 1869, he was chief clerk in the office of the general superintendent of eastern division, Western Union Telegraph, and in charge of Atlantic and Cuba cable traffic in New York city. From June, 1869, till January, 1875, he was superintendent of Western Union Telegraph lines directly north from New York city as far as Rutland, Vt., in addition to the other duties referred to. From Jan. 1875, to Dec. 1879, he was successively assistant general manager, secretary, treasurer and vice-president of the Atlantic & Pacific Telegraph Company, and was president of that company from Dec. 1879, to May, 1882. Since its consolidation with the Western Union he has become president of the Fuller Electrical Company, extensive manufacturers of electric lighting apparatus in New York city. His home is in Clinton Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The Worcester "Spy," of Oct. 6, 1870, says: "Brookfield. Rev. Joshua Coit has tendered the resignation of his pastorate of the Orthodox Congregational Society in this town, to take effect on the 30th of Nov. next, when the tenth year of his services with them will expire. Mr. Coit takes this step (greatly regretted by the society and town, which will lose a most useful and valued citizen) with reluctance, but is impelled to it by symptoms of a disease of the eyes with which he has been troubled for some time. He has accepted the position of Secretary of the State Board of Commissioners of Prisons and Reformatory Institutions, and will probably reside in or near Boston." Afterwards he was settled over the Lawrence Street Congregational Church, in Lawrence, Mass., but in 1882, was chosen Secretary of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society.

Their children were:

- i. ROBERT COIT, b. in Brookfield, 29 June, 1861. Of him Mrs. Julia Freeman wrote, 1862 or '63: "There is no harm, though, in saying the village is full of sweet children. One of them who answers to the name of 'Robby' has just burst upon me like an inspiration fresh from the gods and Helicon; the yellow sunshine nestling into his bright hair and eyes, making shadows in his dimples and just glimmering the four little pearls that peep through his smile. What a pity he didn't come at the beginning of my letter. I might have written something worth while. I pass him on to you as an inspiration." He is, 1883, in Harvard College.

She was b. near Carthage, Ill., 6 Dec. 1845, of English parents. When four years of age the family moved to Burlington, Iowa, and bought a farm soon afterwards, eight miles south of that city, where they live, 1882.

At the age of eleven he went with his uncle Isaac to Burlington, Iowa, and lived with him several years, when he went to Monroe, Wis., where many of his Chandler relatives lived. He worked on a farm there, and returned to Burlington where he married. In 1875 he moved his family to Quincy, Plumas Co., Cal., where he ranched with his oldest brother George W. Chandler, raising large quantities of hay, grain and vegetables which they sell to miners. They furnished one mine with 180,000 pounds of vegetables raised entirely on the Chandler ranch. Besides this they sell to other miners large quantities of farm produce.

The brother George W. Chandler lived on the homestead farm in Wyoming until he was 33 years old when "he with many started for California, and after seven months of trials and hardships they arrived at their destination, Quincy, Plumas Co., Cal. He worked in the mines a long time but not prospering as he expected to do he left the mines and went to ranching, which business he has followed ever since" up to 1882. Mr. George W. Chandler owns one of the finest ranches in the valley and has a brick residence nearly finished that will cost him $5,000.

“Uncle George” has been a hard-working man, honest and upright, never married. He was deaf from childhood.

Mr. Benjamin F. Chandler has prospered financially since going to California.

The children of BENJAMIN F. and MARY CHANDLER were:

She was b. at Ryeburgh, Eng., 8 Nov. 1828, dau. of John<sup>1</sup> Uttin, who settled at Derby.

They reside east of Derby Pond, which is singular in having a brim or levee three or four feet high and about twelve feet wide on three sides of it. This levee seems to answer the purpose as well for keeping out the overflow of the peat meadow, as to restrain the waters within it. This pond is fed by no stream above the surface. It is of some acres in extent. It has a sandy bottom. The water is clear and cold, and, before the introduction of the voracious pickerel, abounded with trout. When this pond was made and by whom, has long been a question.

Mr. Edwin S. Chandler is a farmer, and in his wife he has found a help-mate, and an intelligent one too.

Children of EDWIN S. and ELLEN (Uttin) CHANDLER :

She was b. 19 July, 1806, dau. of Jacob Gates by his wife Lucy Russell, d. 27 Oct. 1860, aged 82, who was dau. of Ephraim Russell, a lawyer, by his wife Lucy Eveleth dau. of Rev. Francis Eveleth, the first minister in Stow, Mass.; gr.-dau. of Noah Gates, of Stow, by his wife Mary Conant, dau. of Peter Conant.

Mr. Chandler was a farmer on part of the Capt. John Chandler farm. He d. 9 Aug. 1872.

Their children were:

4874. I. JOSEPH, b. 13 April, 1836, in Andover; d. 10 March, 1863, at New Orleans. He was interested in the genealogy of the Chandler family, and gathered many of the facts herein embraced of the family in Andover. He was many years in the bookstore of the publishing house of W. F. Draper, opposite Phillips Academy, and is well remembered by the students and others of that vicinity, as the active and obliging clerk. On a tablet in the Memorial Hall, in Andover, with fifty-one others of Andover, who lost their lives in the civil war of 1861, is Joseph Chandler, Jr., died of disease at New Orleans, La., March 10, 1863.

The "Andover Advertiser" of April 4, 1863, says of him: "Mr. Joseph Chandler, Jr., whose death at New Orleans on the 10th ult. we announced last week, was one of the most intelligent and enterprising of the young men that this town has sent to the war. For several years he was employed in connection with this office, during which time he was a frequent and acceptable contributor to this paper, and for a portion of the time he mainly conducted it. He was a young man of uncommon industry and perseverance; an active member and zealous in all the affairs of the church, and an efficient laborer in whatever enterprise the church and society were engaged in. When the first call was made for volunteers from this town, he enrolled his name with the Andover company, but subsequently withdrew it through the advice of his friends and of his physician who declined giving him a surgeon's certificate on the ground of physical inability to endure the exposures of a soldier's life. But Mr. Chandler could not rest satisfied, and consulted a physician in Boston, who gave encouragement to him that he might safely go into the service. Thereupon he joined the 26th Reg't. then encamped at Lowell, and commenced recruiting for it as sergeant." He was in company A, of that regiment, and acted as captain's clerk. He sailed in "The Constitution," and was at Ship Island 21 Dec. 1861. "In the attack on New Orleans his company was one of those sent to garrison Fort Jackson; subsequently he was on duty at the Quarantine Station; and on several occasions he went with his company on picket duty. In one of these he, with many others, was exposed to a severe storm and to fatigue, which brought on fever; this developed a chronic disease of the lungs, from which he never recovered. In whatever position he was called to serve, he exhibited those traits which, in more favorable circumstances, would have rendered him conspicuous. His lot was one of patient suffering, and in it he exhibited an example of that enduring fortitude which marks a true man and a christian soldier. It was one of his greatest trials that he could render no more efficient service; yet he never complained, but expressed entire resignation to the allotment of Providence. His friends who knew his worth will deeply mourn his early death, and the community in which he spent most of his life will cherish his memory as one of its earnest young men."

His last letter to his parents bore date New Orleans, La., St. James Hospital, March 8, 1863, to which he added a postscript, at 9 o'clock on the evening of the 9th, and died at 1 o'clock the next morning. His last words as reported, were, to tell his mother "she must not think it hard, for he was ready and willing to go. He had given his life to his country. He could have chosen to die in the field; but, as it was God's will, he was just as willing to die in the hospital for his country's sake."

His name was Joseph Henry, but out of regard for his ancestry who bore the honored name of Joseph only, he dropped the name of "Henry."

4875. II. GEORGE GATES, b. 18 Dec. 1837; m. 22 Aug. 1862, Augusta Louisa Hammond.

4876. iii. ABRIE JANE, b. 21 May, 1840; clerk in Washington, D. His grandfather was David Hale, of Turner, who was the son of Benjamin Hale of Newbury, Mass. He is in the eighth generation from Thomas Hale, of Hertfordshire, England, who emigrated to Newbury in 1635.

He received an academic education and at the age of seventeen commenced the study of law in Portland where he was admitted to the bar at the age of twenty ; began the practice of his profession at Orland, Maine, whence he removed to Ellsworth in a few months and has resided there ever since.

His business was extensive from the beginning and when he was elected to Congress in 1868 his docket was one of the largest in the State. He was County Attorney for Hancock County for nine years. In 1866 and 1867 he was sent by Ellsworth as its representative to the Maine Legislature, and was the leader of his party while there. He was a republican in politics and as such was elected a Representative in Congress in 1868, and was re-elected at each succeeding election and served until March 4th, 1879. His service in Congress was active and he was a member of the Committees on Elections, Naval Affairs, Appropriations and The Library of Congress. He took part in all the important debates and in the last years of his service was prominent as a leader of his party on the floor. In 1879, Mr. Hale was again sent to the State Legislature and then took a guiding part in the contest that arose for the possession of the State Government, which the Garcelon administration refused to give up until compelled to it by the decision of the Supreme Court.

In 1881, Mr. Hale received the unanimous nomination of the Republican members of the Legislature for United States Senator and was elected to that office in January and took his seat in March following. He is a member of the Committees on Appropriations, Manufactures, Revision of the Laws and Chairman of the Census and Apportionment Committee. He has been a member of three National Conventions and was a prominent actor in the Cincinnati and Chicago Conventions in 1876 and 1880. In 1878 he was Chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee.

- No. 2012. MARY ALICE CHANDLER, b. 24 Feb. 1813; m. 18 Sept. 1838, William Earle, who was born in Providence, R. I. 16 April, 1808, son of Capt. Oliver and Sally Waterman (Arnold) Earle. On his mother's side he was a direct descendant of Roger Williams—the founder of Providence. Mercy Waterman, born 2 Nov. 1756, the fifth from Roger, married Capt. Israel Arnold, whose ancestor William Arnold settled at Warwick, R. I., 1639. Sally Waterman, dau. of Capt. Israel and Mercy (Waterman) Arnold, married Capt. Oliver Earle, who settled on South Main Street, Providence. Here the subject of this sketch was born and lived, attending the schools of Providence until he was of age when he entered the counting-room of William R. Bowers & Co. — In 1837 this company failed and William Earle bought out that establishment and took in Capt. Lloyd Bowers — as partner and they continued in business until 1869; after that date, until 1877. Mr. Earle continued the ship chandlery business alone at the old stand on Water Street, when he sold out and took an office in South Main Street, next to his residence, where he remained until his death, 5 July, 1878. Col. William Earle's remains were buried in the North burying-ground where a beautiful granite monument marks the spot. He said to his partner in life, "In my youth I took for my guide the motto 'Do right and fear no evil,' " which was his guide through life. Mr. Earle was eminently a just man, who could be and was trusted and whose opinions had weight in business circles. He was genial and social with his friends. He was a member of the Historical Society, vice-president of the Marine Society, &c., of the Common Council from 1847 to 1852, and alderman from 1859 to 1862. Mr. Earle had the management of several estates. The pedigree of Col. Earle from Roger Williams was as follows :

INDEX I.

CHRISTIAN NAME OF CHANDLERS.

Each name, as it stands in the book, has in the column at its left, a cardinal number, which, if much is said about the person, is carried forward, in its order, to the head of his or her family, and there the pedigree, in the male line back to the immigrant ancestors, is indicated in parenthesis. The figures in the following Indices refer to this numbering.

The arrangement is in consecutive generations, and the numbering is by priority of birth in each generation.

In the Index the full name is generally given: as Francis, for Frank; Sarah, for Sally, &c., &c.
